They Are the Characteristic Feature of the Toilet.

The sleeve is more and more the domain of novelty and is relied upon to give character to the costume, which in other respects shows no noticeable change. Like skirts, the sleeve is clinging in form, closely molding the arm at the upper part, but toward the wrist there is no limit to the variety of arrangement and ornamentation.

These tight sleeves are not by any means convenient, as they hamper the movement of the arm. They are kept as flat as possible at the shoulder, only the absolutely necessary fullness being permitted where they are sewed in, and this fullness is frequently placed in the form of stitched plaits or little darts.

PRINCESS GOWN.

Moreover, the whole aspect of the figure is changed by them. The narrow, sloping effect of the shoulders makes the neck appear longer and the waist much larger, a result becoming to very few women. The slender woman with wide, square shoulders is the only type benefited by this style.

The cut shows a princess gown of royal blue satin cloth. It fastens by gold buttons and passementerie bars at the left side over a plaiting of cress green silk. Plaited panels of green silk are let in at each side of the back, three passementerie bars fastened with gold buttons being placed just below the waist at the middle. The collar and tiny guimpe are also of green plaited silk. The close sleeves have a large green silk puff at the wrist. The hat of cress green felt is trimmed with green velvet and blue flowers with golden brown leaves. JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE CULEX FAMILY.

Existed in America Long Before Columbus Sailed from Spain.

Its History Is Intensely Interesting and Complex—Thus Far the Musical Insect Has Defied All Its Enemies.

[Special Washington Letter.]

ALTHOUGH this is a republic, founded upon the principle that all men are born free and equal, there is a great deal of aristocracy here, particularly along the Atlantic coast. The people of New England pride themselves upon their colonial ancestry, and they expect a sort of homage to be paid to them when they announce that they are of the "Adamses, the Lawrences, the Pinckneys, Americans all," as Daniel Webster alluded to them in his famous reply to Hayne, of South Carolina.

Money bags can buy coats-of-arms in New York, but princely fortunes will not admit the wealthy hoi polloi into the exclusive society of Philadelphia, Boston, Richmond, or even Selma.

THE COMMON MOSQUITO.

Abraham Lincoln, the "rail splitter," U. S. Grant, the soldier, or Garfield, the "boy of the towpath," could not have received a welcome in the social circles north or south where "the first families" of this republic are holding court and scratching each others' backs on the score of lineage. John G. Saxe amplified this idea in his most delightfully trenchant excoriation of "American aristocracy."

There is only one city of consequence where even "the gardener Adam and his wife" cannot "smile at the claims of long descent;" and that is the national capital. There is just as much pride here in "lineage" as there is elsewhere, but brass buttons are the open sesame in social life. No matter where a man came from or what sort of a family tree he may have, if he is an officer in the army, navy or marine corps he can dance the german, shine at the opera, strut in official society and have full sway as "the real thing." But, with this exception, everywhere and under all circumstances men and women who have social aspirations must show that they are the proud possessors of a delightful ancestry.

A sometime notorious writer, who signed his articles as "Josh Billings," stated that he had traced his ancestry back to the time when the family tree consisted of a "triangular cross bow with a rope dangling from the end of the beam."

The oldest family in this country and certainly the most universally known, is the Culex family; and the tribe known as Culex Pungens is the most numerous. They command attention and are always ready to fight for recognition. They do not array themselves in purple and fine linen, nor do they give box parties at the theaters; and yet they are singers whose operas have received the careful consideration of men of science, women of quality and children of every grade of society. This ancient and honorable family existed in America long before Columbus came; long before Eric the Red coasted the bleak shores of Labrador and New England; long before viking bold spread his sails hitherward. Even the aboriginal inhabitants recognized and dreaded the Culex family, and they shrunk in fear when the Culex Pungens attacked them. The members of this family did not come like the Assyrians with "cohorts gleaming in purple and gold." Nevertheless, they came down "like a wolf on the fold," and they were practically omnipresent when they came.

MOSQUITO IN EMBRYO.

The Culex family has a history which is more ancient than the most ancient history of this continent. Scientific men of the department of agriculture have been studying the history of this family, and they have given the results of their researches in a pamphlet which is exceedingly interesting. The complete history of the Culex Pungens family is given; but the members of the family are not given their aristocratic name. They are called, in vernacular English, "mosquitoes." Nevertheless, their proper name is Culex Pungens, even if these men of science do try to belittle them by calling them common mosquitoes. Everybody who has heard them sing, and who has felt their mighty influence as they pervade the atmosphere, knows that they are entitled to their knightly name. And yet these scientists grudgingly admit that their ancient and honorable name is Culex.

"Whence they came man knoweth not." Without intentional irreverence it may be said of the Culex family that they are similar to Melchisedec, "having neither beginning of days nor end of life;" for the mosquitoes, like the poor, we have always with us. It has been stated by good authority that "in Lapland their numbers are so prodigious as to be compared with a flight of snow when the flakes fall thickest, or to the dust of the earth. The natives cannot take a mouthful of food nor lie down to sleep in their cabins unless they be fumigated almost to suffocation. One cannot draw breath without having mouth and nostrils filled with them. Unguents of tar, fish grease, cream or nets steeped in fetid birch oil are scarcely sufficient to protect even the case-hardened cuticle of the Laplander from their bite."

That is pretty tough on the Laplander, of course, but it shows the industry and perseverance of the Culex family. It is cold up there, but the Culex family works just as industriously in warmer climates. The department of agriculture says that "Sapor, king of Persia, was compelled to raise the siege of Nisibis by a plague of mosquitoes which attacked his elephants and beasts of burden, and so caused the rout of his army."

And yet people in this country who are unfriendly to the Culex family complain of their nightly singing and stinging, when they are merely out earning a meager and honest livelihood during the summer months. They have been very busy in Washington and vicinity during the recent heated season; and along the sea coast they have compelled the rich and great at watering places to stay awake o' nights.

When Gen. George A. Sheridan was in command of a brigade near New Orleans after the civil war his quarters were cared for by a typical old black mammy, a type of servant now almost obsolete. She was asked by other officers how Gen. Sheridan got along with the mosquitoes, and replied: "Well, de gin'l goes to bed so full dat de skeeters don't bodder him. When he gits up in de mawnin' de skeeters is so full dey don't bodder nobody."

Scientist Schwarz, of the agricultural department, officially reports from Corpus Christi, Tex., that "when the wind blows from any other direction than the south hundreds of thousands of millions of mosquitoes blow in upon the town. Great herds of hundreds of horses run before the mosquitoes to get to water." Which shows that the countless members of the Culex family are as industrious in Texas as anywhere else in the world.

GETTING READY FOR WORK.

Dr. St. George Gray, of the British West Indies, says that the Culex family has a fondness for wine, like many members of other old families. He says: "I put a few mosquitoes under a bell jar, containing a drop of port wine. A few hours later I found them all apparently dead, and put them in a dry bottle. Shortly afterwards they were all staggering about, under the microscope, in a most ridiculous manner—they were drunk."

The Culex family has natural enemies, such as the dragon flies and the Eucalyptus trees. But the men of science cannot successfully cultivate and propagate these mosquito killers in all places. They find that kerosene will kill mosquitoes and their larvae in stagnant water, but they cannot afford to cover the whole earth with kerosene. Consequently, after all of their investigations and experiments, they have practically reached the wisdom of our dear old mothers, and conclude that, pending their endeavors to kill off all of the mosquitoes in the world, it will be well for us to use a few exterminators ourselves; such as camphor or pennyroyal rubbed on the face and hands, oil of peppermint, lemon juice, vinegar, oil of tar, camphorated vaseline, oil of lavender, paraffin, or to "place a fine, juicy, uncooked beefsteak near the bed on retiring." So science has advanced at last to the point of equality with the common sense of our mothers.

Some of the members of this famous Culex family are not only industrious, but beautiful, as the illustrations given by the men of science will make manifest. They are not popular because of their singing and stinging habits, when human beings want to sleep. But they are here to stay, and our children's children will have opportunity to know them and of them; and the scientists of future generations will be studying how to exterminate them by the wholesale. SMITH D. FRY.

JOSEPH CHAMBERLAIN.

He Is Expected to Cut the Red Tape That Binds the War Department of Great Britain.

In view of the fact that Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain has throughout his political career been known by the sobriquet of "Fighting Joe", it seems only right and proper that he should be placed at the head of the war department of Great Britain, where a strong hand is sorely needed for the purpose of instituting those radical reforms which the public demand in order to bring up this red tape tied department to the requirements of modern warfare. It is universally admitted that what is needed at the head of the war department, above everything else, is a business man who will decline to be bound by precedent and who will wave aside all obstacles that may be raised in the way of his reforms by officials intent only on maintaining the traditions of the department. It speaks well for the honesty, as well as for the amenity of public life in England that Joseph Chamberlain should be summoned by the voice of the people to take charge of this important department in spite of the fact that his brother is at the head of what is the greatest war material business in the United Kingdom, a business which has colossal contracts with the government. These contracts embrace millions upon millions of dollars, yet no attempt has ever been made by any responsible politician to insinuate that the slightest influence has been exercised by Joseph Chamberlain in behalf of his brother's business. Joseph Chamberlain is a warm friend of Lord Wolseley, and it was mainly through the assistance of the present secretary of state for the colonies that Lord Wolseley was able to bring about reforms, save for which the outbreak of war in South Africa would have found England, from a military point of view, in precisely the same position as it was when the Crimean war took place, 47 years ago

JOSEPH CHAMBERLAIN.
(Lansdowne's Probable Successor as British War Minister.)

GEN. JAMES H. WILSON.

Appointed Military Commander of the American Legation Guard at Peking, China.

Gen. James H. Wilson, who will remain as military commander of the American legation guard in China, is a well-known soldier who retired from the regular army in 1870 to engage in the railroad business. Gen. Wilson will be under the orders of Minister Conger, who is to have supreme authority over the American force of 1,850 men whom the war department will maintain at Peking. He is a graduate of West Point, served throughout the civil war, and distinguished himself at its close by effecting the capture of Jefferson Davis. For 20 years the general has been interested in the management and construction of railroads in China as well as in the United States. The war with Spain was the occasion of his decision to once more resume his military life.

Electric Whip for Horses.

It is reported that in Russia a special harness has been contrived with a wire connected with a small electric battery, and this is put on horses difficult to manage. A slight shock is stated to have not only the effect of rousing the animal to the required brisk pace, but of generally benefiting his health. Travelers in Russia have not so far given us any detailed account of the "electric whip" which would appear to need confirmation.

Hen Adopts Motherless Pig.

A setting hen belonging to Mrs. Harry Landers, of Mantua, N. J., has given up a nest full of eggs and adopted a motherless pig. The little porker had been brought up on a bottle for some weeks, and when it was missed a search revealed it under the hen, the eggs having been kicked out of the nest.

Hard to do housework with an aching back.

Hours of misery at leisure or at work.

If women only knew the cause;

Backache pains come from sick kidneys,

Doan's Kidney Pills will cure it.

Plainfield people endorse this.

Mrs. I. L Holmes, of 442 West Second street, says: "I used several boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills for backache and derived more benefit from them than from anything else. Before I tried this remedy I was bothered almost constantly with a severe pain across the small of my back so bad at times that I thought I must give up. If I sat down and got up or was lying down and attempted to rise quickly or retained one position for any length of time, sharp, acute pain always followed. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised for such troubles and went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They helped me from the first and I improved right along under the treatment."

TOIL UNDER GROUND

Miserable Lot of Coal Miners in the Anthracite Country.

They Have to Work for Little or Nothing and Many Have to Live Like Beasts—The Company Store Evil.

[Special Philadelphia Letter.]

THE situation of the miners in the anthracite coal regions is of especial interest at this time, for the present strike concerns not only these men and their families, but also users of anthracite coal all over the country. Practically all our coal of this variety comes from 370 miles of wildly mountainous, desolate country in the eastern central portion of Pennsylvania. At the bottom of the narrow valleys are swift streams, black as ink from salts of iron and coal dust, in many instances paralleled by railroads which often have barely room for a coal train. The aspect of the landscape is depressing in the extreme. All the timber, except laurel, has been cut for mine props. Sulphurous smoke and washings from the culm piles have destroyed vegetation. The dreary fall days settling down over this terrible region, where nature's works have been so distorted as to give an aspect of horror to the land which was once widely beautiful, add to the melancholy of the strikers, who, although winter is rapidly approaching, attempt, by the only means of which they are cognizant, to extort living wages from their employers. The villages all present the same general appearance. A description of one answers for its neighbor. The main distinguishing feature is the width of the valleys in which they are built. Where these are narrow, one long street straggles up the hillside. When there is more room, two or three of these streets often run nearly parallel. Houses seem piled on top of houses, varied by an occasional coal breaker, which rises among them. Frequently, in winter, storms of sleet and snow, bringing the mercury down 30 degrees in an hour, sweep over the poor cabins, the poverty and squalor of which cannot be conceived unless one has witnessed them. But the view of the exterior of the miserable hovels is hardly a preparation for the sight of the unkempt wretchedness of their inhabitants.

Dirty, ragged, uncombed men and women throng these villages. The worse the quarter the greater, apparently, the number of children swarming its streets, piled with reeking waste and garbage of every description. Sanitary regulations are unknown. The "patch" is the worst of the two sections into which each of these villages is divided. Its substitutes for houses are said to be unlike almost anything else evolved by man in his desire for a home and a habitation. The occupants usually build these sheds themselves, paying ground rent. This portion of the town lies outside, beyond the breakers, and is the abiding place of Polacks, Italians and Sicilians, representing the lowest of their kind in their own country and brought here to replace a very different class of men who were unable to live upon the wages to which they had been reduced.

The aristocratic members of the mine community live "in town." The houses (owned by the company) are all similar and set two and two, each separated from its neighbor by a picket fence. There is no attempt at architectural difference or beauty. Four unpainted walls, a roof slanting at the same angle as all its neighbors, with a sufficient number of doors and windows for egress and light, and there you are. Chickens in one yard, ducks and geese or goats in the next constitute a slight variation in scene. Here dwells the law-abiding element of the town, the better-paid class, which is composed chiefly of Scotch, English, Irish and Welsh colliers. The lessees of the houses pay $10 or $12 per month rent, and if a building is large probably a number of boarders are kept. In the cellar is the coal bin, filled monthly by the company at a fixed rate on their books. The roughest chairs and table and fewest possible number of cooking utensils are found in the kitchen. The sleeping rooms contain the crudest beds and bedding, or, perhaps, a heap of straw on the floor. Sixteen to twenty men often sleep in one room, with a hot fire burning all night. Hundreds of them lie down in their clothing, only removing their boots and coats. Those men who wash and change their clothing on returning home, keeping as clean as they may, meet with but poor success, for as there are no sewers there are no bathrooms, and a degree of cleanliness which might be enjoyed in the worst city districts is unattainable there. In an occasional house sickly plants or vines may be seen at a window.

But the better class of the population is being crowded out. A man now considers himself very fortunate if he has steady work at two dollars per day, who formerly earned $100 or $125 per month. The cheap importations from southern Europe have displaced him. August was the rush month of the year and wages were comparatively good, but 180 working days is said to be the yearly average for a man. The laws of Pennsylvania are supposed to make company stores an impossibility, but still they exist and flourish. It is not a matter of surprise that but a small balance is due a man at the month's end, when rents, provisions, tobacco, powder or perhaps medical services have been furnished by the company at high rates. The miner is compelled to purchase his powder for blasting from the company, at a price 100 per cent. higher than that of the open market. His miner's lamp is filled with oil bought from the same source at an exorbitant price. If bits of slate are found in the coal he sends to the surface its value per ton is reduced by the "docker," from whose judgment there is no appeal.

The condition of the women in the "patch" is deplorable. They have a dazed, helpless look, and are the burden bearers of the semblance of a home. Many are sold to their husbands, when 12 years old, into a life of hopeless drudgery. The girls work hard at five years old. Murders are frequent and seldom punished, especially if the murderer is a good worker. Court trials are expensive. When the Polack first arrives he purchases a revolver, the Italian a stiletto, or, if very poor, he puts a razor edge on an old file. Working always in the dark blights a man mentally, morally and physically.

At the present rate of consumption our supply of anthracite coal is expected to last 200 years longer. Increased care is being taken that the waste in mining shall be as light as possible. It is estimated that in 1898 the value of coal mined in this limited area was $75,000,000, more than half the value of the bituminous coal mined in the whole country. No other anthracite is mined except in Wales, which annually produces one-twenty-fifth as much as we do. Varieties of Scotch, Belgian and Westphalian, sold for anthracite, are of the bituminous class. One reason for anthracite being high in price is that it is hard to mine. It lies mainly along three rivers, the Susquehanna, with large centers at Scranton and Wilkesbarre; near the Lehigh, with a prominent field around Mauch Chunk, and along the Schuylkill, with Pottsville as chief shipping point.

Iron production would be but little affected by a dearth of anthracite. West-bound freight on the great lakes would be reduced to an important extent. The east would suffer most severely. New York is the largest anthracite coal market in the world and, next to London, the largest coal market of any kind.

The railroads are said to charge three times more for hauling anthracite than for carrying bituminous coal. When they convey five dollars' worth of coal 150 miles to tide water they charge two dollars and leave but three to pay the miners and operators. Then they claim that their mines do not pay enough to enable them to raise wages. However, the consumer is always charged full price.

It is said that whenever the price of hard coal rises to over seven dollars per ton, the demand for soft coal greatly increases, thus regulating the price of the former. There seems to be an increasing tendency to, as far as possible, have appliances attached to stoves and furnaces whereby bituminous coal can be substituted whenever it may prove desirable.

QUIET HOME WEDDING.

RANDOLPH-LARUE NUPTIALS CELEBRATED LAST EVENING.

Ceremony Performed by the Uncle of the Bride—A Popular Young Couple.

Quietly, with a gathering of relatives and immediate friends about them, Miss Bertha Helena LaRue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. P. LaRue, of 409 Liberty street, and Charles Clifford Randolph, son of Former Councilman I. S. Randolph, of West Front street, were wedded last evening at 7 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Levi LaRue, of Long Branch, an uncle of the bride.

The ceremony was a simple one, both bride and groom being unattended. Miss LaRue was gowned in white taffata trimmed with white satin ribbon and carried a bouquet of white bride roses. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the wedding march was played by G. Edgar Macmillan, of Asbury Park, a cousin of the bride. Then there were many hearty congratulations for the couple and an informal reception was held. Guests were present from New York, Brooklyn, Asbury Park, Philadelphia, Newark and Elizabeth.

Many gifts of beauty and value were received and chief among them was a solid silver service, given by the young people of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, where the young couple attended. The bride has resided in this city for a number of years and has a large circle of friends here. The groom is also a long resident in Plainfield and is well and favorably known here. He is now in the employ of the York Haven Paper Company, of New York.

A rousing farewell with the usual shower of rice was given to the young couple who left on a wedding trip to Washington and Old Point Comfort. On their return, they will reside at the bride's home until Mr. Randolph builds a new house on Dunellen avenue, near Albert street.

NEW COLLEGE BUILDING

RE-ESTABLISHING THE CENTENARY COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.

Noble Gifts Given for New Building—President Whitney Working Hard.

During the past week the work of rebuilding the Centenary Collegiate Institute Hackettstown has been started, and it will be pushed rapidly toward completion. The plans have been carefully made and considered and it is believed that they will meet with universal approval.

There will be four buildings. The central or administration building will be of imposing appearance, surmounted by a lofty dome rising to a height of 122 feet from the ground. On each side will be a dormitory, one for men and one for women. In all these buildings there will be basements rising six feet above ground. Above the foundation there will be three stories, the first fourteen feet, the second and third ten feet respectively. The fourth building, also three stories, will be in the rear of the central structure, and will comprise the dining room and kitchen on the first floor, with the library, art room and museum, etc., above. In the administration building will be the parlors, the offices, various recitation rooms, the commercial department and four fine halls for the literary societies. Covered corridors connect all the buildings, so that the students will not be exposed in the least.

The central building will have one hundred and ninety-two feet frontage; this, with the two dormitories, will present a grand total frontage of about four hundred feet. In the centre of this edifice the second and third stories will be devoted to the spacious and beautiful chapel, seating about eight hundred persons. The fixed purpose of the trustees is to make the institution every way worthy of the Newark Conference. It is confidently expected that the institute will be opened for students next fall. These four buildings will be erected at a cost of about $150,000, and this amount is already secured. The heating, lighting, furnishing and the equipments-philosophical, scientific, physiological, etc., will require about $75,000 additional. President Emeritus George H. Whitney, D. D., of this city, is working constantly and earnestly among the friends of the institute and especially among the alumni to raise the necessary additional amount.

Of late several noble gifts have been received. One gift came in the form of a pledge from Mrs. Anna Vincent Maseey, of Toronto, Can., a sister of Bishop Vincent, to provide a new $3,000 organ for the opening of the new chapel. She was a member of the class of '83. Another gift is a tower clock and bell weighing 2 200 pounds, from George N. Lowrey, of the George N. Lowrey Company, of New York. He was also a member of the class of '80. A third gift is a memorial cabinet of physiological casts valued at $500, which is given by Mrs. Mary F. Graves, of Rome, Italy, in memory of her daughter, Miss Carrie J. Graves, a member of the class of '83, and who died just before her graduation. She was the valedictorian of her class.

These gifts of such value are indeed encouraging to the officials of the institute and they are sure it will be an incentive to other friends to come forward and do their share.

THREE FIRES.

Two Chimneys Smoked and the Department was Called Out—Clothing Caught Fire From a Lamp.

Three times yesterday the Plainfield Fire Department was called out, twice on still alarms and once, in the evening, on an alarm from box 47. The department was called to the home of William Brown, of East Second street, at 1:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The chimney was smoking and needed a cleaning. There was nothing for the department to do.

A second still alarm was sent in from the residence of Charles A. Mann, of 1308 Watchung avenue. The trouble was the same, a smoking chimney that needed cleaning.

Some clothing caught fire from a lamp at the home of James Trainor, 206 Manson place, and an alarm was sent in from box 47 at 10:10 o'clock. The little blaze was out by the time the department arrived. The damage was trifling. The house is owned by the Central New Jersey Land Improvement Company.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. All druggists sell it at 50 cents or it will be mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y.

ing the primaries to elect delegates to the county convention to be held next Thursday. The primaries will be held next Wednesday evening.

The U. S. Grant Republican Club, of the borough, will meet next Monday evening for the purpose of going to Music Hall in a body to attend the mass meeting to be held there and addressed by Congressman Fowler.

An informal meeting of the Democratic Club of the borough was held last evening. The officers obtained some literature from Justice Mattison. The latter says he will gladly furnish such reading matter.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Garret Q. Packer left the city this morning on an extended business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Knowlton, of West Fifth street, have returned from a trip to Niagara.

O. E. Bradford, night operator at the North Avenue Station, will take Mr. Schermerhorn's place, while the latter is in Philadelphia for a few days. Another operator will be secured for the night work.

Charles Schermerhorn, manager of the Western Union Telegraph office at the North Avenue station, left this afternoon for Philadelphia, where he will attend the annual conference of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. to be held in that city for four days. Mr. Schermerhorn is accompanied by his wife.

MAKING A KITE REEL.

By Following the Directions Here Given Any Bright Boy Can Master the Task.

The reel, which is here described, consists of four parts—the base, uprights, axle and crank and the reel proper. The first thing to make is the base, which consists of a piece of inch pine 18 inches long and nine inches wide. Beginning eight inches from one end, cut out from each end a mortise three-quarters of an inch wide and 2½ inches long. The uprights should fit closely into these. These two uprights are to support the axle, and are made of three-quarter inch pine. They are ten inches high, and 2½ inches wide, with the upper end rounded off. An inch from this end bore a hole the size of the axle. To be able to remove the axle when desired one of the supports should be cut in two at the line A B in Fig. 1. A hinge should be put on one side and a hook and eye on the other.

The next thing to make is the axle, which is to be made from an oak broomstick 11 inches long. Plane the broomstick so that the end is a perfect square (see Fig. 3). After this has been done take your jack knife and make one end round for a distance of an inch and a half. (A in Fig. 3). One and a half inches from the other end make the axle round for a distance of an inch (B in Fig. 3). The crank is six inches long and tapers at one end (C in Fig. 3). An inch from the larger end cut out a square the size of the axle (D in Fig. 3). At the smaller end a handle is screwed on, or if a handle is not at hand a large spool may be used (E Fig. 3).

All that now remains to be done is to make the reel proper. For this four pieces 14 inches long and an inch and a half wide are used. In the center of each piece a square the size of the axle is cut out (A Fig. 2). Each piece tapers from the center toward the ends, which are rounded off. The pieces are joined together in pairs, with the holes opposite each other, as shown in Fig. 2. The pieces are screwed together, being careful to keep them at right angles to each other. A neater job may be secured by halving each piece in the center, making a lap joint. These two side pieces are then fastened together by four pieces one inch square and 5¼ inches long, as shown in Fig. 2, B. All that needs to be done to complete the reel is to put it together. The uprights are screwed in place and made firm by small shelf brackets (A Fig. 1). In the middle of the base and a little from under the reel fasten a pulley (A Fig. 4). Near the end of the base fasten another pulley, but this one must be on a swivel (B Fig 4.) These guide the cord and are quite necessary.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

THE ITALIANS BATTLED.

LIVELY FRACAS OCCURRED IN PASSAIC VALLEY MONDAY.

Rival Gangs of Laborers Got Together With Bowie Knives and Clubs.

A riot between two gangs of Italians took place Monday afternoon near Berkley Heights in which several of the participants were cut and slashed and others badly bruised. A gang of Italians, who are employed at Potter's stone crusher at West Summit, were walking down the railroad when they met a crowd who are working on the macadam road in the Passaic valley for Contractor C. M. Meeker. The latter were passing along a cross road. The rival crowds met at the railroad crossing and some high words followed. A knife was drawn and then followed a lively fight in which a dozen men participated.

It happened that the shack occupied by Meeker's men was only a short distance away, and the sound of the conflict was heard by the men who remained there. They hastened to the assistance of their comrades and the invaders were driven down the railroad.

No one was seriously injured in the fracas although a number received cuts and bruises. It was rainy that afternoon and so the men were not working. No arrests have yet been made but the authorities in that vicinity are trying to find out who were the ringleaders and arrests may follow.

TROUBLESOME WRECK AND ONE MAN KILLED

Fast Freight Crashed Into Another Train at East Bound Brook Last Night—

ALL TRACKS WERE BLOCKED

FAST FREIGHT ENGINEER JUMPED AND WAS KILL.

P. and R. Train was Going From Siding to Main Line Where the Collision Occurred With Such Disastrous Results.

One of the most troublesome wrecks that the Central Railroad has had to deal with in several years on the Jersey City division occurred shortly after 8 o'clock last night at East Bound Brook.

A west bound P. and R freight had taken the siding at that point so that some cars could be drilled into the train. When the work was completed the train started out of the siding on to the west bound freight track. By some confusion of orders a fast B. and O. freight, also bound west, was approaching that point at the same time as the other train was passing out on to the main line.

When the locomotive and nine cars of the P. & R. train had got on to the main line, the rest of the train still being on the siding, the B. & O. train came along at a speed of twenty-five miles an hour. The B. & O. train, with John Campbell, of Jersey City, as engineer, was close upon the other train before the engineer realized the situation. He whistled for brakes and reversed the throttle, but the momentum of the heavy train that he was drawing was too great and the locomotive plunged into the center of the P & R train with great force.

Campbell saw that the collision was inevitable and he jumped from his cab just as his locomotive struck the other cars. He was caught in the wreckage and instantly killed. His fireman was busy stoking the furnace that moment and did not know of the impending collision. He was thrown up on the tender, but not seriously injured.

Fifteen cars, belonging to both trains, were derailed and badly wrecked, blocking all four tracks. The wrecking crew arrived on the scene shortly after 9 o'clock, and worked all night. About 3 o'clock they got one track cleared so that stalled trains could pass through. The tracks will not be entirely cleared until this afternoon.

No one else was hurt in the wreck except Campbell. The dead man is said to leave a large family.

MR. SALTZMAN RETURNS.

The Old Fireman Arrived in New York Yesterday—Will Come Here Monday.

Augustus Saltman, formerly president of the New Jersey Exempt Firemen's Association, and one of the old-time fire laddies of Plainfield, arrived in New York yesterday on the S. S. Westerland from Paris, where he has been spending the summer at the Exposition, as the representative of important interests, inspecting fire apparatus operated by electricity. Mr. Saltzman will arrive in Plainfield Monday, in the meantime visiting friends in New York and Brooklyn. Next week the Exempt Firemen's Association, of this city, will probably arrange for a reception in honor of the return of Mr. Saltzman, who was their president for many years. Mr. Saltzman has something interesting to tell the members of the Association, too.

Got Off With Fine of $10.

Robert Jacobson, formerly of Easton, Pa., but now of Plainfield, was arrested at Bound Brook last June and indicted by the Grand Jury on a charge of maliciousness. Jacobson, together with some companians, had imbibed too freely and they were amusing themselves breaking electric light globes at Bound Brook. Lawyer J. P. D. Kirch was engaged to defend Jacobson, and he succeeded in getting his client off with a fine of $10. The prisoner was arraigned on Wednesday before Judge Schenck at Somerville, and the latter gave the accused a severe reprimand. He then imposed a fine of $10 without costs.

JUST NINE YEARS OLD.

ANNIVERSARY OF CHAPTER OF THE EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Enjoyable Time Spent at the Monroe Avenue M. E. Church—Those in Charge.

Just nine years ago last evening Chapter 6,550 of the Epworth League, was formed at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church. The members of the chapter commemorated the occasion in a fitting manner and invited ten chapters from nearby places to assist in the affair. The pretty little church was decorated in a very tasteful manner, broad streamers of red and white predominating.

Long before the hour of commencement the visitors began arriving and at 8 o'clock nearly every seat was taken. The exercises began with the singing of "Look Up, Lift Up," after which a solo, "Jerusalem," was sung in an excellent manner by Bertram Tallamy. After a much enjoyed cornet solo by Mr. Wallender, the opening address was made by the President, Edward Beekman, who introduced the speaker of the evening, Rev. Theodore Henderson, pastor of the Simpson M. E. church, of Brooklyn.

A more able speaker than Mr. Henderson would be hard to find. His subject was "The Conquering Legion of Methodism," and he entered into it with great earnestness. Methodism, he said, plays a large part in the conquering of men for Christ, but the statistics of the church are not at all flattering, those of the past few years showing very little gain. Competition, he declared, is the curse of the Christian church and nothing could be done until the efforts of everyone were concentrated on one object. He advised the members of the league how to assist in the struggle by sacrificing and enterprise, but before conquering each individual must be conquered.

Following Mr. Henderson's address, the audience adjourned to the Epworth House, where the members of the different chapters made themselves acquainted. On returning to the church again, refreshments were served and while they were being disposed of, addresses were made by Mr. Thompson, of Cranford; Mr. Hand, of Westfield, and Mr. Mundy, of Somerville. Visiting chapters were present from Somerville, Bound Brook, Dunellen, Scotch Plains, Westfield, Cranford and the First M. E. and Grace M. E. churches of this city.

Following are the committees who made the anniversary the success that it was:

Reception—E H. Beekman, president, chairman; Florence Burt, Mame Kriney, Walter M. McGee, Frederick Phillips, Walter F. Manning, Clarence Brouard, Blanchard Randolph, Carrie Beekman, Hattie King, L. DEMOCRATS ARGUE FOR THEIR SIDE.

Big and Enthusiastic Meeting Held in Washington Hall Last Night.

IMPERIALISM DISCUSSED.

CAPT. CAMPBELL ARRAIGNED REPUBLICAN ADMINISTRATION.

John M. Hillman Chairman of the Meeting—Porto Rico Case Given Considerable Attention—S. C. Reese Also Heard.

Washington Hall was filled to its capacity last night by those who were anxious to hear the arguments of speakers advocating the election of Democratic candidates. The meeting was the second one held of the series arranged by the Democratic Jeffersonian Club, and attracted many more than the first meeting a week ago, which was not advertised as well.

President O'Keefe introduced John M. Hillman as chairman of the meeting. Mr. Hillman made a few remarks in accepting the position of chairman. He said the people are anxious for a change and he believed that the Democratic party would give them their desire. He addressed his remarks especially to the young men and urged them to support the ticket. He then introduced Captain Charles Campbell, of New York city.

Capt. Campbell was for many years a sailor and has encircled the globe three times. Up to within a short time he was a marine agent for a large concern, but owing to his admiration for and support of the Democratic candidates he was forced to resign his position. He has since been doing campaign work. He is an earnest and convincing speaker.

The speaker addressed his audience as "Ladies and gentlemen and all fellow-sufferers in this era of alleged prosperity." He then went on to say that he was no paid hireling of any party, nor a partisan. He came to speak as an American to Americans. He mentioned the fact that the declaration of independence had remained unchanged for a great many years, and the Democrats had pinned their faith to it by rewriting it in Kansas City last July. He considered that imperialism is the paramount issue in this campaign and that it has a right to precedence. His definition of imperialism was the concentration of power in the hands of a few, and the exercise of that power in defiance of the policy that has heretofore prevailed in this country. Mr. Campbell said that this country had passed through several crisises. The first one was when Thomas Jefferson triumphed over Alexander Hamilton and secured for the country a government in which the plain people of the land had an important part. The second one was in 1834 when "Old Hickory" Jackson combated the money power and said that they should not rule the people, but that people should rule themselves. The third great crisis of the United States, he said, was when Abraham Lincoln was elected president of the country and the Civil War was commenced. The speaker referred to Lincoln as an ideal Democratic president, although he was called a Republican. "And now," said Mr. Campbell, "we come to another crisis, a time when we must decide whether or not the country is to endure as our forefathers fought and bled that it might be formed. There was Washington, the farmer, and Lincoln, the rail-splitter, and now out of the west comes another young man to rescue the people of this country from inquitious policy that is fastening us in shackles of gold and oppression—William Jennings Bryan." Mr. Campbell brought out this peroration with vigor and eloquence and the applause that greeted the mention of the Democratic candidate's name was loud and long.

He said that the great chief of the Republican party, the presiding genius of the Philadelphia convention, Mark Hanna, says that there is no such thing as imperialism. "Well, there is one thing that I will not accuse Hanna of," said the speaker, "and that is telling the truth." To show that there is imperialism Mr. Campbell brought up the situation of Porto Rico. He said that while the island had become a part of the United States, over which the flag waved but in which the constitution did not prevail, it has been denied the rights and privileges which every consideration of justice and honesty demanded should exist there as it does in any State or Territory within the strict confines of the United States. Though McKinley had said in his message that "It was the plain

DR HUNT INVESTIGATING

STATE HEALTH OFFICER CALLED ON ACCOUNT OF TAINTED WATER.

Top of the Mountain Reservoir Should Be Covered and Water Not Permitted to Stand Too Long.

For some time past there has been trouble concerning the water supply as furnished from the reserve reservoir on Johnston's Drive, and several complaints have been made by various boroughites. This led the members of the Board of Health to visit the reservoir and there they found an unpleasant condition of affairs. There was a scum on the water and vegetable matter was discovered in the water. This produced a disagreeable odor. The Board at once took action in the matter and caused the reservoir to be emptied and the supply of water from that source was stopped for the present. The Plainfield Water Supply Company explained the condition by saying that new mains have been installed and that water had stood in some of the mains for a length of time. This, together with the fact that the reservoir is open at the top, thus permitting foreign substance to get inside, caused the trouble.

The Board of Health notified the State Board about the trouble and Dr. Hunt visited the borough today and in company with Dr. Honeyman went to Johnston's Drive and inspected the resevoir and surrounding. In the opinion of the officials the water is absolutely pure and perfectly healthy, but it is belived that some precautionary measures should be taken to protect the water in the reservoir. The top should be covered with the necessary vents to allow air to circulate and the water should not be allowed to remain too long in the mains or reservoir. The Board of Health will communicate with the water company and there is not the slightest doubt but what the company will co operate heartily with the health authorities in an effort to remove all existing troubles.

MULDOON'S TRIAL.

Plainfield's Witnesses Testify as to Henning Coming to This City.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, October 12.—The trial of Patrick Muldoon, accused of causing the death of John Henning, the canalman, was continued yesterday afternoon in the Somerset County Court.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Bergen's cross examination of John McElroy badly rattled the witness who was led to admit that he was very drunk on the night in question and was 70 feet away when Muldoon kicked Henning. He could not say where the kick landed.

John Wierzoreid, a policeman at Plainfield, testified to finding Henning on the corner of Second street and Grant avenue, groaning with pain. He took him to Muhlenberg Hospital.

Dr. Monroe B. Long, of Plainfield, testified to treating him. He attended him once or twice a day until he died. He said Henning grew gradually worse, parts became more swollen and symptoms of septic poison appeared. The cause of death was septic poison, due to sloughing from injuries. On cross-examination by Mr. Bergen, Dr. Long said that injury might have been inflicted by a fall on a sharp stone; injury would have to be inflicted by a shoe less than two inches in width at the toe.

Dr. Hedges, of Plainfield, testified to making autopsy and corroborated Dr. Long's testimony as to nature of wound and cause of death. On cross-examination he stated that such injuries were not always fatal.

Patrick McDonald, the bridge tender at Bound Brook, who has an elegant brogue, amused the audience by his testimony. He said Muldoon was not very drunk as he was able to walk. When Mr. Bergen asked him when he considered a man drunk, he replied, "When he lays down."

The case was given to the jury this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Indictment Nolle Prosse.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, October 12.—The trial of Martin Brennen, an employe of the Pond Machine Tool Company, of Plainfield, for atrocious assault and battery on his wife, Margaret Brennen, on Labor Day, came up yesterday before Judge Woodbridge Strong. After Prosecutor Voorhees had examined Mrs. Brennen, the complaining witness, the defendant's counsel, Walter Hetfield, put her under a searching cross examination for about an hour when the Prosecutor moved to nolle pross the indictment, which motion was granted and the jury discharged.

BRYAN MAY SPEAK IN ELIZABETH.

Col Collins Succeeds in Getting the Promise That He Will Stop Off Oct. 25th.

G. O P. COUNTY CONVENTION.

COUNTY COMMITTEE FIXED IT FOR SAME DAY AS BRYAN COMES.

Arrangements for the Convention of the Democratic Clubs in Trenton—Other Political Notes of Interest.

After all, Col. Bryan will probably speak in Union county this campaign. Ever since it was determined that Mr. Bryan was to "swing around the circle" in New Jersey for two days, and that he was to pass through Elizabeth on Oct. 25th, the Democratic leaders of that city have been striving to get him to stop off there and deliver a speech. At first it was said that it would be utterly impossible to make such arrangements, but Col. D. F. Collins, chairman of the city committee, kept at the State committee, and yesterday it was announced that in all probability Colonel Bryan's schedule would be arranged so that he could speak in Elizabeth for a little while on his way from Trenton to Jersey City, where he speaks in the evening. Definite arrangements for the meeting will be announced later.

The Middlesex Democratic county convention will be held in Turu Hall, on Dennis street, New Brunswick, Tuesday, October 16th, at 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of nominating candidates for State Senator, three Assemblymen and a Coroner. It seems to be a foregone conclusion that Senator VanCleef will be renominated, although the labor interests of the county have been very active in a quiet way in urging the nomination of ex-Assemblyman John J. Quaid. It is quite probable that Mr. Quaid's name will be presented to the convention. If he secures enough votes to be nominated, however, it will be the biggest surprise ever sprung at a Middlesex county convention. The Assembly candidates will probably develop on the day of the convention. Last year Messrs. Alexander Farrell, of Carteret; James Dougherty, of New Brunswick, and Daniel W. Clayton, of Jamesburg, were the candidates. Part or all of these may be on the ticket again this year.

Additional arrangements have been made for the convention of the New Jersey Democratic Society in Trenton, October 25. In a circular issued yesterday, President George H. Lambert states that reduced rates on all the railroads will be secured for the several clubs. As William Jennings Bryan, the Democratic candidate for President, will address the convention and a great crowd is expected. The delegates will have the choice in Taylor's Opera House, where the convention will take place. Mr. Bryan will reach the convention hall about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Each club will be entitled to five delegates and an additional delegate for each 100 members. An appeal is made for contributions, which will be received by the treasurer, James F. Minturn, at the Jersey City headquarters.

Shrewd strangers and claiming to be solicitors for funds for campaign purposes have been working in various parts of Hunterdon and Warren counties. They are now known to be frauds. They have collected several hundred dollars in small amounts in this section.

The Union County Republican committee Wednesday night met and the dates for the primaries and county convention were fixed. The county convention will be held on October 25th, and at that time the party will complete the nominations to be voted for at the polls on November 6th. Three assemblymen are to be chosen on the county ticket. Primaries for the selection of delegates to the convention will be held on Monday night, October 22d.

The Democrats of the borough will meet in their rooms on Somerset street tomorrow evening and enjoy a jollification. There will be good speeches and plenty of refreshments.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Third Ward Republican Association was held last evening at the Casino. Plans were made for the completion of the ward canvass. No action toward arranging for the second smoker.

The farmers in the vicinity of South Stirling turned out in large numbers last night to attend the Democratic meeting held at Linke's Hotel, where James E. Martine delivered a rousing speech in favor of Bryan and Stevenson. W. H. Rogers was chairman of the meeting.

TWO MORE RICE WILLS.

ONE OF THEM WAS TO BE OF BENEFIT TO DUNELLEN.

The Old Millionare Intended to Endow a College to be Located at That Place.

A great deal of interest has been exhibited in this city and vicinity in the troubles growing out of the death of the eccentric old millionare, William A. Rice. This is because he lived in Dunellen for sometime and was well known hereabouts. Mr. Rice owned the Elkwood building on West Second street in this city. Now a story told by Former Judge Bartine, of Somerville, who was Rice's counsel when he lived in New Jersey, throws an interesting light on the old man's life.

Mr. Rice came north to live in 1877 and about 18 3 he bought an estate at Dunellen and went to live there. Among those with whom he first became acquainted after moving into Somerset county was Judge Bartine. It was to Judge Bartine that Rice unfolded his scheme for founding, equipping and endowing a great institution where the children of the poor could obtain free of cost a liberal education.

Judge Bartine went to Philadelphia to look over Girard College and learn what they could of the general scheme on what it was founded, its courses of study and that the cost of maintenance. After that visit Mr. Rice had plans and specifications drawn of an institution similar to Girard College. Then one day he called on Judge Bartine and told him he wanted his will drawn. This was subsequent to 1883 and previous to 1895.

After making bequests to such relatives and friends as he cared to remember, he made the Rice Institute, which was to be established by that will at Ducellen, his residuary legatee. The will was signed and executed in Judge Bartine's office and Bartine and Capt. Baker were named as two of the executors. A provision stipulated that only residents of Somerset and Hunterdon counties might receive instruction at the institute.

About 1895 Rice moved to New York. He and his second wife did not live happily together and the mansion at Dunellen was closed. Not long after Rice came to New York he summoned Judge Bartine and told him he wanted to make another will. He said he had come to the conclusion that New York was the place for an institution such as he wanted to found and he desired to make such changes in the Dunellen will as would provide for the establishment of the institution in New York. All the other provisions of the previous will, he said, were to be unaltered. The changes were made and the will was executed at the Chatham National Bank, that place being selected Judge Bartine said because Mr. Rice knew the cashier, H. P. Doremus.

BAPTIST SUNDAY-SCHOOL.

Quarterly Meeting of Officers and Teachers Was Held Last Evening.

The quarterly meeting of the officers and teachers of the First Baptist church Sunday-school was held last evening in the lecture room of the church and was largely attended. The principal business was the selection of a secretary and an assistant, these offices having been vacant for sometime past. John G. McLoughlin was chosen secretary, and J. Herbert Case, assistant secretary. Frank Jones, the treasurer, presented a report showing that there is now about $300 in the treasury.

It was deemed wise that there should be changes in the constitution and bylaws and a committee will be appointed next Sunday to make the necessary revision. Among the changes suggested is that the annual meeting should be held in October instead of September and that the morning sessions of the school should be continued through the month of September. Several other changes of a minor nature have also been suggestested.

Miss Laura J. Runyon, superintendent of the home department work, presented a report which was of considerable interest. There are now 87 persons enrolled and following the home department study. During the past quarter there has been an increase of twelve in membership, and the collections have been very satisfactory.

Following the transaction of business a social time was enjoyed and refreshments were served by a committee appointed for that purpose.

ENDEAVORERS MET IN JERSEY CITY.

Interesting Reports Read at 14th Annual Convention of the State Union.

SOCIETY IS FLOURISHING.

EIGHTY-ONE BRANCHES FORMED, AND 25,500 MEMBERS IN JERSEY.

Annual Report of Treasurer E. E. Anthony Read—Many Plainfielders Are Attending the Convention.

Christian Endeavorers from all parts of New Jersey assembled in the Bergen Baptist church, at Clinton and Madison avenues, Jersey City, yesterday, to attend the fourteenth annual convention of the State Union. A large number of Plainfielders are among them.

Robert A. Alberts, chairman of the local reception committee, opened the convention with an address of welcome to the visiting delegates. Devotional exercises, led by Rev. J. C. Allen, pastor of the church, followed, and then Mayor Edward Hoos welcomed the delegates to Jersey City. He spoke of the good work the order was accomplishing and told the delegates that they were welcome to everything Jersey City had. There were other addresses of welcome by Arthur E. Farrier, president of the Hudson county Union, and Rev. Cornelius Brett, pastor of the Bergen Reformed church. To all these a happy response was made by Rev. Arthur W. Spooner, D. D., of Camden, president of the State Union.

After singing by the large choir, led by F. H. Jacobs, of Brooklyn, the treasurer, E. E. Anthony, of Plainfield, read his report, according to which the year started with a balance of 82 cents. The funds received during the year from the county unions amounted to $1,027.03; the expenditures were $931.08; balance, $95 95.

Miss Ida B. Stephens, secretary of the union, then read her report, in which she said:

"During the year 81 new societies have been formed, with 19 changes, making a net increase of 62. There are 432 young people's societies, 426 junior societies, 19 intermediate societies and 5 mothers' societies. In these there are 18 denominations. The Presbyterians lead, and the Baptists are second. There are 25,500 members of the Christian Endeavor societies in New Jersey. There would have been 42 000 had not some societies, that had not been heard from in years, been dropped. Societies have suffered greatly through the fault of twelve secretaries, who left vacancies to be filled."

Rev. Edward McMinn reported on the evangelistic work the union is doing, and in referring to the work said:

"As to the more than forty life saving stations along the New Jersey coast, but few have received special attention, yet the faithful work of Miss Bache, of Hyde Park-on-the-Hudson, has been a blessing to several of these stations. The work among the inmates of poorhouses has been left somewhat to the W. C. T. U. workers, as also the local prison work. It was found, upon examination, that the very nature of Christian Endeavor work precluded its introduction in the asylums for the insane. In the countries where the State Superintendent has had the opportunity of addressing the Christian Endeavor convention the willingness to hear has been an encouraging feature, and he has been convinced that the work of the department is still in its infancy."

Denominational rallies were held during the afternoon in Emory Methodist, Bergen Baptist, First Presbyterian, Bergen Reformed and First Congregational churches. In the evening Rev. Charles M. Sheldon, of Kansas, author of "In His Steps," spoke at a meeting in the Bergen Baptist church. The colored delegates held a rally in the same church earlier in the evening, which was presided over by Bishop Walters, of the A. M. E. Zion church.

LOOKING FOR MISSING MONEY.

Five Thousand Dollars Disappears In a Strange Manner.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12. Gustave Eckstein, a New York representative of a Savannah wholesale cotton house and also one of the partners in it, is trying to find out what has become of $5,000 which he claims was in an envelope sent by express, marked $5,000, but said to have contained double that sum when it was dispatched. On being opened at its destination only $5,000, it is declared, was forthcoming. One day last week Mr. Eckstein went to the Central National bank, where he is a depositor, and drew a check for $10,000, asking the cashier, Mr. Young, for bills of large denomination.

He was given nine $1,000 bills and two $500 bills. Then he asked the cashier to have them put in a large envelope, as he wanted to send the money by express. This was done, and the parcel was handed to him. Then, according to the story told by the cashier, the cotton merchant took a pen and marked the envelope $5,000. That done, he returned it to the cashier and requested him to forward it to Savannah along with the rest of the bank business. The envelope was directed to Eckstein's brother, who is at the head of the Savannah house, Mr. Young took it, and Mr. Eckstein left the bank.

At the close of business Eckstein's package marked $5,000 was taken to an office of the Adams Express company by a messenger of the bank. A receipt was issued for it as marked, and it was forwarded, together with the other packages of money that had come from the same bank.

Nothing was heard of the matter until late Tuesday night, and then Gustave Eckstein got a telegram from his brother in Savannah saying that the envelope had been received, but it contained only $5,000. It is said that Gustave Eckstein had written his brother of the transaction and that the envelope would contain $10,000.

Mr. Eckstein has put the matter into the hands of his attorney.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, is in the city to endeavor to settle the cigarmakers' strike, which has lasted now for more than four months. He had conferences with representatives of firms who formerly employed about 4,000 of the 5,000 cigarmakers who are still out. President Gompers said no definite conclusion in relation to a settlement of the strike with these firms had been reached and that he would return to Washington and lay the entire question before the executive board of the American Federation of Labor.

Immense Fall of Rain.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 12.—The province of New Brunswick has received a fearful drenching from a rainstorm which has lasted 108 hours and which in amount equals ten inches. Not a train is moving on the Canadian Pacific railway between St. John and Vanceboro or on the branch lines of the road to St. Andrews, St. Stephen, Fredericton or Woodstock. The tie up is due to washouts. Conditions are the worst which have existed in the Canadian Pacific road's history, and thousands of dollars are represented in the damage already done and in loss of traffic.

A REPLY TO FRANCE.

Position of United States Regarding Chinese Affairs.

PUNISHMENT FOR THE GUILTY.

Guarantees For Future—Interdiction of Martial Imports—Equitable Indemnities For the Several Governments.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—The reply of the state department to the French note relative to the bases of Chinese negotiations is now made public. It reads as follows:

"The government of the United States agrees with that of France in recognizing as the object to be obtained from the government of China appropriate reparation for the past and substantial guarantees for the future.

"The president is glad to perceive in the bases of negotiation put forward in the memorandum of Oct. 4 the spirit that has animated the declarations heretofore made by all the powers interested and would be pleased to see the negotiations begun immediately upon the usual verification of credentials.

"It may be convenient to enumerate the clauses of the memorandum and to add some observations dictated by the attitude of the United States in the present circumstances:

"First.—The punishment of the guilty parties who may be designated by the representatives of the powers at Peking.

"The Chinese government has already indicated its intention to punish a number of those responsible for the recent disorders. The representatives of the powers at Peking may suggest additions to that list when negotiations are entered upon.

"Second.—The continuance of the interdiction against the importation of arms.

"It is not understood that this interdiction is to be permanent, and the duration of and the details of its regulation seem a proper subject of discussion by the negotiators.

"Third.—Equitable indemnities for the governments, corporations and private individuals.

"This is an object desired by all the powers. The Russian government has suggested that in case of protracted divergence of views this matter might be commended to the consideration of the international court of arbitration of The Hague. The president thinks this suggestion worthy the attention of the powers.

"Fourth.—The organization in Peking of a permanent guard for the legations.

"The government of the United States is unable to make any permanent engagement of this nature without the authorization of the legislative branch, but in the present emergency we have stationed in Peking an adequate legation guard.

"Fifth.—The dismantling of the forts at Taku.

"The president reserves the expression of his opinion as to this measure pending the receipt of further information in regard to the situation in China.

"Sixth.—The military occupation of two or three points on the road from Tientsin to Peking.

"The same observation which has been made in reference to No. 4 applies also to this proposition. The president is unable to commit the United States to a permanent participation in such occupation, but he thinks it desirable that the powers shall obtain from the Chinese government the assurance of their right to guard their legations in Peking and to have the means of unrestricted access to them whenever required.

"The president believes that the governments of France and the other powers will see in the reserves we have here made no obstacle to the initiation of negotiations on the lines suggested, and he hopes it will be found practicable to begin such negotiations at an early day."

MORE MISSIONS DESTROYED.

It is reported that the Yang-tse viceroys have sent 20,000 troops to Pao-ting-fu to suppress the rebellion.

American Troops Leave China.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Colonel Humphrey, quartermaster in China, has sent a cablegram under yesterday's date to the quartermaster general announcing the first departure of United States troops from China. The dispatch is as follows: "Kintuck sailed yesterday for Manila with forage, quartermaster animals, Company D, Sixth regiment, United States cavalry, pack mules belonging to Sixth regiment, United States cavalry. Transport Indiana will leave this port on the 11th with about 900 marines. Hyde sending wood here already contracted for. United States of America loses nothing by these shipments. Forage caps, cap ornaments, letters, numbers wanted for Ninth regiment, United States infantry, Fourteenth regiment, United States infantry, Sixth regiment, United States cavalry, Company F, Fifth regiment, United States artillery. Entire command thoroughly provided for; health good."

The Pittsburg and Buffalo company is also developing coal territory at White Rock on the Allegheny Valley railroad.

A LIVELY CAMPAIGN.

Mr. Bryan at Ann Arbor, Mich., Answers Many Questions.

ROOSEVELT SPEAKS AT INDIANAPOLIS

University Students Arrested For Disturbing Democratic Meeting—A Strong Attack on Trusts and a Remedy For the Evil.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 12.—There was a mildly wild time yesterday afternoon when Mr. Bryan came to Ann Arbor. The students of the State university, which is located here, were at the meeting in large numbers, and each made his presence felt. A platform had been erected on the south side of the courthouse building, and the entire south side of the square as well as the adjoining street was covered with a solid mass of humanity, a majority of those nearest the stand being students.

Mr. Bryan has no sooner shown his face than the boys began a clamor which did not cease for 10 or 15 minutes. Even after Mr. Bryan advanced to the front of the stand the din continued, but it ultimately subsided sufficiently to allow him to begin. "I am glad to talk to you," he began, "if you are willing to listen."

A few voices responded, "We are willing."

"If I were an imperialist," Mr. Bryan went on, "I would call for an army to suppress you, but I am not." This sally seemed to please the young men, and most of them laughed and cheered. Some of them jeered to such an extent, however, that an officer was compelled to enter the crowd and arrest several of the noisiest. After this, while the interruptions were frequent, they generally took the shape of questions. One of the questions brought out the explicit declaration from Mr. Bryan, "The Democratic party is for the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation." By the time Mr. Bryan concluded the confusion had ceased entirely, and he closed amid cheers.

At the time of the arrest of some of the students at Ann Arbor Mr. Bryan's attention was not called to the fact, and he did not know of it until after the close of the meeting. When informed of what had been done, he immediately sent the following letter to Hon. M. J. Cavanaugh:

"My Dear Sir—If it is true, as I am informed, that some of the college boys were arrested for disturbing the meeting, please ask for their discharge. I am sure it was the result of boyish thoughtlessness and not malice."

Mr. Bryan took up the trust question at the beginning of his speech and asked: "Are you willing to defend a system by which a few men control a great branch of industry and sell to the people at trust prices, buy of the people at trust prices and then employ labor on such terms and conditions as the trust may fix? You young men do not want that kind of government. You do not want a government that can punish a horse thief but cannot punish a trust magnate, do you? That is the kind of a government you have now. (Applause and jeers and cries of "How about the ice trust?")

"I shall stop now long enough to discuss the ice trust. Now, will you explain to me why every Republican knows there is an ice trust and yet no Republican knows anything about any other kind of a trust? Every director of the ice trust is a Republican." [Cries of "No!" and "How about Croker?"]

"Mr. Croker is not a director. He is simply a stockholder." [Cries of "Oh!"]

"The governor of the state of New York is a Republican, and if he were in New York punishing the ice trust instead of making speeches out here there would be no ice trust. The Republican governor and legislature can protect the people of that state if they want to. But the Standard Oil trust covers the whole United States, so does the sugar trust, so does the oil trust, so does the barb wire trust, so does the wire nail trust."

A Voice—How about the cotton trust?

Mr. Bryan—The gentleman speaks of the cotton bale trust. Now, let me tell you the facts: The cotton bale company has a patent for making round bales, and it bales less than one-twentieth of the cotton of the United States, and yet you Republicans say nothing about a salt trust that controls 95 per cent of the output, but you howl about a cotton trust that has one-twentieth of the output. Are you honest? [Cries of "Yes!"] Then you must have been ignorant, for no honest man would condemn a 5 per cent cotton bale trust and defend a 95 per cent salt trust because it was Republican. Let me call your attention to the fact that your party has no remedy for the trusts. Your president in his letter of acceptance spent more time telling you not to hurt the good trusts than he did telling you how to hurt the bad ones.

A Voice—What would you do?

Mr. Bryan—We have a remedy, and our remedy is, first, to put every trust made article on the free list; second, we propose that congress shall provide that before any corporation does business outside of the state of its origin it shall take out a license from the federal government, and this license shall only be given when the corporation shows that it has no water in its stock and that it is not attempting to monopolize any branch of business. I believe that that would be a remedy for the trusts. I believe that no private monopoly could exist.

ROOSEVELT WELL RECEIVED.

Indianapolis Gives New York's Governor an Enthusiastic Welcome.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 12.—Indianapolis, which is now holding its first fall festival, gave Governor Roosevelt last night one of the greatest receptions ever extended in this city to a candidate for political honors. From the crossing at Southeastern avenue up East Washington street to the courthouse, three-quarters of a mile distant, where he spoke to an immense audience, the sidewalks and thoroughfares were crowded with a mass of enthusiastic humanity through which the procession moved with difficulty.

The courthouse square and grounds and streets surrounding it were congested with a throng which greeted the governor's arrival with a storm of cheers and as he alighted at the courthouse entrance cannon boomed salutes. At the close of the governor's speech, which was preceded by an introductory address by Captain English, Colonel Curtis Guild, Jr., of Boston made an eloquent speech, which received profound attention. While the colonel was speaking Governor Roosevelt was driven to the residence of Committeeman New, where he was the guest of honor at dinner. The evening was devoted to a parade which was more than two hours passing the reviewing stand in front of the courthouse. The line of march was crowded and decorated profusely.

Among other things Governor Roosevelt said:

"I want no better campaign argument than can be made out of the speeches of Mr. Bryan himself four years ago. If you read the Old Testament you will find that false prophets had a bad time in those days, but nowadays they nominate them for president on the Democratic ticket. This is an interesting book (taking book from the hand of Curtis G. Guild, Jr., of Massachusetts). It is the best campaign book for the Republican party I know of. It is called "The First Battle," and it was written by Mr. Bryan, and if you will turn to page 52 you will see the speeches he made here in Indianapolis four years ago, and as generally happened he could not resist prophesying, and when the inspiration came to him he said: 'Gold is arrogant and tyrannical, and it deserts any nation in time of war.' We have had the Spanish war since and gold staid with us. Well, he went on—and this I should commend to the few Gold Democrats who now want to come back and join him—he said: 'We have begun a war on the gold standard, and we shall not let up on it until there is not a single friend of gold left in the country.'

"This you will find on page 532 of Mr. Bryan's book: 'Only a few of our people will be able to wear shoes under the gold standard.' And then he goes on, 'As it is with shoes, so it is with clothing.'

"That is actually what Mr. Bryan said four years ago. And, gentlemen, he ran pretty close yesterday when he stated that he wanted a change in the party that had control of the government so as to allow everybody to go to the seaside. Now, gentlemen, think of having to meet an argument advanced by a serious candidate for the presidency of that type.

"Now, gentlemen, I think that if you will look at all of the prophecies of Mr. Bryan you cannot help voting right. I ask for nothing but a study of what he said and a comparison of what has actually happened. He said that unless we had free silver the wage workers would stand idle, and he has had more work than ever before. He said that the farmer would lose the market for his crops, and he has had a greater market than ever before. He said that failures in the business world would increase, and they have been but one-tenth as numerous. He said that the savings deposits would go down, and they have gone up 25 per cent. He said that mortgages would go up, but they went down 40 per cent."

At the conclusion of the parade the governor was escorted to the Dennison hotel, where he remained until 9 o'clock this morning, when the special train started out on the third day's itinerary of the Indiana tour.

WAR NOT ENDED.

Boers Score a Victory and Inflict Serious Loss.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The following dispatch has been received from Lord Roberts:

"An engine with a truck conveying a party of engineers belonging to Paget's Rifle brigade, while proceeding to Kaapmuiden, was ambushed by Boers. Captain Stewart, with 40 men of the rifle brigade, went to their support. The casualties unfortunately were heavy."

The Pretoria correspondent of The Daily Mail sends the following interesting dispatch:

"From an English telegraphist who was controller of telegraphs for the Transvaal I learn that there was systematic tampering with all telegrams during the war in order to misrepresent operations in favor of the Boers. He says that Mr. Kruger was constantly wiring to the commanders inquiries as to how many of the British had been killed and that General Cronje, after the fight at Magersfontein, wired Mr. Kruger that he had counted many thousand British dead on the battlefield.

"Early in the campaign Commandant General Joubert appealed to Mr. Kruger to stop the Boers' looting, but he received no reply. Later on he wired from Colenso advising the president to sue for peace. Mr. Kruger replied, 'Have you lost all faith in God?'

"On another occasion when the Boers were suffering severe reverses Mr. Kruger wired to all the generals that 10,000 men were coming to their assistance from the Cape."

Boers Capture British Outpost.

KING WILLIAM'S TOWN, Oct. 12.—The Boers have torn up the railway north of Bethulie and captured a British outpost.

Shinburn Makes Threats.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Oct. 12.—It now seems probable that Shinburn, the notorious bank burglar, whose hearing under extradition proceedings has been adjourned until next Wednesday, will implicate his old associates in a series of crimes unless they come to his aid now with money to help him in his legal fight. He declares that if he has to go back to Concord prison some other "crooks" who are now at liberty will also be doing time in some prison or penitentiary. He and his lawyers are telegraphing and writing to his friends to aid him in his fight for freedom, and his prospects are brighter than they have been at any time.

The Wisconsin Beats All.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Oct. 12.—The battleship Wisconsin gained new laurels for her builders, the Union Iron works of San Francisco, on her trial trip in Santa Barbara channel by exceeding her contract speed of 16 knots and making the best record up to date in her class. It is announced that the Wisconsin made 17.25 knots, exceeding the best previous record of 17.1 knots made by her sister ship, the Alabama.

Injured at Football.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Oct. 12.—Russell Atkinson of Newburyport, right half back in the Dummer academy football team, which played against the Haverhill High school, is in a serious condition as a result of injuries suffered in course of the game. He was the bottom man in a scrimmage, and it is feared that his spine was injured.

TAFT COMMISSION BUSY.

Pay of Teachers Raised—Filipino Magistrates a Failure.

MANILA, Oct. 12.—The Taft commission at its last session passed eight bills, among which were those providing for increases of 33 1-3 per cent in salaries of the native teachers of Manila and vicinity; appropriating $7,500 for the erection of a garbage crematory and the bills for reorganizing the insular auditor's office and the forestry bureau.

Mr. Wright's bill appropriating $1,000,000 gold from the insular treasury for a continuation of harbor improvements under modified Spanish plans had a hearing yesterday. There was an audience of important commercial representatives. Mr. McCleod, representing the International Chamber of Commerce, spoke in opposition to the appropriation. He said that the merchants had paid since American occupation $3,000,000 in special taxes for harbor improvements and he could see no reason for further appropriation. He also objected to the clause in the bill placing the work under the control of the chief engineer, Captain Biddle, saying that as the merchants would have to pay for the entire work they should have representation on the board controlling construction, as in the Spanish regime.

The administration of Manila's civil courts by Filipino magistrates, which has long been scandalous, is now attracting public attention more than ever and has been brought to the Taft commission's attention with requests for rectification. The courts are composed of four justices of the peace and four primary courts. The magistrates are all Filipinos, and developments have proved that the incumbents are utter failures as administrators of justice. The dissatisfaction with and complaints against the existing courts are unending. Natives and foreigners dread litigation, knowing the facts in the case. Charges have been filed and evidence is in the hands of the authorities which, it is claimed, will show that the magistrates have been guilty of the grossest corruption and malfeasance in office.

The members of the Taft commission are disgusted with the condition of the courts and intend to substitute honest Americans from the United States for the native magistrates. Americans having a knowledge of Spanish are preferred, but they are the hardest to secure. The commission will then institute the drastic reforms needed in the case of the entire judiciary.

Warden Johnson Denies Charges.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Warden Addison Johnson of the state prison at Sing Sing has issued a denial of the charges made in a morning paper concerning alleged mismanagement in the conduct of the prison. The published charges purport to be a synopsis of a report which will be made by a committee of the Prison association of New York which will soon be submitted to the association. This purported forecast of the report includes charges that articles manufactured at the prison and intended solely for use in public institutions in this state had been sold to private individuals; favoritism to certain convicts; brutality by keepers; blackmail of convicts by prison officials and lack of proper medical attendance given the prisoners. Warden Johnson in his reply denies all the charges.

Republican Editors Meet.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Over 100 editors of Republican papers in this state outside of New York came to town yesterday to discuss together the best means of presenting to the voters of the state Republican principles and arguments. They met at the Republican club, where they were welcomed to the city by Senator Chauncey M. Depew. In the afternoon they went down the bay on a steamer, and in the evening they met again at the Republican club, where they had a smoker and entertained as guests Senator Platt, Benjamin B. Odell, Jr., and former Governor Frank S. Black.

Bought His Bride For $90.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Frederick Pell, a boss painter, was arraigned in police court for the abduction of Ida Marx, who is less than 16 years old, to whom he was married Oct. 1. In retaliation for his arrest Pell accused the father and mother of the girl with actually selling their daughter to him for $90. In this he was corroborated by the child wife Ida. Pell further claimed that his wife's parents were aware of his legal marriage to their daughter and that his arrest was for revenge because he refused to pay an additional $30. The magistrate believed Pell and discharged him.

Middletown's Birth Celebrated.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Oct. 12.—The second and last day of Middletown's celebration of its two hundred and fiftieth anniversary brought out the largest crowd that the old town has ever seen. Every dome, window and roof and every foot of sidewalk on the main thoroughfare were crowded, and every dwelling and business house was decorated with flags and bunting. The feature of the day was the parade, over five miles in length. The parade was intended to show the city's advancement since its birth.

The "Prohibs" In Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 12.—Over 1,500 persons greeted John G. Woolley, Prohibition candidate for president, at the Grays' armory here last night. The party arrived at 7 o'clock and were received at Union station by a committee of local Prohibitionists, with the Odd Fellows' band. A torchlight procession, headed by the band, preceded the meeting.

MINERS MEET TODAY

Outcome of the Scranton Convention Problematical.

CHANCES OF SETTLEMENT SLIGHT.

Coal Workers Generally Seem to Favor a Rejection of Ten Per Cent Offer Unless a Guarantee as to Time Is Given.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 12.—The convention of the anthracite miners now on strike throughout the entire hard coal fields in Pennsylvania will convene in this city today for the purpose of considering the 10 per cent increase in wages offered them by nearly all the mine operators in the region. What the outcome of the convention will be is all a matter of speculation, and the opinions expressed by labor leaders are widely divergent.

The delegates to the convention who began arriving yesterday have all sorts of instructions from their local unions on the proposition of the operators. It was learned that most of them now on the ground will vote to reject the 10 per cent increase unless the operators make further concessions. Many of the miners will not favor the advance unless the operators give a guarantee that the increase will be kept in force for a fixed length of time, others want the union recognized before they will accept the proposition, while not a few insist upon concessions in the other grievances.

The belief is general that in the absence of any uniform instructions among the delegates the chances of a settlement by this convention are rather slight.

It is the impression of several labor leaders that at least a second convention will have to be held before any definite action will be taken looking toward an early ending of the contest.

President Mitchell's remarks at Wednesday's mass meeting, in which he told the mine workers that the 10 per cent was not satisfactory and that they ought to make concessions in the other grievances is taken by many persons as a hint to the miners to reject the mine owners' offer. Mr. Mitchell, however, denied this and said he had no intention of influencing the men one way or another. He said he was merely voicing the sentiment of himself, his colleagues and the many strikers with whom he has come in contact during the past week.

The convention as now as the United Mine Workers' officials can figure will consist of about 700 delegates.

W. D. Ryan, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of Illinois, has arrived here. He said the miners of his state have at least $400,000 in their treasury and added that if the anthracitte miners needed help fully $250,000 would be sent in a few hours. Mr. Ryan said he was not here on official business. He may, however, consult with Mr. Mitchell on the question of the financial aid, although the national president says such assistance is not needed at present.

Wilkesbarre Delegates Instructed.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 12.—The Wilkesbarre assemblies of the United Mine Workers held meetings yesterday and instructed the delegates to the Scranton convention to insist on the following demands: First, recognition of the union; second, powder reduced to $1.50; third, 10 per cent general advance; fourth, two weeks' pay; fifth, check docking boss; sixth, a contract signed by the companies agreeing to the above to hold good for one year. The instruction of the delegates comes in the nature of a surprise, as it was expected they would be allowed to use their own judgment after taking their seats in the convention and learning the sentiments of the other delegates.

Troops Sent to Oneida.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Oct. 12.—General Gobin and Sheriff Toole yesterday visited Oneida, the scene of the fatal strike riot. They returned and reported everything quiet in and around Oneida. General Gobin, however, issued orders for the Governor's troop of cavalry to leave at once for Oneida. The general says he does not anticipate any further outbreak at Oneida, but that the people there are nervous and excited since the rioting occurred, and he thinks the presence of the troops will have a pacifying effect.

Freight Wreck.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—A disastrous freight wreck near the East Bound Brook signal tower on the Central Railroad of New Jersey last night tied up all travel on the road except that which could be sent around the wreck by way of the Lehigh Valley tracks. The New York and Chicago fast freight running at the rate of 60 miles an hour was one of the trains in the collision. This train makes the same time to Chicago from New York as a passenger train. Last night as it went past the tower house at East Bound Brook a slow freight started to leave a switch and ran out upon the main tracks. The slow freight was half way over when the fast freight rushed into it.

British Parliamentary Elections.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—In the pollings in the parliamentary general election yesterday the Ministerialists gained two seats, making their total gains 30, as against 29 for the opposition. In Sutherlandshire Mr. F. S. Leveson-Gower, Liberal-Unionist, defeated Mr. John McLeod, Liberal, who held the seat in the late parliament, and in the Southport division of southwest Lancashire Mr. B. Marshall Hall, Conservative, wrested the seat from Sir George Augustus Pilkington, who secured it in the byelection last year. The constitution of the new house thus far is as follows: Ministerialists, 374; opposition, 228.

Site For Consumptives' Hospital.

ALBANY, Oct. 12.—The state forest preserve board and the state board of health gave a joint hearing yesterday on the report of the board of trustees to select a site for the State Hospital For Consumptives, for which the legislature appropriated $50,000. The trustees reported in favor of a site at Big Lake Clear, near Saranac Lake. Acting Governor Woodruff presided.

The Dominican Outbreaks.

SANTO DOMINGO, Oct. 12.—No anxiety is felt in official circles in consequence of the recent disturbances in certain parts of the country. Although many persons have been arrested the outbreaks have been isolated and are regarded as of no significance. The principal towns are quiet, and the government, which is strong and secure, is actively engaged in restoring order.

It seems indeed almost incredible that a clerk receiving a salary of $15 per week could steal over $100,000 from the banking institution in which he is employed without being discovered long before his peculations reached such a stupendous sum. But the banking and insurance authorities practically admit that the system of bank examinations in this State fail of the result at which it is aimed. Speaking of the defalcation of Wm. Schrieber, bookkeeper for the Elizabethport Banking Company, they say that the accounts of the bank were examined last April and were found to be in what they thought good condition. They admit that at that time Schrieber had probably taken a good deal of money from the bank and had covered his stealings by falsifying the accounts. The State authorities defend themselves by saying there is no way of protecting banks against thievery on the part of their employes, unless they watch them daily and note whether or not they are spending more money than their wages warrant.

The Trenton Trolley Company ran open summer cars all through the cold driving rain yesterday and today. Passengers were obliged to stand up most of the time, as all the seats were covered with water which drove in between the flapping curtains. This open car business needs to be regulated by law. Boards of Health should be empowered to say when they may and may not be used. The health officers should be clothed with authority to hold up and prevent the use of summer cars when such use is dangerous to the health of its passengers.—"Trenton" in New York Herald.

Plainfield sympathizes with Trenton in its affliction of a trolley company which is so heedless of the rights and interests of the people it was granted a franchise to serve. We are burdened in the same way. 'Tis a pity that the municipal authorities do not try to bring up the offending corporations with a round turn.

Robert Spurling, an educated negro, who is preparing for admission to the New Jersey bar, has been rejected for citizenship because of his color by Judge Kirkpatrick, in the United States Court Spurling is a graduate of the Howard Institute, of Washington, and a student of Princeton University. He was born in Dutch Guiana, so the Judge had to refuse him citizenship on the ground that the naturalization law specifically declares that "white" persons not born in the United States can become citizens.

The Republican nominations for Congress in New Jersey are now complete. They are: First district, Henry C. Loudenslager; Second district, John J. Gardner; Third district, Benjamin F. Howell; Fourth district, H. Burdette Herr; Fifth district, James F. Stewart; Sixth district, Richard Wayne Parker; Seventh district, Marshall W. VanWinkle, and Eighth district, Charles N. Fowler.

Delaware's unlimited corporation law has been in operation less than two years. Within that time, however, it has chartered 118 corporations with a capital of one million and upwards, with a total authorized capitalization of $412,900,000. Delaware is rapidly approaching a point where New Jersey will have to hustle to rightfully claim the sobriquet of the "Cradle of Trusts."

Over twenty per cent. of the men discharged from the service of the New York Central Railroad Company twenty years ago were dropped from the rolls for drunkenness. Now, however, with 30,000 men in the employ of the company, less than one per cent. of those annually discharged owe the loss of their situations to overindulgence in liquor.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

J. V. E. Vanderhoef, Deputy Supreme Archon of the Improved Order of Heptasophs, paid an official visit to Somerville Conclave last night, expecting to return on the 11:05 train from there, but on arriving at the station found that owing to the wreck at Bound Brook no trains were running. So, after waiting for an hour for the trolley, he got as far as Bound Brook and was compelled to remain there until 3:20 and didn't reach home until about 4 o'clock this morning after having spent five hours traveling twelve miles.

DUNELLEN

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, October 12.—Miss Ruby Smalley entertained about forty of her friends at her home last evening in a very pleasant manner. The young lady proved to be an excellent hostess and the time passed quickly in playing games and listening to musical selections. The serving of refreshments brought the affair to a close.

Three borough men returning from New Brunswick Wednesday evening, became very boisterous on the trolley car and refused to be quiet when told to do so by the conductor. They continued to quarrel among themselves to the annoyance of the passengers until the conductor siezed one of them and in the excitement forced him through a window in a rear door. Fortunately he escaped injury. The motorman then lent assistance and the others were also put off. The incident happened near the Lincoln switch and the boroughites were forced to walk from that point.

After part of the evidence for the prosecution had been given the trial of Martin Brennan, on charges preferred against him by his wife, was discontinued yesterday morning. The lawyers on both sides took the matter in hand, and it was settled satisfactorily to both parties.

In honor of her eighth birthday little Miss May Day gave a party to about twenty playmates yesterday afternoon. Games were played and when the children were tired refreshments were served.

A reception was given to Emanuel Eckel, of Westfield, at his home last evening, in honor of his return from an European trip. A party of his relatives living in the borough were in attendance.

John Logan leaves tomorrow for Cincinnati, where he will spend two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Tynan, who were recent visitors in the borough.

Mrs. Augustus Brower has returned to her home in Woodsbury, L. I., after a pleasant visit with her brother, R. J. Swackhamer.

John Cruser, who was recently appointed day ticket agent at Fanwood, will probably begin his new duties today.

No meeting of the Willing Workers was held today. Next week they will meet with Mrs. W. G. Vance.

Percy Cannon and his mother attended the wedding of a relative in New Brunswick yesterday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stone and son, of Whitehouse, are visiting relatives in the borough.

Miss Florence A. Jones, of Trenton, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hamilton.

T. J. Ronayne spent yesterday with Plainfield friends.

Scotch Plains, October 12.—The members of the Republican Club are preparing to take a club representation of about sixty to the mass-meeting to be held at Music Hall, Plainfield, Monday evening. Charles N. Fowler, the Republican nominee for Congress, is to address the meeting. Any one desiring to attend the meeting and enjoy a trolley ride with the club are invited to go with them. The members of the class arrived by trolley shortly after 8 and from then until about 11 o'clock the merry party enjoyed the evening playing games. During the evening refreshments were served and altogether the pleasant little affair will remain a pleasant memory to the class and their teacher and to a few friends who assisted Miss Squier in entertaining her charges.

The local football team will open the season tomorrow afternoon with the Pond eleven from Plainfield. Scotch Plains never had a stronger eleven in the field than has been brought out this season. The team has been greatly strengthened by three of the members of last year's Dunellen eleven. The team have a number of Saturday afternoon dates open and would like to arrange games with teams averaging 140 or 145 lbs.

The Republican transparency was put in the club window, over H. C. Meyers' grocery store, yesterday. WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, Oct. 12—A beautiful home wedding took place Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mary C. Scudder, on the Fanwood road, when, at 5:30 o'clock, her daughter, Miss Mary Elliott Scudder, became the wife of William C. Reed, of Westfield. The groom, with the best man, William L. Mason, of Somerville, first entered the large front parlor accompanied by Rev. N. W. Cadwell, pastor of the Presbyterian church, who performed the ceremony. They were met by the bride, who leaned on the arm of her brother, George W. Scudder, who gave her away. The maid-of-honor was Miss Susan S. Scudder and the bridesmaids were Misses Anna W. Scudder and Margaret L. Scudder, all three sisters of the bride. The ushers were George T. Meinecke, of New York, and Edward C. Elmi, of Raritan. After the ceremony the newly married couple were tendered a reception before they departed for a short wedding tour. They will make their home on Park street, Westfield. There were a number of guests present from Plainfield.

duty of the country to establish free trade between Porto Rico and the United States, an embargo of fifteen per cent. had been put on all imports from Porto Rico. The island was taxed, but allowed no representation or voice in the Goverment at Washington. This, he said, was a great wrong, and the very thing at which the men of colonial days rebelled at and finally succeed in crushing by the Revolutionary War. "The G. A. R. removed the shackles from the colored people of this country and their sons are not worthy of their sires if they vote to put them on the colored people in Porto Rico again," declared the speaker.

Mr. Campbell also devoted considerable time to militarism, using the incident of the Idaho "bull pen" to emphasize his arguments. The trusts also came in for a share of attention from the speaker. He said that no sane man denied the trusts were an evil to the country and oppressors of the people. The great problem in this connection, he said, was how to deal with them by legislation. This could be done by the taxing power of the Government—taxing the odious combinations out of existence.

Speaking of New Jersey he called it a monopoly-ridden State, and in mentioning the name of Congressman Fowler he said that he was known in Washington as a mis-representative of the people. He cited the fact that he had risen from a pauper to a millionaire, and, on a salary of $5,000 a year, in a few years was worth millions. He declared that in Washington Mr. Fowler is known as the representative of the National Banking Trust.

At the conclusion of Captain Campbell's speech, S. W. Reese, of Westfield, was introduced and talked for sometime on the money question. His speech was filled with figures and Government records, and was instructive to those who did not thoroughly understand the money question.

Provinz Ostpreußen.

Königsberg. Professor Dr. Backhaus, Direktor des landwirthschaftlichen Instituts der hiesigen Universität, läßt in der Nähe der Stadt eine Musterwirthschaft einrichten, in der die neuesten Errungenschaften der Technik vertreten sein werden. Der ganze Gutshof mit Einschluß der Arbeiterwohnungen erhält elektrische Beleuchtung. Ferner wird man mit Hilfe der elektrischen Kraft einen Pflug, eine Dresch- und eine Häckselmaschine, sowie eine Schrotmühle und sonstige Maschinen in Bewegung setzen.—Wegen Herausforderung zum Zweikampf wurde der Gymnasialprofessor Konstantin Schulz zu fünf und wegen Kartelltragens der Oberstlieutenant a. D. Sakowski zu drei Tagen Festung verurtheilt. Der Geforderte war der Geheimrath Hagen, ein 71jähriger Greis. Die Ursache der Forderung war die Folge eines scharfen Briefwechsels zwischen Hagen und Schulz.

Provinz Westpreußen.

Marienburg. Ein Geldgeschenk von je 1000 Mark hatte seinerzeit der Kaiser denjenigen Besitzern in Marienburg zugesprochen, deren Gebäude unter den sogenannten Lauben bei dem vor längerer Zeit stattgefundenen großen Brande eingeäschert wurden. Die Summe ist kürzlich den in Frage kommenden Besitzern aus der kaiserlichen Privatschatulle gezahlt worden.

Neumark. Aus Eifersucht versuchte der Maurer Beyer in Sugainko mit einem Maurerhammer seine Frau zu erschlagen. Als er glaubte, sein Opfer sei todt, nahm er selbst Gift, und da dies nicht schnell genug wirkte, jagte er sich eine Revolverkugel durch den Kopf, die seinen sofortigen Tod zur Folge hatte. Die Frau erlag gleichfalls nach wenigen Stunden den schweren Verletzungen.

Rheinprovinz.

Düsseldorf. Wegen Unterschlagung im Amte und Betruges wurde der Rechtsanwalt und Notar Dr. Teusch verhaftet. Die Höhe der veruntreuten Gelder soll 150,000 Mark übersteigen.

Elberfeld. Die seit etlichen Wochen im Betriebe befindliche elektrische Straßenbahn Elberfeld-Kronenberg hat ein Menschenopfer gefordert. Auf der Strecke Kronenberg-Sudberg wollte der Schmiedemeister Brinkmann einem Gefährt ausweichen, lief aber vor einen heranbrausenden Motorwagen und wurde, da dieser auf der abschüssigen Strecke nicht gleich zum Stillstand gebracht werden konnte, überfahren und getödtet.

Krefeld. Das vor vier Jahren gegründete Konservatorium der Musik zu Krefeld wird zur Zeit von 252 Schülern beiderlei Geschlechtes besucht.

Trier. Das heiße Wetter der letzten Woche hat sehr vortheilhaft auf die Traubenreife gewirkt. Die Güte des zu erntenden Weines dürfte an die besten Jahrgänge der letzten Jahrzehnte heranreichen, während man in Bezug auf die Menge durchschnittlich auf einen halben Herbst rechnen kann.

Merseburg. Für Albert v. Wedel, der am 16. September 1809 auf Befehl Napoleons des Ersten zu Wesel nebst seinem Bruder und neun anderen Offizieren des Schill'schen Freikorps erschossen wurde, ist in seinem Geburtsort Kriegsdorf ein von dem Leipziger Künstler Jukoff hergestelltes Denkmal enthüllt worden.

Teuchern. Vor Kurzem stürzte auf dem neu angelegten Braunkohlenwerke am Bahnhof Werschen der eben vollendete Schornstein ein und begrub eine Anzahl Maurer unter sich. Der Maurer Störzner aus Krauschwitz, der soeben den üblichen Strauß hoch oben angebracht hatte, sowie der Handlanger Herzog und der Essenbauer Rudolph aus Teuchern wurden sofort getödtet, vier andere Bauarbeiter erlitten schwere Verletzungen.

Provinz Schlesien.

Görlitz. Kurz nach Einfahrt eines Güterzuges auf dem hiesigen Bahnhof stürzte der 55 Jahre alte Oberschaffner Wilhelm Höhne II. so unglücklich von dem Packmeisterwagen auf die Bordkante des Bahnsteigs, daß seine sofortige Unterbringung in das städtische Krankenhaus sich nöthig machte. Dort starb er.

Lauban. In Berthelsdorf wurde auf dem Heimwege von der Tanzmusik der Musketier Kahl von einem eifersüchtigen jungen Burschen überfallen und in die Queis geworfen. Der Soldat ertrank.

Neisse. Zur Verladung eines Porzellanwalzenstuhls holte der Pächter der Karlaumühle, Groß, zwei Obergefreite aus der nahe gelegenen Artilleriekaserne herbei. Während die Leute mit dem Verladen beschäftigt waren, schlug der Walzenstuhl plötzlich zurück. Der Obergefreite Tischbierek gerieth mit dem Kopfe zwischen den Walzenstuhl und das Brett, auf welchem der Stuhl mittelst eines Taues auf Rollen fortgeschoben wurde, und der schwere Stuhl zerquetschte den Kopf des unglücklichen Obergefreiten. Tischbierek war sofort todt.

GLOVES.

It Is No Longer Correct to Appear Without Them.

Gloves of reindeer skin, soft and warm, are worn for traveling and outing use, and gray dogskin gloves with black stitching for the street. For calling and similar purposes glace kid in straw, biscuit, pearl gray and similar delicate tints is preferred, replacing the pure white glove which for a time was universally worn, although universally unbecoming to the hand. Evening gloves are exclusively of suede, but even there white is abandoned.

DINNER GOWN.

The custom of appearing in public with bare hands, which for a short time was adopted by fashionable women, has been summarily dropped. It was never in the best of taste, although the hands were literally covered with rings, and the long mediæval sleeves of the bodice extended to the knuckles. Gloves are the appropriate finish to a formal toilet of any kind, and their lack is always felt.

A picture is given of a dinner gown of all over lace. The skirt has a flounce of lace, caught up at the sides by a bow of mousseline de soie, and below this is a deeper flounce of mousseline de soie. The gown is made over pale pink silk. The close bodice of lace has a full front and draperies of mousseline de soie, fastened at the side by a chou. The sleeves of mousseline de soie terminate at the elbow in a frill of lace and have double caps of lace. The high collar is of mousseline de soie.

THE MODE.

Novel Ideas For the Wardrobe of the Coming Season.

There is shown a new way of enriching all over lace and embroidered tulles. Very narrow ribbon of velvet or satin is woven in and out of the meshes, following the lace design or forming stripes, zigzags, stars, etc. Goods thus adorned are used not only for plastrons and yokes, but for entire bodices and tunics.

Coats are to be worn which are made after the masculine model. The back is tight and the basque is rounded away almost to the waist in front. The collar and revers are of the coat style, except when the front is made to show a pointed Louis Quinze vest. In that case the revers are of the large, directoire order, and the coat fastens with a single button just below them. One of the models in this style is of cloth, entirely covered with small, round cords, placed very close together and following the outline of the garment.

Tight sleeves, terminating at the elbow in a deep frill, are worn for dinner and evening gowns. They accompany the Louis Quinze bodice with a deep point instead of a basque.

A picture is given of a house gown of old rose voile. It is of the princess form at the back with a watteau plait. In front it is ornamented with applications of embroidery upon white satin, a wide band forming a plait down the middle and smaller bands following the side plaits. The collar and yoke are of white silk, embroidered and plaited. The undersleeves are like the yoke and are gathered into a band at the wrist, while the loose, outside sleeves of voile are draped at the top by a band of galloon and are decorated with embroidered applications.

Max Nordau's Name.

Max Nordau's name has been the subject of a good many paragraphs at one time and another, but the truth of the matter is very simple. His father's name was Sudfeld, and he himself was called originally Max Simon Sudfeld, but changed the name at the age of 15 at his father's behest for reasons which, as he once declared, "have no interest for strangers" into that by which he has become famous throughout the world. Students of German will not fail to note, of course, the philological connection between the two names—Sudfeld (or Southfield) becoming transformed into Nordau (or Northmeadow).

FANCIES OF FASHION

Summer Frocks Laid Aside for Stylish Tailor Gowns.

Fall and Early Winter Fashions Characterized by Richness and Good Taste—Gaudy Things Strictly Tabooed.

[Special New York Letter.]

IT IS with a feeling akin to sadness that we lay aside our pretty summer belongings and resign ourselves to the unpleasant fact that the reign of the dainty muslin gown is at an end. The wheel of fashion ceases not to revolve, however, whether the days wax warm or cold, and while the summer weather was holding on with the tenacity of a relentless creditor fashion makers were working night and day with brush and pencil planning and designing—then calling upon expert tailors and artistic needlewomen to execute in the most perfect manner

A LONDON TAILOR-MADE.

these same designs, with the result that simultaneous with the first hint of frost in the air all the leading shops and dressmaking parlors were fairly teeming with pretty things suitable for fall and early winter wear.

While in some cases the changes have been radical in the extreme, on the whole the new fashions are delightfully pretty and original, and will prove vastly becoming to the majority of womankind.

The dress materials brought out this autumn are really beautiful. Never were brocades more popular, and never were they more pleasing to look upon than at the present moment. Both large and small designs are in equal demand, and to what extreme length this popularity will lead no one has the hardihood to predict.

While smooth-faced materials are not to be put out of the category of fashionable fabrics, there is a liking, and a very pronounced one, for rough surfaced cloth of all kinds, but much softer in make than of yore and therefore much more easily draped.

There is no doubt that later on there will be the greatest demand for plaids of all kinds, and advices from Europe indicate that our sisters over the water are just now plunging into check materials with a vigor and enthusiasm that is bound to spread to our shores before the season is much further advanced. Plaids and checks are attractive, and when carefully handled make a much more effective gowning than a plain fabric, but it should ever be borne in mind that only the skillful hand of the artistic modiste can bring about good results, and the monstrosities produced by the undaunted amateur in this direction are simply appalling to contemplate.

A NEW YORK TAILOR GOWN.

So be careful if you go into anything of this sort; and if your pocket is limited and you feel you cannot afford the very best workmanship, you would better keep to plain materials, which are ever in good taste, although perhaps not coming under the head of the latest.

I have within the week seen a wonderfully handsome silk, entirely new and one for which no one at present seems to have found an appropriate name. It is best described as a compromise between a peau de soie and a taffeta glace, having the rich sheen of the one and the firm substance of the other, and in every way is as charming and desirable a silk as one could well wish for. It comes in somber black, as well as in all the new shades suitable for autumn wear, and later on we may expect to see some sumptuous gowns fashioned of it.

The color par excellence so far this fall is brown in all its varying shades. While nothing could be more appropriate for fall wear, it is not considered a generally becoming color, and many will therefore rebel at this latest edict of Dame Fashion. Luckily, however, there are browns and browns, and the dark-haired sister, if she be wise in her day and generation, will choose one of the many golden browns, while the woman with light hair would best exploit her charms in a rich dark brown cloth, showing the very faintest glint of deepest red on its handsome surface.

There are interesting things galore to be said concerning the new autumn tailor gowns, and did time and space permit my pen could run on merrily for hours describing their manifold charms.

The swellest looking black tailor-mades are fashioned of fine broadcloth of medium weight, but the swagger thing in colors at the present moment is a rough-finished cloth, dark brown in color, lightly striped with narrow lines of red. It is the handsomest cloth yet seen and bound to grow in popularity, but in this case, as in the plaid materials I have spoken of, only the expert can be depended upon to bring about satisfactory results.

Without exception these new gowns are finished with very wide collars, made either of satin or velvet. When fashioned of the former they are edged by a narrow row of lace embroidery or else heavily strapped with the cloth of the gown. If the collar happens to be of velvet it is given many rows of machine stitching, and to my mind is prettiest when cut in three, thus forming a triple collar. As cold weather approaches these broad collars will be made of fur, and when worn turned up will form a most becoming frame to the face.

The most unobserving, I think, cannot but be impressed with the fact that up to date tailors have become very wideawake in the art of making a woman's figure appear to the very best advantage. Take, for example, the collars I have just mentioned. They manage to place them in such an altogether ingenious manner that they produce the fashionable broad-shouldered effect, and thereby make the waist look smaller by several inches—a result not to be despised by any manner of means.

Whether to have our best coat made long or short is a burning question with a whole lot of women at the present time. Judging from the great variety of models now to be seen it would seem to resolve itself into buying that which is most becoming, for the newest coats are long, short and medium in length. All have exceedingly high collars and many have the entire front made of fur. If you have a choice bit of fur laid away for future use, best bring it out now and utilize it on your fall wrap, for never was fur in so great demand for trimming as it is this season. Fur tails also play an important part in the matter of trimming, and after one sees the countless number that adorn many of the handsomest wraps the question naturally arises, where do all the animals come from that grow caudal appendages of such variety of length and color?

Blouses of all kinds and descriptions are to be seen among the latest models. Every variety of material enters into their construction, from the most expensive silk and velvet down to the most inexpensive flannel. Gold braid in varying widths is used to trim some of the smartest looking ones made of velvet, while the prettiest silk models are trimmed with much lace applique and narrow silk braid. Velvet is also one of the favorite trimmings, and usually takes the form of broad revers and folded collar and waistband.

A well-known shirtmaker in a fashionable downtown district is turning out some delightful blouses made of plaid flannel, the front tucked in such a manner as to only show one color, while the back is plain and shows the entire plaid pattern.

In the world of millinery the order of things has much changed within the last month. The dainty floral toque has given way to the one of fur, while the summery-looking chiffon hat is replaced by the lovely picture hat of finest velvet. Never has the last-named hat been as delightful to look upon as this season. It has lost entirely the heavy look that marred its appearance last season and is altogether so bewitching that I am sure the plainest face can be made to look attractive under its benign influence. Small toques with narrow brims of fur and trimmed with a cluster of fur tails are chic in the extreme, and just the thing to wear with the furs made, while the jaunty "Tam" made entirely of fur, are to be fashionable among the season's novelties.

KATE GARDNER.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 14, "Paul the Missionary, Secret of Success"—Text, II Tim. iv, 1-8.

"Be instant, in season, out of season."

Not his marvelous intellectual ability nor his extensive learning impresses us most deeply in the story of Paul, the messenger of Jesus to the heathen nations, but his tireless energy, his restless zeal, his urgency and insistence. He felt the coming of Jesus to end this world epoch as ever impending. He expected to stand before Him again as he once fell before Him at Damascus, when he was commissioned to "go." The day is near when he shall finish his course and report to the Lord all he has tried to do. He is runner in the isthmian games and contends for the prize of speed and endurance. Rather he runs a grander race of life, and Jesus sits as Judge, who has Himself first of all creatures won the crown of immortality and sits as Governor of the contest to reward with like glory all who win. Paul bends every energy of his being to make speed in the work of Christ. All else but His approval is of no moment to him. He persists and will not yield, because Jesus strengthens him. He proclaims to others the terms of the race and prizes. He is trumpet of Christ. He is absorbed, captured, bondservant of the Nazarene. He recks nothing of hardship, privation, persecution, peril or death. He expects all these. He neither courts nor fears them. His eye is fixed on the goal and the prize and the Prize Giver. He runs to win.

Our Church Government.

Our aim in the league is to cultivate intelligent piety. To reach this we need to know how the Methodist church is governed. The vast majority of our people rarely see a bishop. Multitudes have no personal acquaintance even with a presiding elder and with but few ministers. Things go on somehow, but they never know why they move. Every Leaguer owes it to himself and the church to know how and why things go and to help make them go better.

Plan for an evening in the early autumn, when short papers shall be presented by members in explanation of the duties and powers of trustees, stewards, class leaders, official boards, quarterly conferences, annual conferences, lay electoral conferences and general conference.

At another time present the work of the Missionary society, Church Extension, Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education society, the board of education and other great connectional benevolent boards of the denomination.

Have a meeting where the various branches of Methodism can be represented and their history briefly traced. How did our church come into existence? What are the bodies of Methodism in England and how governed? Why and when did the work in Canada and the south separate from us? What other branches of Methodism have we in the United States?

Claims of Citizenship.

These last weeks before the presidential election will be busy and full of excitement. It may be difficult to hold the regular meetings of the chapter and do much in ordinary lines. One course, however, cannot fail to give interest and be of value. Without entering into partisan issues or debate on disputed points arrange a meeting where the general duties of citizenship can be presented in a series of short papers and speeches. Let the young women as well as the young men take part in this work. The ordinary campaign speech gives a grain of thought in a bushel of chaff. Do not serve up the campaign literature, but give a simple view of the mode of election, the powers of the president under the constitution, the real value of such a form of government over those of other nations, the duties of voters to know the issues involved and be trustworthy, the perils of the republican system and the best remedies. Utilize these days to study Christian stewardship in the state and the duties of citizenship in the United States.

Poorhouse and Prison.

Neither place is to be chosen as a place of residence. Neither should be feared by those who need them. No one would best worry lest he be driven to one or the other. We have known a family whose cash on deposit amounted to several hundred thousand dollars refuse to aid their church for fear they might come to want or have to go to the poorhouse if they should be too free in their use of money. Their fear was real or feigned. In either case it was wicked and liable to bring about the very result deprecated. The prison has held many better men than you and has not harmed them much. The Philippian jailer would have died heathen had not Paul and Silas been unjustly sent to his care. "Pilgrim's Progress" would never have stood in literature next to the Bible for godly influence but for the poverty and piety of a Bunyan and the prison cell. Take what God provides and use it, never doubting He will send the best for you.

Prodigies and wonders abound in the world and are signs of powers invisible. Watch them and you shall know if they are true miracles or false. Hypocrisies never made heroes, only strutted and masked in imitation of them. Self sacrifice glories in wounds, rejoices under stripes, sings its prison walls into quaking, sleeps amid the waking lions, walks untouched amid the flames. These wonders are signs of unseen truth and power, are manifestations and demonstrations of its presence and sway in the hearts and lives of men. Sensibility is not dulled, but exalted, and the soul revels in glories which dazzle duller eyes into blindness.

RELICS OF GLACIAL EPOCH.

Some of California's Big Trees Are the Oldest of Living Things.

The department of agriculture has issued a report concerning the big trees of California that brings out some interesting and new conclusions. The trees are described in the report as "the grandest, largest, oldest and most majestically graceful of trees," and "the scarcest of known species, with the extreme scientific value of being the best living representatives of a former geologic age."

The bark of the big trees often is two feet thick, and almost noncombustible. "The oldest specimens felled," the report says, "are still sound at the heart, and fungus is an enemy unknown to it. Yet the big trees, apparently, have not increased in their range since the glacial epoch. They have only just managed to hold their own on the little strip of country where the climate is locally favorable.

"The only grove now thoroughly safe from destruction is the Mariposa, and this is far from being the most interesting. Most of the other groves are either in process of or in danger of being logged. The very finest of all, the Calaveras grove, with the biggest and tallest trees, the most uncontaminated surroundings and practically all the literary and scientific associations of the species connected with it, has been purchased recently by a lumberman who came into full possession on April 1.

"The Sequoia and Gen. Grant national parks, which are supposed to embrace and give security to a large part of the remaining big trees, are eaten into by a sawmill each, and the private timber claims amount to a total of 1,173 acres. The rest of the scanty patches of big trees are in a fair way to disappear, and in Calaveras, Tuolumne and Toulare counties they are now disappearing by the ax. In brief, the majority of big trees of California, certainly the best of them, are owned by people who have every right, and in many cases every intention, to cut them into lumber."

The most recent investigations confirm the estimates that these giant trees probably live 5,000 years or more, though few of even the larger trees are more than half as old. The average rate of growth is estimated at one inch of diameter for every 12 years.

"The report corroborates the statements of one authority, who says that one tree, on which he counted 4,000 rings, was undoubtedly in its prime, "swaying in the Sierra winds, when Christ walked the earth."

"The only place in the world where the big tree exists," the report says, "is in ten isolated groves on the west slope of the Sierra Nevada mountains. The species, however, represents a surviving prehistoric genus of trees once growing widely over the globe. The southern groves show some reproduction, through which there is hope of perpetuating these groves. In the northern groves the species hardly holds its own."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 14—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Paul the missionary; the secret of his success.—II Tim. iv, 1-8. (Quarterly missionary meeting.)

Paul was the first and greatest missionary the world has ever had. He preached the gospel on two continents, he stood before kings and slaves, he persuaded philosophers and peasants and was remarkable in establishing a large number of strong and vigorous churches in the principal cities of his day. Awaiting the end of his life he seeks to inspire Timothy to a faithful ministry by an appeal to his own faithfulness and by the prospect of the splendid reward which he has immediately in view. Paul's example should inspire all missionaries of the cross, and the secret of his great success is worthy our most careful and earnest study. It is not hard to find. The distinguishing characteristics of this eminent apostle, which crowned his labors with success, stand out prominently in his long and eventful career and may be read and known of all men. In firm reliance upon God he threw his whole being into his work, stopping at no sacrifice, not even at the sacrifice of his life, and success came. It will come to all who emulate his example in these respects.

1. Paul was successful because he was guided by the Holy Ghost. The Holy Ghost called Paul to his important office and work, and no man ever placed himself more completely under the control of the Spirit than did Paul. Where the Spirit said "Go," he went. Where the Spirit said "Stay," he staid. His was a Spirit filled and a Spirit directed life. Such lives will be successful in missionary work.

2. Paul was successful because he believed his message. Paul's faith was intense. It was burned into his very being. He kept the faith whether facing kings or subjects, Jews or gentiles, life or death. Faith is an essential element in missionary success. We must have faith before we can have converts.

3. Paul was successful because of his ability to adapt himself to all men and to all classes and conditions of life. He was all things to all men in a noble and lofty sense. To the Jews he was a Jew, to the weak he was weak, to the strong he was strong. He adapted himself to all people with whom he came in contact, that he might win them to Christ. Adaptability to the life of those with whom we labor is absolutely essential to missionary success.

4. Paul's earnestness contributed to his success. As earnestly as the contestant strove in the games or the runner ran in the race, so he labored zealously and untiringly in the cause which he loved. We must not only strive, agonize to be saved ourselves, but must throw this same spirit into our efforts to lead others to Christ if we would be successful.

5. Paul's self denial was an element in his success. Paul sacrificed all for Christ's cause—home, country, personal ambitions, cherished beliefs, comforts, and at last life itself. No missionary or missionary worker ever succeeded without a spirit of self denial, unless he was willing even to be offered up for Christ's sake.

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Have a biographical missionary meeting, with papers or addresses on the lives of missionaries who have been successful.

BIBLE READINGS.

Isa. lii, 7; Math. v, 11, 12; xxviii, 18-20; Acts xiii, 1-3; xv, 25, 26; xvi, 8-12; I Cor. iii, 5-10; ix, 19-22; II Cor. xi, 23-33; Heb. xi, 36-40.

Body and Soul.

The man's constitution, body and soul are wonderfully united. In the fall both came under the power of sin and death. In redemption deliverance has been provided for both. He that believes with the heart comes with the body to be baptized. It is a token that the whole exterior physical life is to be his too. We need to be on the watch lest the pursuit of the inner life leads us to neglect the external. A heart sprinkled with blood, a body washed with pure water from every stain, these God has joined together. Let no man separate them. Our body is very specially the temple of the Holy Spirit. In the body the Father is to be glorified. Like Christ, we must yield our body with every member, every power, every action, to fulfill His will, to be offered up to Him, to glorify Him. Through the body satan conquered in paradise. In the body he tempted Christ. Our eating and drinking, our sleeping, our clothing, our labor and relaxation, these things have more influence on our spiritual life than we know.—Andrew Murray.

Workers For Civilization.

I wish it were in my power to convey my experience to those people—often well meaning people—who speak about the inefficacy of foreign missions. I think if they really could realize but a tenth part of the work that is being done and the work that has been done they would realize that no more practical work, no work more productive of fruit for civilization, could exist than that work being carried on by the men and women who give their lives to preach the gospel of Christ to mankind—the men and women who not only have preached, but have done; who have made action follow pledge, performance square with promise.—Governor Roosevelt.

What People Rarely Consider.

The might have been things give much regret. We see what was at one time possible to us, and feel that we have lost something. Quite possibly we are mistaken. That might have been, if realized, might have brought with itself other things full of danger and evil.—United Presbyterian.

SCIENCE AND INVENTION.

MUSSEL SHELL FISHING.

Great Mississippi River Industry Created by a German Button Maker Named Boepple.

The Mississippi river has the button, and a German button maker named Boepple found it in the lowly fresh water mussel locally known as the "niggerhead," which was supposed to be useless except for fish bait when worms were scarce.

Ten years ago all the material for pearl buttons made in this country was brought from the South China sea to the factories in New York and New England. Now the factories are strung along the father of waters from Muscatine, Ia., to points in Missouri, and the material to keep the factories busy is being fished up on grappling hooks and brought ashore in "John boats." The John boat is a queer craft, somewhere between a flat boat and a mud scow. The deck is railed on either side with gas pipes, to which are attached trot lines. It is an unwieldy looking craft, but the Mississippi river boatman puts out to sea in it with a confidence in its safety that is deserved by long use. He is sure to make five dollars a day in it by hard work and good luck, for he has only to catch 1,000 pounds of mussel shells and shovel them off at a factory wharf.

The process of making the buttons is simple. The mussels are first boiled to separate the shells, and the boiling room always smells like an oyster stew. Then the shells are cleaned in a chemical bath to free them from animal matter, after which they are run under steel cutters that clip out buttons of every shape and size. These blanks go to grinders, which take off the black backs of the shell, and then to the facer, which cuts and ornaments the face. A drill puts in the eyes and a polisher gets the buttons ready to be sewed on to cards.

What is left of the shell is ground up into a coarse gravel and is used in making pretty garden walks. Very often large mussel shells will contain pearls or "slugs," imperfect pearls that sell for one dollar an ounce. On a day when he cannot go out, the owner of a John boat may be seen opening shells in search of pearls, before turning his catch over to the factory, for the boiling process ruins the finest pearl. Occasionally his patience is rewarded by finding one worth $100. Then, the owner of the John boat, being as other men are, is spoiled for his ordinary occupation by good luck, and does not bring in any button material for a week and a day.—Little Chronicle.

India Is Not Progressive.

Madras is the only city in India where electricity is used as the power for street service. The tramways of Bombay are run by horse power and the streets are lighted by gas. Electricity is used only in a limited way. India would seem to afford an excellent opportunity for trade in electrical machinery and appliances. An American company is trying to get the privilege of converting the Bombay tramways into an electrically operated system.

Mexico's Mixed Population.

The Mexican census recently taken, whose results are just coming out, shows a population of 12,491,573, over two-thirds of whom cannot read or write. Over 80 per cent. of the population is of mixed and Indian races. Sixty-three languages are spoken among the people. The Indian tribes or races make up more than 35 per cent. of the population and are divided into 52 languages. Very few of the people of mixed and Indian blood can be regarded as civilized.

Electric Fans in India.

The electric fan bids fair to supersede the punkah coolies of India. The regular price for four coolies to divide up the 24 hours is six cents each. With electrical fans the work can be done for one-third of the cost and considerable inconvenience may be avoided. A writer in the Electrical World states that the day shifts of coolies do reliable work, but the night gang is not so satisfactory.

When Chains Get Unruly.

Sometimes a chain climbs the sprocket teeth and runs off the sprocket with no apparent cause. In such cases a permanent cure can be effected by filing down each of the sprocket teeth a little so as to allow the chain block to lie deeper than before.

Much-Needed Improvement.

Electricity is to be used to convey passengers to the top of the Washington monument, Washington, D. C.

The Dirty Little Boy

Is allright when he is washed, but he is not very attractive until then. The vegetables you eat are dirty naturally, but you would not have them served on the table until washed.

Should it not be the same with what you feed your horse? All grain is naturally dirty, but when received by us it is thoroughly screened, blown and beaten, and reaches the customer in perfect condition. No one else in New Jersey can do this because they have not the machinery to do it with. Think of your horse, think of your pocketbook and buy from us.

SPORTING.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

Several changes will be made in the lineup of the Plainfield High School eleven when it faces the eleven from the Borough High School team on Martine Common Saturday afternoon. Ughetta has been taken from end and put at quarterback in place of VanAuken. The latter has been somewhat nervous and was slow in his passing. VanAuken will be tried at end. Dealaman, who has entered the commercial department from Dunellen, will be tried at the other end. He is quite certain to hold the place as he played a good game on Dunellen last season. There is a question concerning the other end as to whether VanAuken will be able to hold it or whether Bulkley, who has been playing end, will go back to that position.

A game was originally scheduled by Manager Edward J. Kline in Jersey City Saturday afternoon against the Olympic Field Club of that city. Owing to a change in the plans of the latter club, however, the Alis team was asked to change the place of playing to Plainfield and the request was readily complied with. The Alis team will therefore play the Olympic Field Club eleven on Martine Common Saturday afternoon beginning at 3:45 o'clock. When it was understood that the Alis team was going out of the city, the Plainfield High School eleven arranged a game for the afternoon with the North Plainfield High School. The latter game will be played on the Common at 2 o'clock instead. It will be the second meeting of the two High School teams. In the first game the Plainfield school boys won.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

A fall trotting meeting has been arranged for by the New Brunswick Driving Association to be held on its Highland Park track on Wednesday, October 24th. There will be four events on the card, including a 2:20 class trot or pace for $100; a 2:30 class trot or pace for $100. There will also be a road wagon race for prizes valued $40 and which include a single set of harness, a blanket and whip. There will also be a running race of half-mile heats, best two in three.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

Stetson's big production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will appear at Music Hall tomorrow afternoon and night. This season it has been organized in a manner that will make it far superior to any previous production ever seen here. Special attention has been given to the staging of the piece, and the scenery faithfully portrays several scenes of southern life during antibellum days in the far south. A large number of genuine colored people who introduce cakewalks, buck dancing, southern jubilee singing and funny scenes in the cotton fields add materially to the production. Misses Kitty Morgan and Bertha Crosbie are the two Topsies; Messrs. George Harris and Nick Glinn are the two Marks, and Stetson's original "Uncle Tom," Fred Bennett, will also be in the cast. Of late years the stage has been deluged by so many cheap "Uncle Tom" companies that the public has been led to regard an announcement of its production with a great deal of distrust. Leon Washburn, the manager of this company, has, however, succeeded in organizing a cast composed of specially selected players, chosen for their adaptability for the parts assigned, and has received his reward in the generous patronage of the public and praise from the press. It is doubtful if "Uncle Tom," even when a novelty and new to the stage, ever received the attention so liberally bestowed upon it as now during this sumptuous revival.

Hal Reid's best play, "Human Hearts," will be seen at Music Hall Thursday of next week. This beautiful story of the Arkansas Hills—beautiful, because of its simplicity, because of its honest truth and the lesson it brings home to every heart—is enjoying the fourth season of its unwavering success. Like "Shore Acres," the oftener one sees it the oftener one wants to see it again. It is refreshing in this day of imported problem and suggestive plays, to be able to listen to an American play of common folk with the blue haze of the Ozark Mountains enveloping it; a play of lilacs, yellow roses and clover; a play in which the pipe of the quail, the mooing of the kine and the song of the mocking birds are intermixed with comedy, tragedy and pathos. It should be greeted with an overflowing house.

Andrew Mack's engagement at the Academy of Music, New York, is rapidly drawing to a close—as the sweet voiced comedian must his himself to fields and pleasures new. His engagement will terminate on Saturday evening, October 20th, in the very height of its success. His presentation of "The Rebel" has been phenomenal and in point of attendance has equalled the most celebrated successes at this remarkably successful theatre. So marked that he will undoubtedly be seen there every successive season in his newest plays. His present play, "The Rebel," has met with such unqualified success simply for the reason that it appeals to all classes of theatre goers. It is being filled with true dramatic qualities, love, intrigue, heroism, hate and good, clean cut humor, while its heart interest is natural and sympathetic.

Carl Dante, a very clever necromancer and sleight-of-hand performer, is one of the principal features in "A Lucky Coon," which will be seen at Music Hall next Tuesday night. The play is the same in which the comedians, Williams and Walker, made such great success in lately, and is illustrative of life among certain folks who make a practice of "Policy" playing.

TO MAKE NEW ROADBED.

WEST FRONT STREET TO BE REMACADAMIZED AT ONCE.

Improvement Long Needed, but Delayed so as to Allow Trolley Rails to be Laid.

Now that the work of relaying the tracks of the Plainfield Street Railway Company on West Front street is nearly completed, the street department is preparing to attend to the remacadamizing of that thoroughfare. Such an improvement was much needed but it was delayed in order that the street railway company might put its road bed in good condition.

In relaying the rails, it was found that they had sunk considerably below grade and they were therefore replaced at the proper level. These rails have been dangerous to the wheels of all vehicles and so the street department has deposited several loads of crushed stone along the tracks and raised the roadway to the level of the rails.

As soon as the relaying of the eastbound track is completed, the street department will immediately proceed with the remacadamizing of Front street. These loads of crushed stone, which have reduced the danger from the projecting rails, will simply go toward the new coat of macadam. They will be rolled and then the top-dressing of fine stone placed on top as usual.

Every effort will be made to push the work of repairing Front street forward as fast as possible, so that the work can be completed this season before the cold weather shall stop all that kind of work.

Placing Iron Work in Position.

Work was started this morning in placing the iron work in position for the Duer steeet bridge. All the iron girders have arrived and are now being placed on the abutments. The work is being pushed forward as rapidly as possible.

Relaying Gas Main.

A gang of men started this morning relaying the gas main on West Front street from Central avenue to the end near Waynewood place. The main will be extended to Grant avenue.

ANIMAL BAROMETERS.

Actions of Sheep, Dogs, Horses and Oxen Indicate the Approach of Storms and Rains.

Shepherds and others who spend much time in the open air say that we may always know when it will rain by watching the ways of animals.

Thus, if donkeys bray more often than usual, or if they hang their ears downward and forward and rub against walls, rain will come on. When cats sneeze and when, also, they give up chasing their tails, look out for rain.

It will be rainy if the dog eats grass or is drowsy and stupid. Expect rain when sheep turn their backs to the wind and when peacocks squawk a great deal and when pigs carry straw to their sties, or are very restless and given to much grunting, and when the mole throws up plenty of soil.

Rain will come when horses stretch out their necks and sniff the air. In districts where bats are found it will rain if they fly into the house or cry much.

And should oxen lick their fore feet or turn up their nostrils and sniff the air or lie on their right sides we may count confidently upon wet weather.

Two Boys Kill an Eagle.

Two boys, one aged 12 and the other aged ten, living in Indian territory, were coming home from school, when they were attacked by an eagle. The smaller boy wore a striped jacket, and it is supposed that the bird was attracted by that; at any rate, it swooped down and sunk its claws in his back. The other boy promptly struck the eagle on the head with his clenched fist, whereupon it released its hold and attacked him. The first blow knocked him down, but as he rose he saw an old wagon spoke on the road, and armed with this he gave the eagle a crack directly on the beak. The bird was stunned and fell fluttering on the ground. The younger boy promptly fell on the eagle's body with his knees, and thus holding it down the other pounded its head until life was extinct. Then the two plucky youngsters dragged the carcass home, and they are going to stuff it as a memento.

What He Knew of Them.

An old Dominican friar, who had served his church for 40 years in the Philippines, was asked by his fellows to write a book describing the characteristics, habits and customs of the Filipino people. To this he agreed, with the proviso that no one should see his work until after his death. When he died in Manila this year the book was found among his effects. On the first page was the title and all the other 300 pages were blank except the last, on which was written: "This is all I know, after 40 years' study of the Filipino people."—Chicago Record.

BROKE CAR WINDOWS.

Careless Throwing of Stones by Small Boys Came Near Hurting a Central Passenger.

As the 4:40 express from New York on the Jersey Central Railroad passed through Netherwood last evening, a stone struck one of the windows, broke it and sent a shower of broken glass over Joseph Noonan, of Dunellen avenue, this city, who happened to be sitting by the window. The matter was reported to the police and Chief Kiely and Roundsman Flynn investigated.

They found that the offenders were two very small boys, Louis Slocum and Herbert Hand, who live in Netherwood. They were playing near the railroad track and skipping stones over a pool of water. The Slocum lad threw a stone which went wild and crashed through the window of a passing train. The two boys came before City Judge Runyon this morning and he released them after delivering a lecture on the dangers of indiscriminate stone throwing.

Girl Cyclists Run Down.

F. E Kinsman's two daughters were run down last Wedneeday afternoon, while riding along Central avenue on their wheels, by a horse and wagon in charge of an unknown man. The girls were thrown from their wheels and both machines were badly wrecked. The cyclists received a nervous shock which they have hardly recovered. They were assisted by some friends who were passing and they finally succeeded in reaching home with their wheels. The driver of the horse did not stop long enough to ascertain how much damage was done, but was evidently in a great hurry to get away. Those who saw the accident declare that the girls had a very narrow escape.

Deserved Promotion.

A well-deserved promotion has just been received by James Higgins, of this city, who has been section boss on the Central Railroad in this vicinity for sixteen years. He has been appointed assistant supervisor on the Central from Somerville to Phillipsburg, with headquarters at High Bridge. He will remove to that place in a short time, much to the regret of his many friends in this city.

Netherwood Closed for Season.

After one of the most successful seasons in its history the Hotel Netherwood closed its doors yesterday for the winter. Those who have been guests there during the past season are loud in their praises of the place and they hope that next summer they may have an opportunity of returning there under the same auspicious circumstances.

TO LEGALIZE NEW CITY HIGH SCHOOL.

Board of Education is Preparing to Comply With Terms of New School Law.

HAS OBSERVED OLD LAW.

BOARD OF SCHOOL ESTIMATE WILL MEET MONDAY EVENING.

Council Authorized Issuance of $100,000 Bonds Last Spring Under Old Law—Will Act on Bond Issue Again in Report of Board of Estimate.

After having applied to the Common Council for permission to issue bonds for not over $100,000 for a new High School, the Plainfield Board of Education has decided to go over the same ground again, although in a somewhat different way. There is a new State school law, adopted by the New Jersey Legislature last May, which provides an entirely different way for the appropriation of school moneys and issuing school bonds than the plan in operation under the old law. There is a question as to the constitutionality of certain parts of the new law. It is also a question whether or not it affects Plainfield. Under advice of Corporation Counsel C. A Marsh, however, the Board of Education having obeyed the provisions of the old law is now prepared to follow out the directions of the new one.

This new school law provides for many changes in the school systems of New Jersey. It provides for a general plan for Boards of Education, which may be either appointed or elected. It further says that this general plan of organization for the School Boards may be adopted by any city on being put to vote at any general or municipal election, but a resolution by the Common Council or a petition signed by 5 per cent. of the voters of that municipality will be required to place the question before the people. Until such plan is adopted, the present organization will continue. These facts are stated in complicated legal phrase, but such is the substance of Article 6, which refers to Boards of Education in cities.

Now Plainfield has a Board of Education, provided for by its charter, which consists of five members, one elected a year for a term of five years. The general plan, as stated in the new law, provides for a Board of ten members with two appointed or elected each year for a term of five years. There has been no attempt in this city to take advantage of the provisions of the new law and double the size of the Board. The present Board, as far as size is concerned, is considered perfectly satisfactory to Plainfield.

If the Board continues as before and is not organized under the provisions of the new law, will the Plainfield Board be compelled to comply with all the requirements set down in the new school act or are they only for Boards organized under its provisions? That is the question which has worried the members of the local Board. The question was brought before Corporation Counsel Marsh. With the desire of the Board to build a new High School it was particularly important that there should be no mistake as it would greatly affect the value of any bond issue for that purpose and might further involve the Board in all sorts of trouble.

Last spring the Board applied to the Council for permission to issue bonds for not over $100,000 for the new High School building. The request was granted by the Council. It was then generally supposed that the Board of Education would lose no time in starting the work. There was delay, however. It was said that there was some question concerning the location of the new structure. There was also the new school law with the doubts it caused. After looking over the new law Corporation Counsel Marsh has recommended that the Board comply with all the provisions of the new law and make a new application for the $100,000 or less needed for the new building.

One of the distinctively new features of the last school law is the provision for a Board of School Estimate in cities. The Board is composed of the Mayor, two members of the Board of Education and two members of the Common Council. The secretary of the Board of Education is secretary of the Board of School Estimate. To this Board of School Estimate, the Board of Education is compelled to submit its yearly school budget. The budget is either approved or revised by the Board of School Estimate and is sent by them to the Council which has no power to approve or disprove

FOREIGN MISSION WORK

EAST NEW JERSEY ASSOCIATION CONVENTION HELD YESTERDAY.

Held in Westfield and Attended by a Large Number of Plainfielders.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Oct. 13.—Delegates to the number of over one hundred from Plainfield, Elizabeth, Newark, Lyons Farms, Rahway, Perth Amboy, Scotch Plains, Stelton and Westfield were in attendance at the semi-annual convention of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the East New Jersey Association held at the First Baptist church yesterday.

The morning session was called to order at 10 o'clock with Mrs. G. K. Allen, vice-president, of Perth Amboy, presiding, Mrs. R. M. Luther, the president, being absent. Miss Linnie Nerfel, of Newark, the recording secretary, and Miss Grace M. Davis, of Newark, corresponding secretary and treasurer, were present

Miss M. Elizabeth Carr, a returned missionary from Burmah, told of her work and experiences in that far off country and Miss Olive Collins, of Newark, dressed in the Burmah costume, sang one of the native songs in the native language. There was also an address by Miss Gertrude Wherett, of Newark, a missionary under appointment to China. Directly after the morning session the ladies of the home church served a hot dinner to the delegates in the church dining room.

The afternoon session opened at 2 o'clock with the church comfortably crowded. The principal address of the afternoon was given by the Rev. Thos. D. Holmes, a recently returned missionary from China, who was a most interesting talker. Mrs. W. G. Fennell, of Newark, spoke on "The Present Outlook in Missionary Work," and Mrs. Alonzo Pettit, of Elizabeth, spoke on "The Outlook."

RICE WANTED HIS NAME PERPETUATED

Eccentric Old Millionaire Left a Will With Judge Bartine to Accomplish It.

AN EFFORT TO PROBATE IT

SOMERVILLE LAWYER ONE OF EXECUTORS OF WILL OF 1896.

Judge Bartine Says That He Knows Nothing of Lawyer Patrick Except That He Met Him Once a Year Ago.

Regarding the affairs of the late William M. Rice, the millionaire whose death occurred recently in New York, there are some additional facts that have not been published. A representative of The Daily Press interviewed Former Judge J. D. Bartine, of Somerville, yesterday, and as he is one of the executors of the will of 1896 of Mr. Rice he is in possession of the true facts in the mysterious case.

Mr. Bartine became acquainted with Mr. Rice soon after the latter took up his residence in Dunellen, and it was about 1887 that he was called upon to act as attorney for the millionaire. Mr. Rice's greatest desire while living was to do something that would perpetuate his name, and he knew of no better way than to establish an institution similar to Girard College in Philadelphia, where poor children could be taken care of and given a proper education. He unfolded this plan to Judge Bartine, and at his request the latter went to Philadelphia and secured such information and studied the plan of operation at Girard College. He returned and explained the whole matter to Mr. Rice, who was much pleased with the idea. Accordingly, Judge Bartine at the request of Mr. Rice, drafted a will which comprised about fifty closely typewritten pages. It was very exact in every particular, and provided that $500,000 should go to Mr. Rice's relatives and the balance, between $1,000,000 and $5,000,000, was to be used in establishing what was to be known as The William M. Rice Institute. This was to be erected at Dunellen.

Some time later, and after Mr. Rice moved to New York, he sent for Judge Bartine, and told him that he had decided not to remain at Dunellen. His wife did not care to reside there and he did not feel like remaining alone. In view of these facts, together with the fact that he had made most of his money in Texas, he had changed his opinion regarding the location of the proposed institution. He had decided to locate it in Hamilton county, Texas, which includes Houston. He then told Judge Bartine that he would like to have the will changed so that the institution, in case of his death, would be established in Texas. The Judge told him that he had better consult with Col. James A. Baker, of Houston, and have him make such changes as he desired. This Mr. Rice decided to do and in that will which was executed in 1896, the change was made. Between the time of drawing the first and second wills, Judge Bartine drafted another one, but this was never executed. It was not a finished instrument and Mr. Rice did not care to have it executed.

The institution, as provided by the will, was built in Texas and Mr. Rice endowed it with a million dollars. By the provisions of the will the institution will receive more money if it is probated. The executors of the will of 1896 are James A. Baker and Mr. Rice's nephew, of Texas, and Judge J. D. Bartine, of Somerville. The latter says that he has no knowledge of any other wills except those mentioned, and he never heard Mr. Rice intimate that he wanted to establish the proposed institution in New York. Furthermore, he says that he never at any time heard Mr. Rice intimate any intention of leaving any money to any one other than blood relatives and the institution mentioned.

By the provisions of the will of 1896 among the managers of the institution the Governor and Chancellor of New Jersey and their successors were to be ex-officio members of the Board of Managers, and at the time of the execution of the will Judge Bartine consulted with Gov. Ludlow, who was then the chief executive of the State. The will provided that the poor children of Union county, New Jersey, and Hamilton county, Texas, were to be beneficiaries.

Regarding Lawyer Patrick, who was arrested in New York, Judge Bartine said that he has never known him except as a representative of the counsel of the executors of Mrs. Rice against Mr. Rice. At that time, a little less than a year ago, Judge Bartine was a witness in that case in favor of Mr. Rice and Mr. Patrick cross-examined him. The Judge is almost sure that the will of 1896 will be probated. He is represented by Lawyer Hornblower, of New York, who petitioned yesterday to have the will probated.

Under the provisions of the will of 1896 Judge Bartine is made a beneficiary for a bequest of $5 000. William Rice Carpenter, of Dunellen, receives a bequest of $1,000, and $500 each is given to Charles Carpenter and his wife, Isabella Carpenter, of Dunellen.

TO BE SEEN AT THEATRE.

MANAGER EDWARDS CATERS TO GOOD AMUSEMENT TASTES.

Excellent "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Company Tonight—"Human Hearts" Next Week.

Despite the heavy rain and forbidding weather in the early part of the week there was a good attendance at Music Hall last Tuesday night to see Barney Gilmore in his new play "Kidnapped in New York," founded on incidents connected with the Baby Clark abduction about a year ago. Mr. Gilmore appeared to good advantage in his character of "Dooley, the detective," a very different enactment from the part in which he was first seen here. He shows much ability and talent, and deserves the success he has been meeting in his stellar tour.

Stetson's Uncle Tom's Cabin Co., under direction and management of Leon W. Washburn, the best known aggregation on the road, still presenting the old play, is the attraction tonight. The old story, which has been told and read and sung and played thousands of times, never loses its drawing power, its strength and real pathos, and it is a poor company which cannot win applause before an American audience in the fine story. The cast of the Stetson company is very large and all the parts in the story are taken, even to their being two Marks, the lawyer.

On Tuesday of next week, a musical farce comedy entitled "A Lucky Coon," will have its first hearing in this city. It is not a new play, nor will this be its first performance. It has been before the public for over a year and met with great success. It comprises some 25 people, all of whom are recognized artists, among whom may be metioned Ben Hunn and Walter Dixon, comedians, and Mr. and Mrs. Dante, necromancers. Some very clever specialties are promised, which will undoubtedly find favor with our amusement seeking public.

That beautiful drama, "Human Hearts," by Hal Reid, who wrote "Knobs O'Tennessee," will be presented Thursday night. "Human Hearts," the companion play to, but entirely different from "Shore Acres," is regarded as one of the best American stage productions of the past ten years. When any play by a comparatively unknown author, first merits attention enough to secure an opening and then goes on to the stage of the Fifth Avenue Theatre, and continues one whole season without cessation, it is a guarantee of its qualified power and its real merit as well, as the Fifth Avenue Theatre clientele was one that would not tolerate even a tolerably good one for long. But let it be in moral clean, in its scenes and situations not overdrawn, and in its character painting and dialogue true to nature in the absolute, then let it be enacted by only the masters of the dramatic art, and all New York will forsake the house where "chaff" and comedy, aye even the lighter charming opera and modern English burlesque hold sway, to pay tribute to the work of any brainy author, who, through the medium of the stage, holds up to them a true picture of American life. Such was the experience of "Human Hearts."

Subsequent bookings include Marion Manola in the musical comedy "Friend Fritz," "Coon Hollow," "A Spring Chicken" and Robert Fitzsimmons in his new play "The Honest Blacksmith."

A Valuable Find.

A few mornings ago Lincoln S. Giles, of West Second street, picked up on Park avenue a 500 reis Brazilian bill. No one has yet claimed the money, and he has sent it to New York to be exchanged. The Brazilian reis corresponds to the American dollar, and should the bill prove to be genuine it will be a lucky find.

Beats Plainfield in One Respect.

Perth Amboy may not be quite as pretty as Plainfield, but they have considerable enterprise just the same, as evidenced last night in the decision made to build a new hospital there at a cost of $15 000. G. K. Parsell, of New Brunswick, is the architect. There is said to be lots of building going on in Perth Amboy.

ACTIVITY AMONG THE POLITICIANS.

Republicans Working Hard in Getting City Campaign in Shape

DEMOCRATS ARE HOPEFUL.

CHAIRMAN GOURLEY BELIEVES STATE WILL GO DEMOCRATIC.

The Next Democratic Mass Meeting will be Held in Washington Hall Next Friday—Col. Zulick May Speak.

There was activity in the Republican ranks last night. The campaign committee of the First ward held a meeting in their headquarters at the City Hotel. Arrangements were made for the further collection of campaign funds. Another meeting will be held next Friday evening. A meeting of the board of managers of the Second Ward Republican Association was held at Republican headquarters. An executive committee composed of the chairman, William N. Runyon; the treasurer, John B. Dumont; Charles H. Hand, James E Kimball and Thos. A. Cuming, was elected. A large number of Republicans were elected to membership and more were proposed. Another meeting will be held next Thursday when an auxiliary committee on canvass will be appointed. The committee on rooms and entertainment also held a meeting at Republican headquarters last night. Plans for the work of the campaign were made.

The next Democratic mass meeting will be held in Washington hall next Friday evening. Col. C. Meyer Zulick, who was Governor of Arizona under President Cleveland, has been invited and will probably deliver the principal speech. Col. Zulick now resides at Avon-by-the-Sea, and is considered one of the best Democratic speakers in the State. He presided over the turbulent State convention in Trenton last June. The State committee will also furnish a good speaker.

Frederick W. Park, the Democratic leader of Cranford, in incensed at the refusal of Committeeman Thompson to grant his request for the use of the township rooms to hold a Democratic primary next week. Mr. Thompson says Mr Park made an improper use of the rooms at the last primary by holding a mass meeting and delivering speeches after the primary.

Chairman William B. Gourley, of the Democratic State committee, was at headquarters yesterday, after an absence of three days, spent in attending to the local campaign in Passaic county. He was in an amiable mood, and enthusiastically declared that Bryan and Stephenson would carry New Jersey and be elected. The committee has secured the services of Henry H Devos, a Boer, who will make speeches throughout the State, arraigning the McKinley Administration for its attitude toward the Boer Republic in its war with England. Other speakers secured for New Jersey are Bourke Cockran, United States Senator George L. Wellington, of Maryland, and the picturesque J. Hamilton Lewis, of Washington State.

Vice-Presidential Candidate Adlai Stevenson will speak in Camden October 16th. He will make addresses in other parts of the State, but his itinerary has not yet been arranged. Bryan will make three speeches in Newark, October 25th, at the Roseville Park and the baseball grounds in the afternoon, and at the Krueger Auditorium in the evening.

Every member of the U. S Grant Republican Club of the borough is requested to meet at the rooms Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock sharp, for the purpose of attending the mass meeting in Music Hall.

SCHREIBER INDICTED.

Warrants Issued for the Arrest of the Young Elizabethport Bank Thief.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Oct. 13.—A true bill was found by the Grand Jury yesterday against William Schreiber, charging him with embezzlement and grand larceny. The embezzlement is for stealing the capital stock and surplus of the bank, and the grand larceny for stealing $9,000 of the depositors' money. Governor Voorhees has been asked to hold himself in readiness to sign requisition papers at a moment's notice, and he had promised to do so.

Warrants were issued by Judge Mahon for Schreiber's arrest, it being currently believed that Schreiber was surrounded in a house of ill repute in the Tenderloin district. An officer will leave in the morning for Albany with the requisition papers.

CALLED DANCING A VICE.

OPINION OF A WOMAN DELEGATE AT ENDEAVORERS' CONVENTION.

E. E. Anthony, of This City, Elected One of The Vice Presidents of the Society.

The State convention of the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union, which was opened in Jersey City last Thursday, ended last night with meetings in the Bergen Baptist and First Presbyterian churches. Most of the Plainfield delegates came home last night. A parliament on "New Problems in the New Century" was a feature of the morning session in the First Baptist church. A woman delegate in the rear of the church asked H. H. Spooner, of Bull's Ridge, Conn., who conducted the parliament, if dancing could be made any more respectable than drunkenness.

"I ask this question," the woman said, "because I have been told there are two churches in Jersey City which have dancing classes. I think that dancing is just as bad as any other vice. I would like to know if I am right or wrong."

Many delegates applauded the query heartily. Mr. Spooner smiled and said: "The question as to whether dancing is right or wrong depends altogether on the time and place. When I heard that in six Connecticut towns the Christian Endeavor Societies had won their fight for local option and had done away with saloons I danced. The performance may not have been graceful, but it was enthusiastic, and I had my wife in my arms, too." Mr. Spooner said that the Bible was authority for the fact that David danced.

The Endeavorers elected these officers: President, Rev. Arthur W. Spooner, of Camden; vice-presidents, Rev. Luther R. Dyott, of Newark, Rev. W. T. S. Lumbar, of Moorestown, and E. E. Anthony, of Plainfield; secretary, Miss Ida B. Stephens, of Hackettstown; treasurer, Rev. T. E. Davis, of Bound Brook; executive committee, Robert A. Alberts, of Jersey City, A. B. Johnson, of South Orange, Bishop Alexander Walters, of Jersey City, Dr. A. W. Bailey, of Atlantic City, Theodore Bellis, of Flemington, John T. Sproul, of Arlington, and A. E. Jewell, of Fort Hancock.

MULDOON GETS OFF EASY.

Jury Finds Him Guilty of Involuntary Manslaughter and Recommends Him to Mercy of Court.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Oct 13—Judge Schenck's charge to the jury in the Muldoon case was very fair. He defined the term manslaughter and the degrees of manslaughter, reviewed the evidence and said the jury must be convinced beyond a reasonable doubt that Henning's death was caused by Muldoon if they convicted him. The Judge's charge occupied twenty minutes. The jury went out about 2 p. m.

After being out an hour and five minutes they returned with a verdict of involuntary manslaughter, with a recommendation to the mercy of the court.

The maximum penalty under this verdict is ten years in State Prison, and the minimum a fine or one day in the county jail.

The date of sentence has not been fixed yet.

DROPPED DEAD ON CAR.

Aged Westfield Man Overcome on His Way Home From New York.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Oct. 13.—A. W. Wittke, aged 84 years, father of J. S. A. and Charles Wittke, of this town, dropped dead while on a horse car on Cortlandt street, New York, yesterday afternoon. With his sons he was returning across to the Liberty street ferry to take the train for his home in Westfield and arose to get off the car when he threw up his hands and fell dead. The coroner allowed the body to be taken to an undertaking establishment near by and this morning the remains were brought to Westfield.

Mr. Wittke had lived in Westfield but one year, coming here from Germany.

HOT FIRE IN BOROUGH SCHOOL BUILDING

Somerset Street Structure Damaged $4,000 Worth Early This Morning.

DEFECTIVE ELECTRIC WIRES

THAT IS SAID TO BE THE CAUSE OF THE FIRE.

Damage is Principally to the Rooms on the First Floor—The Building is Insured for $20,000—Repairs at Once.

A serious fire broke out at 12:30 o'clock this morning in the North Plainfield Public High School building on Somerset street, entailing a loss of fully $4,000. The insurance on building and contents is a trifle over $20 000. The work of repairs will be started at once and the building made ready for the resumption of school at the earliest possible time.

The fire started in the basement at a point about fifteen feet from a furnace in which there was a slow-burning fire. It was discovered about 12:45 o'clock by Edward Smalley, of Summit avenue, who was on his way home. He was talking for a few minutes with the Italian who keeps a fruit store near by and they heard a noise similar to the breaking of glass. Mr. Smalley thought someone was trying to break into the school building, and he ran through the alley between Chief Debele's house and the school. Looking through the basement window he saw a large blaze. He then ran back to Chief Debele's house and awakened the latter who threw his fire key out of the window and told him to pull box 142 at the corner of Manning avenue and Somerset street. For some reason this box refused to work and box 141, at the corner of Somerset street and Craig place, was tried. This also refused to work. Alonzo Brokaw, of the fire department, then ascended the bell tower and sounded an alarm by hand. He rang off number 142. When Mr. Smalley pulled box 142 there was one sound of the bell and this gave the impression that there was a break in the wire.

In the meantime Chief Debele hastened to the engine house, and closely following him was Thomas McGann, the driver. The two got the horses out and took the apparatus to the scene of the fire. By this time the firemen were out in large numbers and from that time until after 3 o'clock they worked hard and accomplished a great deal They confined the fire to the principal rooms on the first floor. While the damage is heavy it is remarkable that the building was saved.

The general opinion is that the fire was caused by electric light wires which run along the ceiling in the basement beneath the rooms taught by Miss Hart and Miss Holcomb. These two wires, after running along the ceiling in the basement, pass through a wooden casing and a partition which divides classrooms 1 A and 5 B. At this point nearly all of the year's supplies were stored, and the loss on books, supplies, etc., is estimated to be between $1,500 and $2,000.

It is here that the floor caved in. The rooms were all flooded with water and the dense smoke has ruined that which was not touched by fire and water. In Superintendent Wightman's office books and various papers locked up in his desk and closets were ruined by smoke. This is also true of supplies on the top floor. The walls and ceilings are also ruined to a large extent. The furniture in the lower rooms is also heavily damaged, and the glass windows suffered much.

Fortunately the new work consisting of the heating and ventilating apparatus which has been installed in the eight rear rooms was not damaged. A report was circulated that the fire was caused by a test of the new heater. There are no evidences of it.

An electrician, in conversation with a Press representative, ventured the statement that he did not believe that the electric wires caused it. They were in rubber tubing, and he said that unless the wires became moistened no heat could be produced. The wires were not close enough together to become crossed.

The personal loss to the various teachers will aggregate a considerable sum, but at this time no estimate can be obtained. The Board of Education and other officials are proud of the excellent work accomplished by the firemen. Superintendent Wightman desires The Daily Press to state that for the present there will be no school at the building. Due notice will be given officially on Monday as to future plans.

THE EASTERN SQUADRON.

Admiral Remy Announces His Departure From Chinese Waters.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Admiral Remey has cabled the navy department of his departure from Chinese waters. He goes on his flagship, the Brooklyn, from Taku to Chefu, thence to Nagasaki, Japan. Although his dispatch does not announce his movements from that point it is the understanding at the navy department that he will next go to Cavite. This move will take the headquarters of the Asiatic station back to Manila, leaving the squadron in Chinese waters without an admiral in command, unless Admiral Remey should determine to have Admiral Kempff return there. For the present, however, there is no such determination. Admiral Remey's dispatch is as follows:

"Marines embarked on Brooklyn. Zafiro and transport Indiana. Zafiro carries the cavalry. Brooklyn goes to Chefu and Nagasaki. Indiana sails shortly. Some sick sent to hospital at Yokohama. Others be removed soon as possible and hospital at Tien-tsin closed. New Orleans remains at Taku. Monocacy winters in Pei-ho river."

Private letters received by members of the family of Naval Surgeon Lippitt, who was on duty in Peking while the American legation and its defenders were besieged, bring the first information as to his condition. These state that early in the fighting he was struck by a Chinese bullet, which entered his left thigh, fracturing the thigh bone. The wound was a bad one. A later letter stated that the wound was healing, although the leg was likely to be shortened about three inches.

BULLER GOING HOME.

Naval Brigade Reaches Simon's Town En Route For England.

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 13.—General Buller is expected to leave here for England at the end of the month.

Four hundred refugees, principally miners, will return to the Transvaal next Wednesday. They comprise the first consignment of refugees to return from here.

Sir Alfred Milner, governor general of Cape Colony, left for Bloemfontein last night on a special train. He will probably be gone for several weeks. During his absence General Sir Frederick Forrestier-Walker will discharge the duties of governor.

The naval brigade under command of Captain Bearcroft arrived at Simon's Town yesterday from the front. The men were enthusiastically received by the people. The town was decorated and all the business houses were closed. There was a great crowd at the railway station when the train arrived, and the mayor made an address of welcome in which he referred in a complimentary manner to the conspicuous part the naval brigade had taken in the arduous campaign. The sailors were banqueted by the citizens. The majority of them will sail for England on Monday.

Roosevelt Concludes Indiana Tour.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 13.—Governor Roosevelt concluded his Indiana tour last night, making two speeches in this city to large audiences. Arriving here at 4:30, the governor dined in his priate car, remaining there until shortly before 8 o'clock, at which time he was escorted to the St. George hotel, where he reviewed a parade given in his honor. From the reviewing stand he was driven to Evans hall, where he made a reply to a speech delivered Thursday by William J. Bryan. From the hall he went to the Grand Opera House, where he addressed the second audience, constituting the eleventh which has heard him speak since he left Indianapolis yesterday morning. The day was characterized by large crowds and much enthusiasm. At Evansville Colonel Charles Denby, former minister to China, was one of the speakers at both meetings.

British Garrisons Re-enforced.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Oct. 13.—The Allan liner Corean, Captain Stewart, from Glasgow Sept. 20 and Liverpool Oct. 2 for St. John's, Halifax and Philadelphia, which arrived here last evening, brought 187 artillerymen to re-enforce the British garrisons at Halifax and Bermuda, this being part of the plan to strengthen the imperial forces at those points. The men were under the command of Major Hill, who was on the staff of Colonel Mahon during the advance to the relief of Mafeking.

It has been decided to issue the stamps in two colors for each denomination.

Goebel Law Repeal Fails.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 13.—The conference committee on the repeal bill to the Goebel election law failed to agree. The house adopted a resolution providing for sine die adjournment today at midnight. MINERS' CONVENTION

Delegates Meet and Organize In Scranton.

SMALL PROSPECT FOR SETTLEMENT.

Strikers Generally Desire Abandonment of the Sliding Scale—Other Grievances to Be Settled Before Acceptance of Operators' Offer.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 13.—Eight hundred and fifty-seven miners, who hold in their hands the power to end or continue the anthracite coal miners' strike which has been in progress for more than three weeks, met in convention here yesterday for the purpose of considering the 10 per cent net advance in wages offered by the operators and adjourned until today without taking any action on their employers' proposition.

Both sessions were devoted to organizing the convention and to speeches by many of the delegates on the mine owners' concession. It was not expected that anything would be done yesterday outside of a general exchange of views. The convention after it was permanently organized went into secret session, but it was learned from authoritative sources that nothing of a definite nature was suggested which would lead to a solution of what is, to the miners, a knotty problem.

From the trend of the remarks of the delegates it was gathered that the 10 per cent proposition as it now stands has very little chance of being accepted. The delegates seemed, it was learned, to be almost unanimous that the operators should first make concessions in the other grievances before the increase is accepted by the mine workers. Great stress was laid on the necessity of abolishing the sliding scale and substituting therefor a tonnage basis on which to fix the rate of wages. The proposition of having the operators guarantee a fixed time for paying the advance was also thoroughly discussed, while not a few delegates said they would be satisfied with nothing but a more liberal increase in wages.

President Mitchell called the convention to order at 10:25 o'clock and immediately began reading his address to the delegates.

Great interest was taken in the address, all the delegates listening to it intently as if they expected to hear some suggestion from their president by which the questions which were to come before the convention could be settled. President Mitchell was heartily cheered as he took his seat.

The next order of business was the appointment of a committee on credentials.

At 11 o'clock the convention took a recess until 1:30 p. m.

During the recess the three credentials committees set to work making up the rolls. They found the task a rather difficult one owing to the large number of delegates and the many foreign names they encountered.

It was 1:40 p. m. when George Purcell of Indiana, member of the national executive board of the United Mine Workers, in the temporary absence of President Mitchell, called the convention to order. The credentials committees not being ready to make their reports, the chair called on the "Golden Miner" to keep the boys in good humor, and the aged coal digger recited a poem and sang a song.

By this time the three committees were ready with their reports, and it took one hour and a half to call the roll. The number of each local union was called, the name of each delegate representing it and the number of votes each delegate was authorized to cast. The basis of representation was one vote for each 100 members of the union or majority fraction thereof. One delegate could represent as many as 500 members, but could not have more than five votes.

This tedious work completed, the temporary secretary read the call for the convention; after which a permanent organization was effected by the election of President Mitchell as chairman and John T. Dempsey as secretary.

Chairman Mitchell's first act was to read a telegram from Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, as follows:

"The cause of the miners is the cause of humanity. Whatever the decision reached regarding the operators' offer the future must be brighter, better and more just for the miners, their wives and children, and humanity will be the gainer. Kindly convey to the assembled delegates the sincerest sympathy and co-operation of every union member and officer of the American Federation of Labor. We all pray and work for your success."

President Mitchell then again addressed the miners. He said:

"This is probably one of the most remarkable conventions that it has ever been my good fortune to attend. You are called here to pass judgment on a proposition never made to you. The operators make no propositions to the miners. They posted notices of an advance in wages over those formerly paid. It will now become your duty to pass judgment as to whether you desire to accept it or to instruct your officers what you wish them to do. As I said before, every man here must feel that upon his shoulders rests a terrible responsibility. If you legislate wisely you will have a bright future before you, on the other hand a mistake made now may mean a continuation of the conditions which have prevailed here for many years. I hope that you men will do your duty. No man wants to be carried away with enthusiasm. You do not want to vote or speak on any question because it is popular to do so. You should do what you believe to be right."

When Mr. Mitchell had concluded, a motion to go into secret session was unanimously carried.

MINERS ANXIOUS.

Strikers Desire the Scranton Convention to Settle the Trouble.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Oct. 13.—More striking miners were assembled on the streets of this place yesterday than at any time since the beginning of the tie up. From early morning workmen came to town from their homes in the numerous mining hamlets within a radius of six miles to learn what their delegates were doing in the Scranton convention. When extracts of President Mitchell's opening address were announced, the men decided that he wants to be fair to them and that he will not tie up the delegates' hands in order to force the recognition of the union.

The miners are very anxious for the convention to accept the 10 per cent offer, providing the increase will be permanent and that the reduction of powder shall be exclusive of the 10 per cent.

YELLOW JACK RAGES

Alarming Increase of the Scourge In Havana.

OFFICES CLOSED FOR DISINFECTION.

Several Americans Attacked With the Disease—Health Board Trying to Stamp Out the Epidemic—Sewer and Pavement Question.

HAVANA, Oct. 13.—One hundred and thirteen new cases of yellow fever have been officially reported since Oct. 1. There is no longer any doubt that the disease has attacked Major Peterson, chief commissary, and Mr. Frank Hayes, general manager of the Havana branch of the North American Trust company, who were taken ill Thursday. Miss Natalie Brown, a stenographer in the employ of the trust company, is also down with the disease. The company's offices were closed today for disinfection.

Four hundred and twenty-eight Spanish immigrants are in quarantine here owing to the existence of smallpox in the vessel on which they arrived.

The health department officials under the energtic management of Major Gorgas are working night and day in the house to house inspection and in other sanitary precautions.

Information received from Matanzas yesterday shows that the city is quiet despite Wednesday's collision between the police and soldiers. From what he has been able to ascertain General Wood says he has no reason to believe that the incident was more serious than a garrison brawl.

The Galveston relief fund in Cuba, organized in Havana, now amounts to $1,500 in American gold. The city of Havana has given $500, and many towns throughout the island have responded to the appeal through the alcaldes. A feature of the subscription has been the large number of small amounts contributed by letters from officials expressing sympathy with the victims of the disaster.

General Wood expresses himself as satisfied with the result, especially in view of the indication it gives that the Cubans appreciate the efforts made for their welfare.

At last evening's session of the ayuntamiento the Dady sewering and paving contract was under consideration. The modifications suggested by the military government were accepted, and a resolution to have the further proceedings under the Spanish law was adopted.

General Wood will insist upon a public letting, and in all probability invitations for tenders, with specifications, will be advertised in Cuban, American and European papers.

Mr. Bryan Speaks In Ohio.

PORTSMOUTH, O., Oct. 13.—Mr. Bryan concluded the first day of his Ohio campaign in this city last night. He was met at the depot by a torchlight procession, consisting of men both on foot and on horseback, and escorted to a square in the center of the city, where he spoke from a platform in the open air. The meeting was by far the largest of the day, and it was thoroughly enthusiastic. The Republicans also held a torchlight procession in the city last night, with speeches in a public hall by Senator Spooner and ex-Congressman W. D. Bynum. As a consequence the city was full of red fire and of political enthusiasm. The lines of march of the two parties were so arranged as not to conflict, and there was no clash. A majority of the meetings during the day were not so largely attended nor so demonstrative as those of the Indiana and Illinois tour of last week.

Stevenson In Maryland.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Oct. 13.—The Democratic candidate for the vice presidency and those who are with him on a tour through the state reached Hagerstown shortly before 9 o'clock last evening, after a ride of 26 miles over the mountains as the guests of Colonel Baughman, Mr. Gorman's chief lieutenant. On the way several stops were made, the first being at Middletown, a Republican stronghold. Here the inhabitants turned out in considerable numbers, about half of them rushing forward to take Mr. Stevenson's hand, while the others stood on the opposite side of the street and shouted for McKinley. At Boonsborough, the next stop, 300 or 400 people had gathered to hear Mr. Stevenson, who addressed them briefly on trusts and imperialism. This was the only speech he made before reaching Hagerstown. When he entered this city he met with a reception which was little short of an ovation.

To Try American Cars.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—American railroad cars in Bavaria is the subject upon which Vice Consul General Hanauer of Frankfort writes to the state department in his latest report. The Bavarian government, says the consul, which owns all the railways and canals in that state, recently has begun work on an American model car to be built in Nuremberg for an express train. An American company which is furnishing the woodwork and metal fixtures has sent one of its constructors to supervise the construction of the car. This would seem, adds the consul, to indicate that the small, old style cars used in Germany are to be abandoned and replaced by new ones patterned after the commodious American styles.

Illegally Restrained.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Supreme Court Justice Freedman granted a writ of habeas corpus for the release of Thomas B. Musgrave, a retired Wall street banker, from a sanitarium in this city. It is claimed that he is being restrained though perfectly sane. Musgrave was a member of the banking firm of Musgrave & Co., which failed in 1889. The family were well known in New York, Boston and Bar Harbor society.

Big Hunt to Aid Church.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Oct. 13.—The male members of the McClure church, near Deposit, are arranging a new plan to raise funds. They propose to participate in a grand hunt, turning the spoils over to the women, who will serve a big game supper, the proceeds to be devoted to improving the church property.

Large Registration at Newburg.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Oct. 13.—In this city, the home of B. B. Odell, Jr., the registration for the first day was 3,112 against 1,932 on the first day in 1896. This is the largest first day's enrollment ever recorded here, being 120 more than the first two days of 1899.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Iron Products, Cotton and Wheat Decline—Stocks Dull.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

More seasonable weather had important influence throughout the country, but the coal strike continued as the restraining factor in business. Lower prices recently for some iron products have been without disturbing force, and the firmer market for print cloths and strong quotations for lumber show that in some directions in the great industries a small increase in demand is capable of raising prices. The situation still promises a recovery when politics and the strike are settled.

Distribution of merchandise at the west is still very active. The working force is increasing steadily, and in railroad and manufacturing circles in the middle west scarcity of labor is causing uneasiness.

The Bank of England has advanced its price of gold to exporters and hopes in this way to prevent serious loss to this country without raising its discount rate.

Pig iron production has been further reduced, according to The Iron Age. On Oct. 1 weekly capacity of furnaces in blast was 223,169 tons against 231,778 Sept. 1 and 296,376 June 1. Stocks at furnaces continue to accumulate, gaining 36,841 tons in September. A gratifying feature is the evidence that supplies in consumers' hands are low.

Much disappointment was apparent among cotton traders when the official crop report appeared, for the anticipation of a gloomy report had put the price up to 11 cents. When the statement indicated a point improvement in Texas in September, prices dropped sharply. Wheat also declined without the aid of a government report. Domestic conditions are generally satisfactory and foreign crop news cheerful. Corn remains steady in the face of the decline in condition. Foreign buying is small. Atlantic exports in two weeks amounting to 4,851,878 bushels against 6,177,148 last year.

Shipments of boots and shoes from Boston at the rate of 88,415 cases weekly mean the most active business since April and approach the heavy forwardings of last year.

After touching 4½ money on call dropped back to 2 per cent, though 5 to 5½ was quoted for loans over election.

Stocks are dull, but there is no effort to increase speculation before election. Railroad earnings for the first week of October show a loss of 2.8 per cent compared with last year, but a gain of 5.9 per cent over 1898. The loss this year is mainly on granger roads. Failures for the week were 223 in the United States against 164 last year and 32 in Canada against 27 last year.

NEW POLAR EXPEDITION.

To Be Fitted Out In New York and Commanded by E. B. Baldwin.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—William Zeigler, a well known and wealthy citizen of New York city and large interests in Brooklyn, announces that he will purchase two vessels, fully equip and man them and send them in quest of the north pole during the summer of 1901.

The expedition is to be in charge of Evelyn B. Baldwin, who was a companion of Lieutenant Peary in his attempts to reach the pole in 1893 and 1894 and also a member of Walter Wellman's expedition.

It is Mr. Ziegler's intention to have one vessel remain in the arctic regions while the other returns for supplies.

The expedition, it is said, will not be dispatched for the north earlier than the summer of 1901, and all the time between this date and that will be necessary for preparation. Ships may be purchased, though vessels better adapted for the work may be built.

American Consul Honored.

SYDNEY, Oct. 13.—Ten thousand citizens of Sydney assembled in the town hall last evening to pay a farewell tribute to Mr. George W. Bell, the United States consul. Earl Beauchamp, governor of New South Wales, presided, and an engrossed address from the citizens was presented to Mr. Bell. Speeches were made by Sir George Dibbs, former premier, and by Mr. John See, chief secretary of the colony, both of whom advocated a fuller union of the Anglo-Saxon race and greater commercial reciprocity. Mr. Bell, who was received with the greatest enthusiasm, pointed out that trade between Australia and the United States had increased 300 per cent since he assumed office as consul in Sydney.

Cruiser New York to Be Repaired.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—As the north Atlantic squadron will not start on its winter cruise south until about Dec. 6, the navy department has decided to utilize the intervening two months for necessary repairs on the flagship of the squadron, the cruiser New York, and these have been ordered to be made at the New York yard, with the condition that they shall be completed by Dec. 6.

Dowager Empress Frederick Ill.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The Berlin correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says: "I learn that the condition of Empress Frederick is precarious. Emperor William has canceled all his engagements for the present."

REFORM FLAG UNFURLED.

Sun Yat Sen Said to Be Planning the Seizure of Canton.

HONGKONG, Oct. 13.—Admiral Ho is pursuing the rebels in a northeasterly direction from San-chun.

A British expedition, consisting of the Twenty-second Bombay infantry, with artillery, is going to the Kowloon hinterland, though the district is reported quiet.

The reformer Sun Yat Sen, according to dispatches from Canton, has unfurled the reform flag in the important town of Wei-chou, on East river. This act has given rise to considerable excitement in military circles in Canton, as it is believed that the object of the reformers in raising their flag at Wei-chou is to denude Canton of troops so that they can seize the city.

Sun Yat Sen, in October, 1895, organized a conspiracy at Canton to seize the viceroy, overthrow the Mantchoo dynasty and establish a constitution for China. Some of the conspirators were arrested and confessed. Sun Yat Sen, a doctor, escaped to the United States and then made his way to London. In October, 1896, he was inveigled into the Chinese embassy in London, where he was kept a prisoner until he succeeded in notifying the British government, through a friend, that he had been kidnaped. Eventually he was released on the demand of the Marquis of Salisbury.

The conspirators had organized a society called the Hing Chung Wooy, or the "Chinese Progressive society," and while in the United States and England Sun Yat Sen undertook to organize branch organizations. It was alleged at the time that among his principal colleagues in the movement in America were Chinese graduates of Yale and Harvard. The aim of the Hing Chung Wooy was said to be the overthrow of the imperial form of government in China and the substitution of the republican system.

In the summer of 1898 the reformers rose against the imperial authorities in the Canton hinterland, inflicting great loss upon the imperial forces, and it was then reported from Hongkong that Sun Yat Sen was among the leaders of the rebellion.

Situation In China Serious.

BERLIN, Oct. 13.—A dispatch received here from Shanghai says a very serious view is taken at Field Marshal Count von Waldersee's headquarters in Tien-tsin of the revolutionary movement. At Canton a false alarm Oct. 7 caused the Chinese officials there to protest against any occupation of Chinese territory. The Yang-tse viceroys, the dispatch adds, openly affirm that they will oppose any advance of the Germans into Shangtun province.

Consul Wildman Refutes the Statements of Alejandrino.

LETTER TO SENATORS RECALLED.

In Which the Filipino Claims an Interview With the American Admiral and Pledges For His People's Independence.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The following statement is issued by the state department:

In a recent dispatch to the department of state under date of Aug. 27, 1900, Mr. Rounsevelle Wildman, consul general of the United States at Hongkong, comments upon the letter, as published in the press of this country, of July 22 last, addressed to the Hon. George F. Hoar and R. F. Pettigrew by J. Alejandrino, under date of April 12, 1900, and purporting to have been written from Sinukwan encampment, Philippine Islands. In that letter Mr. Alejandrino said:

"In April, 1898, in the absence of my chief, General Aguinaldo, who was then at Singapore, I solicited through the American consul general at Hongkong, Mr. Wildman, to have some interviews with Admiral Dewey. My petition was favorably received, and I went with Mr Andres Garchitorena and another Filipino (Sandico) on board the Olympia in the bay of Hongkong."

Then follows what purports to have been an interview between the writer and Admiral Dewey, in which Dewey promises the Filipinos independence, places at their disposal his fleet 'for the conveyance of both Philippine leaders and the arms,' holds out the hope that the United States would supply them with further arms and assures them that the United States will not take one inch of the Philippine Islands. Mr. Wildman continues:

"As I am personally acquainted with the writer (J. Alejandrino) and am familiar with all his movements while he was in Hongkong and conducted whatever negotiations there were between himself and Dewey, I think it my duty to place on record a true statement of the affair.

"In the first place I beg to say that Admiral Dewey never saw Alejandrino or ever had one word of conversation with him. Just before Admiral Dewey's squadron was leaving for Mirs bay F. Agoncillo and T. Sandico, representing the Philippine junta in Hongkong, asked permission to have an interview with Admiral Dewey before he left for Manila. Their professed object of this interview was to obtain his permission to reopen the rebellion against Spain and to co-operate with our naval forces in case the United States determined to take the islands from Spain.

"I saw the admiral personally regarding their request, and he said that I might bring out to Mirs bay any three of the junta who cared to come. On April 27 I took to Mirs bay in the tugboat Fame Sandico, Garchitorena and Alejandrino. On arrival at Mirs bay the three insurgents were taken on board the Olympia and were assigned to Captain Gridley's room for the time being. After a council of officers in Admiral Dewey's room, at which among other things the feasibility of permitting the three Filipinos to go to Manila was discussed, the admiral requested his chief of staff, his flag lieutenant and myself to interview the Filipinos and report to him. As I said before, Admiral Dewey did not see any of the three men. The conversation was carried on in English between Sandico and ourselves, and very little of it was translated for the benefit of the other two Filipinos. When we told them that Admiral Dewey was inclined to permit the three to go to Manila on the collier Nanshan if they could give any good reason for so doing, they informed us they did not wish to go to Manila until the American squadron had first disposed of the Spanish squadron. To quote from my daily journal under date of April 27, 1898, regarding this conference: 'The upshot of the talk was that they did not expect to be taken off as they were, and, although they were dying to fight for their downtrodden fatherland, they had left all their clean linen, toothbrushes, etc., in Hongkong and could not take so long a voyage without them. I told them that Hongkong was the best place for them, and Captain Coghlan, who came into the room, made so much fun of them that at least one of the bold warriors, J. Alejandrino, a young fellow who had never smelled powder, decided to accompany the squadron if on Coghlan's guarantee he would be supplied with a new suit of underclothes. I was thoroughly disgusted with the outfit.' Garchitorena declined to accompany his colleague on the excuse that his wife was ill. Sandico said he had no idea of going, as he was a diplomat and not a soldier. I brought them both back with me in the Fame the same afternoon, and Alejandrino was immediately taken to the collier Nanshan.

"After the battle of Manila Bay Admiral Dewey gave the Filipino permission to land at Cavite and join his friends. He, however, declined to do so unless the admiral furnished him with a marine guard. He remained on the Nanshan until it was convenient for the admiral to return him to Hongkong, which occurred within a fortnight.

"Alejandrino's subsequent history is well known to the military government in the Philippines. He bloomed out as an insurgent general, a peace commissioner and a letter writer."

This dispatch from Mr. Wildman was referred to the navy department for the information of Admiral Dewey, who in his reply comments thereon as follows:

"Attention is invited to the following extract from page 172, report of the Philippine commission, volume 1:

"'No alliance of any kind was entered into with Aguinaldo, nor was any promise of independence made to him then or at any other time.

"'The same is true of Alejandrino (whom, to the best of my knowledge, I have never seen) and of all other Filipinos.'"

Governor Sustained.

Governor Voorhees has been sustained by State School Superintendent Baxter, of this city, as to the meaning of a "common school education" for those who desire examinations before the State Board of Dentistry. This Board issues diplomas entitling the holders to practise dentistry in the State. It has refused a number of applicants because they did not have a "high school education." The Board held that the law called for an "education equal to that furnised by the common schools of the State," and that this clearly meant a "high school education."

The Governor, to whom several students appealed, took a different view, and it was agreed to leave the question to the State School Superintendent. Mr. Baxter said that he must uphold the Governor on a technical construction of the law, and not because he favors any lowering of the standard. He said the high school, instead of being the common, is the exceptional school, and is alone found in the most progressive centres of population. Therefore there is no authority for making a high school education a prerequisite for admission to an examination to practise dentistry. He thinks the difficulty may be overcome by the Dental Board making its examination more rigid.

In his defeat of William Thompson for the control of the Democratic organization of Camden county, Col. George Pfeiffer has performed a service that is of inestimable value to the Democratic party of not only his own bailiwick but of the whole State, for "Duke" Thompson, by his pernicious activity in Democratic councils, is known from Sussex to Cape May. Thompson's attachment to the Democratic party in the State contributed as much as anything else to place the party in an odious position with the people at the time when it was relegated to the rear. Gradually, as the party is being rejuvenated and pushed back to its old position in the State, Thompson has been an active spirit wherever opportunity has afforded. He is one of those fellows that are commonly referred to as "irrepressible." His tactics, his reputation and all that goes to make up his political characteristics are unenviable to decent people, and were he and his kind to triumph and obtain undue influence in the party it would be a sad day for Democracy.

Referring to the report that Judge Kirkpatrick, in the United States District Court, refused to naturalize a young colored man born in South America, because the naturalization laws refer only to "white" men, the Newark News doubts the authenticity of such a report in the following words: "It is probable that the Judge's action is incorrectly reported, or else that the applicant was not 'colored,' in the sense that he is of African descent. Section 2169 of the Federal Revised Statutes, relating to naturalization of aliens, specifies that 'the provisions of this title shall apply to aliens being free white persons, and to aliens of African nativity, and to persons of African descent.' The original law dates from 1804, and limited the privilege to free white persons. It was amended in 1870, as above quoted, to make it conform to the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the Federal Constitution."

One hundred eminent persons have been invited to ballot for the names of fifty of the illustrious dead of America most worthy to be inscribed in the Hall of Fame of the New York University. Over two hundred names had been suggested, but not so many will appear in the balloting. They are divided in groups and the votes in five of these groups were canvassed on Wednesday. Of the ninety persons named on the ballots eleven only received a majority vote. They were, in the group of authors and editors, Emerson, Longfellow, Irving and Hawthorne; of educators, Horace Mann; of inventors, Fulton, Morse, Eli Whitney and Elias Howe, and of philanthropists, George Peabody and Peter Cooper. No one received a majority vote in the group of famous business men, nor in that of missionaries and explorers, though Sam Houston and Daniel Boone ran well.

"No establishment can long continue to do business on the strength of former prominence," says a persistent newspaper advertiser. "In every growing community the population is constantly changing, old citizens dying or retiring to private life, while new men are coming to the front. The public has a short memory. With new establishments as well as old showing daily enterprise, people cannot keep in mind business houses that have ceased to advertise."

it but is simply required to raise the money by taxation, up to a limit of three-quarters of one per cent of the taxable valuation of the city.

In case, however, the Board of Education desires to purchase land for school purposes or to erect, enlarge, repair or furnish a school house or school houses, it submits the estimated cost to the Board of School Estimate, to be approved or revised, and the Board of School Estimate makes its report to the Common Council. The Council "may" appropriate the money asked for or issue bonds for the amount desired on passing the proper resolution.

A request was sent to the Common Council some time ago by the Board of Education asking that two members of the Council be appointed to the Board of School Estimate. Councilman Dumont and VanHerwerden were named. The Board of Education named Messrs. Lovell and Abbott as its representatives on that Board. The fifth member will be Mayor George W. Rockfellow.

An estimate of the cost of the proposed High School has been prepared by the Board of Education. A meeting of the Board of School Estimate has therefore been called for Monday evening to act on this estimate. It will probably be approved. A special meeting of the Common Council will then be called some evening next week to act upon the report of the Board of School Estimate. As the request of the Board was once granted the Council will undoubtedly follow its previous course and approve the proposed school bond issue.

This second proposal to the Common Council is made simply to prevent the possibility of any illegality through the new law. There is no doubt, therefore, but that the Council will approve the report of the Board of School Estimate. Failure to do so would result in a legal snarl, as the Council would then go on record as having granted and refused permission for the same bond issue.

Gentlemen:—I must say in regard to GRAIN-O that there is nothing better or healthier. We have used it for years. My brother was a great coffee drinker. He was taken sick and the docter said coffee was the cause of it, and told us to use GRAIN-O. We got a package but did not like it at first, but now would not be without it. My brother has been well ever since we started to use it.

Royal

BAKING POWDER

-Absolutely Pure-

For the third of a century the standard for strength and purity. It makes the hot bread, hot biscuit, cake and other pastry light, sweet and excellent in every quality.

No other baking powder is "just as good as Royal," either in strength, purity or wholesomeness.

Many low-priced imitation baking powders are upon the market. These are made with alum, and care should be taken to avoid them, as alum is a poison, never to be taken in the food.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, October 13.—Constable Polhemus has determined to stop the practice indulged in by tramps of infesting the Greenbrook tanks and adjacent barns, and will hereafter arrest all found loitering in the vicinity. Another arrest yesterday morning followed the capture of the four Wednesday night. The man was found in Silas Dewey Drake's barn and was brought before Justice Warden. He was very well dressed and told a straightforward story. He gave his name as Robert Campbell and was on his way from Hoboken to Philadelphia. After giving the prisoner some good advice the justice discharged him.

The body of Engineer John Campbell, who was killed in the wreck at Bound Brook Thursday night, was brought to Dunellen and prepared for removal to his home in Jersey City by W. G. Runyon. His son, John Campbell, jr., came to the borough last evening and accompanied the body home. The funeral services will probably be held tomorrow and the interment will be made at Phillipsburg, his old home. Campbell was married and leaves eleven children, only two of whom are old enough to work. He was well known to several borough men, who worked with him on the road at various times.

A number of the cars that were in the Bound Brook wreck and partly demolished, were placed on the freight house siding here yesterday and attracted a great deal of attention.

A letter from William Larkin, who is in Chicago under the care of his brother, Dr. Edward Larkin, states that he is rapidly recovering his old-time health and strength.

COURT PLAINFIELD'S SMOKER

Enjoyable Time Had by the Members of the Foresters.

Court Plainfield, No. 1144, I. O. F., gave an enjoyable smoker last evening to the members and delegations from Courts South Plainfield and Dunellen. An excellent programme had been arranged by the good and welfare committee, every number of which was greatly enjoyed. It opened with an address by Chief Ranger Day, of Court Dunellen, followed by phonographic selections under the direction of Robert Humpston, of the same court. Some fancy steps were given by William Monsell, accompanied by Charles Jaegar on the accordeon; Thomas Comerford and Fred Wharton sang excellent solos; a cake-walk was given by Michael Higgins, who also recited, and the entertainment concluded with an exhibition goat riding. While the different numbers were being given cake and cream were passed. Altogether it was a pleasant affair and the committee deserves credit for the manner in which it passed off.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, therefore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. Had to Move the Lime.

Some of the residents along Green Brook, near Bound Brook, reported to Deputy State Fish and Game Warden Hawkins, of Roselle, that they had found traces of lime in the brook. Warden Hawkins went to the city sewage disposal beds yesterday afternoon and found a heap of lime near the beds where high water in the brook might possibly reach it. He ordered MacMahon, who is employed at the beds, to move the lime, which was done.

JEWELS.

Novel Ideas In Ornaments of Various Kinds.

Jewelry and jeweled effects continue to be marked features of fashion. The usual quantity of buckles, buttons, clasps, hat ornaments and passementerie of this order is seen, and in addition there are several jewelry novelties of an inexpensive sort which, while they follow the style of articles made of costly gems, have yet the merit of not professing to be of great value.

Among these may be mentioned dog collars of several rows of jet beads, held apart by crossbars of rhinestones. The same idea is also carried out in pearl beads and in steel with silk cords. Another kind of collar is of black velvet, embroidered with steel beads and with a fringe of threaded beads all around the lower edge, the fringe being longer in front than elsewhere.

A pretty bodice decoration consists of a sort of shawl collar and revers, passing around the shoulders and down to the waist in front, where it terminates in two long stole ends, finished with fringe, which fall upon the skirt. Steel or jet embroidery is used.

Today's sketch illustrates a costume of cashmere cloth of dark gray. The skirt has a circular flounce headed by a stitched band and finished with rows of stitching. The bodice of dark gray velvet is tight at the back, but a little full in front. Over this is a very short, plaited bolero of cloth edged with stitching, which is cut a little away at the top to show the velvet bodice. The tight sleeves of cloth are stitched at the shoulders and wrists. The black felt hat is trimmed with black ostrich plumes and shaded dahlias. JUDIC CHOLLET.

NOVELTIES.

Types of New Fashions to Be Soon Adopted.

A decidedly striking millinery novelty is a hat frame of fine wire, covered with stretched gauze so fine as to be almost invisible. This gauze is heavily embroidered with a bold pattern in gold.

Complete lingerie sets are now prepared, consisting of a small turnover collar, a full front or vest and undersleeves, all matching. These are of linen or nainsook, ornamented with lace, hemstitching, embroidery, tucks and delicate applications, or of plain or glace taffeta, surah or embroidered net, with tiny bands of ribbon or velvet as a decoration or some other scheme of ornament.

BOLERO.

A new departure is signaled in one of the new winter coat models. Around the collar, the wrists, the pelerine and even the lower edge of the wrap are three bias bands of velvet, showing that the old theory of strictness in tailor made styles is to be relinquished and a greater latitude of trimming allowed.

The bolero has all seasons for its own and is fully represented in the styles prepared for winter. Today's illustration shows a bolero of French blue satin cloth. It is cut rather short at the back and under the arms, coming to a point at the waist in front, and is applied over a sort of corselet of stitched blue silk, which completes the bolero to the waist line. The revers and collar are of stitched blue silk, which also forms the cuffs of the cloth sleeves, and dull gold buttons in groups of three complete the decoration. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Red and Smallpox.

It has been found that smallpox patients are least marked when kept in rooms darkened with red curtains. Sunlight passing through red medium loses its chemical power. It thus prevents smallpox from taking a confluent form.

Notice as to Unmuzzled Dogs Running at Large.

By a city ordinance, it is provided that no dog shall be permitted to run at large within the city limits, unless a good and sufficient muzzle shall be placed over the mouth of said dog in such manner as to render biting impossible. If any person permits or suffers any dog owned or harbored by him and not so muzzled to run at large, the ordinance provides that he shall upon conviction be punished by a fine not exceeding ten dollars for each offense.

Any person prepared to make complaint under oath of any violation of this ordinance may apply to the subscriber and have prosecution begun forthwith.

SCHOOL AND CHURCH.

Ten thousand Irish children are taught the Erse language.

The school board of Deadwood, S. D., has adopted a new system in regard to the books used by pupils, who will now be required to pay a small rental fee for the use of such volumes as they require.

Stonyhurst college had a picture of the Madonna, which was presented to it 70 years ago by Lady Arundel of Wardour, who bought it in Rome for $25. The painting turned out to be by Carlo Crivelli, and has just been sold by the college for a large sum, said to be $20,000.

The rector of Oxford university recently received this inquiry from a resident of Plymouth: "How much would I have to pay for the education of my son in your university? Let me know if I shall have to pay more in case my son, besides rowing, should wish to learn to read and write."

An aesthetic English vicar at Wembley will not allow the word "died" to be put on the tombstones of the people buried in the cemetery. He insists on phrases like "departed this life" or "passed away" or "entered into rest," and says that "died" is a denial of the Christian teaching of immortality.

Women are now qualified to enter as students at the faculty of arts at the Vienna university on the same terms as men, and the professors in the faculty of law in Vienna have petitioned the ministry of education to allow women to enroll themselves as regular students in that branch of learning also.

In 1899 there were 103 incumbents of church livings in England who had occupied the same living for 50 years or more, and of these 12 had held their places for 60 years. Their average income amounted to $1,250 a year, and in 16 cases the income after 50 years' continuous service was between the limits of $380 and $710 a year.

Not many people would be prepared to believe that the prince of Wales is a liberal giver to religious movements. "Tummy" is generally believed to spend most of his large income in ways not approved by the godly, but according to an article in a British magazine he has given substantial support to about 50 churches and cathedrals, the money being principally devoted to building new edifices and restoring old ones.

CHINESE MISSIONARIES.

Many Folks Hold That Reform, Like Charity, Should Begin at Home.

Many people among us are led to say we should reform the millions of ignorant and vicious citizens in our own land before commencing operations on the heathen Chinese. The Chinese also will point with scorn to the crowds of debauched American and other sailors who get leave to go on shore when their ships are in Chinese ports, and run in drunken riot among the harmless natives in a manner that is disgusting in the extreme. Even the well-to-do merchants and other representatives of our western lands when in China too often live anything but moral lives, so that the Chinese are led to cry shame upon them. Attend to your own people first, they say, and when you have lifted them up to the standard you preach to us, we will gladly listen to your words, writes Prof. John Fryer, in Ainslee's.

The Chinese officials do not hate the average regular missionary as a man; but they dislike his teaching. The missionary's pure and upright life as an example for the Chinese people is a continual and unmistakable object lesson to the officials, making manifest by contrast their own cruel, grasping, evil lives. The corrupt official is better pleased with the depraved European or American merchant than he is with the missionary. He feels that the merchants and he have much in common as birds of a feather. In theory, the Chinese classics hold that the officials are to be "like parents to the people." It is therefore their duty to aid and instruct the people on all points of morality and doctrine. This duty they not only do not perform themselves, but they very strenuously object to the sensible self-denying missionary when he comes unasked to perform it for them. The more the "stupid common people," as they are called, can be kept in ignorance, the more easily can they be governed. Hence the attempt of the missionary to uplift them is a conspiracy against one of the strongholds of officialdom. The misrepresentations of the object and the work of missionaries, and the many evil things attributed to them, as well as the riots stirred up by the officials, ending in the occasional murder of the more aggressive missionaries, are mostly due to this cause.

Novelty in Millinery.

A new adornment is finding favor among milliners. This consists of skeleton leaves preserved exactly as they fall from the tree and retaining their natural color. The leaves of the walnut, chestnut and platane trees are preferred for the purpose; large ivy leaves and oak leaves are also used. The longest leaves are formed into a large paillette, one side being composed of a stiff painted feather, the other of the skeleton leaf, thus forming a broad garniture. A fine invisible wire fixed to the edge of the leaf prevents its crumpling. The smaller leaves are made into garlands mounted on an artificial or natural branch. The leaves have to be perfectly preserved, as their beauty naturally lies in the delicacy and transparency of the fiber.—St. Louis Republic.

The Biggest Fool.

The biggest fool is the man who considers himself the wisest.—Chicago Daily News.

STORY OF TWO BOYS.

One Succeeded in Everything He Undertook, the Other Remained Poor All His Life.

Of two boys with the same advantages and equally good training, one will succeed in life, while the other, without being bad, "never amounts to anything," as the saying goes. Perhaps the following anecdote will explain something of the desparity in results:

A nurseryman left home for a few days on a business thip. It was rainy weather, and not a season for sales, but a customer did arrive from a distance, tied up his horse, and went into the kitchen, where two boys were cracking nuts.

"Is Mr. Barnes at home?" he asked.

"No," said Jo, the eldest, hammering at a nut.

"When will he be back?"

"Dunno. Mebbe not for a week."

The youngest boy, Jim, promptly jumped up and followed the irritated stranger out of doors.

"The men are not here," he said, in a bright and courteous manner, "but I can show you the stock."

The stranger was conciliated, and followed Jim through the nursery, examining the trees, and left his order.

"You have sold the largest bill of the season, Jim," said his father, greatly pleased, on his return.

A few years afterward these two boys were left by the father's death with but $300 apiece. Joe bought an acre or two near home, and, although he worked hard, he is still a poor, discontented man.

Jim bought an emigrant's ticket to Colorado, hired out as a cattle driver for a couple of years, and with his wages bought land at a dollar and a quarter an acre, built himself a house and married. To-day his herds are numbered by the thousand, his land has been cut up in town lots, and he is one of the wealthy men of the Centennial state.

"I might have done like Jim," said Joe, resentfully, "if I'd only thought in time. There's as good stuff in me as him."

Joe was right. He had the same stuff in him, but it was not developed. The quick, wide-awake energy which causes a boy to act promptly and boldly in an emergency is partly natural but it can be inculcated by parents, and it is worth more than any gift of nature.—Golden Days.

KIND LITTLE DOG.

It Played the Role of Good Samaritan and Thereby Won Everybody's Admiration.

A butcher of Wassahickon, Pa., has a little dog that is so clever that it is sent every morning to the baker's with a basket for a dozen rolls. The baker always gives it 13, but there came a day when the dog only brought home 12. Next day and the next it continued to be a roll short. The baker declared that he had never placed less than 13 in the basket. It was determined to watch the dog. It got its basket filled at the baker's, and then set out for home in a roundabout way. It entered the yard of a stranger. In a kennel lay a mother dog, with a family of little puppies. The visitor took out a roll in his mouth, pushed it into the kennel, took up his basket again and came home. The trick was so captivating that the dog was not interfered with. He continued his attentions to his friend until she could leave her puppies long enough to go after food for herself, and since then he has brought home 13 rolls.

Sawed-Off Guns Used by Bandits.

Down in Guatemala the favorite weapon of the native bandits and desperadoes is a sawed-off muzzle loading shotgun of the blunderbuss pattern, and when they run short of buckshot they sally out to the railroad and steal a few dozen seals, which are simply disks of soft lead about the size of quarters. Pounded into rough balls, they make projectiles by the side of which a dum dum is an angel of mercy, and when one of their blunderbusses goes off it generally kills everything in sight except the man directly behind it.

Forcing Roosters to Work.

Since the war the male peasants of Spain have become unusually industrious and ingenious. They even force the lazy roosters to become more useful than heretofore. They have trained the male fowls to hatch eggs and look after the chickens, while the hens, thus relieved of some of their duties, now really lay more eggs than when they were worried with maternal cares.

Not a Good Photograph.

"I guess that ain't me," said little Ralph as he gazed earnestly at a photograph of himself. "What makes you think it isn't?" asked his mother. "'Cause it's standin' still too long to be me," was the reply.

HINTS FOR HOUSEKEEPERS.

Odd Bits of Domestic Information That May Be of Service to Them.

To obtain the perfume from any favorite flower is possible with little trouble, if one has an abundance of flowers. The blossoms should be picked without a stem and dropped into a jar half full of olive or almond oil. After standing in that until the next day, they should be put into a coarse cloth and squeezed dry over the bottle of oil. Then fresh flowers should be added and the operation repeated until the required strength is obtained. The oil is then to be mixed with an equal quantity of pure rectified spirits. This should be shaken every day for three weeks, when it may be turned off and bottled for use.

Stuffed tomatoes are also easily carried. It is better not to skim them, lest they crush. Wash and dry them, cut a thin slice from the top, chop the pulp without removing it, leaving a good thick wall. Add two or three drops of onion juice to each, a teaspoonful of mayonnaise dressing and one-half teaspoonful of chopped parsley. Salt and pepper to taste, and add a chopped olive if it is wanted. Place the cover on each tomato, pack closely in a box, and carry it right side up.

To cook a chicken in a chafing dish, cut it into four pieces and season it thoroughly with salt and pepper. Melt in the dish two scant tablespoonfuls of butter and add to it a teaspoonful of chopped onion. Put in the chicken and cook slowly, turning frequently until tender. Then mix the yolk of one egg with one-half cupful of cream and cook for one minute with the chicken. Add one-half tablespoonful of lemon juice just before serving.

One of the best ways to remove old wall paper is to dip a large and clean whitewash brush in warm water and apply it evenly to the wall before scraping with a kitchen knife. Holes in the plaster should be filled with plaster of paris, mixed with mortar.

PRETTY THINGS TO WEAR.

Attractive Details That Go to Make Up the Stylish Fall Costumes.

A dainty gown in turquoise blue voile has a simple skirt trimmed with a wide band of cream colored Irish guipure applique laid on the blue voile some seven or eight inches above the hem. The bodice is covered entirely with flat plaits, finely stitched, and running downward from throat to waist, while round the shoulders there is a deep cape collar of Irish guipure, forming long revers in front, which are laced together with narrow black ribbon velvet, says the New York Tribune.

A pretty gown for morning wear is of voile, the color being a pale shade of green. The skirt is arranged with three deep flounces, each bordered with a narrow band of cluny lace insertion, while the bodice consists of a neat little coat of cluny lace, lined with pale green silk, and opening in front to show a finely plaited vest of white lace insertions, threaded through with narrow black velvet ribbon.

The newest "five o'clock tea gowns" are of the empire style, and some of the smartest have sleeveless boleros of Russian or Irish lace, or of velvet, caught over the bust by a rich buckle of dull gold or French gray silver.

Many of the newest hats, though they are still worn low over the forehead, are turned up sharply at the back with a big bow of black velvet, smartly tied, serving as a cache-peignie, and recalling almost exactly the modes of some three or four years ago.

Everywhere the binding of black velvet at the edge of the brim appears upon the prettiest hats for early autumn. Even the newest French sailor hats are made with wide brims, bound at the edge with black velvet drawn through a long steel buckle, bent to follow the line of the crown.

Care of Laces.

Iron lace on the right side first, then on the wrong side, to throw up the pattern.

When ironing laces cover them with clean white tissue paper. This prevents the shiny look seen on washed lace.

When putting lace away fold as little as possible. A good plan is to wind it round a card, as they do in shops.

Use corn flour instead of ordinary starch for stiffening laces. This makes them firm and does not detract from the "lacy" appearance.

Laces and other delicate trifles should be placed in a muslin bag before being boiled. This prevents their getting lost and being torn in the wash.

All laces before being ironed should be carefully pulled out, each point receiving attention. You will be repaid for your trouble, as the lace will look twice as nice and last clean a much longer time.—Chicago Evening News.

Savory Potato Salad.

Boil some small new potatoes and when they are cold cut them into dice-shaped pieces. Put a layer of them into a salad bowl, sprinkle over them a small quantity of oil and vinegar (which has been thoroughly blended) and a little finely-chopped spring onion; add a thin layer of sliced radishes and pickled gherkin, then more potatoes, and so on until the bowl contains the required quantity, finished with potatoes. Round the edge put a border of small cress, from which the stalks have been removed, and over the top of the salad place some culled anchovies which have been preserved in oil; scatter some finely chopped parsley and the sieved yolk of a hard-boiled egg over the fish and potatoes and the salad will be ready to serve.

ABOUT THE BOXERS.

An Educated Kansas City Chinaman Says They Are "Bad Men with the Fists."

Dr. M. F. Young, one of the most intelligent Chinamen in Kansas City, says that the Chinese name of the Boxers is, literally translated, "Bad men who fight with their fists," according to the Journal.

"It is not very far," he said, "from a literal translation of the name of the order to the free and easy pun, 'boxers.'

"There are about 11,000,000 of the Boxers," said Dr. Young, "and they were organized recently for the sole purpose of expelling foreigners. They live in the northern portion of China and are loyal to the empress, whom they blindly follow. They are for the most part very ignorant, believing that the invasion of China by foreigners means the destruction of all the Chinese. A new religion has been set up, and a new god created. When a person becomes a member of the order he takes an oath to assist in the extermination of all foreigners, and after being a member for a certain length of time he is assured that the god which they worship will protect him and will prevent any harm coming to him from either a gun or a sword; that the only harm that can come to a Chinaman will be from the fists.

"The religion," he continued, "is a peculiar one, and its name is not capable of being translated in English." Here he sketched the three characters by which the religion and god are symbolized. "I have tried to get an English phrase which would be intelligible to Americans, but I cannot find anything in the language that expresses it. The idea is that no one not born in China can enter this particular god's heaven.

"Against this very bigoted and ignorant society a reform society has been formed, and thus far there are 5,000,000 members, and they have collected $1,500,000,000. The reform party is kindly disposed toward all foreigners, and is the progressive party of the Celestial kingdom. They wish to make Kwong Su the emperor, one of the most intelligent men in the whole empire of China, who wishes to place his country on the standard of the more enlightened ones of the world. Many of its adherents live in America, France and England and in the cities of China where the foreigners are in control.

"The Boxers will never gain the day. They have no idea whatever of the strength of the foreigners or of the reform party, and their mode of warfare—with the fists—is simply ridiculous."

BISHOP PROTECTS CHINAMEN.

Rev. Dr. Moore Saved Many Lives During the Riots of 1880 at Denver.

An incident in the life of Rev. Dr. David H. Moore, recently elected bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church and assigned to duty in China, is recalled by the present peril of the missionaries in the Celestial empire. In 1880 the anti-Chinese riots took place in Denver, where Dr. Moore was stationed. He was out of the city on the morning of the riots, but returned in the afternoon and learned of the riots. He had an appointment to preach that night in the West Denver Methodist church. He walked from his residence near the university to the church where he was to preach. Along almost every foot of the way he encountered evidence of the mob spirit which had seized a part of the city's population, says the Chicago Chronicle.

A friend of his, who remembers the circumstance, says that the reverend chancellor grew more angry at every step he took. Mobs were running about the streets in pursuit of fleeing Chinese. Clubs and pistols were in evidence on every hand. When the chancellor reached the church he found a congregation awaiting him. He went into the pulpit, but instead of taking a text he turned from the religious service and said:

"I do not think that anyone has any business preaching to-night in Denver, and I do not feel that any congregation should listen to a sermon while mobs are in control of the streets of Denver. For myself, I propose to go to my home, get my rifle and report to the sheriff. I think that is the duty of every citizen."

With that he dismissed the congregation. An hour later Chancellor Moore, armed with the Winchester rifle with which he had hunted in the Rockies, appeared at the mayor's office and was sworn in as a deputy.

He was placed in charge of a posse which spent all of Sunday night going about Denver rescuing from cellars and other hiding places fugitive Chinese who had fled before the rioters. Chancellor Moore was on duty for 24 hours, and he did not lay his rifle down until order had again been restored in Denver.

His action cowed the mobs and saved the lives of the greater part of the city's Chinese population.

Inconsistency.

"Who is that man over there with the white, scared face?"

"That's the fellow we met at the funeral yesterday, who was telling the wife of the deceased to cheer up—that her husband was better off."

"What is the matter with him now?"

"The doctor told him he was going to die."—Indianapolis Sun.

SPORTING.

GOLF

A golf competition for the caddies of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club was held on the links of that club yesterday. Martie Kane was first, Martin O'Loughlin second, Thomas Kelly third and John Johnson fourth. Jack Waldron won the first prize for the best scratch score of 93.

The semi-final play for the Schoonmaker cup, women's competition, match play, took place this morning on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club grounds. The competition was open only to those who have scored one or more wins for the cup. Miss Maud VanBoskerck and Miss Edith Tracy defeated Miss VanHerwerden and Miss May Evans. The final play for the cup will take place this afternoon between the winners of this morning's match.

Michael Higgins, of West Front street, has just secured the contract for laying out the new Westfield golf club grounds located between Scotch Plains and Westfield, and the work was started this week. A nine-hole course is to be laid out at present and later on it will be increased to eighteen holes. The course will be about 1¾ miles in length and will be one of the finest in this part of the country. The rolling nature of the ground and the natural bunkers and hazards, makes it an especially attractive one in many respects. It is expected to have the course ready for play by May of next year. An old farm house located on the farm will be used as a clubhouse and it will be remodelled to meet the needs of the members. There is great enthusiasm among the members and they are very sorry that the course will not be ready for this season. The membership is steadily increasing and the prospects for success are very bright.

LEAKAGE IN SEWER.

City Finds Serious Trouble on Carlton Avenue.

Leakage in the sewer on Carlton avenue has been going on for the past year, but owing to the height of the underground stream, which thus found its way into the sewers, any attempt to repair it was delayed until now when the water is low. Under the direction of Street Commissioner Gavett, the sewer is being dug up and will be relaid. On Richmond street the tile pipe was replaced some time ago by iron pipe on account of this same leakage which doubled the flow of water through the sewers. The change has been a very effective one, and the great amount of water, which then found its way into the sewer, has been largely reduced. The situation on Carlton avenue is not as serious as it was on Richmond street, and it is believed that by resetting the joints the leakage on the former thoroughfare will be done away with.

Inauguration of Dr. Rhees.

The inauguration of Dr Rush Rhees, a graduate of Amherst College and recently a professor at Newton Theological Seminary, as president of Rochester University took place Thursday afternoon. Surrounded by eminent professors, some of whom delivered addresses, Dr. Rhees made his inaugural address on the theme "Modernizing of Liberal Culture." Dr. Rhees was a Plainfield boy and has many friends in the town. He is a nephew of Charles W. McCutchen, of Rockview avenue, and Samuel St. J. McCutchen, of Myrtle avenue.

Made Last Payment

The Somerset County Board of Freeholders meet yesterday and made the last payment, $1,490, to the contractor for the work on the new road built last year from the Morristown line at Bernardsville to Far Hills. This amount was withheld until all the necessary repairs had been made, as provided for by the contract. The road is about six miles long and is considered to be one of the best in the State.

Horses' Hunger Caused Trouble.

A bale of hay standing on the sidewalk in front of VanZandt & Voorhees' attracted the attention of a team of horses attached to an ice wagon this morning, and they moved up to get some of it. The pole of the wagon went beyond the bale and shattered a large pane of glass in the front of the building. They were backed down before any further damage was done.

Break in Trolley Wire.

Judging from the number of breaks that have occurred near the same spot it would seem as if the services of an inspector were needed for the trolley wires at Front and Somerset streets. This morning a pole opposite Smith's grocery was unable to stand the strain and twisted over, letting the wires down. The cars were blocked for an hour while the wires were transferred to a temporary pole and a new one was set up.

Delegates From Crescent Avenue Church.

A delegation consisting of Mrs. Horace Kimball, Mrs. Frank Budlong, Mrs W. Patton, Mrs. S D. Yerkes, Mrs. Wilder Rowley and Mrs. Honeyman, of the Crescent Avenue church, represented the foreign and domestic missionary societies of that church at an annual meeting of the Synodical Societies held in Newark yesterday.

A Slight Difference.

It costs $1,400,000 to maintain the twenty four royal palaces of the Emperor William throughout Germany. It costs just $4,400.00 less than this to learn how to maintain the usefulness of your eyes for the balance of your days, and at Collier's is the place to learn it. 103 Park avenue.

Early Risers Among Birds.

An ornithologist who has investigated the question as to what hour in the summer the commonest songbirds wake up and sing states that the greenfinch is the earliest riser, as it pipes as early as half-past one o'clock in the morning; the black-cap begins at half-past two. It is nearly four o'clock and the sun is well above the horizon before the first real songster appears in the person of the blackbird. He is heard half an hour before the thrush, and the chirp of the robin begins about the same length of time before that of the wren. The house sparrow and the tomtit occupy the last place on the list. The investigation has altogether ruined the lark's reputation for early rising.

Choosing the Lesser Evil.

"Georgie," said his mother, "I will not whip you this time if after this you promise to be a good little boy like Willie Jones." "Mamma," said Georgie, earnestly, "whip me, please."

SETTLING UP OLD SCORES

Great Council of Red Men Liquidating Claims of Defunct Funeral Benefit Association.

A meeting of the Board of Great Chiefs of the Improved Order of Red Men of New Jersey was held last evening at the office of Great Sachem William Newcorn, of this city. A funeral benefit association was formed sometime ago by some of the tribes independent of the Great Council and three years ago the association collapsed with unpaid claims amounting to $6,000. Although the association was independent of the order the Great Council decided to assume the debts and pay them so that the credit of the Red Men at large should remain unimpaired. At last evening's meeting a special committee reported that $3,000 had been paid off by the special tax raised last July, and $2,000 by the issuance of bonds. The Board decided to issue a note for the $1,000 in anticipation of another special tax next January.

An Oak Tree Wedding.

The marriage of Miss Sadie V. Clannen and William Johnson, of Oak Tree, took place Wednesday evening last at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride. Only a few of the intimate relatives and friends of the contracting parties were present. The bride was gowned in white organdie trimmed with white satin ribbon, and she carried a bouquet of bride roses. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. T. Jones, of Bayonne, and an informal reception followed, during which refreshments were served. Owing to the illness of the bride the wedding journey has been postponed for the present. Many beautiful presents were received by the popular couple.

Held in $500 Bail.

Sullivan Villardo, foreman of C. M. Meeker's gang of Italians, which participated in a free fight with another gang at Berkley Heights, Monday, was arraigned before Justice Nash yesterday charged with being one of the injured men's assailant. It is said that Villardo did not take part in the fight at all, but he was arrested by the constables on a warrant issued by Justice Kelley, of Summit. Justice Nash held him in $500 bail for his appearance at that place Monday. It was furnished by C. M. Meeker.

Forks of Wheel Broke.

J. C. VanDyke, of East Front street, was injured quite badly yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock while riding his wheel near Whitehouse. The front forks of his wheel broke and he was thrown with considerable force. He lay in the road for a time unconscious. He was found by some passerby and taken to the home of David Lare, where everything possible was done for him. He was not able to return home until today. His injuries, while not serious, will lay him up for a few days.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. All druggists sell it at 50 cents or it will be mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y.

The body was brought to this city and placed in Cole's undertaking establishment. A married sister lives at Goodwin's Crossing, near Picton. The funeral services will be held from Cole's Monday at 2 p. m.

FUMBLE LOST GAME FOR OLYMPIC F. C.

Alis A A. Won After an Evenly Fought Battle Through McClure's Quickness

BOTH TEAMS DID WELL.

VISITORS LOST A FINE CHANCE TO SCORE WHEN NEAR ALIS' GOAL.

Jersey City Team Had a Tandem Formation for Mass Play, Which Was Effective, But Failed at Critical Moment.

But for some exceedingly quick work by Will McClure the football game on Martine Common Saturday afternoon between the Alis A. A., of this city, and the Olympic Field Club, of Jersey City, would have been a tie. McClure broke through the line, picked up the ball which had been fumbled by an Olympic back, and chased down the field thirty-five yards for the only touchdown of the game. The game was another fine exhibition of good football and kept the several hundred spectators in a state of wild enthusiasm. The Alis boys won 6 to 0

Several changes were made in the home team which strengthened it. The visitors proved a tough proposition. They had a peculiar formation for a mass play on guard and tackle which worked very successfully for a time but at the decisive moment in the game when the Olympics were only ten yards from Alis' goal line, was too much for them. Both teams played good hard football and were well matched. The visitors were somewhat heavier.

Olympic had the kick-off and sent the ball to Plainfield's twenty-yard line. There they held Alis for downs only to lose the ball again the same way. Then the Alis boys started down the field. Taylor gained twenty-five yards round right end and Woolston as much more on a criss-cross play. At Olympic's twenty-five yard line, Alis lost the ball on downs. That mass play began to make steady gains for the visitors. Rowlands fumbled the ball when McClure came through the line and was down the field with the ball. He ran thirty-five yards with both teams in vain pursuit and made a touchdown after fourteen and a half minutes of play. Phillips kicked the goal.

The first half ended with the ball in the visitor's possession on Alis' thirty-five yard line, gaining on every play with that powerful mass play.

Taylor kicked off for Alis in the second half. The Jersey City team brought the ball back to Alis' fifty yard line where Taylor recovered it on a fumble. The ball went back to the Olympics on downs on their own thirty yard line. After several plays, the ball was juggled into McClure's hands and he started backward toward his own goal. It was Alis' ball at the centre of the field. The visitors soon held for downs and then, failing to gain, Stone kicked. The ball bounced over Phillips' head and Huston fumbled it. An Olympic end fell on it on Alis' ten yard line.

Twice the Olympic backs went into the line without gain. On the last down Rapalje broke through the line and upset the mass formation, the ball then going to Alis on downs. It was Olympic's last chance to score. Then Alis started down the field with determination. Woolston circled left end for thirty yards and others made smaller gains. T. Smith made a fifteen-yard run. After he had shouted "down" and the referee's whistle had blown, an Olympic back snatched the ball and ran the length of the field claiming a touchdown. There was a lengthy dispute, but the visitors finally accepted the referee's decision. Another play ended the game.

A light mist fell part of the afternoon, but during the last ten minutes of play a heavy rain began and the ball was very slippery.

The teams lined up as follows:

ALIS A. A.		OLYMPIC F. C.
T. Smith-Dumont	right end	Taylor
Schoonmaker-Wittke	right tackle	Harns
McClure	right guard	Robinson
G. Smith	centre	Wedemeyer
Long	left guard	Steenson
H. Smith	left end	Wright
Houson	quarter back	Ferns
Woolston	right half back	Rowlands
Taylor-T. Smith	left half back	Myers
Phillips	full back	Stone

Score—Alis A. A., 6; Olympic F. C., 0. Touchdowns—McClure. Goals from touchdowns—Phillips. Referee—Roger Erickson. Umpire—Harry Lovell. Timekeepers—A. B. Meredith and M. Slater. Time of halves—Twenty minutes.

NOT AN IDEAL GOLF DAY.

EXCELLENT WORK OF MEMBERS OF HILLSIDE CLUB.

Home Team Had No Trouble in Defeating the Forest Hill Players.

Saturday was not an ideal day for golf, yet a goodly number gathered at the course of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club and indulged in the fascinating ancient game. The course was in suberb condition. The recent heavy rains had a tendency to better it, and play was a pleasure to all who travelled it.

In the morning there was the semi final play for the Schoonmaker cup, women's competition, match play, open to those who have scored one or more wins for the cup. The result of the play caused quite a surprise to those who have watched the contest throughout. Miss Maude VanBoskerck and Miss Edith Tracy defeated Miss May Evans and Miss VanHerwerden. It was expected that the final play would come off in the afternoon, but for some reason it did not. It will be played some day this week at the convenience of the players.

The men's handicap foursome was scheduled for the afternoon, but this was postponed to November 17th at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. In place of the above event there was an interesting team match between Hillside and Forest Hill. The visitors came over determined to win the match, if possible, but they were disappointed. The home team even prevented them from scoring, while they made 18 points. The Hillside's did not have their strongest team out, but they played a fine game throughout and defended the club's reputation in good style. By defeating the Forest Hill team the home team retains first honors in the East Jersey Golf Association tournament, and there is now every reason to expect that the championship will be held by them. Next Saturday they play the Glen Ridge team and the chances of winning are excellent. The Hillside team has a fair lead in the contest and there is little chance of their losing first honors. The scores of Saturday's contest follows:

HILLSIDE.		FOREST HILL.
Glenney	4	R. Hunter	0
Wharton	5	Corty	0
Wright	2	Geoffrey	0
Hedges	1	Bingham	0

During the afternoon there was a large number of members on the course who were enjoying private matches. There were also a few visitors. The latter were delighted with the course and pronounced it one of the best they had played upon. A number of women assembled at the clubhouse and enjoyed the social features, and in the evening about forty remained for dinner.

Next Saturday there will be no scheduled events on the course. The team will go to Glen Ridge. Still, there will no doubt be several private matches that will attract a number of enthusiasts.

ORGAN RECITAL.

Ward Stephens Rendered Fine Programme at Crescent Avenue Church Saturday Evening.

Ward Stephens, the new organist at the Crescent Avenue church, gave his first organ recital in the Crescent Avenue church Saturday evening. There was a good attendance despite the rain. Mr. Stephens was assisted by Miss Ida Mae Pierpont, of New York, a soprano with a sweet and well-trained voice. Mr. Stephens' selections were well rendered and showed his perfect acquaintance with the organ.

The programme was as follows:

Miss Pierpont.
Guilmant—Pastorale from Sonata in D. minor

Wants That Fountain Back.

Lusardi, the Cranford caterer, whose soda fountain was sold for taxs, and afterward seized, has brought suit to recover the fountain, which is in a vacant store, the town officials being afraid to remove it to the town rooms.

Stimulates Action for Protection.

The frequency of fires recently at Garwood has stimulated the fire committee in the matter of the delayed construction of a fire alarm system for Garwood. Work will soon be begun on the new line.

TROPHY NOT FORFEITED.

EDGAR I. SERRELL NOT ALLOWED TO CLAIM THE PRIZE.

Morgan T. Townsend Said He Had Not Been Notified That There Was to be Play.

Owing to a misunderstanding there was no play on the links of the Park Golf Club for the green committee challenge trophy Saturday afternoon. W. J. R. Thiers, holder of the trophy, was out of town. W. de la R. Anderson, the first challenger, was not present. Morgan T. Townsend, who followed him on the list of challengers, claimed that he had not been notified that he would have to play, and so was not ready to meet Edgar I. Serrell, who followed him on the list of challengers. Serrell claimed the trophy by default.

The case was referred to the green committee for a decision. It was decided that Townsend should hold the trophy and meet Serrell next Saturday for it.

A dozen golfers of the club turned out for the weekly competition for the president's cup, but only four cards were turned in. First honors went to Edgar I. Serrell, with a 90. Serrell, by his victory Saturday, strengthened his hold on first place for the cup and is now well in the lead. The scores were:

	Gross.	Hand.	Net.
Edgar I. Serrell	90	0	90
H. D. Hibbard	106	8	98
Roger F. Murray	112	10	102

MERRY GATHERING.

Mr. and Mrs. David Bush Celebrated Silver Wedding Anniversary.

It was a merry gathering of friends and relatives that assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Bush on West Second street, Saturday night, to assist them in celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. About thirty couples were present and the time was passed pleasantly in singing and dancing, music for which was furnished by O'Reilly's orchestra.

The serving of refreshments ended the festivities. A large number of presents were received by Mr. and Mrs. Bush, which will serve as mementoes of the occasion.

Guests were present from Elizabeth, Bound Brook, Millstone, Middlebush and this city.

A NORTH BRANCH WEDDING.

Miss Minnie Codington Becomes the Wife of E. S. Woods.

A very pretty wedding having for its bride Miss Minnie Codington, a niece of W. R. Codington, of this city, and bridegroom, Elias S. Woods, of Bedminster, took place at the former's home at North Branch Thursday evening. The bridemaid was Miss Nellie Vanderveer, of Somerville, and the best man, Chauncey F. Colthar, of this city. Rev. P. S. Doolittle, of the North Branch Reformed church, officiated. Immediately after the ceremony the young couple left for Philadelphia, where after a two weeks' stay they will return and take up their residence at Bedminster. About 100 guests from this city and other places witnessed the ceremony.

Two Dogs Killed.

Patrolman Saunder's pistol put an end to the lives of two dogs in the West End Saturday. One of them showed signs of madness, and on being pursued took refuge in a cellar on Plainfield avenue. The patrolman discovered its whereabouts and the canine was soon dispatched. The second dog was run over by a wagon and it was killed to end its sufferings.

Selling Cider on Sunday.

Nicholas Martone, who conducts a fruit and candy store on Somerset street bridge, just inside of the borough line, was detected last evening by Chief Campbell keeping a disorderly place and selling cider. He was told to appear before the Mayor this morning, but word was sent by his father that he was ill. He will probably appear this evening.

DEMOCRATS WILL ELECT DELEGATES.

Primaries to Be Held in the Various Wards of This City Wednesday Night.

CONVENTION ON THURSDAY.

SPEAKER FOR DEMOCRATIC MASS MEETING FRIDAY.

Wendal C. Warner, of New York, to Be Heard for the Democrats—Democrats Nominate in Hunterdon County—Other Notes.

The Democratic primaries in the various wards of Plainfield for the election of delegates to the county convention in Elizabeth Thursday will be held Wednesday evening. Plainfield will be entitled to 18 delegates. The total number in the convention will be 141. According to wards the apportionment in this city will be as follows: First ward, 4; Second ward, 3; Third ward, 3; Fourth ward, 8. The primaries will be held in the following places: First ward, vacant store on East Front street, next to Powlison & Jones; Second ward, Bryant School building; Third ward, High School building; Fourth ward, T. A. B. Hall.

The Board of Registry in the Second ward has been notified to set at 315 Watchung avenue. There is no building at that number. When City Clerk MacMurray selected this place, Charles Hand expected to erect the necessary building, but he has not done so. Mr. Hand wants them to set in 317—his office—but whether this will be done remains to be seen.

William K. Devereux, secretary of the Democratic State Committee, sent word this morning that Wendel C. Warner, of New York, had been engaged to address the meeting in Washington Hall on West Second street next Friday evening. Mr. Warner is said to be a first-class speaker. Col. Meyer Zulick is also expected, together with E. A. S. Mann, candidate for Congress in the Eighth district.

Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic candidate for Vice President, will enter New Jersey by the back door today. He will be met at Wilmington, Del., by Senator Johnston Cornish, of Warren; ex-Judge Howard Carron, of Camden; Samuel Iredell, of Cumberland, and ex-Senator William J. Keys, of Somerset, who will represent the State committee. Mr. Stevenson will speak at Salem and Bridgeton in the afternoon and at Camden in the evening. Tomorrow Mr. Cornish and Mr. Keys will probably take him to New York, although they have been urged to hold him in Jersey City, subject to release, as it has been learned that he will have more than one day to devote to New Jersey.

The Democrats of Hunterdon county Saturday nominated William G. Gebhardt, of Clinton, for Senator; Andrew J. Dilts for County Clerk, and Oliver I. Blackwell and Warren O. Loudenberger for the Assembly. The Republicans will hold their nominating convention tomorrow.

The first meeting of the North Plainfield Democratic Club since its formation will be held in the Eggerding building on Somerset street this evening, at which it is urged that every member turn out. Important business will be transacted. President Swackhamer will preside.

The Elizabeth Democrats succeeded in erecting the pole for a Bryan banner in front of Grocer Febry's store in spite of that gentlemen's opposition. Depending on Mayor Mack's order that the pole should not be erected, Mr. Febry relaxed his vigilance and took his wagon away from over the hole that had been dug for the pole. Then the workmen went ahead and erected the pole. Febry, who is a Democrat, nevertheless threatens to cut down the pole.

A meeting will be held in John Hensey's store, 1211 North avenue, Netherwood, Wednesday evening for the purpose of organizing a Bryan and Stevenson Club. Mr Heneey has been a Republican until this year, and now he is working hard for the election of the Democratic condidates. James E. Martine will probably attend the meeting and after the Club is organized will deliver a speech to the members.

About 250 Democrats gathered Saturday evening at headquarters on Somerset street and enjoyed a smoker and clam chowder as arranged and prepared by the committee. Mr. Hillpot, of Bound Brook, candidate for the Assembly, was present and met the Democrats. No attempt was made to have speeches, but a genuine social time was had and the political situation, both locally and otherwise, was

TO AID MISSION WORK

TRINITY SUNDAY SCHOOL PLEDGES ITSELF TO RAISE $60 OR $70.

Money to be Used for a Building to be Erected Near Fort Sill in Oklahoma.

Yesterday was truly missionary day at Trinity Reformed church. At the morning service Rev. L. R. Scudder, M. D, in charge of the hospital work at Ranipettai, India, was present and gave a very interesting discourse based on the text, Matt. 25-40. "Inasmuch as Ye Have Done It Unto the Least of These, My Brethren, Ye Have Done It Unto Me." Dr. Scudder spoke of India's great need of the knowledge of a true and holy God, and of the very low moral standard that exists; that those who are called holy men and are worshipped as such, are men who are living sinful lives. Dr. Scudder contrasted the utter despair of the Hindoo woman who gives up her child to the grave, its soul to pass to eternity through an endless transmigration, to that of the Christian, who gives up her child to God, with the faith that she can go to it.

That much remains to be done in face of the fact that the missionaries have been called upon to cut their work 40 per cent. was referred to by Dr. Scudder, and that large gifts this coming year would greatly rejoice the hearts of these servants of God.

At the Sunday-school service, Mr. Meengs, who is a student at Rutgers Theological Seminary, and who was one of the four young men who under the Student Volunteer movement spent their vacations in Oklahoma endeavoring to bring the light of the Gospel to the aborignies of this continent, spoke particularly of the mission station at Fort Sill, and kept the attention of the school throughout his talk, with many interesting anecdotes. There is a great need for another building at this station to cost between $600 and $700, and the Sunday-school pledged to give a tenth of this amount.

Mrs. E. B. Horton continued in the line of thought presented by Mr. Meengs, telling of several wonderful converts that have gladdened the hearts of the workers, that sometimes the child would bring the parents to a knowledge of their needs of a Saviour, and so they would begin to walk "in the Jesus road" together.

SMALL CRASH ON CENTRAL.

Rear End of Train Run Into Cars That Were Being Drilled.

The heavy grade on the Central Railroad near Richmond street was responsible for a small wreck which occurred at that place about 10 o'clock yesterday morning, blocking two tracks for three hours. A west bound freight engine was drilling cars out of a siding at the freight house when the rear half of the train, which had been left near Berckman street, started to move. Unknown to the trainmen it gathered considerable momentum and crashed into the cars that were being drilled out. One car was thrown off its trucks on to the west bound passenger track and two others were somewhat damaged. The wrecking crew was called, but it was 1 o'clock before the tracks were cleared.

City Hotel Changes Hands.

There has been a change in the management of the City Hotel. Proprietor Knapp has disposed of the business to James J. Walshe, of Newburg-on-the-Hudson, who has had a wide experience in the business. He comes to Plainfield highly recommended and no doubt will conduct a first-class hotel. Mr. Knapp makes the change so that he can give his entire attention to the Preston Hotel, New York, which is owned by him. Mr. Knapp will remain in the city for a time until Mr. Walshe becomes fully settled.

No Reduction of Hours.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—In your issue of Saturday an item appears about the change of our nooning hour, which might be construed as a reduction of the hours of labor during the week, which is not a fact. The men in our employ make the year round the full fifty-five hours a week, but during the late autumn, winter and early spring we curtail the nooning enough each day so that on Friday nights we can close our shops before sunset. Yours truly,

PLAINFIELD HIGH WON.

EASY VICTORY ON GRIDIRON FOR CITY SCHOOL BOYS.

Defeated North Plainfield High School by a Score of 21 to 5.

With superior weight and team play, the Plainfield High School football eleven had no difficulty in defeating the team from the North Plainfield High School on Martine Common Saturday afternoon by a score of 21 to 5. The two elevens had already met once before this season and on that occasion the City High School was victorious by a smaller score than was rolled up Saturday afternoon. The game was started at 2 o'clock. Several hundred people watched it from the side lines.

Improvement was noticeable in the playing of the Plainfield team. Most of their gains were made through the line. The borough line was weak and could not stand against the heavy line plays. The North Plainfield team finally scored on a trick but was forced on the defensive most of the time.

North Plainfield kicked off and Plainfield carried the ball back toward the other goal. Ughetta made the longest run of the day, thirty yards, on a quarter back trick. Plainfield lost the ball on a fumble on North Plainfield' five yard line but recovered it on downs and Townsend Mason plunged through centre for a touchdown. Dealaman failed goal.

Again the city school team carried the ball down the field, tearing big holes in the borough line. Fred Mason made the touchdown on a centre play. VanAuken missed the goal.

The kickoff was to Plainfield's twenty yard line. Plainfield lost ten yards for offside play and then the ball on downs. On a fake centre play Farlee carried the ball ten yards for a touchdown for North Plainfield. Hamilton missed the goal.

In the second half North Plainfield was on the defensive all the time and the city team carried the ball down the field twice for touchdowns, Davis making both through centre. VanAuken kicked one of the goals.

The teams lined up as follows:

PLAINFIELD HIGH.		N. P. HIGH.
VanAuken	right end	Howard
Meeker	right tackle	Bird
Pond	right guard	B. Schuck
Cubberley	centre	G. Schuck
Dealaman	left end	Emmons
Ughetta	quarter back	Farlee
F. Mason	right half back	Raymond
T. Mason	left half back	Hamilton
Davis	full back	Giddis

Score—Plainfield High School, 21; North Plainfield High School, 5. Touchdowns—F. Mason, T. Mason, Davis (2), Farlee. Goals on touchdowns — VanAuken. Referee — Roger Erickson. Umpire — T. U. Smith. Timekeepers—A. B. Meredith and G. C. M. Smith. Time of halves—Fifteen minutes.

Glenney, 2-6, 6-2, 6-3; H. Talmadge and Hartley Mellick drew byes.

Semi-final round, Bulkley defeated Beers, 6-2, 6-4; Mellick defeated Talmadge by default.

The ladies' singles resulted as follows: First round, Miss Whiton defeated Miss Strong, 6-1, 6-1; Miss Helen Martin Martin defeated Miss Goddard, 5-7, 6-3, 6-2; Miss Schuyler and Miss Loizeaux drew byes.

Finals in the men's singles and the semi-finals and finals of the ladies' singles will be played some day this week. The winners of the two matches will then meet to determine the holder for this year of the championship cup, offered to the club by Mrs. Ryder.

The University Center will meet at the Stillman School assembly room at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening A teacher for the remainder of the year must be chosen, and the attendance will determine whether the work of the Center will be continued through the rest of the year. A. H. Lewis, pres't.

Train Abandoned.

Train 32 on the Central, which leaves Plainfield at 6:59, failed to arrive this morning owing to an accident which occurred at the Greenbrook tanks. The flange on one of the driving wheels of the engine broke off in some manner and the train had to be abandoned.

—There will be a public hearing this evening in the Borough Council rooms regarding the proposed widening of Somerset street.

BOERS STILL ACTIVE.

British Columns Continually Harassed Near Kroonstadt.

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 15.—The Boers are very active in the Kroonstadt district. General De Wet has proclaimed that burghers who refuse to fight will be made prisoners of war. British mounted infantry, scouting from Lindley, had Captain Wiltshire killed through mistaking a party of 40 Boers in khaki for friends. Boer commandoes continually harassed the British column while marching from Lindley to Kroonstadt. The Boers captured a detachment of the Cheshire regiment which was escorting an empty wagon near Frankfort. They released the driver, but kept the wagon.

Roberts Reports Slight Success.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The war office has received the following from Lord Roberts, dated Pretoria, Oct. 13: "A satisfactory little affair occurred near Frankfort Thursday. Colonel Grove, with the West Kents, surprised a Boer laager at dawn, killed seven, wounded nine and captured 18."

Wrecked by Landslide.

HIGHLAND FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 15.—An extra freight train on the West Shore railroad, south bound and drawn by two mogul engines, ran into a landslide two miles north of the West Point tunnel early yesterday morning. The two engines and 13 cars were thrown from the track and piled up in a mass. The cars were loaded with grain and general merchandise. Fireman Hannay of the front engine lay crushed between the engine and tender for over an hour and a half and was badly scalded by escaping steam. He was taken to St. Luke's hospital in Newburg, where he had to have a leg amputated. His family reside at Ravenna. Engineers Ward and Keating, both of Union Hill, N. J., jumped and escaped with slight injuries. Fireman Higgins, also of Union Hill, was taken out of the wreck only slightly injured.

Storer's Impressions of the Pope.

GENEVA, Oct. 15.—Mr. Bellamy Storer, United States minister to Spain, in the course of a conversation here regarding his recent interview with the pope said: "Leo appeared to be in much better health than when I saw him two years ago. He is full of life and has lost none of the interest he has had from the first in matters relating to the church of Rome. Since Archbishop Ireland's visit to the Vatican it is clearly understood there that the best interests of the Roman Catholic church demand American rule in the Philippines. The United States and the Catholic church have the same aims there and hope to work together for civilization, order and peace." Mr. Storer asserted that the Filipinos had made three attempts to open negotiations with the Vatican, all of which were refused.

Heavy Weather on the Atlantic.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Incoming transatlantic steamers all report very heavy weather and high seas on the Atlantic. The Hamburg-American liner Cap Frio had heavy gales with high seas from Oct. 3 to 7. From that time until the 11th the wind moderated but little. On the 12th it increased and blew with hurricane force, and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon a tremendous sea broke over the bows, smashing the bridge and severely injuring Captain Von Holten. The log of the French liner Lorraine shows that on every day since she left Havre on the 6th, with but one exception (last Thursday), strong winds with heavy seas and swells buffeted the vessel. The Leyland liner Georgian and the White Star liner Nomadic, both from Liverpool, report heavy seas and strong winds throughout the passage.

Mr. Bryan's Sunday.

AKRON, O., Oct. 15.—W. J. Bryan, the Democratic presidential candidate, spent the day very quietly. He was the guest of Judge Grant, and aside from going out to church in the forenoon he remained indoors all day. He attended the West Congregational church and heard a sermon preached by Rev. J. L. Davis, but there were no political references in the sermon, and Mr. Bryan was allowed to come and go as any other visitor would have been. Today Mr. Bryan will continue his Ohio tour and will close it with a night meeting at Cleveland, after which he will proceed to New York.

Girl Burned to Death.

GENEVA, N. Y., Oct. 15.—Margaret Sullivan, aged 22 years, was burned to death at an early hour yesterday morning. Her brother, Cornelius Sullivan, was badly burned about the head and face. The latter was awakened by the sound of an explosion on the lower floor. He awoke his sister, and they rushed down stairs. Cornelius broke a window and climbed out, but when he went to help his sister she could not be found. A few of her bones were found in the ruins. The house was burned to the ground. It was about three miles northwest of Geneva.

Large Cargo of Cotton.

GALVESTON, Oct. 15.—The largest cargo that ever went out of Galveston and believed to be larger than any previous cargo from the gulf is that of the British steamer Irada, which has just cleared. She has on board in round and square bales of cotton the equivalent of 26,400 square bales. She also carries 24,000 bushels of wheat and 2,000 barrels of flour. The cargo is valued at $1,381,312.

Grand Forks College Dedicated.

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Oct. 15.—Grand Forks college was dedicated yesterday in the presence of a large concourse of people. The college is controlled by the Norwegian Lutheran synod and will be the leading Scandinavian institution in the west. Preparations will be made for the accommodation of 500 students. Many leading educators were present at the dedicatory exercises.

Galveston Relief Fund.

GALVESTON, Oct. 15.—Hogan Sealy, treasurer of the Galveston relief fund, acknowledges receipt of contributions from Oct. 1 to 12, inclusive, amounting to $198,552. This includes $125,000 received through Governor Sayers and $21,621 received through Mayor Jones. The amount previously acknowledged was $781,043, making the total to date $979,595.

Steel Mills Shut Down.

LORAIN, O., Oct. 15.—The Lorain plant of the Federal Steel company was closed Saturday, throwing 3,000 men out of employment. It is said the shut down will be for only two weeks, but as orders are light the men believe the mills will be idle until after election.

CUBA'S PROGRESSION

Governor Wood Plans to Regulate Freight Rates.

AMERICAN CURRENCY PROPOSED.

Constitutional Convention to Be Public—University Professors Pensioned—Paymaster Dodge Down With Yellow Fever.

HAVANA, Oct. 15.—Governor General Wood is considering the advisability of appointing a railroad commission to fix rates and regulate construction. This is due to numerous complaints of excessive freight charges, instances being reliably reported where the rates for less than 100 miles are higher than those from New York to Havana with the duty added.

Senor Cancio, secretary of finance, urges the introduction of American currency into Cuba and the doing away altogether with Spanish coin. He argues that the fact of there being four different kinds of currency, all having different rates of exchange and none regulated by law, serves to complicate the financial situation and greatly interferes with commercial interests. He recommends a special commission to deal with the question.

The forthcoming constitutional convention will assemble in the Martes theater. This will help to insure the publicity of the proceedings.

Eight former professors of the University of Havana have been granted pensions of $1,200 per annum each during the term of the military occupation.

Mrs. Estes G. Rathbone, who has returned to Havana, says she is confident of her husband's ultimate acquittal and vindication.

It is generally admitted that yellow fever will increase in Havana when the streets are opened for the installation of the sewers, a work which will probably require three years.

Major Francis S. Dodge, paymaster of the division of Cuba, is down with the fever.

In consequence of the recent disturbances in Matanzas city between the police and the United States troops and of the bitter feeling which has followed the Second United States cavalry has been ordered on practice marches for ten days. The troops will not be allowed to enter the city, and the provost guard will be restricted to Hamilton barracks and Santa Cristana.

Roosevelt In Kentucky.

SPRING STATION, Ky., Oct. 15.—Here all day Sunday, 18 miles from Lexington, Governor Roosevelt's special train rested on a Louisville and Nashville sidetrack. The candidate for vice president, accompanied by Leslie Combs, chairman of the Republican state central committee; Mrs. Combs, Major Hersey of Rough Rider fame and Colonel Curtis Guild, Jr., spent the day at the residence of A. J. Alexander, situated in the center of a farm comprising 3,300 acres. Before leaving Louisville word was given out that the train would proceed at once to Lexington, but a secret order directed that it stop over Sunday in the country to enable the governor to recover from the fatigue caused by his unusually hard work of the last few days. The rest brought about the desired physical brightening. The governor's voice has almost entirely lost its huskiness, and he says he feels as well as on the first day of the campaign.

Fatal Accident to Farmer and Hand.

FORT PLAIN, N. Y., Oct. 15.—As James G. De Wandelaer and his hired man, James Cook, were hauling cornstalks from the field to the barn the team of horses became frightened at a portion of the load sliding upon them and ran away, with fatal results. The horses dashed directly toward the barn, and before De Wandelaer and Cook could leap from the load the entrance was reached. The men, both greatly excited and standing erect, crashed against the upper portion of the entrance with terrific force, and of course both were hurled from the load. Cook was killed instantly, his neck being broken, and De Wandelaer was seriously injured, probably fatally, a number of his ribs being fractured, an arm broken and internal injuries received, the extent of which cannot at present be ascertained.

Stores Closed by Indians.

ARDMORE, I. T., Oct. 15.—A dozen leading merchants of Ardmore were arrested and their places of business closed by Captain Ellis and a squad of Indian police for refusal to pay the Indian tribal tax. They submitted peaceably, but United States Judge Townsend was immediately applied to and issued injunctions against the Indian police, with the result that the stores were reopened promptly. The case will be taken to the United States court. The merchants consider this tax unjust, inasmuch as they are now paying revenue to the city, and they profess to believe that it is a dead letter.

Suicide of Van Steenburgh.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 15.—Becoming despondent because his crops failed, Abram Van Steenburgh disappeared two weeks ago, leaving his money and valuables in his house. While investigating an abandoned quarry at Wilbur yesterday two boys discovered his body, which fell apart when touched. Van Steenburgh was a brother of "Boots" Van Steenburgh, the famous "hermit lover" of Jenny Lind.

A Probable Murder.

ALBANY, Oct. 15.—The remains of Daniel Rice, a peddler, were found in the river here. Only 93 cents in cash was found in his pockets. Rice always carried a considerable sum of money on his person. He disappeared last Tuesday. The theory of robbery and murder is advanced by his son-in-law, Robert J. Coleman.

Rescued From Filipinos.

MANILA, Oct. 15.—Captain Pereaux Shields and 50 American soldiers belonging to the Twenty-ninth infantry, who were recently captured by Filipinos on the island of Marinduque, have been rescued by the force sent out for that purpose.

A Plague Stricken Ship.

MONTEVIDEO, Oct. 15.—The British steamer Highland Prince, from Antwerp Aug. 30, London Sept. 7 and Bahia Oct. 4, has arrived here with bubonic plague aboard. Five deaths, including the captain and first officer, occurred during the voyage.

CHINA IS DISTRACTED

Russians Control Manchuria East of the River Lao.

FOUR REBELLIONS NOW REPORTED.

Movements Said to Be Antidynastic Instead of Antiforeign—Seized Documents Prove Government Supported Boxer Uprising.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—"It is asserted," says the Shanghai correspondent of The Times, wiring yesterday, "that the Russians have seized the Newchwang railway at the terminus of the Shan-hai-kwan line. This is the first step the Russians have taken on the right bank of the Amur. The Russian southern and northern armies have joined hands at Tehling, north of Mukden, thereby placing all of Manchuria east of the river Liao and a portion west of the stream in the hands of Russia."

The Shanghai correspondent of The Morning Post, wiring Saturday, describes four distinct agitations—in Kwang-tung, Kwang-si, Sze-chuan and the Yang-tse region—all of which are antidynastic rather than antiforeign. "If Sun Yat Sen is successful in the south," says the correspondent, "and his rebellion spreads over the Yang-tse region, he will probably be aided by Prince Tuan, Tung Fu Hsiang and the Mohammedan leaders in the northwest."

The Standard publishes mail advices from Tien-tsin giving a list of 54 documents that were seized in the yamen of the viceroy after the capture of the city and fell into the hands of the correspondents before the military authorities had seized the yamen. These include receipts for money paid to Boxer generals for supplies to their troops of every kind, reports of actions and lists of casualties and rewards paid to generals and the families of the killed, all clearly proving that the authorities maintained the Boxer movement by lavish expenditure.

The Chinese imperial troops, according to a dispatch to The Daily Chronicle from Hongkong, dated yesterday, have recaptured Wei-chou, on East river, where Sun Yat Sen, the reformer, had raised his flag, and have scattered the rebels.

Dr. Morrison in today's Times concludes his dramatic description of the siege of Peking. He expresses the deep obligation of all those confined in the British legation to the "splendid services of Rev. Frederick D. Gamewell, head of the Methodist mission board, to whom was due the designing and construction of all our defenses and who carried out in the most admirable manner Sir Claude Macdonald's ideas and suggestions."

He also refers to the "valuable services" rendered by Mr. Squiers, secretary of the United States legation.

The Times, commenting editorially upon Dr. Morrison's narrative, says:

"The whole story justifies in the fullest manner Emperor William's attitude toward the authors of the atrocities. It proves beyond a reasonable doubt the responsibility of the high officials and the tsung-li-yamen."

A special dispatch from Peking, dated Oct. 12, says:

"At the American legation Li Hung Chang expressed regret for the recent occurrences and thanked the Americans for their good treatment of the Chinese. He promised to request that negotiations be begun at the tsung-li-yamen two days hence and to exclude Yung Lu from them."

CHINESE COURT DELAYED.

Kwang-si Rebels Said to Have Defeated Imperial Troops.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 15.—The progress of the Chinese court toward Sian-fu, the new capital, has been delayed in consequence of the presence of supposed Mohammedan rebels in the province of Shensi.

From Canton it is reported that the Kwang-si rebels have defeated the imperial troops on the borders of Kwang-tung and that General Su has resigned in consequence of his request for re-enforcements being ignored.

Some Chinese soldiers desecrated the cemetery for foreigners at Nam-shih-tu, near Canton, and the viceroy had the offenders decapitated and dismissed their commander.

The Fourth brigade from India has arrived at Taku, but owing to the gale has not yet been able to land.

Sir Ernest M. Satow, who succeeds Sir Claude M. Macdonald as British minister to China, has arrived at Tien-tsin.

Pao-ting-fu Expedition Starts.

TIEN-TSIN, Oct. 15.—The expedition against Pao-ting-fu departed Friday morning in two columns. The German, French and Italian troops who are to take part under command of General Bailloud, head of the French military forces in China, will follow the direct route to Pao-ting-fu, while 2,000 British soldiers under Lord Campbell will make a detour to the south of the Pao-ting-fu river through a number of large villages supposed to be Boxer communities. Both columns will keep in touch with the boat and train which accompanied them. A junk armed with a naval 12 pounder and two Maxims is with the Peking column. The expedition will make a demonstration through a wide territory not heretofore covered by the allies. While no opposition is expected at Pao-ting-fu the commanders believe that hostilities are possible in the intervening country.

Minister Conger's First Letter.

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Oct. 15.—Dr. E. L. Conger of Pasadena, Cal., arrived here yesterday and found a letter waiting for him from Minister Conger, dated Peking, Aug. 24. The letter in part reads: "This is the first personal letter that I have written since our providential deliverance. We have had a serious siege, and some time I will tell you tales that will make your hair stand. The facts have made mine stand. We are safe and well. Laura not strong, but much better than when the trouble began. Horse meat and rice was the diet she needed. The relief arrived the 14th. I have been overwhelmed with work since. Yesterday I received most touching congratulations from President McKinley and Governor Shaw. It was the first word received by any of us since the relief arrived."

The Pao-ting-fu Expedition.

ROME, Oct. 15.—According to a dispatch from Taku to the Tribuna, the expedition to Pao-ting-fu aims to assure, in addition to the chastisement of the Boxer chiefs, the exploitation of the railways. It is expected to last about 40 days. The Italian cruiser Vesuvio, the dispatch says, has left Taku for Shanghai, "where the powers are concentrating numerous warships in view of possible trouble."

Electrical Experiments.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 15.—A remarkable series of experiments was conducted here by Henry Floy of New York, who successfully accomplished the feat of carrying 30,200 volts of electricity through an underground cable three miles long. The highest voltage heretofore obtained with this class of conductor was 20,000 volts, which was secured at Niagara Falls, and electrical engineers have long been experimenting with a view to attaining a maximum of 25,000 volts. The cable consists of three copper conductors, each about the size of an ordinary lead pencil, each being inclosed in a paper tube and the whole incased in a lead sheet and drawn through vitrified clay conduits. The cable is a part of the system by which the Gas Light and Power company will utilize the water power at Apple River, Wis., the other 24 miles of wire being overhead. As a result of this experiment they will carry an average voltage of 25,000 volts, furnishing 5,000 horsepower for lighting and power purposes.

Canadian Pacific Crippled.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 15.—Two hundred passengers who left Boston and Montreal on Thursday arrived here by river boat at 10 o'clock last night. In consequence of the washouts which occurred on every branch of the Canadian Pacific in New Brunswick on Thursday the east bound express was caught at Green Point and for three days could not move a mile. The passengers were taken into Fredericton Junction and cared for. Yesterday the 20 mile Fredericton branch had been partially repaired and the passengers were taken into Fredericton, with a transfer at Glasiers, where there is still a 200 foot gap. At Fredericton the passengers were put on a river boat, which made the 82 mile run to St. John in six hours.

Chance For American Machines.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—A letter received at the United States department of agriculture from Penrith college, New South Wales, Australia, calls attention to the great need of improved types of agricultural machines in that colony. The writer states that there are not half a dozen machines for cutting and collecting maize in New South Wales, and a machine for cutting sugar cane would be greatly appreciated by the cane growers in the north of that colony and in Queensland. He suggests that there are great opportunities there for American manufacturers of agricultural machines who are desirous of extending their business beyond the United States.

Baseball Season Closed.

A Miner Shot.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Oct. 15.—Early yesterday morning at Mount Carmel Dominick Scocio, an Italian, was fatally shot by Guiseppe Condro, another Italian residing at Locust Gap. The latter, a striking coal miner, went to Mount Carmel to borrow money from Scocio to enable him to go to the bituminous coal region. The latter refused to furnish him with funds, and a quarrel following Condro drew a revolver and shot Scocio four times in the neck. Condro escaped, but was captured in Mahanoy City. His victim's death is momentarily expected.

Typhoon In China Sea.

TACOMA, Oct. 15.—A typhoon caused great damage last month on the coasts of Formosa and southern China. A number of towns were destroyed. Nineteen hundred houses were washed away or inundated at Taipeh, Formosa, and many lives lost. The Japanese steamers Faichiau Maru and Seiko Maru went ashore at Taipeh and sustained serious damage. The French cruiser Kersaint was blown ashore in Hankow harbor, southern China, and her steering gear destroyed. She was pulled into deep water, and after temporary repairs proceeded to Saigon.

One Victim Recovering.

NEWCASTLE, Pa., Oct. 15.—Oscar Kospi, one of the victims of the terrible accident which happened at the P. and L. E. crossing near Carbon, this county, Saturday night, returned to consciousness yesterday. The dead are: John Korbie, a prosperous farmer; Ellen Korbie, daughter, aged 10 years, and Annie Korbie, daughter, aged 7 years. Kospi had several ribs and cheek bone broken and bruised all over the body. He will live. Kospi claims that the party did not see the train or hear the whistle blow until they were on the track.

Big Registration In New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Politicians in this city devoted much of their time yesterday to a study of the registration figures. The returns show that the registration for the first two days of this year in Manhattan, the Bronx and Brooklyn is over 43,000 in excess of the registration for the first two days of 1896. The registration for the entire city is over 400,000.

Cotton Industry In India.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—An interesting report upon the Indian cotton industry is published this morning by The Times. It shows that the output of the mills in 1899-1900 was nearly 10 per cent above the average for the five years previous. The Times thinks the facts given are "hardly likely to relieve the gloom pervading Lancashire."

Coal and Gas Discovered.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 15.—Coal and gas in paying quantities have been found east of this city at a depth of a little more than 1,000 feet. The gas will be piped to the city at once if the supply holds out, as it promises to do. A vein of coal that may reach two feet in thickness was found.

LABOR STATISTICS.

Wages Higher In This Country Than Ever Before Known.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Hon. Carroll D. Wright, commissioner of labor, has issued a bulletin giving a summary of data in a previous publication on "Trusts and Industrial Combinations," showing the rate of wages in various occupations for a period extending back in most cases from the present year to 1891. The data was secured directly from the pay rolls of establishments in all sections of the country. The information contained pertains to 148 establishments, representing 26 industries and 192 occupations. Those items for which data for the whole period were not given were excluded from consideration in the summary.

All the data included, except those for mining, relate to manufacturing industries, the data relative to steam railroads and street railways having been excluded from the summary. The bulletin says that while the data from which the table of wages was prepared do not afford the basis for a strictly scientific calculation of relative wages a careful examination of the figures leads to the belief that they are fairly representative and undoubtedly approximate very closely the actual conditions for the whole country. The summary shows as follows, the average of wages for 1891 being taken as a basis:

Year.	Relative wages.
1896	97 93
1897	98 96
1899	101 54
1900	103 43

The bulletin concludes as follows:

"It may be stated that during the years in which the course of wages declined the rates of 1891 and 1892 in many instances remained unchanged, and in like manner during the last few years, in which the general course of wages has been upward, the wages in these instances have not of course responded to the general rise. In other instances the per cent of decrease was notably large during the years of depression, while during the last two years of the period the reverse is true, and a much larger increase really took place than that indicated by the table. In other words, wages in some instances show but little fluctuation, while in other instances they are much more sensitive, responding quickly to general conditions of depression or activity. The average condition or general level only is shown in the table, and while, for the reasons stated, the fluctuations during the period have not been so great as popular opinion would indicate the figures for 1899 and 1900 show a gratifying average increase over the conditions of 1891 and 1892, when wages in gold were higher than at any period in the history of the country prior to the present year."

Much Damage by the Storm.

HALIFAX, Oct. 15.—Additional disasters to shipping on this coast are reported. The known list of vessels driven ashore now numbers 30, mostly owned in the provinces and Newfoundland. The loss all over the country and in the neighboring provinces through terrific rainfall and washouts and damage to orchards and buildings by heavy wind will be very many thousands of dollars. The Canadian Pacific wires connecting Cape Breton with the rest of Nova Scotia are completely broken at the straits of Canso, where the cable was fouled by a schooner dragging her anchor in the recent gale. Heavy rain fell again yesterday throughout Nova Scotia. Rivers and lakes are everywhere overflowing and destroying property. There has been no Canadian Pacific train from Montreal for four days.

Found After Many Years.

WATERLOO, Ia., Oct. 15.—William E. Tuthill, mourned as dead since Oct. 28, 1883, is said to have been located at the Soldiers' home in California. Tuthill formerly lived at New Albin, where he became a member of the A. O. U. W. He disappeared at Ottawa, Kan., and several years later his wife, Harriet A. Tuthill of Dubuque, brought suit to recover on a $2,000 policy held in the order. The case was tried twice in the district court, this county, and is now pending in the supreme court. Tuthill was located, it is said, by an application his wife made for a pension, a search of the records revealing that a person of the same name, company and regiment was being paid a pension in the Soldiers' home of California.

Locomotive Works to Remain.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—It is now thought that the Rogers Locomotive works will remain in Paterson, N. J., and not be removed to Birmingham, Ala., as seemed likely a short time ago. A Birmingham iron firm has been negotiating for the machinery, intending to move it south. But prominent New Yorkers have stepped in with the thought of running the works at Paterson, and a firm of Paterson brewers has just announced that if the New York deal does not go through they will buy the plant and run it.

American Jockeys Win.

PARIS, Oct. 15.—At Longchamps yesterday the American jockeys made a good showing. The Prix St. Cyr, 5,000 francs, over a course of 2,500 meters, was won by M. E. Veil-Picard's Quartier Latin, ridden by Willie Simms. Kiss, also owned by M. Veil-Picard and ridden by Patsy Freeman, was second. The Prix du Moulin, 5,000 francs, over a course of 2,400 meters, was won by M. E. Le Maire's Fair Boy, with "Cash" Sloane up.

Four Years For a Bigamist.

BLAIR, Neb., Oct. 15.—Rev. Rowland Hills, an English clergyman, convicted of bigamy in marrying an American while he had a wife living in England, was sentenced to four years.

Cranberry Crop Good.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The cranberry crop in the Riverhead section of Long Island is exceeding all expectation, and some beds are yielding as high as 300 bushels to the acre. The pickers are making big wages daily on account of the immense size of the berries.

Youtsey's Condition Unchanged.

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Oct. 15.—The condition of Henry S. Youtsey is unchanged. The general impression is that the prosecution will make a strong effort to have the trial resumed.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; fresh northwesterly winds.

OPERATORS HOLD OFF

Miners' Proposition For Settlement Not Considered.

CONDITIONS MADE BY STRIKERS.

Convention Decides to Accept the Increase of Wages Provided Operators Will Abolish Sliding Scale and Pay Advance Until April.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 15.—The individual coal operators who could be seen here yesterday declined to discuss the action taken by the anthracite miners' convention Saturday. Neither would they say what steps the employers would probably take.

It is evident from their reticence that the individual mine owners are waiting to see what the large coal carrying railroads that mine coal will do.

The anthracite coal miners now on strike after a two days' convention at Scranton late Saturday afternoon decided to accept the 10 per cent net increase in wages offered by the mine owners provided they will continue the payment of the advance until next April and will abolish the sliding scale. If the operators consider the proposition unacceptable, the miners are willing to arbitrate the questions at issue. They also decided to continue the strike until the operators agree to the convention's proposition.

It is reported in the coal region that the presidents of the railroads will hold a conference in New York for discussion of the action of the convention.

There was a story afloat that the operators will accept the convention's decision, but nothing has come to the surface in this region on which to base the report.

The United Mine Workers' officials say they are now again waiting on the operators, and they will continue to close up the collieries that have been in operation since the strike began four weeks ago. There are many reports in circulation that if the strike continues much longer a break in the ranks of the idle men will occur.

President Mitchell and his associate officials, however, reassert their confidence that the men, both union and non-union, will remain away from the mines until after the strike is declared off.

There is a fear prevalent in this region that if some of the men do return to work trouble would probably arise through efforts of the strikers to persuade the men to remain on strike.

All the collieries that are working still remain heavily guarded.

NO MORE CONCESSIONS.

Operators Generally Oppose Tying to Any Agreement.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 15.—A canvass of the operators of the Wyoming valley shows that there is considerable opposition to granting the miners any more concessions than those outlined in the original offer—namely, 10 per cent increase without any conditions. The individual operators especially are opposed to tying themselves up to any agreement. One operator said the only way the strike can be settled is for the strikers to accept the 10 per cent without any provisions.

Superintendent Chase of the Lehigh Coal company said: "Not much dependence can be placed on the men when it comes to arbitration. This was shown in the case of Mr. Markle. He favored arbitration, but at the behest of Mr. Mitchell his miners repudiated the agreement they had made with their employer. The demand of the strikers that the operators should agree to pay the increased wages for a fixed period is too arbitrary, and the operators will hardly agree to it."

Despite the views of the operators the impression here is that the strike will be ended this week.

Troops Await the Verdict.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Oct. 15.—General Gobin, in charge of the state troops located here since the strike riot of Sept. 21, is anxiously awaiting the verdict of the operators in regard to the terms of settlement agreed upon at the Scranton convention. He is anxious to get away and to send the troops home, but the outbreaks at Oneida and Lattimer last week and the condition of affairs in the Panther Creek region cause him to hesitate. It is probable that there will be no movement of troops until it is known whether the proposed terms of agreement are acceptable to the operators. In an interview last night D. R. James, senior partner of the Cambridge Coal company, said his company had always paid the same wages as the Philadelphia and Reading company and would be guided entirely by the action of that company in the matter of accepting the terms agreed upon by the miners at their Scranton convention.

Bituminous Coal Substituted.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 15. — The Ledger in its coal article today says: "The anthracite coal trade continues without change. Advancing prices are a consequence of the short supply, and as a necessary result of the scarcity bituminous coal is already making serious inroads upon the anthracite consuming field, and, as is usually the case, much of the captured territory will probably be retained after the termination of the strike. This is one of the important matters which are to be confronted as a consequence of the present very high prices for anthracite coal, and it must have an effect upon the future of that industry."

Operators Dislike the Terms.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Oct. 15.—The terms of the Scranton convention are not acceptable to operators and representatives of coal carrying companies in this place and Mount Carmel. The Reading officials do not think the sliding scale will be abolished by the company, while operators are averse to signing a contract binding them to pay the 10 per cent increase until April. No orders have been received as yet from headquarters of any companies instructing superintendents to resume work today. Miners say they will not go to work until officially advised by President Mitchell.

King of Greece In Paris.

PARIS, Oct. 15.—King George of Greece, accompanied by General Reineck, his aid de camp, and Nicholas Thon, intendant of the civil lists, has arrived to visit the exposition. High French officials met him at the railway station, from which he was driven to the Hotel Bristol. No incident of special importance occurred.

Recapitulation of personal tax returns sometimes show a strange condition of things. In Chicago, for instance, diamonds and other jewelry must be very scarce, as also are gold and silverware. The taxing returns show that the diamonds in Chicago are worth only about $88,000 and that the value of gold and silverware is about $38,000. The records of the police show, however, that since the assessments for personal property have been made over $30,000 worth of diamonds have been stolen and during the same period $20,000 worth of plate has fallen into the hands of thieves. Now this proves either one of two things—that the Chicago people are champion tax shirkers or that the Chicago thieves can steal a larger percentage of valuable property of the citizens than the records of any other municipality show.

Kruger's escape to Lorenzo Marques marks the end of formal war between England and the Transvaal. The Boers have made a brave battle for independence, but they have been overcome by superior force. The Boers deserved a better fate and the British will get but little sympathy in their success from the outside world. Whether they shall justify their victory must depend on the use they make of it. They have professed to be fighting for the liberties and equal rights of all the inhabitants of South Africa. The obvious way to prove this now is to extend to the two annexed States the most liberal popular constitution, admitting Boers and Outlanders to all civil rights upon even terms.

Notwithstanding that the interest of voters is almost entirely absorbed in the approaching National election, there are some Plainfielders who are looking over that great event and gazing into the future of the municipal campaign that will follow immediately. This is especially so in the Second ward, where a number of former Councilman Frost's friends are said to be working quietly to bring about his nomination for Councilman again on the Republican ticket. Mr. Frost's friends say that much of the trouble with the sewage beds would be obviated if he was elected to the Council and again put in charge of the system, as he knows the conditions and requirements necessary to their successful operation.

County Clerks in this State who failed to return to the State Treasurer the fees collected for services of Supreme Court Justices after 1890, when a law was passed placing Justices on salaries, will have to make good the amounts retained or their bondsmen will be held for the amounts received by them, says a Trenton correspondent. There is now owing the State something like $40,000 from persons who held the office of Clerk in certain counties. They hold that they should have what they were elected to retain as their remuneration, and they and their bondsmen will put up a fight in the courts to defeat the purposes of the law of 1880.

In his address to the delegates gathered at the Christian Endeavor convention of New Jersey Rev. Arthur Spooner, the president, touched upon politics in this manner: "Be careful when you go to the polls this fall. Don't be blinded to the fact that the Cross of Christ is somewhere in the fight and that your place is beside it. Your ballot (surely you want me to say it, even in the midst of a heated campaign)—your ballot should be energized by the dynamics of Heaven, and when it falls it ought to drop where the recording angel will have no trouble in finding it and in knowing what it represents."

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Recently, while the writer was in Niagara Falls, he noticed tacked up on the door to the entrance of the gallery of the opera house in that city a sign with the following words: "Closed on Account of Disorderly Conduct." The thought was suggested that perhaps such a sign would have a salutary effect upon the demonstrative patrons of the gallery in Music Hall in this city if tried once in awhile.

It would pay the borough to have an expert thoroughly examine and put in first-class condition the fire-alarm system in that place. There is something radically wrong with it, and before good reliable service can be expected something will have to be done. Frequently the system fails to work and especially so at a time when the call is an urgent one, such as last Saturday morning.

* * * * * *

It is about time the Common Council took a hand in the operation of the Arlington avenue trolley. Last Saturday there was at least twenty persons who were obliged to stand in the rain and wait a half hour for a car, there being only one car on the line. This one car is of little use, as one can scarcely find it when they want to. Two cars on that line would increase the patronage, for most any person would rather walk than wait a half hour for a car. The persons referred to above were visitors to the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club house Saturday afternoon, and they depended on the trolley to take them back and forth to town. It just happened that they missed a car by a few minutes and were then obliged to wait nearly thirty more. The car was behind time and proved a source of inconvenience all around.

Goshen, Ill.

Genesee Pure Food Co., Le Roy, N. Y.:

Dear Sirs:—Some days since a package of your GRAIN-O preparation was left at my office. I took it home and gave it a trial, and I have to say I was very much pleased with it, as a substitute for coffee. We have always used the best Java and Mocha in our family, but I am free to say I like the GRAIN-O as well as the best coffee I ever drank.

Respectfully yours,
A. C. JACKSON, M. D.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Oct. 15—While playing on the Plainfield High School football team in their game with the North Plainfield team, Saturday, Archibald Brakeley, of the borough, received a fractured collar-bone. He was assisted to the office of Dr. Hedges, of Plainfield, where the injury was attended to. He is now getting along nicely.

With the ending of Saturday's games the bowling season came to a close on Schepflin's greens, much to the regret of the lovers of the sport. Saturday's attendance was not quite so large as on previous occasions owing to the threatening weather, but all present enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

Everything is now in readiness for the Republican demonstration tonight. It promises to be the feature of the campaign in Dunellen. The speakers are of the best to be had, and there will also be good music and singing. The banner is already up and waiting to be unfurled.

The sermons of Rev. Mr. Hoyt, of Durham, N. Y., who preached in the Presbyterian church yesterday, were greatly enjoyed. Next Sunday Rev. C. E. Ketcham, of Westfield, who has preached here several times, will again occupy the pulpit.

The first regular rehearsal of the choral union will be held this evening at 8 o'clock. Everyone who has any intention of joining should be present, as music will be distributed and work begun in earnest.

The Democratic county convention will be held tomorrow in Turn Hall, New Brunswick, at 12 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Lake entertained Mr. and Mrs. Cumen and daughter, of Nutley, yesterday.

The regular meeting of the building and loan association will be held this evening.

The Banjo Club will be entertained Wednesday evening by Miss Clawson.

Mrs. R. S. Fisher has been spending a few days with relatives at Lebanon.

Joseph Maier spent yesterday with relatives at Cranford.

Mrs. B. Sirisky has returned from a visit to New York.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, Oct. 15.—Rev. A. H. Lewis, of Plainfield, was the preacher in the Seventh-day Baptist church Saturday. It is understood that Rev. L. E. Livermore will come to New Market in a short time.

After negotiating for some time, miller John Otto has decided not to accept the offer for his property made by a New York party and he is still in possession.

Stanley Day, Jr., will attend the Democratic convention at New Brunswick tomorrow as a delegate.

Henry Johnson has returned home after a week's visit with relatives in New York and Brooklyn.

A. B. Summers, of Plainfield, was the guest of friends in town yesterday.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Oct 15—John Donaldson, a well-known character from Jerusalem road, was brought before Judge Clark yesterday afternoon to answer to the charge of beating his wife. Mrs. Donaldson appeared before the Judge yesterday morning and asked for a warrant for the arrest of her husband as she was afraid of him, for he had beaten and abused her on Saturday night. As the woman showed evidence of having been brutally assaulted the Judge issued a warrant which was placed in the hands of Constable Allen. Donaldson was apprehended at his home and brought before His Honor. Two different stories were told by the plaintiff and defendant, but the one thing that could not be denied was the fact that the wife had received the beating alleged in the complaint. Mrs. Donaldson said her better half had gone to Plainfield Saturday evening to make a number of purchases. He arrived home about 11 o'clock and said he found his wife and a boarder, to whom he had objected to in the past, sitting a little too close for boarder and landlady and he objected. His objection seemed to be overruled by both wife and boarder so the trouble started. The Judge did not care about their marital troubles, but told him from the evidence presented he believed him guilty, and, as a warning to other wifebeaters, would give him ten days in the county jail to meditate upon his troubles. Donaldson was locked up in one of the cages over night, and this morning was taken down to serve his sentence by Constable Allen.

Several petty little acts of stealing have been committed in town during the past week. On Friday night two sets of harness were stolen from Emery's Hotel stable. On Saturday night some thieves broke the seal on one of the cars standing at the freight station at Fanwood and attempted to steal two tubs of butter marked for Scheelen Brothers. The thieves became scared after they had secured their booty, for the two tubs were found lying along the railroad on Sunday morning.

The football season in town opened up Saturday afternoon when the local eleven met the team from the Pond Tool Works of Plainfield. While the game proved to be a one sided affair still it gave the local cranks a chance to size up the eleven which will represent the village on the gridiron this season. The Pond eleven proved to be very easy for the home team. The score was 22 to 0.

The local Republican Club is expecting to take a large delegation to the Republican mass meeting in Music Hall this evening. A special trolley car will leave the Park avenue crossing at 7:15 sharp. Anyone desiring to go with the club is invited to board the car and enjoy the trip and meeting with the club.

Rev. G. W. Clark, of the American Baptist Publication Society, occupied the pulpit in the Baptist church Sunday morning and evening. Mr. Clark gave a very interesting discourse upon the work of the six chapel cars which are sent out by the society.

A number of the children from the public school accepted Mrs. Louise Hogan's kind invitation to meet for a social afternoon at her home in Fanwood on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grant, of Plainfield, were the guests Sunday of Mrs. Grant's parent's, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Paff, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Creger and family have removed to Bayonne, where Mr. Creger has secured a position.

Mrs. John Marsh, Jr., is entertaining friends from Brooklyn for a short visit.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, Oct. 15—There was considerable surprise expressed in town yesterday when it was announced that Arthur L. Mullen and Miss Flora A. Woodruff, both of Westfield, had been quietly married by Rev. Henry C. Thompson at the Cranford M. E. parsonage Sunday, September 23d.

The Republicans will hold a mass meeting at the Westfield Club hall tomorrow evening. The speakers will be J. Hampton Hege, of Virginia, and Judge William T. Hoffman, of Freehold.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

Talk about the precise, critical tastes of the theatrical goers of Plainfield—why "Uncle Tom's Cabin" seems to fit the measure to a dot. Stetson's "Uncle Tom" company, with many spectacular features, played in Music Hall Saturday afternoon and evening to very large business. At the matinee there were thirteen hundred persons present, nine hundred of whom were children. In the evening another very large house was also present.

* * * * * *

"A Lucky Coon" is the title of a rollicking musical farce comedy which will be the attraction at Music Hall tomorrow night, and it will be a performance well worth seeing. The members of the company are all colored artists of note and have appeared with great success at Koster and Bials and the Casino, New York, during the past season. The play is the same that brought the famous team of Williams and Walker into prominence and very much resembles "A Trip to Coontown" which was given here some time ago. A special feature of the performance will be the work of Mr. Carl Dante, a necromancer and sleight of hand performer, who was a leading attraction for some months at Koster and Bials, Ben Hunn and Walter Dixon will be the principal fun makers, and in the cast of characters will appear Stella Wiley, who was with Cole and Johnson, and Russell Brandon, the latter one of the cleverest acrobatic singers and dancers that has been seen, and a favorite here. Other members of the company are Sidney Perrin, Leslie Skuder, James Jackson, Blanch Arlington, Midget Price, Lillian Perrin, Marie Locals, Eugenia Wright and Bertha Ellis.

* * * * * *

On Thursday night the patrons of Music Hall will have an opportunity of witnessing the beautiful and ever welcome idyl of the Arkansas Hills, "Human Hearts." All who have sat under the spell of this deeply interesting story of plain and honest people will surely avail themselves of the chance of seeing it again. "Human Hearts," like "Shore Acres" and the "Old Homestead," is produced entirely with its own scenery, and two complete sets, one for large and one for small stages, are carried. The scenic work this season is all new and beautiful, said to be where already seen masterworks of famous artists. It alone represents an investment of several thousand dollars and so excellent throughout as was the great company producing it last season, the management, in some changes made, feel that even that fine company has been improved upon. Good goods and staple articles are always in demand.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, Oct. 15—The railroad company has enclosed and covered the bridge over the track at the coaling station. It is a great help to the men who work there during rough weather.

M. and Mrs. A. B. Roselle, of Jersey City, visited Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Poling, of the Lehigh Valley Hotel, Friday.

Jerry TenEyck and Mr. B. F. Harris and family spent yesterday at Flemington with friends.

Charles Gaffney, of Metuchen, visited friends in town yesterday.

The coal storage will be cleaned out this week.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

The home of P. B. Laire, Duer street, was made bright and happy this morning by the birth of a little boy.

William Jones, the faithful porter at Randolph's pharmacy, has been granted a two weeks' vacation, and this morning left for Baltimore to spend a part of the time.

Capturing Truants.

The Westfield police are acting as truant officers and capturing youngsters who run away from school. In cases where children are out of school with their parents' consent, the parents are interviewed to ascertain if the child has attended school the time required by law. If not the compulsory school law is enforced.

We carry three different grades of butter, each of which has its special merits.

Our Rockdale Print Butter is the best on earth. It has the rich, delicate flavor of the finest cream and for table use cannot be surpassed.

Some of the cheaper grades of butter sold elsewhere are often tasteless. Our lowest priced goods are of excellent flavor.

FASHIONS IN JEWELRY.

Styles In Gems and Their Inexpensive Imitations.

The fashion of abundant jewelry is one which would seem to be possible only to the possessors of immense fortunes, and indeed no other fashion offers so ample an opportunity for the display of great wealth. Yet many women of moderate income follow all the fads in fashionable gems and are as brilliantly adorned as their richer sisters. How does this happen? Simply because Parisians are immensely clever at shams and can contrive to make a great appearance on small capital. Pearls, diamonds, rubies, emeralds, sapphires, all of fine size and color, can be manufactured in France at small cost and for a little while look almost as well as the products of nature. These imitation stones and the ornaments made with them are sent all over the world and are purchased at a moderate price by poor women who desire to follow the extreme of fashion, no matter where it leads. As far as taste is concerned, a distinction may be made on the ground that those imitations which make no attempt to deceive are allowable, while those which pretend to a value which they do not possess are vulgar. A rhinestone hat buckle, for example, does not profess to be diamonds, but a rhinestone ring does.

The illustration shows two new sleeves. The first flares below the elbow, showing three stages of scalloped edges finished with stitching. Below these is a puff of velvet gathered into a band of embroidery and forming a frill at the wrist. The second is of silk tucked lengthwise, the folds being left loose near the bottom to form a puff, which is gathered into a tucked cuff. Over the silk sleeve is another of cloth or grosgrain, scalloped at the top and bottom and embroidered.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

BOLEROS.

They Still Hold Their Own and Corselets Have Returned.

The bolero still prevails and shows no indications of losing its hold on fashionable fancy. The variety is unlimited. Short and long, tight and loose, open and closed, plain and plaited, sleeveless, sleeved and half sleeved, all are seen and are well worn. There is some style to suit every figure and every occasion, so nobody need complain.

Corselet belts have returned after several years' retirement in favor of narrow strap belts. The wide, elastic girdle is again seen, only now instead of being plain, silk elastic its surface is embroidered with jet, steel or gold. There are also plaited and wrinkled corselets of silk or satin, or, better still, of panne, for nice gowns. These wide girdles, by the way, are only becoming to long, tapering waists, as their tendency is to give an effect of shortness and thickness.

The picture illustrates a gown of beige cloth. The plain skirt is laid in three plaits at each side of the tablier. The short bolero, corded with white, is worn over a longer, open bolero of turquoise blue silk corded with white, and the collar, yoke and long cravat are also of turquoise silk. The hat of beige tulle is trimmed with turquoise feathers and a jeweled buckle. The tight sleeves, corded with white, have wrist puffs of turquoise silk.

Harvard In Senator Hoar's Day.

The boys generally boarded in the college commons, where they could board for $2.25 a week on one side and on the other, called "Starvation Commons," for $1.75 a week. In the latter they had meat only every other day. A few of the sons of the wealthier families boarded in private houses, where the rate of board varied from $3 to $3.50 a week. The rooms were furnished very simply, almost always without carpets, though in rare instances the floors would be covered with a cheap carpet, which did not last very well under the wear and tear of boyish occupation. The students generally made their own fires and blacked their own boots and drew water for themselves. But there was a family of negroes named Lewis who performed those services for such boys as desired at a compensation of $5 or $6 a term.—Senator Hoar in Scribner's.

HOME PICTURE FRAMING.

If the Hints Here Given Are Followed Anyone Can Learn to Make "Passe Partouts."

A great amount of pleasure and much profit are combined in practicing at home the art of making the simple picture frames known as "passe partout." It is an art that should recommend itself to one, for it requires no great skill or deftness, and if the hints given here are utilized the result is sure to be artistic.

The materials needed are a piece of glass of the size desired, a sheet of stiff bristol board, another of thick cardboard, a "mat" of the desired size and tint, and a strip of the "passe partout" binding, which may be of the same tint as the "mat" or a shade darker. Some photographer's paste and a couple of small "picture rings" for hanging the picture are also needed.

Place the glass over the sheet of bristol board and cut around the glass with a sharp penknife. Cut the cardboard in the same way. Then mount the picture to be framed upon the bristol board, using the photographer's paste. With the aid of a pencil and ruler there will be no difficulty in mounting the picture exactly in the center of the bristol board card. Then fasten the picture rings in the cardboard and place the cardboard and bristol board together. Place the "mat" over the bristol board card and the glass over the "mat." Now measure the sides and cut four strips of the "passe partout" binding to correspond, taking care to have each strip half an inch longer than the side to which it corresponds. Press each strip firmly over the edge it is to bind, leaving the extra half inch free at one end. Now cut the ends of the strips to correspond with the two figures in the cut below.

The extra half-inch is A. Now spread the under side of the binding strips with the photographer's paste and press the strips firmly around the edges. The dotted line in A shows where B overlaps A after the strips are pasted down. Put a heavy weight on the picture for a couple of hours. It can then be hung.

It is not essential to use a "mat" in framing pictures in this way. If a "mat" is not used great care must be taken that the picture, before it is mounted, is neatly trimmed around the edges, and that the bristol board on which it is to be mounted, is free from spots or dust. If the "mat" is used cardboard may be substituted for the bristol board, as, of course, it will not be in evidence after the picture is framed. The white "mat" is always neat and pretty. Almost all shades of gray give very charming effects. Very dark crimson and a dark, rich shade of green are both in good taste. Experiments with "mats" of any other color are apt to be unsatisfactory. Too pronounced or too brilliant colors soon grow wearisome to the eye.—N. Y. Tribune.

THE CHEERFUL HOME.

It Comes Nearer to Being a Paradise Than Any Other Place in This Vale of Tears.

All the members of a household should exert themselves to fill the home with the sunshine of affection. However diligent, thoughtful and conscientious a woman may be in her endeavors and desires to meet her husband with a face unmarked with the cares and perplexities of the day's duties, the effort is of very little use if the husband comes home with his temper awry, and his metaphorical feathers bristling and ruffled. The most angelic disposition in the world could not long remain proof against discouragement if such appreciation were accorded it day after day.

Men have a much greater responsibility in home-making than they are usually willing to admit. It is much easier to shift such obligations upon the women and children of the family than to undertake what is really an arduous task. It is no easy matter to keep the temper and tongue under such control that neither impatience nor unkind words shall get the better of one's intentions, and mothers of families are often quite at their wits' ends to devise means to get through with some of the trying days without giving up in despair. How disheartening, then, after making every effort to tranquilize herself and the entire household in order that the commonplace platitude may be observed, and that she may "meet her husband with a smile," to have him come in, and for the merest trifle, or perhaps for no real reason at all, set the whole house by the ears with some outburst of temper.

The smile, the kind word, the cheerful rooms, the dainty and relishable dinner, the artistically-spread table, the orderly children with clean faces and carefully arranged apparel, the wife and mother faultlessly dressed and environed with the atmosphere of temporal and spiritual peace, which is far the most important factor in a well-regulated home—these have become so much a matter of course that many men seem to take them for granted, and seldom realize at what cost of time, trouble and discipline they are secured.—N. Y. Weekly.

HIS GREAT SCHEME.

He Would Furnish the Headwork, But He Couldn't Get the Money.

"You don't seem to have any doubt we're going to win this election, do you?" asked the man in the somewhat superannuated suit of black, who had called at the headquarters of one of the great political parties and asked to see the manager, says the Chicago Tribune.

"No, sir," replied the manager. "We expect to win, of course."

"Of course, we're going to win," the caller rejoined enthusiastically, "and I've got a little plan for doing up the other fellows and carrying the election in my ward at the same time—"

"I'm busy this morning. Perhaps some other day—"

"It won't take me two minutes to explain my scheme. It's against the law for anybody to vote at an election if he has a bet on the result, isn't it?"

"O, yes, I suppose it is. Still—"

"Good. It's against the law. Now, I propose that some man—and I am willing to be the man myself—get as many bets as possible out of the other fellows. I can get a whole raft of bets by giving odds of 5 to 1, and when you are certain you are going to win what difference does it make what odds you give? My idea is to make about 100 bets of that kind with men in my precinct. Then, on the day of election, when these chaps step up to vote, I'll be on hand to challenge them. I lose my own vote, of course, but I knock out 100 votes on the other side, and that'll give us the ward by more than 50 majority. I know how the votes run in that part of the city. When I—"

"But what have I got to do with any such scheme as that?" asked the manager.

"Simply this. I can do the headwork of this thing, but I can't furnish the money. It will take $500. That's a small matter, when there's a campaign fund of hundreds of thousands of dollars to draw on. Besides that, it will be easy to rake in a whole lot of good-sized bets on that ward and clean up a gallon of money on the side. You advance me the $500 and I—"

"But I am not going to advance you the $500."

"Do you see any flaw in the scheme, sir?"

"It's simply rot."

"But look at—"

"I haven't any more time to talk to you. Good—"

"It doesn't go?"

"Nary go."

"All I would ask for compensation would be a little commission on—"

"Walker, show this man out."

"You needn't do it, Walker. I can find my way out alone, Walker, thank you. Once more, sir, do I understand that you absolutely refuse to join with me in the plan for beating the enemy, securing the triumph of right, and making a pot of money on the side?"

"You infernal idiot, of course I do."

"Then, sir," responded the man in the superannuated suit of black, stiffening himself, "you will bitterly regret it! I am going to present this idea to the managers of the other political party, and when you find yourself badly left in my ward you'll know who did it! Step aside, Walker, if you please."

Buttoning his threadbare coat about his attenuated form he strode out, leaving behind him a sort of alcoholic odor that lingered for some moments after the sound of his retreating footsteps had died away into silence.

SAVORY BEEF PIE.

When Properly Made It Is a Dish That Might Tempt a Delicate Appetite.

Beat about two pounds of steak with a rolling pin, then cut it into rather thin slices of as nearly the same size as possible; flatten them out with a wet knife and spread each with a layer of the force-meat given below. Then roll the meat up and pack it tightly in a stewpan; cover it with brown stock (use a few drops of caramel if necessary to make it a good color) and let it cook in a moderately hot oven for an hour and a half, says the Washington Star.

Remove the meat carefully and place it in a pie dish; measure the stock and add gelatin to it, which has been previously soaked, in the proportion of half an ounce to half a pint. If sweet gelatin is used rather less than half the quantity would be required. Strain the stock over the meat, and when it is cold cover it with a good light paste, which should be brushed over with a beaten egg and baked in a well-heated oven.

The pie should be kept in a cold place for some time after it is quite cold, so that the stock may set in a firm jelly. For the forcemeat mix six ounces of fine white bread crumbs with two tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley, a dessertspoonful of finely-minced onion, a very little grated lemon peel and two ounces of lean ham or boiled bacon, which has been pounded or passed through a sieve. Season with pepper, salt and a little grated nutmeg and moisten the dry ingredients with sufficient beaten egg to form a fairly soft paste.

To Remove Troublesome Stains.

Coffee and tea stains are removed by pouring boiling water through the stain, then dipping the spot in ammonia water and at once rinsing in cold water. If possible put the fabric in the sun to dry. Stains made by a too hot iron may be made all right by the use of onion juice. Mix with an ounce of Fuller's earth the juice obtained by squeezing a baked onion. Add to this a little shredded Babbitt's soap and a wineglassful of vinegar. Heat the mixture until the soap is dissolved, and when it is quite cold rub it liberally over the scorched place and leave it to dry.—American Queen.

SCHOOL AND CHURCH.

A Chinese rice merchant of Amoy recently gave $1,200 to the Christian mission in that city.

The bishop of Liverpool visited Walton jail recently, the occasion causing remark from the fact that it was the first official visit a bishop had ever made to the prison.

Alfred Emerson, who for the last three years has been a student and teacher in the American school for classical studies in Athens, Greece, is collecting a museum of antiquities for the University of California.

The total receipts of the board of church extension of the Methodist Episcopal church for the year ending November 1, 1899, exceeded the total of the previous year by more than $82,000. It is estimated that the gain of this year over last will equal that amount, making the gain in two years over $160,000.

In beginning his one-hundredth series of lectures at Heidelberg, Prof. Kuno Fischer, referring to his long career as a teacher, declared that i had often given him special pleasure to find among his hearers young men whose fathers had attended his lectures. He also remarked that all his literary works had their source in his lectures.

Sunday schools organized in 1863 by Mme. Altchevsky, of St. Petersburg, are now in operation all over Russia. These schools give book instruction in prescribed courses, to any who wish to make use of the opportunity and who occupy the other days of the week with work which cannot be interrupted. The students are mostly grown men and women, and the books used have been edited specially to suit the needs of those young in study, although perhaps advanced in years.

One of the surprises of the centennial census is the progress of educational facilities in the western states. Kansas, with 27½ per cent. of school children, outranks Massachusetts and New York, but is rivaled by Utah and West Virginia. Oregon, too, ranks very high, while Louisiana can claim only a percentage of 13½. But extremes meet, and far-eastern Japan can challenge Prussia in a comparison of school laws. "Analphabets"—i. e., adults unable to either read or write—are almost unknown in the central islands and numerous only at the extreme north end of the archipelago, where the poodle-faced Ainos develop more hair than brains.

A CAREFUL TRAVELER.

He Had Been Over the Country Enough to Know What Not to Talk About.

As the visitor sat down near the desk the editor glanced him over and was rather pleased with his appearance. He was a man of good size, agreeably apparelled, intelligently countenanced, resonantly voiced and of pleasing personaltiy.

"I have traveled somewhat in the United States," he said when the editor looked up from his work as a signal that he was ready to listen, "and it occurred to me that I might have something I could tell your readers."

"Um—er," hesitated the editor, "travel is one of the things that is written to death. Still, if you have anything to say that has not been said we will be glad to consider it. We are always ready to buy what we think our readers want to read. What did you have to offer especially?"

"Nothing in particular, I believe, but a good deal in general. It is not so much what I have to offer as what I do not have to offer."

"Ah?" and the editor paused on the threshold of an unsatisfied curiosity. "Will you please explain?"

The visitor smiled.

"Certainly," he responded. "For instance, I will offer something about Maine, but not refer to her scarcity of liquor nor her superfluity of spruce gum; I will have something to offer about Boston, but will not refer to her beans and her brains nor the cosmicality of the whereness of her at; I will have something to offer about New York city, but will not refer to her police force as the Irish standing army; I will have something to say about Connecticut, but will not refer to her wooden nutmegs and hams; I will have something to say about New Jersey, but will not refer to it as a foreign land; I will have something to say about Philadelphia, but will not refer to its slowness or the grass in the streets; I will have something to say about Washington, but will not refer to the arduous labors of her statesmen; I will have something to say about Virginia, but will not refer to her crop of mint juleps; I will have something to say about Kentucky, but will not refer to her pretty women, her fine horses and her good whisky; I will have something to say about Delaware, but will not refer to the fact that the frost has killed the peach crop; I will have something to say about Texas, but will not refer to the hanging of a prominent citizen for stealing a horse; I will have something to say about California, but will not refer to the size of her liars; I will have something to say about the Dakotas, but will not refer to them as being the banana belt; I will have something to say about Chicago, but will not refer to the abnormal growth of the feet of her ladies; I will have something to say about St. Louis, but will not refer to her superiority to Chicago; I will have something to say about St. Paul and Minneapolis, but will not refer to the word rivalry; I will have something—"

"Hold on," exclaimed the editor, "you're all right. You just go ahead and write your stuff, and I'll get it in the paper even if I have to throw out the society news and editorial. We pay on publication. Make out your bill."

FOOTBALL GOAL POSTS.

Manley, a Harvard Graduate, Invents a Device That Is Bound to Meet with Favor.

The dangers incurred by football players are of various sorts and many of such a nature that they cannot be obviated. One, however, which has been discussed by rules committees for years will soon be a thing of the past. The goal posts may be removed from the goal line, in which case plunging full-backs and rushing half-backs will no longer be obliged to suffer with broken heads when they gain the last yard required for a touchdown directly in front of their opponents' goal posts. E. Manley, a graduate of Harvard university, has invented a "safety goal post" for football fields.

The invention possesses all the merits of the old uprights, but obviates the head-bumping features by moving the bases of the posts back ten feet from the goal line. The invention is a simple affair, but will free football from one of its most dangerous features. The goal posts will be set back ten feet from the goal line instead of being on it, as heretofore. But at the point where the crossbar formerly was arms will project out over the goal line, supporting the crossbar. By this arrangement the bar will be in its proper place, while the unyielding goal posts will be far enough away so that the carrier of the pigskin need not fear for his head when he hurls himself for a touchdown. Technically the position of the goal posts is not in accord with the intercollegiate rules, but this is a mere matter of words.

NEW GOAL POSTS.
(Device Is Expected to Prevent Injuries to Football Men.)

Walter Camp, of Yale; Bob Wrenn, of Harvard; Alexander Moffat, of Princeton, and John C. Bell, of Pennsylvania, all members of the intercollegiate rules committee, are in favor of adopting the "safety goal post" for all college games.

Coach Woodruff, of Pennsylvania, has already ordered the new posts for use on Franklin field during the coming season. Other coaches are waiting until their athletics boards meet, at which time the new posts will be recommended.

LOUIS G. BOHMRICH.

Leader of Wisconsin's Democracy Has Been City Attorney of Kenosha for Many Years.

Louis G. Bohmrich, democratic nominee for governor of Wisconsin, is to a certain extent the victim of circumstances. He had the honor thrust upon him. His boom was started on the way to and from the democratic national convention in Kansas City, and grew to such an extent as to amaze his closest friends, as well as those who were the initiators of his boom. His personality is his strong point. He has the faculty of adjusting himself to all kinds and descriptions of men, and is always a suave diplomat. German, as his name would denote, his friends will undoubtedly pull strongly from this vote, and they add that much stranger things than his election have been known to happen. Mr. Bohmrich has been city attorney for Kenosha for a term of years, and has a large clientage in his private law practice. He is a forceful and eloquent orator. While of foreign birth, he is distinctly American. He is 45 years of age.

Sensational Church Services.

Rev. William Carlile, rector at St. Mary's-at-Hill, Eastcheap, London, England, is an exemplar of the modern doctrine of practical Christianity. Having found ordinary services incapable of attracting the masses, he has adopted new methods to draw a crowd. He has established an efficient band, which, accompanied by the choir, parades the streets and gathers the people for service. In connection with the religious rites he has introduced a magic lantern, and every Sunday provides at the rectory a comfortable breakfast and tea free to all. It is said that the plan has increased the attendance largely.

The Dirty Little Boy

Is allright when he is washed, but he is not very attractive until then. The vegetables you eat are dirty naturally, but you would not have them served on the table until washed.

Should it not be the same with what you feed your horse? All grain is naturally dirty, but when received by us it is thoroughly screened, blown and beaten, and reaches the customer in perfect condition. No one else in New Jersey can do this because they have not the machinery to do it with. Think of your horse, think of your pocketbook and buy from us.

No further attempt has been made to ascertain the cause of the fire in the Borough Public School. For the present no school will be held, but just as soon as the fire insurance appraisers do their work, repairs will be started. The Muir glacier in Alaska was named after Prof. Muir, of California, who first explored it some 20 years ago. It is about 35 miles long, with a width of 1¾ miles in its front portion to 15 miles further back. It rises from 100 to 250 feet above the surface of the sea, and extends under it at least three times as far.

Couriers Mounted on Wheels.

Although cycles have not been used for the transport of men at the front, in South Africa they have been much employed for dispatch carrying. One rider has written home saying that since the end of November he has covered 6,783 miles by his cyclometer on this duty over bad roads. This gave him an average of about 40 miles a day.

FOWLER'S FRIENDS DINED AND WINED.

Pleasant Social Side to the Political Demonstration of the Republicans.

NOTABLES AT THE TABLE.

JUDGE RUNYON ARRANGED THE PLEASANT TIME.

City and County Officials Were Guests at the Dinner—Impromptu Reception After the Mass Meeting.

Congressman Fowler began his round of the Eighth district last evening by paying a visit to Plainfield. It was his first appearance in this city this campaign and will probably be his last. He was received at the station by a party of the local leaders of the Republican party, dined with a gathering of two score of them and then greeted by an audience of over a thousand when he prepared to talk in behalf of his party. Every effort was made to give him an enthusiastic and hospitable a welcome as possible.

As chairman of the committee on mass meetings, it fell to City Judge William N. Runyon to look after the entertainment of the distinguished guest. Judge Runyon and a few of the personal friends of the Congressman planned to dine with him before the meeting but the affair grew more elaborate until the reality was a dinner with covers laid for fifty and most of the leaders of the Republican party in Plainfield present, besides a score of invited guests.

A party of prominent Republicans were at the station last evening when Congressman Fowler arrived on the 6:04 train. He was immediately escorted to Hotel McVey, on North avenue. After a few minutes to allow all to meet the guest of honor the dinner began. There was a large table set in the private dining room on the second floor with a smaller table alongside. There were pretty floral decorations and an elaborate fruit piece in the centre.

Congressman Fowler sat at the head of the table with former Mayor Charles J. Fisk on one side and former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph on the other. The others present were Assemblyman Chester M. Smith, and Chas. N. Codding, chairman of the county committee, of Westfield; Assemblyman Ellis B. Meeker, former Assemblyman George Squier, former Mayor John R. Rankin, William Ackerman and Charles Ackerman, of Elizabeth; Frederick Coriell, of Bound Brook; Mayor N. B. Smalley and former Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Jr., of North Plainfield; Assemblyman Charles S. Foote, Postmaster Elias H. Bird, City Judge William N. Runyon, City Clerk J. T. MacMurray, City Collector Frank H. Smith, Secretary William Newcorn, of the city committee; former Assemblyman Roger F. Murray, former Assemblyman W. B. Codington, former Sheriff William T. Kirk, Councilman J. F. Buckle, Councilman R. I. Tolles, Councilman Frank Randolph, Andrew McCardell, D. C. Smalley, George J. Tobin, Dr. O. L. Jenkins, Charles B. Morse, Walter Longman, Charles H. Dunham, Frank W. Runyon, James Stewart, Joseph Noonan, Harry B. MacDonald and Charles W. Runyon.

An excellent repast was served and there was plenty of jollity among the guests. Owing to the necessity of being on time for the mass meeting, there was no speech-making.

It was expected that the Fowler Battery, of Rahway, would be on hand to escort the Congressman to the hall but trouble with transportation delayed the Battery until after eight o'clock.

After the mass meeting in Music Hall, there was an impromptu reception to Mr. Fowler. He then accompanied former Mayor Randolph to the latter's home on East Front street where he was entertained for the night. The Fowler Battery paraded the streets after the meeting and gave a salute with its field gun in front of the station.

A Missionary Meeting.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church will hold a missionary meeting next Friday night, at which time Mrs. Henderson, a returned missionary from Burham, will be present and give a talk concerning her work. The consecration meeting will be held a week later.

THE SENATOR CONFIDENT

MR. REED STILL BELIEVES SOMERSET WILL BE REPUBLICAN BY 1,000.

He Says That the Republicans are Hard at Work in all Parts of the Bailiwick.

"Has the situation in Somerset county changed since the campaign opened?" responded Senator Charles A. Reed, chairman of the Republican county committee, when questioned by a Press reporter yesterday as to the political aspect of things in his bailiwick. "Not unless it is that the Republicans have strengthened themselves in all sections of the county. Yes, my opinion of the probable plurality that McKinley and Roosevelt will poll in Somerset has not altered. I believe Somerset will go Republican by 1,000. The first canvass of the county has not yet been fully completed but the returns so far received show gains in every township and borough.

Senator Reed expressed himself as well satisfied with the appearance of things among the Somerset Republicans. The apathy, which had been feared at first had disappeared. The enthusiasm would increase steadily in his opinion, as election day drew near.

As far as the Republicans of Somerset county are concerned the present campaign seems to be a successful one. While there may be some bitterness hidden away in the hearts of the followers of the erstwhile leader, Chancery Clerk L. A. Thomson, it is not evident on the surface, and all the workers of the G. O. P. in the county have apparently acknowledged the leadership of Senator Reed.

North Plainfield, the home of the county leader, has taken the lead in the campaign. The first big mass-meeting to be held in the county took place there several days ago. Already the U. S. Grant Club, of the borough, had held several little meetings and shown much activity.

The next big meeting in Somerset county will be at Somerville tomorrow evening. The chief speakers will be Senator Mahlon Pitney, of Morristown, and Edward Wilson, of Red Bank. Senator Reed and the county candidates will also be present.

Finance is an important question for the county committee to meet, but the contributions to the campaign fund are coming in and the Republicans expect to be able to meet all the legitimate expenses of the campaign without trouble.

PROSPECTIVE TOURS.

Trips to Foreign Lands and in This Country.

A. V. D. Honeyman has prepared his schedule of vacation tours for 1901, and beside the usual Christmas holiday excursion to Washington and Old Point Comfort, he offers an oriental tour starting February 16th, of ninety-five days, to include lectures at Rome, an excursion to the ruins of Olympia, in Greece and Athens; three weeks stay in Egypt, most of which is to be spent upon the Nile; a Palestine trip of three weeks and a visit to Constantinople. This tour is intended to take in more of Egypt and Greece than the preceding excursion.

The midsummer tour is to be to the Midnight Sun, with interior drives through Norway, visits to the capitals of Denmark and Sweden, and a brief coaching tour in England. There is also put on the list for the summer a special coaching trip in England and Scotland.

The next tour announced is to the Pan-American Exposition and Thousand Islands August 30th.

Mr. Honeyman states that circulars fully describing these various tours will be ready next week, at his office, 151 North avenue.

Marriage of Miss Fish.

The Saturday Pictorial Review, supplementary to the New York Commercial Advertiser, has a fine picture of Mrs. Charles W. Deming, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Ferdinand Fish, of New York, well known in Plainfield. Mrs. Deming, who was Miss Pauline Florence Fish, was married October 11 at the Pouch mansion in Brooklyn to Lieutenant Charles W. Deming, of New Haven, Conn. The ceremony was a family affair.

Can't Get Water.

For some season or other the water supply at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club grounds has been very short of late. Last Saturday it was impossible to secure water for use at the clubhouse. The trouble is believed to be due to the fact that there is a disarrangement of the plunger in the well. The pump works all right, but it is impossible to get the water.

GETTING READY FOR COUNTY CAMPAIGN.

Democratic Convention to be Held This Week and Republican Next Week.

PRIMARIES IN THE WARDS.

TOMORROW THE DEMOCRATS WILL ELECT THEIR DELEGATES.

Assemblymen and Coroner will be the Only Candidates to be Named in This County—Prohibition Train.

The Democratic primaries will be held in the various wards of the city tomorrow evening for the purpose of electing delegates to the county convention to be held on Thursday in Elizabeth. The First ward primary will be held in the vacant store at 141 East Front street; the Second ward in Bryant schoolhouse; the Third ward in the High School, and Fourth ward in T. A. B. Hall.

The Democrats of this city will make a big demonstration at their meeting to be held in Music Hall the latter part of this month, but the meetings in Washington Hall in each week are by no means insignificant affairs. The one on Friday evening of this week will be the best of the series so far. Wendal C. Warner, of New York, will be the principal speaker, and Congressional Candidate Mann, of Bayonne, will probably be on hand, as well as the Democratic Assembly candidates that will be nominated on Thursday.

As far as the county ticket in Union county is concerned in this election, it will not be of any overwhelming importance. There are only three Assemblymen and one coroner to be elected. This fact will also tend to reduce interest in the county conventions of the two great political parties. Particularly will this be so in the Republican county convention when the practice of the political parties to give a member of the Assembly, who has served one term without discredit, a chance to go again. At the meeting of the Republican county committee last week, the date was set for the primaries at which delegates will be chosen, and for the county convention. A meeting of the Republican city executive committee will be held tonight simply to ratify the action of the county committee and issue the local call for the primaries. They will be held next Monday evening at the usual places. The Roger Murray system will be used and only the Republicans who were enrolled on the party books will have a chance to vote at the primaries. The basis of representation in the convention, which will be held Thursday afternoon, October 25th, at 3 o'clock, in the Lyceum Theatre, Elizabeth, will be one delegate for every fifty votes cast for the Republican candidate for coroner at the last general election and one delegate for each fraction thereof over twenty-five. Plainfield's representation will be as follows: First ward, 7; Second ward, 7; Third ward, 8; Fourth ward, 8. Fanwood township will have three and Fanwood borough one. Westfield is allotted nine delegates.

A meeting of the Republican city campaign committee will be held this evening in Republican headquarters to arrange for paying the bills for last evening's meeting and to prepare for the next demonstration. It is understood that Plainfield will have the greatest meeting of the campaign the night before election, but the committee may decide to hold another one before that time.

The Prohibition special train will reach New Jersey today and stop at Elizabeth Thursday evening at 7 o'clock, and John G. Woolley, the Presidential candidate, will speak at 7:30, to be followed by the national chairman, Hon. Oliver Stewart, of Illinois, and also Samuel Dickie, editor of the New Voice. The train has been greeted with large gatherings through the south and west.

The U. S. Grant Republican Club, of the borough, has received and accepted an invitation to attend a mass-meeting to be held under the auspices of the Somerville Republican Club at Somerset Hall, Somerville, tomorrow evening, at which time Mahlon Pitney will speak. The club will attend in a body, making the trip by trolley.

Will Talk of Missions.

A very bright and talented woman of New York city, who gave up her social position to do work as a missionary among the Italians of that city, will be present this evening at the Christian Endeavor Society meeting at Warren chapel. She will give an interesting talk concerning her work. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

GOOD WORK FOR A YEAR.

REPORTS MADE BY TRINITY ENDEAVOR OFFICERS.

Fifteenth Anniversary of the Society Observed in a Pleasant Way Last Night.

From the reports given by the officers the record of the Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church for the past year's work will no doubt compare favorably with any other like society in the city. This organization, after a week's postponement, celebrated its fifteenth anniversary last evening. Previous to the regular meeting, reports were given by the secretary H. F. Crawford, and the treasurer, Chauncey F. Colthar, which in many respects showed an improvement over last year.

There has passed into the hands of the treasurer during the year ending October 1st, $184.71 made up as follows:

Proceeds of entertainment, $68.75; regular weekly offerings, $52.60, missionary, $63.36. Leaving out the sum received from the entertainment committee an average contribution of $1.18 was received from each active member, as against $1.15 last year. The society now has a balance of $61.51 in the treasury. It also has a membership of 100 active and eight associate members, which, though not an increase over last year, includes more active workers. The ten standing committees appointed last year have performed their work thoroughly and the condition of the society shows the result of their labors.

The organization itself has also been active in outside work, assisting and making donations to various charities among which may be mentioned the J. Clement French Industrial Home at Newark, the Westfield Fresh Air Camp, the Plainfield King's Daughters Fresh Air Camp, the India Famine Relief fund, Miss Curry's Day Nursery and others. Altogether the year has been a most successful one and the president, to whom the credit is largely due for the good showing, is to be congratulated upon the society's past work and present condition. Following the reports the regular meeting was taken up and was led by E. E. Anthony.

At this point Miss May Sheppard, who was elected delegate to the recent convention held at Jersey City, related her personal experiences and observations in a most interesting way. Mr. Anthony, though not expecting to lead the meeting, was called upon at the last minute, and proved more than equal to the occasion.

With but a few minutes preparation, he, also, related his personal experiences at the convention and gave a most excellent address in keeping with the subject, "Paul, the Missionary." At the close of Mr. Anthony's talk the young people arose and joining hands sang "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds," then raising the hands pronounced the Mizpah benediction.

At its close the members passed a social half hour among themselves, and the fifteenth anniversary was concluded. Early in the evening the following committees for the ensuing year were named by the president, Edgar Felton Sheppard, and confirmed by the society:

Prayer meeting—Miss Mabel Woodruff, Miss Ella Benedict, Mrs. J. C. Pope, Fred Smith, A. K. Willett.

Lookout—Miss Anna Searing, Mrs. C. A. Dickson, Miss Lillian Zeiez, Charles Zimmer, Wm. Trembath.

Sunday-school—George Bolsterle, Miss Helen Bogart, Henry Seader, Anna Fenner, Mrs. E. E. Anthony.

Missionary—Miss Lillian Remsen, Mrs. Bertha Richards, Miss Olive Wikoff, Miss Eva Lance, Miss Lottie Wilson.

Music—Miss Randolph, Miss Dunavan, Miss Jennie Quick, Miss Nettie Kreitling, Miss Lillian Force.

Temperance—William Wyman, H. E. Gayle, W. F. Oliver, H. B. Dennis, Hiram Humes.

Flower—Miss Elizabeth Mobus, Miss Rose, Miss Louisa N. Trimmer, Miss Florence Smalley, Miss Lyda Wyman.

Visiting—Miss Abbie VanCleef, Miss Mary Berkaw, Miss Josephine Kissam, Miss Ella Trimmer, Miss Grace Berg.

Reception—Chauncey F. Colthar, Charles M. Dolliver, Ralph O. Runyon, Julius G. Williams, F. T. Ross.

Social—Miss Sadie Searing, Miss Mabel Wilson, Miss Ella Fenner, Miss Viola Huff, Miss Minnie Wyman, Mrs. William Kirch, Miss May Sheppard.

Old Plainfield Papers.

A. V. D. Honeyman has just presented to the Public Library the first two volumes of the "Plainfield Gazette," published in 1848-9, thus making a most valuable contribution to the local history collection of the library. The volumes will be kept in fire-proof stack, and may be seen upon application.

CONGRESSMAN FOWLER ON CAMPAIGN ISSUES

A Big Audience Gathered at the Republican Rally in Music Hall.

M'KINLEY'S POLICY LAUDED.

ASSEMBLYMAN FOOTE ALSO HEARD BY THE CROWD.

He Said That the Money Question Was the Principal Question—Mr. Fowler Discussed all the Issues.

Over a thousand people assembled in Music Hall last evening to hear what Congressman Charles N. Fowler, who has been re-nominated to Congress by the Republicans of the Eighth District in which Plainfield belongs, had to say on the issues of the present campaign. For over an hour the Congressman talked and the crowd listened, interrupting occasionally to express its satisfaction at some particular remark. He devoted his time chiefly to a defence of the present administration, as attacked by the Democrats, and to the free silver question and imperialism.

According to programme the Republican rally began at 8 o'clock. From the opening of the doors at 7:30 o'clock to the calling to order of the meeting by Councilman J. B. Dumont, chairman of the Republican city campaign committee, LaVere's Band gave a concert. Meanwhile, the people thronged in the hall and, even before the time of meeting, every seat was filled and many were standing.

One hundred and twenty strong, the U. S. Grant Club marched over from the borough and occupied seats on the right of the house. A special trolley car brought the Scotch Plains Republican Club, sixty strong, to the hall. The club was on the left of the house. Seats were reserved for the Fowler Battery of Rahway for a time but, shortly after 8 o'clock they were thrown open to the public and the members of the Battery were seated on the stage when they finally did arrive.

After the meeting was called to order by Mr. Dumont, as chairman of the city campaign committee, the Elizabeth Glee Club of ten members sang "Rally 'Round the Flag." Mr. Dumont then introduced Former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph as chairman. A brief speech by the chairman on the great issues to be decided at the coming election was followed by a few words in praise of the work done for Jersey and the Eighth District in Congress by Mr. Fowler. Mr. Fowler was next introduced by the chairman.

In opening his address, Mr. Fowler declared that he was a Republican but not a partisan. The success of this form of government, he declared, depended on the courage of opinion of the people when important questions came to be answered. Four years ago the citizens of the country showed their courage of opinion and elected McKinley and a "Sound Money" Congress. Another evidence of this courage was needed at the coming election and he believed that it would be shown.

This Government is, he explained, the greatest business concern in the world and every voter is a stockholder. As in any other important business interest, it was a matter for careful study for the stockholders to see that they placed the proper man at the head of it. It must have a management which would result in all the people having work all the time at high wages. Not only must it have some one who could properly manage the great concern, but he must look properly after its relation with the rest of the world, for the United States had, in the last few years, grown from a tenth-rate power to be the greatest in the world.

Experience, he pointed out, had shown that under Republican administration, the management of the Government had been along lines which gave the decided ends while, under Democratic administration, it had been the reverse. While pointing out the unfitness of Bryan for the highest place in the Government, the sound of drums caused a sudden interruption. The Fowler Battery, of Rahway, commanded by Captain Harry Stuart, arrived and, leaving its field gun outside, marched in and occuped seats on the rear of the stage. There were forty-five members of the Battery, beside the drum corps, and all wore the "Rough Rider" uniform, trimmed with the artillery red.

Congressman Fowler continued by quoting from various speeches by Bryan in which predictions had been made as to what would happen should

ONE OBJECTOR ON HAND.

JAMES H. CARSON OPPOSES THE WIDENING OF SOMERSET STREET.

He was the Only Objector and Didn't Want Whole Expense Saddled on the Borough.

J. H. Cooley, B. A. Hegeman, Jr., and W. C. Smith, commissioners appointed to further the proposed work of widening Somerset street, met last evening in the Borough Council rooms with Mayor Smalley, Counsel Reed and Clerk Rowley for the purpose of giving a public hearing to anyone who had any objections to make. Only one person, James H. Carson, of Belmont avenue, appeared, and his objection was that whenever the property-owners on his street wanted improvements they were unable to get them. Now, he said, it is proposed to make an improvement and saddle the whole expense on the borough, when the residents of Belmont avenue get no benefit from the improvement.

The Commissioners met for the first time Saturday 24th and organized by electing Dr. Cooley chairman and B. A. Hegeman, Jr., secretary. They held two or three subsequent meetings and finally adjourned to meet yesterday afternoon to go over Somerset street and make notes that will be embodied in their report to the Council later on.

C. Frank French, doing business at the corner of Somerset street and Somerset place, was seen by the Commissioners and they learned from him that he will neither sign for the widening neither will he object to it. Other property owners were seen but no serious objections were offered by them. After going over the street the Commissioners decided to meet last evening to listen to any objections that might be offered. They were in session from 8 until 8:35 o'clock, and during that time no one except Mr. Carson, appeared. The Commissioners then adjourned to meet at the call of the chair.

INDICTMENT AGAINST DOYLE.

Union County Grand Jury's Finding Regarding Killing of Baldwin.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Oct. 16—The Union County Grand Jury has completed the examination of all the witnesses in the case of Thomas Doyle, now in the Newark City Hospital, who shot and killed at Unionville, near Springfield, Farmer Horace Baldwin, because the latter forbade Doyle paying court to his daughter. An indictment has been found against Doyle, who will be brought to Elizabeth to be arraigned just as soon as he is able to leave the hospital, where he is being treated for a gunshot wound inflicted on him by Farmer Baldwin at the time the latter was shot.

It is the belief that the indictment against Doyle is for murder in the first degree. Doyle is being closely watched night and day by two Elizabeth constables at the hospital.

LAY ACROSS TRACKS.

Trolley Car Passes Over a Man's Legs and Chest.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Oct. 16—A Pole, who was known among brickyard laborers at South River as Patrick McQuade, was killed by a trolley car of the Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company on a causeway at South River Sunday night. The man was under the influence of liquor, and lay down with his body squarely across the tracks and partly hidden by weeds. The road was dark at the point, and the car passed over McQuade's legs and chest. The motorman, James Andrews, had been warned that the man was wandering about the neighborhood, and the car therefore was moving slowly. The Coroner exonerated the motorman.

Lost His Watch in the Fire.

Ray MacDonald, son of Janitor Richard MacDonald, of the Borough Public High School, has lost his watch as a result of the fire in the school last week. He left the timepiece in a vest which he hung up with some other clothes in the basement, while he assisted his father. He went away from the building Friday night before the fire, and forgot his clothes. A close search was made Saturday and since then, but as yet the watch has not been found. Mr. MacDonald has not given up hope and believes that he will yet find the watch.

SCHOOL TO RESUME IN THE BOROUGH.

Board of Education Makes Arrangements for Holding Afternoon Sessions.

SETTLEMENT OF INSURANCE

TERMS OFFERED BY COMPANIES CONSIDERED VERY FAIR.

They Will be Accepted—School Sessions Will be Started Tomorrow—To Increase Insurance on the Personal Property.

An important special meeting of the Borough Board of Education was held last evening to consider several matters concerning the Somerset street school, which was damaged by fire. All the members were present at the meeting except Mr. Waring.

It was stated that the representatives of the various insurance companies which hold policies have investigated the damaged and offered terms of settlement. Dr. Cooley, from the building and grounds committee, reported the particulars of the fire and told what the insurance companies are willing to do. The Board thought the terms offered are very fair, and as they will allow for the immediate restoration of the damaged parts of the building, it was decided to accept the terms.

A year ago the Board purchased eight lengths of hose for as many classrooms in the High School building. At the time this was considered by many to be extravagant, but the excellent work accomplished last week through the use of this hose was full compensation for the cost. The Board last evening decided to add twenty-five feet additional to each length of hose.

A strong resolution was adopted thanking the firemen for the excellent work they accomplished at the recent fire. A copy of this will be sent to fire companies.

It was also directed that school be resumed tomorrow morning in a portion of the building, and the balance of the classes will be resumed Thursday morning. This will be arranged by holding afternoon sessions in classes not used at that time. A force of cleaners was put to work yesterday and will be continued until the building is thoroughly cleaned. The work of repairs will be started at once.

Another important matter decided upon was that of increasing the insurance on personal property in both school buildings $3,500, which increases the insurance on personal property in both buildings from $4,000 to $7,500. It is estimated that in both schools there are books to the value of $5,000.

Superintendent H. J. Wightman has issued a notice today regarding the sessions of school which will be resumed tomorrow in the High School. The 8th, 7th, 6th, 2d, 3 B, 1 B grades and kindergarten classes, 1 A will meet at 12:30 in 1 B room. The 4th grades, 3 A, 5 A and ungraded classes will begin school Thursday, and 5 B will meet at 1 p. m Thursday in 6 A room.

For Benefit of St. Peter's Church.

A fine concert will be given Thursday evening, Oct. 25th, in the Y. M. C. A. Hall for the benefit of St. Peter's Lutheran church, of the borough. Among those who will take part are the following: Mrs. F. M. Ward, contralto; Wm. Holmes, baritone; George Smith, tenor; soloists of the First Baptist church; also Miss Mabelle B. Smith and Miss Grace Teller, contralto and soprano soloists of the First Presbyterian church; Herr Julius Schulz, piano soloist of the University of New York; Frederick VanEps, banjo soloist, together with an orchestra under the direction of Martin Korff.

Entertained Their Friends.

Joseph and Jeanne Muir, of West Fourth street, entertained about twenty of their young friends last evening, in honor of their ninth birthday. Several hours were spent in playing games and singing, and when the children were thoroughly tired out, refreshments were passed. Both celebrants received a number of pretty presents from their playmates, in honor of the occasion.

A Corn Supper.

The Young Women's Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church will hold a corn supper Thursday and Friday evenings of this week in the lecture of the church. The menu will comprise appetizing things made from corn, and those interested can assist the young women in carrying forward to success the missionary work they have planned to accomplish.

AMERICANS AT DEATH'S DOOR.

Major Peterson and Manager Hayes Ill in Havana—Wood Sails.

HAVANA, Oct. 16.—On the recommendation of the secretary of justice, Senor Gener, Governor General Wood has issued an order directing that the habeas corpus act shall not go into force until Dec. 1 next, thus affording the Cuban public an opportunity to become familiar with a principle and a procedure entirely new to them. The act, which is based upon the English common law and goes very fully into details, is difficult of comprehension, the Cubans think, after their long experience of Roman law.

Major Peterson, chief commissary, and Dr. Frank Hayes, general manager of the Havana branch of the North American Trust company, who were taken down with yellow fever last Thursday, are not expected to live.

Governor Wood sailed for the United States today by the Ward liner Yucatan and will return via Tampa Oct. 25.

The Cuban Galveston relief fund now amounts to $1,650, American gold.

The consensus of public opinion is that the sewering and paving contract will be awarded to Michael J. Dady.

Private dispatches just received here confirm the report of the loss of money and jewelry by Mrs. Horatio Rubens, who left Havana last month for Paris, going by way of Madrid. Mrs. Rubens was robbed while on the train between Madrid and Paris. She estimates her loss at more than $20,000. It is believed that the thieves were in complicity with persons here.

Rogers Locomotive Works Sold.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Bernard Katz of Katz Bros., the brewers of Paterson, N. J., announces that the Rogers Locomotive works have been sold by Jacob Rogers to a syndicate of New York capitalists and a number of Paterson's residents. The papers, he says, have been signed in New York. Mr. Katz said he and his brother had been impelled to enter into negotiations with the Rogers because they did not want to see the works closed down. They made arrangements to purchase with the understanding that if any one else wanted the works they would stand aside if the works were to remain here. Mr. Katz says the works will be enlarged and equipped with modern machinery as soon as the new owners take hold.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—Four hundred medical students went to St. Martin's town hall yesterday afternoon to attend the meeting conducted by the Rev. John Alexander Dowie, the Chicago Zionist, who describes himself as "general overseer of the Christian Catholic church." They indulged in catcalls and sarcastic remarks. Mr. Dowie responded vigorously, describing them as "English cowards" and "Hooligans" and finally thundering, "You are incited to this by your teachers, who fear that faith healing will ruin their profession." After a scene lasting several minutes the students retired.

MINERS ARE ANXIOUS

Answer of Operators Eagerly Awaited.

MATTER RESTS WITH COAL MAGNATES

Men Will Not Return to Work Until Ordered to Do So by the Executive Board of United Mine Workers.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 16.—The striking miners of the Wyoming valley are anxiously awaiting to hear what answer the operators will make to the demands of the Scranton convention. There is a hopeful feeling among the men that the concessions asked for will be granted, but nobody feels sure of an early settlement, and there will be no relief from the present anxiety until some definite information is received from the coal magnates in New York.

If the big coal carrying companies fall in line and conclude to accept the counter proposition made by the men, the individual operators will acquiesce, and there will be resumption of operations in a short time. The representatives of the coal companies in this section say they have no news to give out beyond the fact that the 10 per cent increase in wages offered by the companies some time ago still holds good.

One operator said last night: "This offer is still open to the strikers if they wish to accept it. It is safe to say, however, that the operators will make no agreement with the miners. In the first place, the operators have lost faith in the men since they have quite recently broken agreements made with their employers. The operators can have no assurance that in case an agreement was entered into President Mitchell would not come along some day and declare it off."

At strikers' headquarters it was given out that the men would not return to work until they had been notified to do so by the executive board of United Mine Workers. If the companies did not meet the men half way and accept the decision of the strike convention as final, the strike would go on. One of the officers of the United Mine Workers said the strikers were in good shape and could carry on the battle for some time yet without entailing much suffering to the men or their families.

READING MEETING TODAY.

To Consider Miners' Demand For Abolishment of Sliding Scale.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16.—It is reported that the officials of the Reading company will today take up for consideration the proposition of the Mine Workers' convention. It is known that some of the directors of the company are opposed to the abolition of the sliding scale which has for years been in operation at the Reading collieries. The convention demanded that the 10 per cent increase offered by the operators be made on a set basis to continue until next April and that the sliding scale be abolished.

One of the directors of the Reading company said yesterday that he is opposed to a new wage scale and intimated that he would make an effort to defeat such a proposition. He asserted that the sliding scale had for years proved satisfactory both to the company and its mine employees, as was evidenced by the fact that until the convention at Scranton demanded a change no protest had come from the company's miners.

Coal Roads Will Agree.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The coal carrying railroads, which control most of the mines in the anthracite region, will in a few days agree to guarantee that the 10 per cent increase in the miners' wages shall be kept in effect until April 1 next. This statement is made by a high officer of one of the principal coal mining companies in this city. The independent operators in all probability will follow any action of the companies. This concession of the chief demand made by the strikers in their convention at Scranton should, this officer thought, end the struggle.

President Mitchell Silent.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 16.—President Mitchell arrived at the national headquarters in this city from Scranton at 8 o'clock last night. He had nothing to say in regard to the strike situation. He declined to give his views as to what probable action the operators will take on the convention proposition.

Sun Yat Sen Takes a Town.

HONGKONG, Oct. 16.—Sun Yat Sen, according to reports from Canton, has taken the town of Kiu-shan, on East river, and is now investing the prefectorial city of Hui-chou. A force of imperial troops from Canton was defeated by the reformers, 200 being killed. The advices say also that there is great activity in Canton in preparation for dispatching troops to the disturbed districts.

Broke His Neck.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Oct. 16.—John Buckley, 21 years old, fell from a load of feed near Quarryville and broke his neck. He was a nephew of Senator Anson J. McBride of Sussex county, N. J.

Big Reception For the Democratic Candidate In the Metropolis Tonight—A Tour of the State Will Follow.

COVINGTON, Ky., Oct. 16.—Addressing one of the largest crowds that has ever assembled in this city to listen to a candidate for public office, Governor Theodore Roosevelt last night closed his campaign in Kentucky and today will proceed on his tour of Ohio. Long before the governor's arrival here Courthouse square, in which the speaker's stand had been erected and decorated, was congested with men and women anxious to hear him. The vice presidential train reached Covington at 6:30 p. m., and until 8 o'clock, the hour of speaking, the governor was the guest at dinner of Richard P. Ernst at the latter's residence. The governor was given the most respectful attention during his speech, and he was interrupted frequently with applause or by persons who made friendly comments upon different points in his address.

Governor Roosevelt's special train, which stood at Spring Station, near here, all day Sunday, was hauled into town early yesterday morning, and the governor spoke a few words to a crowd before starting for Winchester on his last day's tour of Kentucky. He had a heavy day's work mapped out for him, speaking at the following places: Lexington at 6 o'clock; Winchester, 8:45 o'clock; Mount Sterling, 9:30 o'clock; Morehead, 10:45 o'clock; Ashland, 1 o'clock; Greenup, 2:26 o'clock; Vanceburg, 3:40 o'clock; Maysville, 4:45 o'clock; Covington, 8 o'clock.

MR. BRYAN IN OHIO.

Brilliant Reception at Cleveland—A Visit to McKinley's Home.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 16.—The reception tendered to Mr. Bryan in this city last night was one of the most brilliant he has received on his entire tour. The Central armory, holding many thousands of people, where he made the first speech of the evening, was filled to the point of suffocation, and Bond street, a broad thoroughfare leading from the Hollenden hotel and along which Mr. Bryan was to pass to reach the armory, was so densely crowded with people that it was difficult to get through the mass. Mr. Bryan arrived at the armory at 7:30, and when he entered the hall a vast majority of the people in the building rose as one man to greet him.

Mr. Bryan yesterday invaded the heart of President McKinley's and Senator Hanna's country. Leaving Akron early in the morning, his first stop was at Canton, the president's place of residence, and later in the day he made a brief speech at Niles. The stops at Canton and Niles were incidental, and the crowds were small at both places. The only important day meetings were those at New Philadelphia and Youngstown.

Big Greeting Planned.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Preparations on a scale the like of which has seldom been seen in New York have been made for the reception of William Jennings Bryan, the Democratic candidate for president, in this city today. East side, west side—in short, the whole city—has been active in making ready for the event and to hear the several speeches Mr. Bryan is to deliver during his brief stay in the metropolis. All roads lead to Madison Square Garden, the scene of the principal speech Mr. Bryan is to make tonight. Here the doors are to open at half past 5 o'clock, although the meeting does not begin until 7, and it is thought the capacity of the great structure will be taxed to its utmost. Mrs. Bryan is preparing to actively enter the campaign and will join her husband here on Oct. 27.

Hanna In the Northwest.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 16.—Senator Hanna began his speechmaking tour of the northwest yesterday by making six addresses in Wisconsin, two of them of some length. The principal addresses of the day were made at Waukesha, Wis., where the special train carrying Senators Hanna and Frye and other Republican leaders was held for over an hour, and at Madison. At each of these places Senator Hanna made two addresses. Short speeches were also made at Racine Junction and Racine. Senator Hanna was everywhere greeted by immense crowds.

The "Prohibs" In Western New York.

ROCHESTER, Oct. 16.—The Prohibition special train arrived here at 8 o'clock last night, having made a total of ten stops on the run from Buffalo. Presidential Candidate John G. Woolley and party were received at the station by several hundred of the local Prohibition union and Walsh's band. After a short automobile ride through the down town district the party was conveyed to Fitzhugh hall, where an enthusiastic crowd of over 3,000 pessons was assembled.

An Important Discovery.

ROME, Oct. 16.—An important archæological discovery has just been made at Bosco Reale, where were found the famous treasure vases which Baron Rothschild presented to the Louvre in Paris. It consists of a large edifice belonging to a period prior to Pompeii whose walls are decorated with frescoes of great beauty and in a state of perfect preservation. Emperor William has offered the owner of the property where the discovery was made a large sum for the paintings, at the same time requesting King Victor Emmanuel to facilitate the purchase. Italian archæologists are agitating to prevent the treasures from leaving the country.

Youtsey's Trial Resumed.

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Oct. 16.—The trial of Henry E. Youtsey, charged with being a principal in the killing of Governor Goebel, was resumed yesterday, although Youtsey was reported in the same condition as last week. His room door was opened and his bed pulled up in plain view and hearing of the jury, and while the witnesses were being examined Youtsey could be heard calling his wife's name in a hollow, moaning voice and could be seen to be sitting on his bed. The feature of the day was the testimony of Arthur Goebel, brother of the dead governor.

Pao-ting-fu Captured.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 16.—A telegram has been received from Li Hung Chang reporting that he had seen all the foreign ministers except the German and Russian, who are still at Tien-tsin. The peace negotiations have not yet been opened. Pao-ting-fu was captured on Saturday by the English, German, French and Italian expedition which was dispatched from Peking for that purpose. Kang Yi, president of the board of war, is reported dangerously sick at Wenhsi, on the road to Singan-fu. General Yung Lu has gone to Singan-fu to join the court.

Serious Mine Cave In.

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Oct. 16.—R. H. Stillman has arrived here from the United Verde copper mines at Jerome, A. T., and says that the cave in at the mines is far more serious than at first reported. As a result of the accident the great smelters at Jerome have closed down, and 1,100 men are thrown out of work. Nearly two acres of earth caved in to a depth of ten feet, and the rails of the United Verde and Pacific railway were left suspended in the air.

Earthquake at Skaguay.

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 16.—A severe shock of earthquake occurred at Skaguay on Tuesday last, lasting from 2:30 to 3 a. m. The news was brought by the steamer Amur, which returned yesterday afternoon. The shock was not as serious as the heavy ones of September last year, when some of the glaciers were shattered, but it was universally felt on the Lynn canal and in the vicinity. Whether it was felt along the coast or in the interior could not be learned.

A Novel Claim.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 16.—For feeding his mother's cats Ernest Hutchings of Esopus, administrator of his father's estate, credited himself with over $100 in paying her a $300 legacy in the surrogate's court. There were five cats, and he says that he boarded them for about three years and should be allowed 10 cents a week. The account will be contested.

Famous German Dead.

BERLIN, Oct. 16.—Herr Heinrich Kusserow, who retired in 1890 from the post of Prussian minister to the Hanseatic cities and to Mecklenburg, is dead at Koblentz, aged 64. He was the virtual founder of Germany's colonial empire, acquiring under the Bismarck regime the first protectorates. Since his retirement he had been active as a colonial publicist.

Miss Gast Completes Her Ride.

Child Seriously Burned.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Oct. 16.—Satie, the 10-year-old daughter of Thomas Randall, a well known real estate dealer, was badly burned about the hands and face while preparing supper in the absence of her mother, who is out of the city. She poured kerosene on the fire, and an explosion followed.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY.

Patrick and Jones Arraigned In the Celebrated Rice Case.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Albert T. Patrick and Charles F. Jones were taken from the Tombs prison to the Center street police court to be examined upon the charge of forgery in the second degree in the issuance of a check for $25,000 signed "William M. Rice," which several handwriting experts declared to be fraudulent. Patrick was counsel for the late William Marsh Rice, who died suddenly and under peculiar circumstances on Sept. 23 last. Jones was the dead millionaire's valet. In one will made by Rice the residuary share of an estate valued at $5,000,000 was bequeathed to the William M. Rice institute of Houston. In an alleged second will, made after Lawyer Patrick became acquainted with him, the residue of the estate was bequeathed to Patrick after $500,000 worth of miscellaneous bequests to relatives and friends in the first will had been repeated in the second will.

John H. Wallace, one of the clerks for Swenson & Sons, was the first witness. Under direct examination by Assistant District Attorney Osborne Mr. Wallace gave his testimony in the case. He said he was about 46 years old, lived at 446 St. Nicholas avenue and was a clerk in the banking firm of S. M. Swenson & Sons.

"I have known the prisoner Jones," continued Wallace, "for three or four years. I knew him to be the valet of William M. Rice, whom I had known for over 18 years. I have been familiar with the signature of Rice for the last 15 years. I don't know that we have Rice's signature in a signature book, but we have it on plenty of checks and drafts and on plenty of letters."

Wallace testified that the $25,000 check when presented by David L. Short at once excited his suspicions.

"It was unlike Mr. Rice's usual signature," said Wallace.

Wallace telephoned to Mr. Rice's house and was told by Jones:

"The check's all right. I know it."

Wallace told Jones he must talk to Rice. Jones answered: "He can't come to the telephone. He's very bad."

Ten minutes later Jones told him Mr. Rice was dead.

Brooklyn Scores One For the Trophy

PITTSBURG, Oct. 16.—The series of ball games between Brooklyn and Pittsburg for the world's championship and possession of a $500 trophy cup was begun yesterday at Exposition park in the presence of 4,000 enthusiastic fans. The series was made possible by The Chronicle-Telegraph of this city shortly after Pittsburg's phenomenal stride toward the pennant in the latter part of the season offering a beautiful trophy in the shape of a solid silver punch bowl to be contested for by the teams finishing first and second, provided Pittsburg was one of them. The team winning three games out of the five is to have absolute possession of the trophy, and the gate receipts of the series will be divided among the members of both teams who were signed before Sept. 15. The first game was won by Brooklyn.

Steel Mills Shut Down.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 16.—An announced reduction in wages by the New Haven Iron and Steel company has resulted in a strike by the 100 skilled workmen employed, which necessitated the shutting down of the rolling mill and forcing upward of 250 other helpers out of employment. The mill was completely shut down yesterday, and prospects of an early settlement are not reassuring. As announced by the officials, the reduction would vary from 5 to 17½ per cent and would affect what is known in trade parlance as the "ton" men. The new scale would take off between $2 and $4 a week in the wages of the hands included in the list.

Steamer Disabled In Midocean.

BARBADOS, Oct. 16.—The first officer and part of the crew of the British steamer Hostilius have arrived here in a small boat to procure assistance for their steamer, which lies disabled in midocean about 700 miles from this port. The Hostilius, in command of Captain Lewis, sailed from East London, South Africa, on Sept. 8 and from St. Vincent, Cape Verde islands, on Sept. 27 for Key West. On Oct. 2, in latitude 19 north, longitude 49 west, the propeller shaft of the steamer broke. Being unable to effect repairs, Captain Lewis decided to send to the nearest port for assistance.

Schreiber Not Found.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The bank officers who are trying to run down William Schreiber, who robbed the Elizabethport Banking company, admit that they are as far away from the fugitive as ever. They have about given up hope of finding him in the neighborhood of his native town, and, as P. H. Gilhooly, counsel for the bank, said, for all they knew the young man may be in California or in Europe. The woman, Mrs. Annie Hart, on whom Schreiber spent much of the money he stole, is said to have left for the Tennessee mountains.

Beet Sugar Factory Opens.

LYONS, N. Y., Oct. 16.—The Empire State Sugar company has started up a beet sugar factory here. The factory will use 600 tons of sugar beets daily, turning out 50 tons of raw sugar every 24 hours. The plant is to run 120 days of 24 hours each, employing 250 men. It is the first modern plant in the state. The plant cost over $500,000 and will pay the farmers of this section $3,000 a day for sugar beets. It has an acreage of nearly 6,000.

BOERS UNCONQUERED

Lord Roberts Obliged to Postpone Return to England.

GREAT PRAISE FOR GENERAL BULLER

Unexpected Difficulties Said to Have Arisen—London Press Demands Prompt and Ruthless Punishment For Insurgent Burghers.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—The Durban correspondent of The Standard, wiring yesterday, says:

"Railway communication north of Standerton has been suspended since Thursday. There are persistent rumors of Boer attacks on the railway. Considerable uneasiness has been caused by the postponement of Lord Roberts' departure."

Commenting upon the activity of the Boers and the statement from Cape

GENERAL BULLER.

Town that Lord Roberts has postponed his homecoming, The Standard says:

"There are certain indications pointing to the conclusion that unexpected difficulties have arisen which Lord Roberts deems grave enough to demand his presence for some time to come. All the facts suggest that it is impossible yet to denude South Africa of any substantial portion of the large army now engaged in dominating a sullen and recalcitrant population."

The editorial finally calls for the severest measures against irreconcilable Boers—"prompt and ruthless punishment for every insurgent burgher caught in delicto."

The editorial concludes with the statement that "the imperial government has the country's mandate and need not be afraid to act vigorously."

A dispatch from Pretoria says that Lord Roberts, in an army order announcing the return of General Buller to England, thanks Sir Redvers for his great services while he was commander in chief of the British forces in South Africa and for the ability with which he carried out the operations while serving under Lord Roberts.

The order declares his operations "resulted in the collapse of the Boers in the eastern Transvaal.

A dispatch to The Daily Mail from Lourenco Marques, dated yesterday, says that the American bark Fred P. Litchfield went ashore there from her moorings during Sunday night's gale and was searched for gold in consequence of a suspicion that she was carrying Mr. Kruger's gold to the amount of £1,500,000.

A dispatch to The Daily Telegraph from Cape Town says that a tremendous storm there on Sunday blew a steam crane into the harbor in such a way as to block the entrance to the docks against large steamers. The accident caused several fatalities.

What Caused Defeat.

BERLIN, Oct. 16.—The Berliner Tageblatt publishes a letter from Machadodorp which concludes thus: "Not superior numbers nor the greater military capacity of the British, but treason, folly and puffed up impotency among our leaders caused our ruin."

Echoes of the Great Storm.

HALIFAX, Oct. 16.—Reports of disaster to shipping by Friday's gale continue to come in. The two telegraph cables crossing the strait of Canso and connecting Cape Breton with the mainland were fouled by the anchors of a vessel and one of them torn apart, the other being stretched. The schooner James Ryan is ashore at Queensport, in the strait of Canso. An underwriters' agent left for Whitehead, where the Gloucester fishing schooner A. R. Crittenden is reported to be ashore.

Kisses Highly Valued.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Fifty thousand dollars is the price asked for two kisses by Mrs. Antonio Filzkow of 170 East Fourth street. She has rendered a bill for that amount to Dr. Anthony Hoffman, a practicing physician at 111 Second avenue, and in part 1 of the supreme court today she will try to convince a jury that the rate of $25,000 a kiss is not too high and that the doctor ought to be made to pay it.

Large Spread for Railway Y. M. C. A.

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 16.—More than 1,000 delegates to the conference of the railroad department of the Y. M. C. A. just concluded in Philadelphia came here yesterday as the guests of the Pennsylvania Railroad company. The party was welcomed by Mayor Stoy, who extended to them the freedom of the city. Dinner was served to the city's guests at eight of the largest hotels. The delegates departed for their homes late in the afternoon.

Fire at Port Limon, Colombia.

The Coal Strike.

The strike of the anthracite coal miners is practically at an end. It has been one of the most notable labor disturbances in the history of the country, since it involved 150,000 workers—indirectly affecting millions of people—who are an uneducated, rough and ready class, but, who, despite these things, have conducted themselves in a perfectly reasonable and orderly manner throughout the time of the trouble with their employers. This condition alone is of sufficient importance to make the strike a remarkable one as compared with other disagreements of a similar nature.

But over and above all other considerations stands the fact that the strikers have won a substantial victory in that they have secured the promise of an increase in pay, which was the principal bone of contention. It is true that there were many other points in the arrangements between employe and employer upon which there was a disagreement, but in adjusting a strike of such magnitude and ramifications there must be a disposition to give and take in a free and liberal manner.

In this connection the officers of the Miner's Union have shown a fine and clever appreciation of the situation. President Mitchell and his assistants asked but simple justice for the men they represented, and they have displayed excellent tact and judgment in gaining their point. The sympathy of the public is undoubtedly with the miners, a condition that has had much to do with forcing the employers to fair consideration of the men.

The Democratic county convention will be held in Elizabeth Thursday afternoon when three candidates for Members of Assembly and a Coroner are to be nominated. Naturally, in a Presidential campaign, voters are inclined not to give as great consideration to the county candidates as good citizenship and proper conception of good government demand. In New Jersey this year, however, the Legislative contests will be regarded with more than usual importance owing to the fact that the next Legislature will perform the duty of choosing a United States Senator to succeed General Sewell, whose term of six years will end with the present session of Congress. Who the Democrats will nomi- for the Assembly does not appear upon the political horison as yet. It is certain, though, that the Repubicans will renominate all the present Assemblymen—Messrs. Foote, Smith and Meeker.

Three weeks from today the men of this country will decide who is to be the next President of the United States after March 4, 1901. There has been much talk about the apathy that some think has prevailed. Perhaps there has been inactivity of demonstration of a noisy character as it has prevailed in campaigns of the past, but from the outset of the contest we believe there has been no apathy of serious thinking, of deep mental probing and an effort of true citizens to discover which of the two political courses should be followed for the best interests of the country. Of course, these qualities of citizenship have not always been understood by those who attempt to follow the fortunes of a campaign, and what has been termed apathy is nothing more nor less than the sober reasoning of intelligent voters.

Today is the first day of registration in Plainfield. The Boards will set in the various districts—nine of them—from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. Every man who has the right to vote should personally see to it that his name is registered. The house to house canvass made by the members of the Boards of Registry has resulted in putting the names of a great majority of voters on the poll books, but inevitably there will be many entitled to vote who have been overlooked and missed by the canvassers. The only way for a man to make sure that he is not one of those missed is to personally visit the meeting place of the Board of Registry and find out for himself if his name is properly enrolled as a voter. It is the duty of every true citizen of the public to vote.

Plainfield's welcome to Congressman Charles N. Fowler last evening, on the occasion of his only visit to this city during the present National campaign, was one which must have been pleasing to the Congressman himself as well as to the Republican leaders. For over an hour the Congressman addressed the large audience which gave careful and respectful attention to all his sayings. Naturally, as a Republican crowd, it frequently expressed its approval with vigorous handclapping. When either of the great political parties send their prominent men to this city they are sure of a fair hearing before an intelligent audience.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—On the evening of November 5th a dance will be given in Saengerbund Hall.

—The friends of Motorman Martin Walsh, who is in the hospital, are arranging a benefit entertainment for him.

—The work of laying underground conduits on East Second street for electric light wires is about completed.

—The large safe that was formerly used in the Plainfield postoffice is now located in the borough postal substation.

—The telegraph wires are being raised near the new railroad station to allow for the new tower that will be erected thereon.

—Roundsman John Flynn has been busy for a few days distributing the license certificates among the hackmen and expressmen of the city.

—The best method of cleansing the liver is the use of the famous little pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. Easy to take. Never gripe. L. W. Randolph.

—Efforts are being made to improve upon the acoustic properties of the Park Avenue Baptist church, and several other improvements have been made at this church.

—In making engagements for this week just remember the corn supper to be given at Trinity Reformed church by the Young Women's Mission Band. The proceeds will be devoted to mission work. The affair will be given Thursday and Friday evenings.

—Do not get scared if your heart troubles you. Most likely you suffer from indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and gives the worn out stomach perfect rest. It is the only preparation known that completely digests all classes of foods; that is why it cures the worst cases of indigestion and stomach trouble after everything else has failed. It may be taken in all conditions and cannot help but do you good. L. W. Randolph.

Genesee Pure Food Co., Le Roy, N. Y.:

Gentlemen:—My mamma has been a great coffee drinker and has found it very injurious. Having used several packages of your GRAIN-O, the drink that takes the place of coffee, she finds it much better for herself and for us children to drink. She has given up coffee drinking entirely. We use a package of Grain-O every week. I am ten years old.

Yours respectfully, FANNIE WILLIAMS.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Oct. 16.—Dunellen's Republican demonstration took place last evening and was voted by everyone to be a great success. The programme began at 8 o'clock with the swinging of a neat banner across Prospect avenue and was followed by excellent speaking. Those who gave speeches were: Hon. D. J. Foster, Congressman from Vermont; Hon. B. F. Howell, Congressman of the Third district; Hon. Theodore Strong, candidate for State senator, and Assemblyman Lyon, of Perth Amboy. An informal programme of music was also rendered during the evening.

Miss Mary Ross, the little daughter of Edward Ross, sustained a severe injury to her left eye yesterday, which was caused by herself. The little girl in some manner punctured the lid with a slate pencil, causing the blood to flow freely and almost blinding her. She was assisted to Dr. Brakeley's, but for some time the latter was unable to stop the bleeding. He was forced to bandage the eye and let it stop of its own accord. Although the wound is painful no serious results are anticipated.

After careful consideration Peter Mohan, whose buildings were totally destroyed by fire in connection with the Land Improvement Company's barn, places his loss at $125. This includes farming utensils, hay, etc. There was no insurance on either buildings or contents.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Oct. 16—The language the patrons of the trolley company are obliged to listen to on some of the late cars at night is bad enough for men to hear but it is often indulged in when the sensitive ears of the gentler sex are nearby. Such a thing happened on the 11:15 trolley from Plainfield Saturday night. A number of ladies were aboard but the conductor made no efforts to curb the tongue of a Westfield youth who was too drunk to care for himself or any one else's feelings in the car. The condition he was in made it necessary for him to occupy nearly half the car while his cursing and obscene language was heard by everyone in the car but the conductor. But no effort was made to abate the nuisance.

The members of the Republican club attended the mass meeting in Music Hall last evening 67 strong. The trip was made by special trolley which left the Park avenue crossing at 7:15 sharp. The trip was enlivened by campaign songs and cries all along the route. At the hall reserved seats had been held for the club and all were able to enjoy their evening programme with comfort.

Constable George Allen was on duty at the Park avenue trolley crossing Sunday night. The placing of an officer at this point Sunday evenings meets with the general approval of all. George invited two well-known female characters from Plainfield, who had been imbibing a little too freely, to take the first trolley home or spend the night in the lockup. They took the trolley.

South Plainfield, October 16.—Five new houses have been built in town this season. Two more are well under way and still more to be built yet. This is a pretty fair showing for our little town.

John Dargan will have a stand erected this week which will enable him to display his stock to better advantage at the station.

There wil be no prayer meeting at the Baptist church tonight on account of the Sunday-school convention.

Ants, Cockroaches, Bed Bugs.

Mix, say, a 25c. box of "Rough on Rats" carefully with a pound or so of mashed boiled potatoes, or with a loaf of finely crumbled dampened bread, or two tin cups of fine powdered sugar, and place about their haunts, out of reach of children or pet animals. Even the hardier Black Cockroaches, Beetles, Wood or Water Bugs, in one or two applications will be completely annihilated. "Rough on Rats" is the only thing that will effectually and permanently annihilate Bed Bugs, and it stands unrivalled the world over for the prompt and effective extermination of Rats and Mice. 15 and 25 boxes at druggists.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

"A Lucky Coon" is the attraction at Music Hall tonight and it will be a performance well worth seeing. It is a bright musical comedy, admirably and thoroughly performed by a cast of characters which cannot be excelled. Ben. Hunn and Walter Dixon are recognized as two of the most talented colored comedians in the country. Incidental to the performance, a number of specialties are introduced, chief of which is the work of Carl Dante, known in New York as "Prince Carl" a necromancer and sleight of hand performer of marked ability. Mr. Dante has lately returned from a professional visit to Australia and Hawaiian Islands, where his work was highly commended, while in New York he has been awarded highest praise from press and public. Mr. Dante will have the assistance of his wife who is also said to be an adept in legerdermain, and the presentation of "A Lucky Coon" as a whole will be found highly entertaining.

* * * * *

The production of that beautiful old-fashioned play, the idly of the Arkansas Hills, "Human Hearts," at Music Hall Thursday night, is one in which the false and true characters of everyday life are vividly depicted. It possesses a cleverly conceived plot, and appeals to the tender side of human natue. Love, hate, sympathy, passion and vengeance are all exemplified in the unfolding of the story in such a natural matter of fact way as to keep up interest from the rise until the final fall of the curtain. In its comedy lines one is made to laugh despite himself, so natural and true to life do the laughable events come in. A "gentleman" tramp, a worldly wise bootblack, a capitally enacted negro character darky are all very funny. "Human Hearts" is a play that will please everybody and should not be overlooked. Seats on sale. Regular prices will prevail.

Chronic Nasal Catarrh poisons every breath that is drawn into the lungs. There is procurable from any druggist the remedy for the cure of this trouble. A small quantity of Ely's Cream Balm placed into the nostrils spreads over an inflamed and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation, cleanses, heals and cures. A cold in the head vanishes immediately. Sold by druggists or will be mailed for 50 cents by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Business of importance will be considered next Thursday evening at the meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M.

—The orchestra composed of young men from the Mt. Olive Baptist church meet frequently for rehearsal, and they expect to give a concert in the near future.

—The gospel praise service at the First M. E. church Sunday evening was very successful. Similar services will now be held at that church every Sunday evening.

—The annual report of the East New Jersey Baptist Association has just been published and it shows an excellent condition of affairs both spiritually and financially.

—There are about twenty-four patients at the hospital at present and this number is almost the limit. A few are discharged from time to time, but of late many have been admitted.

ACCESSORIES.

Fashionable Decorations For the Neck and Shoulders.

Boas composed of ruches of lace and net have an intermingling of artificial flowers which is often extremely pretty. Imitation flowers, like the real ones, however, are only attractive as long as they are fresh and bright. Nothing looks shabbier and more poverty stricken than flowers and foliage which have begun to fade, curl or fray.

Decorations of all sorts for the neck and front of the bodice are universally worn. Plain and embroidered mousseline de soie, plaited and waved gauze, lace, plain or spangled tulle and net are employed for jabots, cravats, collars, chemisettes, ruches, little pelerines, boas and innumerable other accessories, and, as a rule, these additions are exceedingly becoming and have a softening effect upon the features. The short necked woman, however, must be careful to choose nothing which shall add to the apparent height of the shoulders or fill up the space between the top of the shoulders and the ears.

The illustration given shows a pretty dress for a little girl. It is of blue cashmere, and the skirt, gathered at the waist, has a stitched hem. The blouse bodice has a collar and plastron of horizontally tucked blue silk and a wide collar of nainsook embroidery, the frill around the edge of which is formed by the plain upper part being finely tucked. The wrists of the tight sleeves are stitched.

NEW FASHIONS.

Arrangement of the Top of the New Tight Sleeves.

Heretofore, ever since the decline in size of sleeves and their return to the natural circumference of the arm, dressmakers have maintained a moderately wide effect at the top by the addition of a sleeve cap of some sort or by the arrangement of the bertha, revers or other trimming of the upper part of the bodice. Now, however, this is discontinued, and the sole resort is found in placing a group of horizontal tucks, plaits or cordings across the top of the sleeve, which modifies a little the smooth narrowness of the general form. These plaits or cordings are often stiffened with very thin whalebone or soft wire. Another method, used for coats and tailor made bodices, is to place a second thickness of the cloth under the top of the sleeve and add a lining of canvas. This thick portion is then decorated with lines of stitching indicating a sleeve cap, and a wider effect is secured.

The illustration shows a costume of beige cloth. It assumes the plain princess form at the back, while in front it forms a plaited tablier and a sort of open, plaited bolero which shows a full vest of violet silk with a plaited corselet of violet panne with gold buttons. The collar is of violet silk, and the tight cloth sleeves have a violet silk puff below the elbow and deep, close cuffs of violet silk. The beige felt hat is trimmed with violet tulle and violet clematis flowers.

My first symptoms were pains in or over my kidneys and next my feet began to feel kind of pricking and I was very thirsty. I drank over three quarts of water or lemonade in one night. I got very weak in my back and legs and dark spots came under my eyes and very severe pains from the base of my brain clear down my spine, and oh, such darting pains down my legs. At last I got so low that I was as helpless as a child. Some of the doctors called it Bright's disease. This began in January. Being a soldier, I went to the Soldiers' Home at Waupaca, Wis. In the hospital there I was doctored for eleven months. All this time I kept getting worse. As soon as I got the Ripans Tabules I began to gain, and am getting along fine and am gaining in flesh. My age is fifty-five and my occupation is sailor and winters lumbering.

Mr. H. C. Lippencott, of 39 Chatham street, says: "I was a victim of kidney complaint and dreadful backache, so bad in damp weather or when I caught cold that I could not get about. I was in the hardware business at this time and the heavy lifting and being on my feet so much greatly aggravated the troubles. I was at my worst when I concluded to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I got them at L. W. Randolph's drug store. It only required a few doses to convince me that I had the right remedy. BRAVE NORMA DIORN.

Texas Girl Lassoes a Lion and Drags Home the Body of Her Prey.

The talk of this neighborhood is the daring exploit of Miss Norma Diorn in lassoing a full-grown lion and dragging home the body of her prey at the heels of the mustang pony. The Southern Texas Cattle association has presented Miss Diorn with a gold-mounted revolver, and has sent to the City of Mexico for the finest side-saddle "for the grittiest girl on a Texas ranch."

Old John Diorn owns a ranch and several thousand head of cattle. The ranch is located on the western plains of Texas, about the headwaters of the tributaries of the Guadaloupe. He has three daughters who have been looking after his herd for several years. It is the boast of these girls that no mustang has ever been able to shake one of them from his back. They are fearless riders and can hurl a lariat with a precision that many a cowboy envies. Since the death of their only brother, Julius Diorn, who was killed by cattle thieves a few years ago, these young women have ridden after cattle, repaired windmills, killed wolves, and frequently branded calves. The story of Miss Norma's lion-killing is told as follows:

One Sunday morning not long ago Norma, who is the oldest of the three, started out on her pony to "ride" the wire fence" is making a tour of inspec- of miles from the house. "Riding a wire fence" is making tour of inspection to see that the wires are all up and the posts solid. As the girl started out she swung the belt of her Winchester over the gate-post, remarking that she was not going far and wouldn't need a gun. She was hardly out of sight before an immense Mexican lion sprang out in the road in front of the pony.

LION TURNED A SOMERSAULT.

The beast gave a few loud roars and then disappeared in the direction of a small bunch of cows and calves.

Starting her pony at full speed and yelling at the lion as if she possessed the power in her voice to paralyze all wild beasts she rode straight toward the terror-stricken cattle, coming up with them just as the lion sprang upon the neck of a calf, crushing it to the earth.

The old cows instantly charged the lion, and the mother of the calf gave him such an ugly thrust with her sharp horns that he was forced to relinquish his hold on his prey. The sight of the trembling, frightened little calf aroused the girl's ire, and, swinging her rope over her head, she rode at the lion.

The girl screamed at the lion and urged her pony to pursue him. The beast frequently looked back and snarled threateningly, but he failed to failed to find courage enough to offer battle. Suddenly it occurred to the girl that there was no reason why she could not choke the lion to death. She swung her lariat over her head, and as the trained pony sprang forward dropped the noose about the lion's neck. The pony instantly braced himself on his haunches, digging his forefeet into the ground, and the lion turned a somersault, striking the earth with his head toward his pursuers. The girl hoped that she had broken the beast's neck, but he was only badly stunned, and the pain that he suffered seemed to increase his rage and courage.

Crouching and emitting a roar, he sprang into the air with all his strength, expecting to land on the pony's neck, and tear his pursuers to fragments. The agile little horse turned just in time to feel the claws of the lion grazing his haunches.

All western horses entertain a horror of those lions, for one of their tricks is to lie in ambush on the limb of a tree near where the horses are in the habit of drinking. From these hiding places they fall upon young colts and devour them. The Texas pony knows the Mexican lion, and he fears him more than all other enemies.

So instantly as the lion sprang forward the pony began to run. The rope was tense, and if she had wished to do it, the girl could not have unfastened the lariat from the saddle-horn. Moreover, she knew the chances were that if the lion was released in his state of rage he would tear the pony and herself to bits. She leaned forward and urged her frightened mustang to do his best.

She reached the ranch gates at her home just as her sisters, accompanied by two young men of the neighborhood, were about to pass through it on their way to church. "There now!" she shouted. "I have roped and dragged a lion to death." Her speech of triumph was cut short by a warning scream from one of her sisters, who noticed that the lion was about to regain his feet, and renew the battle. One of the Texans sent a bullet through the monster's brain, and ended his career.—Marble Falls (Tex.) Correspondence St. Louis Republic.

THE ARMY OF BOWLERS Is Constantly Increasing

AN ARMY of bowlers larger by many times than the entire military establishment of the United States has begun its annual onslaught on the pins. Alleys that during the hot summer months were deserted by all living things save the bottle flies and an occasional wanderer, have begun to resound with the dull thunder of the rolling lignum vitae balls and the merry shouts of the rollers who get strikes and difficult spares. From now until the 1st of May bowling will be the sport most sought by thousands.

While it is true that certain wise and far-seeing men have filled a long-felt want by investing their money in what are called "summer alleys," those places where men may bowl to their hearts' content during the most sultry weather, no one has attempted to maintain that there are many devotees of the ancient game that would get very enthusiastic in summer. In Chicago, where alleys are built on any floor at the say of the proprietor, be it on the second story or on the fifth, and in Brooklyn and New York, where the "upstairs" plan was quickly adopted, the receipts from the hot weather trade were gratifying enough to please any business man. Cool though the air might be, it is a well-known fact that there were days when even these inviting places were deserted by the enthusiasts. The latter declined to wilt all of their linen all of the time. Some few clubs kept open the bowling alleys during the summer months, but the patronage was slight and gave a direct reply to those who sought to generally maintain that "bowling was a sport for the whole year."

Has there been a diminution of interest in the Rip Van Winkle game since last winter? I made it my business before writing this to ascertain from the leaders in the sport in the United States just what the season had in store for bowling. The replies I received indicate that bowling is going to have the most roseate season since it actually became a sport of national dimensions. From the Harlem river to Omaha and from St. Paul to St. Louis the rollers will press their sport. There will be more alleys than ever and, as an evident corollary, there will be more players. New alleys costing thousands of dollars would be put in were there no evidences of an increased number of patrons. In Chicago, a city which yields the palm only to Greater New York in the interest shown in bowling, there will be over a score of leagues this season and a total of 25,000 regular rollers.

Henry Ward Maclellan, the little champion of Greater New York and the head pin expert who used to travel with the Greater New Yorks and the All Stars, estimates the number of bowlers for the leagues in Greater New York at 100,000. He predicts a greater season than last year's, which the records show was the most successful the east ever knew.

"Just as truly as the rollers have fastened on me the tale about 'Anchor Joe' making the 7-10 spare, you will see the greatest revival of interest

MISS ROSE M. MURRAY,
Woman's Bowling Record Champion.

in bowling in New York, Brooklyn, and the environs of these cities, ever chronicled by bowling writers," says Maclellan. Ben MacDonald, the Nestor among bowling writers and the former publisher of a paper devoted to the trade and the sport, brings back from the east the same story of expansion.

That inimitable veteran of the old days when the Standards, of the North Chicago Bowling league, were pretty near all there was in the flower of the regular western bowling army—Charles G. Wilson—has sought out his musty records to compare the prospectuses of the many leagues of 1900 with the schedule and programme of the ancient league of Chicago. He gives as his honest opinion that he would rather take the office of receiver for the Standard Oil company than to be the secretary of the biggest bowling league in the west. That means, to those who are acquainted with the strenuous life Mr. Wilson led while secretary of the pioneer league and one of the '40ers of bowling, that he sees too much work ahead.

And Sam Karpf, the high priest of bowling, must not be forgotten. Karpf, as secretary of the Bowling Congress of the United States, was no less active in promoting bowling than he was when he took the greatest aggregation of rollers ever gathered together in the United States over the country in several tours. He is connected with one of the largest concerns in the bowling trade, a factory that can turn out enough pins and balls to supply the world, and naturally he knows the trade situation "like a book." Stripped of all business enthusiasm, the forecast of Sam Karpf is. The orders for new alleys have been coming in so rapidly that I have not had time to get acquainted with my home. There must be a great season at hand for bowling. I liken the rush for alleys and materials to that which has marked golf interests this year. People have found time to look to their indoor sport for this winter despite the exactions of a great political campaign."

Ren Mulford and Charlie Zuber write me from Cincinnati that Hamilton county's bowling league this winter will have an increased number of leagues and that there will be many organizations of rollers that will not be banded into the regulation leagues. Cincinnati will more than hold her own in the matter of rolling.

C. H. HEDGE,
Champion Candle Pin League Bowler.

St. Louis, too, will be there with the sport this fall and winter, as one of the well known rollers writes. The Mound City has Eddie Grath, the world's champion cocked hat bowler, and is proud of him. The followers of this style of bowling—and they are legion—insist that Grath has rolled two nineties in one season and that this mark has never been surpassed. Those of you who believe that a 90 score is easy to make at cocked hat might write to Grath and ascertain how long he practiced bowling until he became so proficient.

Down in Massachusetts, where the rollers have been hammering away at the candle pin game during the hot weather, the outlook is most encouraging. "Jimmy" Callahan, the baseball pitcher, who may be interested in bowling alleys in Taunton, says that the game in the east is here to stay. C. H. Hedge is the champion candle pin league roller, and he hails from Boston.

Baltimore, too, has its complement of alleys and the sports from that city are optimistic. John McGraw and "Bobbie" Robinson, the former oriole ball players now with St. Louis, are the recognized authorities on bowling in Maryland. They predict a greater interest in rolling this winter than Baltimore ever knew. Some new alleys have been planned for the Monumental City, but the greater amount of work will be done on last year's alleys to make them ready for the army of enthusiasts.

Toledo, O., is to be heard from in the rolling this season, as well as Dayton, Cleveland and other Buckeye centers of rolling. Toledo is proud of the record made by Miss Rose Murray, who is the undisputed champion among women ten-pin players. Miss Murray last season astonished the bowling world with a score of 236, and to show that it was not a "fluke" she came back with another game and scored 200.

Peoria, Ill., would not be on the map, according to its great patron of rolling, "Pete" Weast, unless it had a great team to represent the city in rolling competitions and in the state championship competitions.

All this for the prospects of the game. Just a word about the dangers that threaten the sport with a loss of prestige. The struggle for honors between many leagues has become so strenuous that the practice of engaging a roller to bowl in from two to six leagues has not been generally condemned. Such palpable professionalism gives the expert roller a good livelihood, but it detracts from the sport. In sober truth the game should be confined strictly to amateurs and the trophies should be only cups and medals, etc., for all league competitions. No sport is going to flourish when paid contestants drive out the less proficient amateurs.

ART IN ARCHITECTURE

Designed and Written Especially for This Paper

THIS elevation shows a very neatly designed residence, which contains nine rooms and can be erected for $2,200 upon a stone foundation. The sizes and arrangements of rooms are made plain by the floor plans. A special feature is that every room except the kitchen and small chamber has a bay window. The height of the first story is 9½ feet; second story, 9 feet; basement, 7 feet. The fireplace is in the sitting-room, so that the kitchen can be supplied with a flue.

All chambers have large closets. The floors are double, having felt paper between them.

All siding is narrow 4-inch O. G. The plastering is two-coat work. Cedar shingles for roof of main building and veranda roof. American glass throughout. Georgia pine finish. Art glass in transoms of the two large front windows. Porcelain-lined sink in kitchen.

Composition carving in apex of front gable and on freize board of veranda. Plate glass panel in front door. Downspouts, gutters and flashing to be done with galvanized iron. Interior finished in hard oil. Exterior of house painted two coats, finishing color to suit owner. All doors to be five-cross panels.

The veranda is very large and is desirable for a suburban home. The foundation is of rubblestone. The basement is divided off into furnace room, coal bins, fruit room, etc. The hardware, mantel and art glass are of a neat design.

The following is a brief note on the way of inclosing a home:

In all northern states it is unwise to build a house without sheathing it first with at least common boards. The best job is obtained by using dressed and matched (tongued and grooved) 6-inch boarding, laid diagonally upon the walls of the building. There is no question but that makes the house a little stiffer, giving, as it does, lateral braces all around. It has also this advantage that when matched lumber is used it forms a solid surface and the shrinking of the lumber does not in any way weaken it. In the case of lateral boarding there is nothing whatever to hold, when the boards shrink, as they surely will, except the nailing. If we could be sure that lumber would not shrink and the nailing in every case would be properly done, it might be that the lateral boarding would answer as well; but if we are after the best construction, the diagonal boarding would by all means be better.

Diagonal boarding is also an advantage in putting on the finish wall cover, the siding or whatever may be used, as joists are crossed in every instance. This avoids any buckling of siding in case the sheathing should shrink, as it sometimes will. The diagonal boarding at all corners and plates becomes a part of a regular truss. This holds true all over the building, and unquestionably adds much to its strength. The sheathing boards should be nailed to each stud with tenpenny or at least eightpenny nails.

In the case of a dry goods box we have horizontal boarding, and it makes a strong box, but if this box were 20 times its size and its interior lined with studding we would have an entirely different proposition; and it can be readily seen that the diagonal boarding, forming the braces as it does entirely around the box, would add very materially to its strength when fastened to each of its interior supports and at the corners. This illustration is used to make more clear the principle of braces which would be obtained by diagonal boarding.

Where the outside boarding reaches the cornice it should in every instance continue and form a close connection with the roof boarding. This is frequently left open, and is one of the primary causes of a cold house. If the cold enters at this point it circulates all over the house, drops down between the partitions, circulates through between the joists of the attic floor and down in all the outside walls.

It is also well to see that around all door and window openings the sheathing boards come to the center of the stud. Where the frames can be obtained in time it is a good plan to nail them into the openings and then sheathe up close, as a better job can be obtained in this way than by leaving the opening and setting the frame afterward.

"MESSIAH" CHORUS MET.

Excellent Beginning of Rehearsals for Rendition of Famous Oratorio in This City.

The first rehearsal of the "Messiah" chorus was held last evening in the lecture room of the First Baptist church. There were nearly a hundred singers present in their places when Mr. Fitzhugh took his position at the piano and announced the first selection.

Taken as a whole the work of the chorus was very satisfactory to both the conductor and the committee in charge. It is intended to increase the chorus to about one hundred and fifty voices, provided suitable material therefor is attainable.

To vary what possibly some of the older members may consider the monotony, it was announced last evening that the chorus would take up the oratorio of "Elijah" for rehearsal in connection with the "Messiah," which seemed to give general satisfaction among the members of the chorus. It has not yet been definitely decided, however, whether "Elizah" will be rendered this winter but that will be determined later.

Nelson Runyon, secretary of the committee, says that many to whom notices were sent were not present last night and also that quite a large number had failed to notify him whether they expect to assist the chorus this fall. Unless he hears from the latter, new applications will be considered, from which to select the requisite number of singers to supply the deficiency.

YOUNG HUSBAND IN JAIL.

He Fired Into a Crowd Who Were Serenading Him.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Oct. 16.—John White, of Kingston, was brought to the County Jail here yesterday by Detective George D. Totten for firing into a crowd of men who gave him a serenade one night last week. White, who is twenty-five years old, had married Mrs. Maria Tice, seventy-five years old. She is blind in one eye and deaf. When the couple came home a big party, armed with horse fiddles, tin pans and other noise making devices, went to the house. White discharged a double-barrelled gun loaded with carpet tacks into the crowd. He fled from the town and was captured near Freehold. He says he intended to fire into the air to frighten the serenaders but the gun kicked so badly that he was unable to control it. He gave no explanation for loading it with tacks.

WILL NOT REMOVE DR. MEEKER.

Governor Voorhees Dismisses Charges Against Member of Dentist Board.

Governor Voorhees refused yesterday to remove Dr. Charles A. Meeker, of Newark, from the State Board of Registration and Examination in Dentistry. It was charged that Dr. Meeker was incompetent and inficient and that he showed favoritism toward certain students.

The Governor on Saturday gave a hearing at Elizabeth to both sides in the controversy and spent some hours in taking the testimony.

The complaints against Dr. Meeker are said to have grown out of professional jealousies and not from political motives.

Engagement Announced.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Elizabeth Hoagland, of Linden avenue, and Dyckman Winkler, of Westervelt avenue. The wedding will take place during the winter. Both young people have been identified with Grace M. E church, taking an active part in all its affairs.

McKinley be elected. Of these, he showed, had not a single one of them had been fulfilled.

"I love the Democrats," said the Congressman, whereat everybody laughed. "I love the Democrats," he continued, as the missionary in China loves the Chinese, that he may convert them." Then he wanted any Democrat in the house to name if he could a single statement made by Bryan four years ago which had not been disproven since.

Regarding imperialism, Mr. Fowler admitted that the name sounded dangerous, but declared that it really had no terrors for the American citizen. There really wasn't anything to it, he said. After carefully reading Bryan's speech of acceptance, the only actual fact which could be produced was that the United States should not hold the Philippine Islands without the consent of the Filipinos. It was that oft talked-of subject of the consent of the governed. In its literal sense, that was not nor ever had been part of the American policy. And way back in the Revolution the Colonials had shown no hesitancy in making Manhattan Island part of the new country despite the fact that there were more Tories on the island than there were believers in independence. All the territory annexed under different Democratic Presidents had been received and held without the inhabitants thereof being questioned at all regarding their desires. He referred to the present disenfranchisement of the colored voter in the south, and said that while the Democrats could see the brown man in the far-off land they failed entirely to see the black man right among them.

As to the man Bryan, he must be judged, the Congressman said, by his friends. He then told of the different political parties which had put Bryan at the head of their ticket and told of the general assortment of platforms he had thus been compelled to swallow. It was the talk of such men as Bryan that kept up the war in the Philippines and encouraged Arguinaldo to continue to resist.

Imperialism was after all but a mask, the Congressman believed, to hide the real aim of the Bryanites. Should Bryan be elected, it would mean the immediate introduction of a free silver bill and a free trade bill. What the results of an act would mean, he graphically pictured.

He gave some interesting figures going to show the wonderful growth of the country under Republican administration.

As to the war and the dangers of militarism, he laughed at the latter. Such a thing was preposterous. The soldiers were the people and no matter how large an army might be raised, it would return to the old occupations when the need for it was gone.

Instead of telling of the great achievements of the past and present, the Democratic orators, he declared, told of dreams, ghosts and all sorts of imaginary creatures. He closed with an eloquent plea to support the administration that it might continue the good work already done, advance the country's interests at home and abroad and make the American workingman the best housed and the best paid workingman in the world.

Another song by the glee club was followed by a short talk by Assemblyman Charles S. Foote, of this city. The issues of 1896 were, he declared, the issues of 1900, no matter how much the Democrats tried to cover them up. Bryan, nor no other man could say what the paramount issue would be. It had been free silver four years ago and it was again. And, as the forces of McKinley and "sound money" had been victorious on that occasion, so, he maintained, would they triumph again this year. The glee club sang again and then the meeting closed with the singing of "America" by the whole audience standing.

A Clear, Pleasant Light.

John Powers, the popular Somerset street druggist, illuminated his pharmacy Saturday evening for the first with acetylene gas and there was a marked change over the old style. Mr. Powers has purchased a plant known as the Colt system, and it certainly works satisfactorily. The small gas burners were used Saturday evening, and even these gave a stronger and clearer light than can be obtained with the ordinary gas. The store was brilliantly lighted, and instead of a yellow, flickering light, there was a pure white and steady illumination. A great many persons called at the store and witnessed the exhibition and everyone expressed themselves greatly in favor of the change.

Jury Disagreed.

The landlord and tenant case of William Callard, Jr., against Ira Burnett, of Bernard Township, which was tried before a jury and Justice Mattison yesterday, resulted in a disagreement of the jury. The final vote stood 8 to 4 in favor of the defendant. The jury was discharged and the case was adjourned for one week, when it will be tried again.

That Cranford Fountain

Lusardi, the Cranford caterer, who recently moved to Metuchen, attempted yesterday to spirit away the soda fountain sold for taxes which was in his vacant store. Some one apprised Committeeman Rankin, who had bought the fountain at a tax sale, for the township, of the caterer's action, and, securing a constable and taking one of his teams with a coal wagon, he started in hot pursuit, reaching Metuchen just as the fountain was about to be moved from the truck to the store. When Lusardi saw Committeeman Rankin he gracefully surrendered, and the much-talked-about fountain was loaded in the coal wagon and returned to Cranford.

BRYAN WILL SPEAK IN UNION COUNTY.

Arrangements Made for the Presidential Candidate to be Heard in Elizabeth.

THE DATE IS OCTOBER 25.

THE MEETING WILL BE HELD IN CITY HALL SQUARE.

Senator VanCleef Renominated by the Middlesex County Democrats—Republican Nominations Made in Hunterdon County.

At a meeting of the Democratic State committee in Jersey City yesterday afternoon, which was attended by several Union county leaders—among them James E. Martine—it was arranged that William Jennings Bryan should visit Union county before the campaign is over. This visit will take place Oct. 25th, in the city of Elizabeth. On that day Col. Bryan is to speak in Trenton in the afternoon. On his way to Jersey City, where he will speak in the evening, he will stop off at Elizabeth for one hour between 6 and 7 o'clock. His speech will be delivered from a stand to be erected in city hall square, where it is expected that at least 10,000 people from the city and surrounding towns will greet the candidate. Further details of the visit will be given later on.

The programme of Bryan's visit to Jersey City was arranged yesterday after a conference between Senator Johnston Cornish and City Collector Robert Davis. Mr. Bryan will be met at 7:30 o'clock in the evening at the Marion station of the Pennsylvania Railroad by Collector Davis and Democratic Clubs, of the Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh and Twelfth wards.

Mr. Bryan will speak at the Marion depot. He will then ride to St. Joseph's Hall, in Pavonia avenue, near Baldwin avenue, and make an address. At 9 o'clock he will be due in St. Peter's Hall, in York street, near Gregory street, to make his third speech in Jersey City. He will probably remain at the Hotel Washington over night. The next morning he is to speak in the Lyric Theatre, in Hoboken, at 8:30 o'clock. From Hoboken he will go to Orange, Summit, Morristown and Dover.

The Hunterdon County Republican convention met yesterday and made the following nominations by acclamation: Senator, Alfred C. Gandy, of Lambertville; County Clerk, Joseph E. Hampton, of Baptisttown; Assemblymen, Aivah L. Alpaugh, of Tewksbury township, and Frank Maxwell, of Frenchtown. Mr. Gandy is a former Mayor of Lambertville and has served on the Board of Chosen Freeholders.

Democrats of Middlesex county, in convention at New Brunswick, nominated yesterday their candidates for State Senate and Assembly. James H. VanCleef, of New Brunswick, was renominated for Senator, and the three Assemblymen named are William P. O'Harra, of Perth Amboy; H. Brewster Willis, of New Brunswick, and Dr. F. E. Riva, of Milltown. Luther Tappen, of Metuchen, was named for Coroner. Strong resolutions were adopted denouncing the administration of President McKinley. The trusts were denounced and the necessity to rebuke those who are making the National Capitol an adjunct of a stock jobbers' trust was pointed out.

SABBATH QUIET RUDELY BROKEN.

Mr. Hillpot's Road Roller Horrifies New Jersey Folks.

The Sabbath is observed strictly as a day of rest in the town of Dayton, Somerset county. This fact J. Edwin Hillpott, a contractor, of Bound Brook, Sunday failed to remember when he started his big lumbering steam roller over the new stone road he is constructing from New Brunswick toward Cranbury, and which runs past Dayton.

As the people of the latter place were gathering for church the roller came puffing down the main street, to the horror of the staid citizens. Such a violation of the notions of how Sunday should be observed was positively startling. When Rev. S. S. Long heard the commotion created by the roller he sallied forth, determined that it should cease. The constable was summoned and he promptly warned Contractor Hillpott of his infraction of the law, whereupon the roller was hustled away, and there was Sabbath quiet again.

JEWELS WORTH $20,000 STOLEN.

Butler, Who is Missing, is Suspected of Being the Thief.

MAID HAD CASE OF GEMS.

HAD HIDDEN THEM AS WAS CUSTOM WHEN MISTRESS WAS AWAY.

Butler's Hurried Departure—Hired Horse and Wagon and Drove From Village—Supposed to Have Taken a Train.

Diamond jewelry valued at $20,000 was stolen Monday night from the residence of Charles Pfizer, two miles from Bernardsville. The butler, David Richards, is missing. He is suspected of having stolen the jewelry. The police in all cities have been notified to look out for him.

Mr. and Mrs. Pfizer had been in New York for a few days. Before leaving their home, Mrs. Pfizer intrusted to the care of her maid, a young French woman, a casket containing the jewelry she did not wish to take to New York with her. The maid took the casket to her room, as was her costom when Mrs. Pfizer is away and secreted it there.

Monday night all the servants, with the exception of the butler and the French maid, were absent for a time attending a church service. While the other servants were away the maid was on one of the lower floors. She went to her room when the others returned. She directly went to bed. Neither she nor any of the other servants saw Richards between 7:39 and 9 p m. The maid does not know at what time he left the house. The others say he was working when they left the house about 7:30 p. m, and they supposed he had gone to his room when they returned to the house.

Yesterday morning Richards was not about nor in his room. His bed had not been occupied. Nothing was thought of this until the French maid discovered the jewel casket had been emptied. When she went to see if it was all right she lifted it and finding it heavy as usual was about to replace it when she decided to open it. Then she found the jewelry had been replaced with nails to give the casket the proper weight.

The authorities were notified and after questioning the maid and others sought for Richards. No trace of him could be found. Several servants reported that their rooms had been ransacked and money taken from them.

A clue to Richard's actions was obtained from Patrick Meaney, a liveryman. He said that about 9 o'clock Monday night the butler whom he knew well, came to his stables and hired a horse and buggy. He said it was imperative that he reach Morristown by midnight. Meaney let him have the rig, which Richards said was to be charged to Mr. Pfizer.

To Meaney's surprise, when the butler drove out of the stable he did not turn toward Morristown. Instead he went in the direction of Somerville. The failure to return the rig yesterday morning did not alarm the owner, as he obtained a promise from Richards that the horse should not be driven back from Morristown until this morning. The horse and buggy have not been recovered.

The casket contained a diamond necklace worth $2 000, two large diamond rings, two pearl rings, four diamond sunbursts, a number of diamond and other brooches and other pieces of jewelry.

Very little is known at Bernardsville about Richards. He was employed by a family in Morristown before he went to work for the Pfizers. He is five feet nine or ten inches in height, thin and lank. He has gray eyes, black hair and a white skin. He wore when last seen a blue suit. It is believed he drove to Somerville, and, after abandoning the rig, boarded a train on the Jersey Central or Lehigh Valley Railroads.

Change Date of Rehearsal.

William Holmes, of this city, who is the instructor and leader of the Dunellen and New Market Choral Union, will probably arrange to hold the weekly rehearsals on Thursday evening instead of Monday as at present. This change is made so that it will not interfer with the work of the Plainfield Choral Union.

Dr. Pocock Off for Cuba.

J. W. VanSickle and W. J. Ford, of North avenue, went to New York today with Dr. L. S. Pocock. The latter sailed for Cuba, and he was given a good send-off. Dr. Pocock goes on a prospecting tour and he does not know how long he will remain.

PASSING POINTS OF POLITICAL WORK

Democrats Expect to Have a Big Meeting in Washington Hall Friday Evening.

MR. MAN WILL BE ON HAND.

REPUBLICANS ARRANGE FOR RALLY ON NOVEMBER 1ST.

North Plainfield Republicans Heard Justice Crosley Last Night—Other Campaign Notes of Interest.

While the meetings thus far held by the Democratic Jeffersonian Club have been well attended and enthusiastic, the one arranged for Friday evening in Washington Hall promises to be more gratifying for the partisans than those yet held. Yesterday afternoon word was received from Col. E. A. S. Man, of Bayonne, the Democratic candidate for Congress against the re-election of Congressman Fowler, that he would be in Plainfield that evening to meet the voters and to speak of the issues in the campaign. Mr. Man has been devoting most of his time to the Essex county section of the district thus far, but henceforth he will spend his time campaigning in Union county. Wendel C. Warner, of New York, who will be another speaker at the meeting, is said to be a fine talker. Some years ago Mr. Warner participated in a public debate between the representatives of the Democratic, Republican and Prohibition parties, he holding up the Democratic side of the argument. At that time he was recognized as a speaker of more than ordinary ability. Tomorrow the candidates for the Assembly will be nominated at the county convention in Elizabeth, and arrangements will be made to have those candidates present at the meeting Friday evening.

There was an enthusiastic meeting of the U. S. Grant Republican Club in their rooms on Somerset street, last evening, and Former Justice of the Peace T. R. Crossley made a rousing speech telling those present why they should support McKinley and Roosevelt. He advanced some strong arguments in favor of Republicanism and gave a brief review of the prosperity that the people have enjoyed during the past three and a half years. This evening the club will meet and go in a body to Somerville. They will take the 7:37 train. The glee club will also go along and discourse music. Mahlon Pitney will address the mass meeting at Somerville and it is expected that it will be one of the largest meetings to be held in the county.

Arrangements have been made whereby any person desiring to go to Somerville can do so, and their fare will be paid. This was made possible last evening when a sufficient sum of money was raised for the purpose.

The call for the Republican primaries, to be held in this city Monday evening, to elect delegates to the county convention at Elizabeth, was issued at a short meeting of the Republican city executive committee, held at Republican headquarters last evening. They will be held at the usual places, at the old City National Bank building in the First ward, at the Bryant School in the Second, at the Casino in the Third and at the Reform Hall reading room in the Fourth.

A meeting of the Republican Somerset county executive committee will be held at Somerville this afternoon. The meeting wil be of special importance as the various members of the committee will report the result of the canvass in their districts.

The Fourth ward campaign committee of the G. O. P., with all its subcommittees, will hold a meeting in Republican headquarters this evening when arrangements will be completed for the ward rally to be held next week.

A meeting of the Board of Managers of the Second Ward Republican Association will be held tomorrow evening at 8:30 o'clock at Republican headquarters.

The executive committee of the Third Ward Republican Association will hold a meeting at the ward headquarters in the Casino tomorrow evening.

The Democratic primaries will be in the various wards of the city this evening. Delegates will be elected to attend the county convention to be held in Elizabeth tomorrow afternoon.

Loyal Legion Officers.

At a regular meeting of the Loyal Temperance Legion held Tuesday the following officers were elected for three months: Leo J. Moore, president; Amy Moore, vice-president; Irving VanWinkle, secretary.

WERE QUIETLY WEDDED.

NUPTIALS OF MISS FENNER AND W. A. CRAWFORD CELEBRATED.

After the Wedding the Young Couple's Friends Gave Them a Rousing Sendoff.

A wedding of considerable interest to Plainfielders took place last evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride, on East Fifth street. Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., performed the ceremony. The contracting parties were Miss Ella Rebecca Fenner and William Arrowsmith Crawford. Owing to the recent death of the bride's grandmother, the affair was a very quiet one and was attended only by the immediate family of the bride and groom.

The bride was handsomely gowned in a brown travelling dress, with hat to match. She was unattended, as was also the groom. The ceremony was a simple one, and afterward an informal reception was held among the relatives present. The bride and groom left in time to catch the 9:37 o'clock train west. They will spend their honeymoon in Philadelphia and Washington, and upon their return will reside in this city.

Those present at the wedding could not resist the temptation to give Mr. and Mrs Crawford a good sendoff and they succeed in giving them a shower of rice. The coach was also decorated in a gaudy fashion with muslin, bells, etc. The happy couple hoped to escape their pursuers by going to Grant avenue, and not North avenue, as first intended. This did not work satisfactorily and they were unable to get away unseen.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford are both popular young people. They are members of Trinity Reformed church and very active in the Christian Endeavor Society and other departments of church work. Mr. Crawford holds an excellent position as special agent of the Fidelity and Casualty Company, with headquarters at 800 Broad street, Newark. Their many friends will wish the happy couple success and happiness as they commence married life.

THE REPUBLICAN CLAIM.

CAMPAIGN MANAGERS EXPECT TO DUPLICATE 1896 PLURALITY.

They Say a Canvass Made by Workers Show That There Will be No Falling Off in Republican Vote.

Plainfield's next big Republican rally will be held at Music Hall, Thursday evening, November 1st. The Republican city campaign committee at its meeting last evening approved the action of the mass meeting committee in arranging a mass-meeting for that evening. It is not yet definitely known who will be the speaker on that occasion. Several Republicans of National prominence are being considered, but a conference will have to be held with Charles N. Codding, chairman of the county committee, to find out the open dates for these speakers.

A report of the canvass being made by the ward organizations was to the effect that the canvass of the city had been nearly completed and already promised a Republican vote that will equal that of four years ago. The Republican plurality at that time was 1,872

"Open house" will be held at Republican headquarters in the March building, Park avenue, Saturday evening. The committee on entertainment and headquarters reported that the first of the informal gatherings would be held that night. The piano has arrived so there will be plenty of music. Several local speakers will talk and there will be other kinds of entertainment.

The Fourth ward committee announced that they would hold a rally at headquarters Tuesday or Wednesday of next week and have some spellbinders of note to address the meeting. The meeting will be for Fourth warders only.

Spencer Conway's Good Work.

Spencer Conway, who is acting as a special missionary for the Calvary Baptist Church, is accomplishing great work. He has succeeded in increasing the membership from 100 to 200 and the good work is still going on. Mr. Conway is also making an extra effort to raise the funds for the church to carry on the work this winter. The sum of $300 is needed for that purpose and contributions are coming in very satisfactory.

Using Both Tracks Again.

The Plainfield Street Railway Company is now using the double tracks on West Front street. On the eastbound side of the street only a portion of the rails were changed. For nearly half of the distance between Somerset street and Grant avenue the old rails were left on that side and simply raised to grade.

HEAVY REGISTRATION IN CITY AND BOROUGH

Reports of First Day's Registration Show an Increase in All But One District.

ONE MORE CHANGE LEFT.

FINAL REGISTRATION DAY WILL COME THURSDAY, OCT. 30TH.

Total Registration in City Yesterday Was 3,883, More Than 1,400 Greater Than Vote Cast at Last City Election. Called to Brooklyn Church.

All over the city, with the exception of part of the Fourth Ward, there was a substantial increase in the registration. Although a house-to-house canvass had been made, yesterday was the first day of personal registration The results showed that the people of Plainfield were as much interested in the presidential election this year as they were four years ago. The greatest increase in registration was in the second election district of the Third ward, a Republican stronghold, where the increase amounted to twenty-five per cent.

Copies of the registry lists will be posted at once and hung in public places until October 30th when the last opportunity to register will be given. On that day, there will probably be many more names added to the registry lists which will bring the figures up to or above those of four years ago.

In the First district of the First ward the number registered was 520. These figures are about normal for the first day's registry. The total registration has been as high as 600. In the second district of that ward 240 names were registered, which is within two of the biggest registry known in the district More names will be added on the 30th, which will make the registry the highest on record.

An increase was reported in the Second ward. There were 609 registered as against 590 for the first day's registry four years ago, the highest ever known in the Second. The total registration four years ago was 621. In the second district of the Second, 243 names were registered, which is an increase of 20 over last year.

There were 553 registered in the Third ward, first election district, which is hardly up to expectations. The second district of that ward only had 172 registered last fall for the city election, the highest figure since the Third ward was divided, while only 125 votes were cast. The first day's registry amounted to 226, a gain of over twenty-five per cent. in one of the strongest Republican districts of the city. More will be added on the 30th.

The registration in the First district of the Fourth ward yesterday was 534, about forty less than the total registry last year. The Second district of the Fourth showed an increase. Its total registry was 541, a gain as compared to 520 last year. In the Third district of the Fourth the registry list now contains 417, with prospects of excelling old figures on the total registration.

Both Republicans and Democrats are elated over the registration in the borough yesterday. In the two districts there was an increase of 49 in the total list, 29 in the First district and 20 in the Second. In the First district the registry was 663 as against 634 a year ago. In the Second district it was 574 as against 554 a year ago. There is a feeling that in the First district there will be a full 600 votes cast this year, and it is fully expected that the vote in the other district will be in proportion as large. On Tuesday, October 30, the Boards of Registry will meet for a half a day to add any names. This will be the last opportunity afforded to register and all voters should bear this in mind.

Street Traffic Interrupted.

With the arrival of the street cars at the Watchung avenue terminus every twelve minutes this morning the entire block between Second street and North avenue was cut off. This was caused by excavations being made for electric light conduits on one side and the dumping of two loads of crushed stone on the other. For what reason the stone was dumped at this point is not known, but in case of an alarm of fire bringing the apparatus in that direction it would have proved a serious matter.

Pictures of Galveston Disaster.

A meeting of usual interest will be held at Reform Hall tomorrow evening, when pictures of the Galveston disaster will be shown on a screen. There will also be illustrated songs. A cordial invitation is extended to the ublic.

SHOT HIMSELF IN CHILD'S PRESENCE.

While Talking With His Little Daughter Thomas F. Lane Took His Own Life.

FEARED A FATAL DISEASE.

SUICIDE A SON-IN-LAW OF SENATOR BLACKBURN; HAD GOOD INCOME.

He Had Been Despondent—Mrs. Lane Was Accidentally Shot Three Years Ago and Narrowly Escaped Death.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17—Thomas F. Lane, thirty-seven years old, editor of the Summit (N. J.) Record, a son in-law of Senator-elect Blackburn, of Kentucky, and agent in the United States for the Vickers Sons and Maxim Gun Company, of London, committed suicide last night by firing a bullet into his brain.

Mr. Lane shot himself while in a bedroom in his home, 1,749 K street, N. W. His daughter, Therese, four years old, was in the room when he shot himself and his wife was in an adjoining room. When she heard the report of the pistol Mrs. Lane ran the room, and realizing what had happened, called Dr. J. T. Johnson, who lives in the adjoining house. Messengers were sent for Drs. Jas. Kerr and W. P. Carr.

The physicians found that the bullet had entered Mr. Lane's head near the right ear and had passed upward through the brain, lodging in the skull at the top of the head. Nothing could be done except to make the unconscious man as comfortable as possible during the short time that he lived.

Mrs. Lane told Coroner Nevitt that Mr. Lane was at his office yesterday and returned home late in the afternoon and ate dinner with his wife and child. He intended going to the theatre in the evening, but changed his mind and remained at home until 9 o'clock, when he went out for a walk. He returned just before 11 o'clock and, bidding his wife and daughter good night, went to his room and prepared for bed.

Mrs. Lane lay down on a couch in a room adjoining her husband's room and the little girl went into her father's room, where Mrs. Lane heard her talking to her father. While the child was talking the pistol shot rang out.

Mr. Lane's action is said to have been due to fear that he was suffering from Bright's disease. He had been informed that he had this disease, and that it would probably result fatally if he did not take very good care of himself. He had been very despondent and had resorted to the use of stimulants.

Mrs. Lane came very near dying from a pistol shot wound about three years ago. The Lanes were then living in the Hotel Wellington. Mrs. Lane was getting some laces from a bureau drawer, when a revolver kept there was accidentally pulled out with the laces and in some manner was discharged. The bullet entered the woman's chest.

Mr. Lane married Miss Lucille Blackburn, the youngest of three daughters of Mr. Blackburn, six years ago. The London firm paid him a good salary, and he had other sources of income which enabled him to live in good style and provide his family with many luxuries.

Occupy Part of Sidewalk.

The employees of the Plainfield Gas Company, who are installing new mains on West Front street, not only occupy the street, but use half of the sidewalk with the dirt thrown out in making the excavation. This dirt is left on the walk at night making it dangerous for pedestrians. S. C. Peck, of West Front street, has notified Street Commissioner Gavett that he will not have dirt thrown on his walk, thereby spoiling the lawn in front of the property.

Tripped On a Blanket.

Mrs. Moses French, mother of Mrs. Morgan Bird, of Park avenue, tripped over a blanket she was carrying last Wednesday afternoon at the home of her daughter and sustained several bruises which confine her to her room. Dr. Endicott was summoned at once and learned upon examination that no bones were broken and that with careful treatment she would soon be around again.

Dropped Its Fire.

One of the Central's large freight engines, No. 427, dropped its fire at Richmond street last evening and was unable to proceed. The track was blocked for nearly two hours until the fireman renewed the fire.

PROMOTIONS MADE IN SCHOOL BATTALION.

Revised Roster of Officers for Plainfield High School Cadet Battalion.

WILL RECEIVE COMMISSIONS

BATTALION IS COMPOSED OF ONE HUNDRED AND TEN CADETS.

They are Divided into Three Companies—Townsend Mason is the Cadet Major—Drills Every Friday Morning.

Once a week the cadet battalion of the Plainfield High School turns out for drill in the school yard. The battalion, which is composed of all the boys of the High School, is considerably larger than it was last year and is divided into three fair-sized companies. There are 110 boys altogether. Many of last year's officers graduated or left school so a number of changes and promotions have been made. Adjutant W. Hooley Titus has just made public the list of promotions as arranged by the officers and A. B. Meredith, drill instructor of the corps, and duly approved by the faculty.

In order to give the offices in the battalion more dignity, the Board of Education has provided handsome commissions which will be issued to all the commissioned officers shortly. The commissions are well printed on heavy bond paper after the fashion of those in militia companies and are signed by the president of the Board and the Superintendent of Schools.

An hour every Friday morning is devoted to drill and the cadets are rapidly picking up the various manœuvres. The drill in the manual of arms will be started before the new year. The uniforms will be purchased shortly. Many of the boys have their last year's uniforms but some want new ones and others, who have none at present, are desirous of securing them.

The roster of the battalion, as revised to the present day, is as follows:

Field—Cadet major, D. Townsend Mason; cadet first lieutenant and adjutant, W. Holly Titus; cadet first lieutenant and quartermaster, C. H. Kinsman; sergeant major, Sheppard Randolph.

Company A—Cadet captain, Lawrence L. Tweedy; cadet first lieutenant, A. Mellick Tweedy; first sergeant, L. M. Bridgeman; second sergeant, Robert W. Meeker; third sergeant, Hervey K. Doane; fourth sergeant, Blanchard M. Fosgate; corporals, LeRoy Hallock, Ernest Whitney and Harvey Moynihan.

TO RE-OPEN COPPER MINES.

Work to be Resumed at the Old Shafts at Menlo Park.

Active preparations are now being made by the New Jersey Copper Mining Company to reopen the copper mines at Menlo Park. It has been known for a long time that a valuable vein of copper extended across Middlesex county, and while Thomas A. Edison had his laboratory and works at Menlo Park two shafts were sunk and copper in paying quantities was mined. On account of there being a dispute as to the title of the property the work was stopped.

Recently a compromise was effected between the heirs of the late Daniel Noe and the New Jersey Mining Company. The heirs, Mrs. A. J. Foote, of Rahway; her mother, Mrs. Phœbe Noe, and Comedian Frank Bush, hold a large portion of the stock in the company. Two expert mineralogists of New York made a thorough examination of the property recently and in their report stated that the chief mineral deposits consisted of copper, amber and mercury.

Dr. Whitney, of this city, who is greatly interested in the rebuilding of the Centenary Institute, at Hackettstown, has in his posession a copy of the plans for the new buildings. They are very elaborate and call for the erection of substantial and well-adapted structures for the use intended.

BACK FROM PEKING.

American Missionary and Family Tell Their Experiences.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 17.—The Rev. Courtney H. Fenn, an American missionary, who, with his wife and two children, was among those besieged in the Peking legations, has just reached his home at Pittston. Mrs. Fenn and the children accompanied him. All show the effects of their experiences and are still weak, thin and haggard.

Mr. Fenn said he was the miller during the siege and that he ground out several barrels of flour and cracked wheat every day. The American missionaries left their homes June 8 to defend the Methodist mission, where about 500 Chinese refugees were gathered. They helped materially in the building of trenches and barricades, but only a few were armed. Some had pistols, and a few others had spears. The windows were bricked up and loopholed, the castellated roof was excellent for sharpshooters, barbed wire fences were strung and every precaution taken to prevent surprise.

There was drill every evening, and the men kept on guard while the ladies made light clothes for the American marines who had only heavy clothing. The shell and musketry fire was almost continuous, and the loss of life would have been heavy had it not been for the sand bags which protected everything. There was nothing to make them of at first, but the force raided a temple and some stores and carried off brocades, silks and embroideries, and these, many worth several dollars a yard, were used for the sand bags which lined the walls.

A DEATHDEALING STORM.

Three Killed and Several Injured by Collapse of a Building.

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 17.—The storm late yesterday afternoon struck this place with frightful force and caused the death of three men, fatal injuries to at least two others and seriously injured three more. When the storm came up, these men were at work on the new building of the Mairn Linoleum works. The building was to have been a brick structure. It had frontages of 100 and 120 feet. The brick work had been carried to a height of 50 feet, and the iron and steel girders for the floors and roof had been put in, but the windows had not been put in place, and the roof was not covered.

The men were employed by John F. Lay, a contractor of this city, and were engaged in taking down the scaffolding inside and outside of the building. When the wind hit the building, it rushed through the openings and formed a whirlwind inside the walls, and in a moment the whole collapsed like an eggshell, and very few of the bricks remain in the position they were.

All four walls went down with a crash, and the nine men were buried under the avalanche of brick and steel. Rescuers were quickly at work, the dead bodies taken out and the injured removed to a hospital.

New National Banks.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—A statement prepared by the comptroller of the currency shows that applications have been approved under the act of March 14, 1900, for the organization of 496 new national banks with a total capital of $23,505,000. Of this number 373 will have a capital of less than $50,000 each and 123 of $50,000 or more. The number already organized and started in business is 331, having made deposits of bonds amounting to $5,128,470.

Fatal Fire In Detroit.

DETROIT, Oct. 17.—As a result of a fire which started soon after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the building at 15 Jefferson avenue, occupied by the Witchell Bros. company, limited, manufacturers of elk skin shoes, two men are dead and eight persons are more or less seriously hurt. The fire started in the basement, which was used as a storeroom for boxes and lumber. At first it was thought barrels of rubber cement had exploded. These were stored in an areaway under the alley, but after the fire was extinguished the barrels were found to be intact. The origin remains a mystery.

Costly Jewelry Stolen.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Charles Pfiser, who lives near Bernardsville, N. J., has reported to the police that David Richards, his butler, has disappeared, as well as diamond studded jewelry worth $20,000. Mrs. Pfiser was away from home and secreted her jewelry in the rooms of one of the maids, and it was from this room it was taken in the absence of the maid. The last heard of the butler was when he hired a horse and buggy Monday night and said he was going to Morristown. The police of the large cities have been notified.

Wants Dowie Suppressed.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The Daily Express editorially calls for police suppression of John Alexander Dowie, the Zionist, because of his "disorderly meetings and scurrilous attacks on other religions." As an illustration of his methods it cites his utterances yesterday, when he concluded his attack upon Roman Catholics by suggesting that all the priests should marry all the nuns. Commenting upon this, it says, "There are limits to tolerance, and when an apostle of a new creed becomes an offensive nuisance he ought to be suppressed."

Storm on Lake Ontario.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Oct. 17.—A terrific wind and rain storm broke over Oswego yesterday morning and continued all day. The temperature dropped 22 degrees in three hours, and the wind blew 36 miles from the northwest. The schooner Burton narrowly escaped being wrecked while trying to gain the harbor. Mariners have been warned of the storm.

CAPTIVES RELEASED.

Story of the Recovery of Shields and His Men.

HELD FOUR WEEKS BY FILIPINOS.

The Americans Were Ambushed and Captain Shields Badly Wounded In the Island of Marinduque—Hard Treatment and Much Suffering.

MANILA, Oct. 17.—Full details are now at hand as to the capture of Captain Devereaux Shields and his party by the insurgents in the island of Marinduque last month and their experiences prior to their rescue by General Luther R. Hare.

After four weeks of captivity, hard treatment, hunger and continual marching to avoid the rescuing force, which greatly aggravated the sufferings of the wounded, Captain Shields and his command were delivered by the rebels to General Hare last Sunday at Buena Vista, on the Marinduque coast.

Captain Shields and his party, while operating north of Torrijos, were taken in ambush in the steep hills. They attempted to cut their way to the coast, but became subjected to the enemy's four sided fire, Captain Shields being shot twice and badly wounded.

After four had been killed and five wounded, being out of ammunition, the command surrendered through a misunderstanding among themselves to 25 insurgent riflemen and 1,000 bolomen. The rebels separated their prisoners into small parties and conveyed them, heavily guarded, to impassable volcanic mountains.

On this news reaching Manila two companies of the Thirty-eighth volunteer infantry, under Colonel George S. Anderson, were immediately sent to Marinduque. This force was followed by eight companies of the First infantry, under General Hare. The combined force of 1,300 men proceeded to occupy all the towns in the island and to scour the country.

General Hare gave the rebels one week to surrender the prisoners and the latter's rifles. The Americans controlled the situation. The rebels perceived that it was only a question of time when the release of their prisoners would be effected, and they opened up communications with General Hare which resulted in the handing over of the captives, 13 of whom, the sick and wounded, were immediately sent to Manila by the gunboat Villalobos, Lieutenant Edward Simpson commanding. The Villalobos arrived here yesterday. Captain Shields is improving.

General Hare's command will remain in Marinduque. He has given the insurgents until Oct. 21 to surrender themselves and the 51 captured rifles. If they fail to comply, he will undertake an active punitive campaign.

Captain Shields and his companions suffered greatly at the hands of their captors, who robbed and maltreated them. The rebel officers had to restrain the bolomen from killing the Americans.

When wounded, Captain Shields was unable to move. He ordered his soldiers to go forward and to leave him, but they declined and fought stubbornly until they were overpowered.

Roosevelt In Ohio.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 17.—Not once since the great Blaine demonstration in 1886 has this city been so crowded with visitors as it was last night, the occasion of the appearance here of Governor Roosevelt. Every hotel was full, and thousands of those who came to hear or see the governor were cared for at the homes of residents of Columbus. Ten speeches made to large audiences since leaving Cincinnati at 8 o'clck in the morning had not impaired the governor's vocal organs, nor did he show any evidence of fatigue when he was introduced at the Auditorium at 9:30 p. m. An impatient throng had been awaiting him nearly two hours.

Florida Orange Crop.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 17.—A conservative estimate of Florida's orange crop this year places the yield at 1,000,000 boxes. An extra large yield will be had in Manatee, Hillboro and Desoto counties. The groves are in healthy condition, and within two weeks the fruit will begin to be marketed. Before the freeze in 1895, when the yield was 5,000,000 boxes, they sold at 50 cents, but this year the average price per box is $2.

BRYAN IN NEW YORK

Democratic Presidential Nominee Warmly Welcomed.

FOUR SPEECHES IN THE METROPOLIS

Preceded by a Reception and Banquet at the Hoffman House—The Speaker Seemed In the Best of Health and Spirits.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—William Jennings Bryan, Democratic and Populist candidate for president, arrived at the Grand Central depot at 2:55 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Looking fit for half a dozen speeches in the course of the evening instead of the four arranged for by the committee, Mr. Bryan made his formal entry into the city to meet with one of the greatest receptions ever accorded him in his whole life.

The enthusiasm of the thousands that filled the streets and railway station when they saw the leader of the Democratic hosts knew no bounds. A multitude followed him down Fifth avenue to the Hoffman House, running after his carriage and shouting, "Bryan, Bryan, Bryan!" at every step.

The Democratic nominee looked first bewildered, then delighted and as the carriage in which he sat rolled down the avenue took off his slouch hat and bowed right and left.

Richard Croker was the first to greet Mr. Bryan when he stepped off the private car Lucullus at the end of the train shed in the Grand Central yards. The train was on time, and the reception committee did not have to wait, though the streets were thronged for an hour before the candidate's arrival.

The Democratic candidate was dressed in a gray check suit that looked much the worse for travel. He also wore a travel stained black soft hat and a tie that had seen much service. But his face glowed as he grasped Mr. Croker's hand, and he looked the picture of health and spirits.

Mr. Bryan held an informal reception in the parlor of his suit at the Hoffman House and was then escorted to the dinner in the Moorish room.

Before he went to dinner Mr. Bryan tarried in his apartment for a few minutes, while the Rev. Dr. Sumner, pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran church, Brooklyn, presented to him a gold headed cane voted to him at a fair of the church.

Mr. Bryan spoke to large and enthusiastic audiences in four different places in the city. The first meeting was held in Madison Square Garden at 7:30 p. m. An hour later he appeared before a vast throng of waiting humanity on a stand erected at Twenty-fourth street and Madison avenue. After a short address there Mr. Bryan, escorted by Mr. Croker, was driven to Tammany hall. There he spoke for about half an hour. The last speech of the evening was at Cooper Union, where a large assemblage previously entertained by the Democratic candidates for governor and lieutenant governor, Messrs. Stanchfield and Mackey, gave the Nebraskan a generous welcome.

Mr. Bryan began his speech at Madison Square Garden by referring to the vast audience before him and said that it indicated an interest in the campaign which must be gratifying to all who realized the importance of the questions involved. He declared that he was not vain enough to accept the enthusiasm manifested as a personal tribute to himself because, he said, "the individual counts for nothing except that he may be the instrument used by the people to carry out their own will." He immediately entered upon a defense of the Democratic cause and said: "To say that the people gathered here who support our cause are the enemies of honest wealth is a slander which could not be uttered without the one who uttered it knew it to be false. We are not opposed to that wealth which comes as the reward of honest toil and is enjoyed by those who give to society something in return for that which society throws upon them. The Democratic party today is not only not the enemy of honest wealth, but the Democratic party of today is the best friend of that wealth that represents ability of muscle or of mind employed in its accumulation, but I deny that the wealth producers of the country are enjoying their share of the government's productions." At this point there were cries of "Hanna!" "Hanna!" Mr. Bryan merely responded by asking his audience not to trifle with a great name.

Taking up the subject of trusts, Mr. Bryan declared that they had grown under this administration more rapidly than ever before, and he asserted that the Republicans refused to meet the issues they created. He declared that the president "spends more time warning you not to hurt your good trusts than he does telling you how to hurt the bad ones." In the same connection he referred to the position of Governor Roosevelt and Senator Hanna on the subject of trusts, and the reference in both instances was met with groans and hisses. "Mr. Hanna says there are no trusts," Mr. Bryan went on. "Are you going to send a man out to hunt the trusts who knows where every trust treasure is, but says there are no trusts?" In response to this last interrogation a voice from the audience responded, "We will send you."

Mr. Bryan again quoted from President McKinley's inaugural address on the subject of trusts and charged that the president had neither enforced the existing antitrust laws nor recommended new ones. His attorney general, he said, draws his salary and permits the trusts to go and oppress the people. Mr. Bryan referred to the ice trust, declaring that apparently this was the only trust of which the Republicans had any knowledge. "If any Republican tells you," he said, "that the ice trust is hurting the people, you tell him that you have so much confidence in the Republican governor that you know he would not be out west making speeches if the people were suffering from the ice trust." This remark was received with cheers.

Mr. Bryan outlined his remedy for trusts, which was to put on the free list every trust made article and to require trust corporations to take out a license and undergo strict scrutiny in all other states than those in which they were organized. He expressed conviction that we were approaching a period of industrial despotism, "where a few men will control each great branch of industry, when every person who buys finished products will buy at a trust price, where every person who furnishes raw material will furnish it at a trust price and where every man who works for wages will work for wages fixed by the trust." Such a condition as this meant, he said, serfdom for the people, for a government of the people, by the people and for the people was impossible under the reign of the trust.

Mr. Bryan referred to the charge that he was responsible for the continuation of the war in the Philippine Islands and said: "If I am guilty of this charge, then who is responsible for the fact that our forefathers fought the same battle 100 years before I was born? They should know," he continued, "that it was the Almighty, who when he gave life to the Filipino gave him the love of liberty. They should know that it was God who linked together in every human breast life and liberty, and what God has joined together let not the Republican party rend asunder."

Mr. Bryan accused the Republican party with a desire to evade the Philippine question and said that that party was so sordid that it desired to put the dollar above the man and make money more precious than human life. He declared that we could not buy the right to govern people. If we had any title to the Filipinos, it was a title based on force, and such a title was not good according to American ideas.

Bryan's Programme In New Jersey.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The programme of W. J. Bryan's visit to northeastern New Jersey, which will be on Oct. 25, has been arranged. He will be met at the Marion station, Jersey City, at 7 p. m. by a committee and Democratic clubs and will make an address. He will then be escorted to St. Joseph's hall, where he will speak, and then to St. Peter's hall, where a third address will be made. Next day Mr. Bryan will talk at 8:30 a. m. in the Lyric theater, Hoboken, and will then go to Orange, Summit, Morristown and Dover.

Two Expeditions Massacred.

ROME, Oct. 17.—The Tribuna publishes correspondence from Asmara, southwest of Massowah, describing the massacre of an expedition to Lake Assal. The expedition is said to have been composed of British, but it is more likely that the members were French, as the lake is situated in possessions ceded to France by Emperor Menelik of Abyssinia. It seems that the column, numbering 200, went to Lake Assal to obtain the tax on salt exported. The natives replied that they had no money, but would give cattle. To this the chief of the expedition agreed. Thereupon a large number of natives entered the camp of the expedition on various pretexts and massacred the disarmed members during bivouac. A second expedition was sent to assist or avenge the first, but it is believed that this also met with a similar fate.

Was Empress Frederick Married?

BERLIN, Oct. 17.—The report that Dowager Empress Frederick was married last April to Baron Seckendorff, who was hofmeister under Emperor Frederick, although widely circulated abroad, had always been strenuously denied here until the present crisis in her disease. Now, however, it is being circulated and accepted, together with a number of fresh details, such as that the marriage occurred in England. It is said that the principal malady of the dowager empress is cancer of the kidneys. According to the latest bulletins she is somewhat better, but a fatal result is generally expected by the public.

Girl Prisoner Costs Ten Lives.

EL PASO, Tex., Oct. 17.—George C. Beveridge, a resident of San Francisco and one of the owners of the Dolores mine in Mexico, brings news of a tragedy in the vicinity of his mine and of a condition of affairs unparalleled in a civilized community. A young girl was abducted from her home by a man who was enamored of her and kept a close prisoner in a cave for three months. During that time ten men were killed because of her. The last of these butcheries occurred a few days before Mr. Beveridge left the mines for the United States.

Hanna's Speaking Tour.

WATERTOWN, S. D., Oct. 17.—Senator Hanna's train stopped at 14 towns in Minnesota and South Dakota during yesterday, with Watertown for the principal stopping place. At nearly every town of any importance through the valley of the Minnesota river and across the prairies of western Minnesota and eastern South Dakota Senators Hanna and Frye and Victor Dolliver of Iowa made speeches varying in length from 2 to 20 minutes. Large crowds were present at nearly every stopping place.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Up to yesterday $3,419,373 had been paid to census enumerators who made the enumeration for the twelfth census. These men numbered nearly 53,000, and all but about a couple hundred of them have been paid off. Those who have been settled with averaged an earning of $64.94 each, which is about $10 each more than was paid for similar work in the taking of the eleventh census.

CAPTURE OF PAO-TING-FU.

Doubted In London—Southern Rebellion Spreading.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—There is no confirmation of the reported capture of Pao-ting-fu, of which, according to the Shanghai Echo, M. Dechine, the French consul there, has received news. The report is generally discredited in London, especially as there is no direct telegraphic communication between Shanghai and Pao-ting-fu.

Hongkong dispatches tell of the continued spread of the southern rebellion. The Hongkong correspondent of The Daily Express sends a report that the British torpedo boat destroyer Handy shelled 2,000 rebels who were advancing on San-chun, killing 40 and wounding hundreds.

A dispatch from Shanghai, dated Oct. 16, says that official confirmation has been received of the report that the Russian southern army has occupied Fiehling, the terminus of the Shan-hai-kwan railway. The occupation was effected Oct. 4.

Pao-ting-fu Expedition Unopposed.

TIEN-TSIN, via Shanghai, Oct. 17.—The expedition against Pao-ting-fu had met with no opposition up to Oct. 14. Reports received by courier say that a column of 500 French, marching to Hsien-hsien to relieve a party of French priests, met with no opposition in the six days' march to the south. The fourth brigade of the British is now arriving. The Americans have evacuated the arsenal, which has been turned over to the provisional city government.

MORE FIGHTING REPORTED.

Lord Roberts' Forces Have Several Encounters With Boers.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Lord Roberts reports from Pretoria under date of Oct. 15 as follows:

"French started from Machadodorp toward Heidelberg to clear a part of the country not yet visited by our troops.

"Mahon, commanding the mounted troops, successfully engaged the enemy on Oct. 13, but our losses were severe, three officers and eight men being killed and three officers and 25 men wounded.

"French occupied Carolina yesterday, capturing a convoy during his march."

Lord Roberts also reports a number of minor affairs, showing that the Boers are still active over a wide field.

The British re-entered Bloemhof, near Kimberley, Oct. 14, unopposed and captured 50 Boers.

Boer Commando Suffers.

DURBAN, Oct. 17.—Near Vryheid a Boer commando was taken in ambuscade by Bethune's mounted infantry, the Boers losing 60 killed, 35 wounded and 65 taken prisoners.

Preparing For Northern Exploration

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Mr. Evelyn B. Baldwin, an ambitious explorer of the arctic regions, was at the state department yesterday and secured passports and letters to consuls at the northernmost points of civilization in Europe and Asia for use in his proposed expedition to the north pole next spring. Mr. Baldwin says it is his desire to place the American flag as near the north pole as possible, and he hopes to be able to reach a point farther north than any other explorer, including those now in the field. His expedition is backed by New York capitalists.

Whisky Trust Case.

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 17.—Vice Chancellor Emory sat in extraordinary session here yesterday evening to listen to argument on the third writ applied for in the fight against the whisky trust by some of the minority stockholders. It asked that a temporary receiver be appointed and that an injunction issue forbidding the holding of the annual meeting in Jersey City today. At the conclusion of the hearing the vice chancellor announced he would deny the application and there would be no receivership.

His body was hung by the side of the railroad in view of passengers on the cars.

Coal Carrying Companies Confer With Headquarters.

SCRANTON RESOLUTIONS UNNOTICED

Operators Opposed to Any Recognition of the Miners' Union In Their Transactions—Strikers Think Companies Will Yield.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 17.—The representatives of the coal carrying companies here have been in communication with headquarters in New York regarding the settlement of the miners' strike. The resolutions adopted by the Scranton convention were mailed to all the coal companies and individual operators. They all bore the seal of the United Mine Workers' organization, and there was a request that a prompt reply to the communication would be thankfully received.

The communication still remains on the desks of some of the coal companies unopened. The reason for this is some of the operators do not want to commit themselves in any way as recognizing the miners' union.

To enter into any negotiations with the officers of the organization would, in the opinion of the operators, be an admission that the operators recognized the union. One operator said last night: "Once we enter into correspondence with the United Mine Workers we are going to have the same trouble the operators in the bituminous region have. There will be nothing but correspondence all the time, and the owners of a mine will not know whether they are running it or the United Mine Workers are running it for them."

The strikers here profess not to be discouraged with the outlook. They say eventually the companies will give in and the men will be ordered back to work.

CALL FOR TROOPS DENIED.

Quiet Day at Headquarters—Marching Strikers Return.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 17.—The report that Frank Pardee, manager of the Calvin Pardee & Co. colliery at Cranberry, had requested the governor to send troops into Luzerne county is not exactly correct. Mr. Pardee denied that he had done so, but said he and Governor Stone had talked on the advisability of having soldiers in this region. It is Mr. Pardee's belief that if troops were stationed here it would have considerable effect in the way of keeping the peace and preventing marches. Mr. Pardee added that the governor told him he would refer the matter to Brigadier General Gobin, who is now on duty in Schuylkill county.

Yesterday was exceedingly quiet around the headquarters of the United Mine Workers. President Mitchell spent most of the day in disposing of the mail which had accumulated during the miners' convention last week. Mr. Mitchell said he had received no communication or even an intimation that the operators would accept the proposition made by the convention.

It was long after nightfall when the last of the strikers who marched to the Panther Creek valley returned. They were for the most part footsore and weary. The distance of 18 miles from Hazleton to Coaldale is principally down grade, and the walk there was scarcely noticed by the enthusiastic strikers. The up hill march back home, however, with the added facts of a sleepless night and a failure to accomplish their purpose, tended to dampen their ardor somewhat.

Troops Disperse Marching Miners.

LANSFORD, Pa., Oct. 17.—About 1,500 men and 60 women and girls marched 18 miles from the south side of Hazleton region for the Panther Creek valley, where they expected to close all of the ten collieries of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company. But just as they were nearing their destination they were met on a mountain road by three companies of infantry and at the point of the bayonet were driven back four miles to Tamaqua and dispersed. Another crowd of 800 strikers from the north side of Hazleton also marched here and succeeded in closing the company's No. 1 colliery at Nesquehoning, near Mauch Chunk, before it was scattered.

More Schools For Havana.

HAVANA, Oct. 17.—General Wood sailed for the United States yesterday by the Ward line steamer Yucatan. He will go direct to Washington. Just before leaving he signed an order authorizing the establishment of 22 additional public schools in the province of Havana. Mr. Martin C. Fosnes, acting director general of posts, who was removed eight days ago to Las Animas hospital, suffering, it was then supposed, from yellow fever, has been discharged from the hospital. There are two cases of yellow fever on the revenue cutter Baracoa, now in Havana harbor. General Maximo Gomez is ill at Calabazar.

Postal Telegraph Crippled.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—For the third time since it was erected the tall Postal Telegraph building at Broadway and Murray street was visited by fire last night, and the chief loser by the flames, water and smoke was the Hardware club, which had its second experience of the kind in the building. In addition to the direct loss by fire and water the telegraph business was seriously interfered with, more than 650 wires leading to all parts of the country being rendered useless till the fire was out. The loss was estimated at $20,000.

Good News From Porto Rico.

Tom Lane's Suicide.

That the vigorous, energetic and ambitious young fellow, Tom Lane, known to all men who have taken any interest in the public affairs of Union county, could have deliberately ended his own life, seems almost impossible, and yet it is a fact. The news that Mr. Lane was a victim to the grim reaper by the work of his own hand, the desperate act being performed in his home in Washington yesterday, was startling in a degree to those who knew him so well in this vicinity.

For many years Mr. Lane was actively identified with the political affairs of the Democratic party in Union county, having served several terms in the State Legislature as a member of the House of the Assembly. One term he was elevated to the position of Speaker of the House. As an editor he was trenchant and forceful in his writings, his vigorous treatment of subjects coming under his attention sometimes making him enemies as well as friends. That did not worry him, however, for he was of the disposition that made him rugged and positive in his convictions. An example of this characteristic in his political record was when he broke with his party on the race track legislation and other matters of some interest to the politicians.

Recently Mr. Lane had been spending most of his time in Washington, where it is said that he had prospered abundantly by shrewd business deals. His suicide is said to have been caused by despondency due to the knowledge that he was afflicted with Bright's disease. To his friends in Union county, though, as they know him, it seems almost incredible that Tom Lane should have taken his own life.

The Democrats of Union county can count themselves among the lucky partisans of the State in view of the fact that their Presidential candidate will visit and speak in this bailiwick twice within the same year. Considering that such a thing is generally only possible in great centers of population and influence, it is something worthy of Democratic congratulation. Mr. Bryan's visit to this city last February as a personal guest of James E. Martine will be long remembered, and now it is announced that he is to stop off at Elizabeth on October 25th and to speak to the thousands that will gather there to hear him discuss the issues in the present campaign. As great an assemblage as he brought together in Plainfield before he was the formal nominee of the party, the crowd that he will attract in Elizabeth in the last days of an important National political struggle ought to and probably will be much greater.

The New Brunswick Home calls attention to the fact that Sheriff Barclay, of Middlesex county, has had fourteen prisoners escape from his custody in the jail since he went into office last November. That, indeed, is a record that no other county in Jersey can equal; but we imagine that very few would like to. The Home News charges that the Sheriff is personally to blame for this condition of affairs because of his desire to be paid by the county for the board of the prisoners incarcerated in the jail, but not to provide ordinary precautions against their escape. If this charge is true the Middlesex bastile cannot be much more than a boarding house—with the county paying the bills.

Frank Gettleman, the manager of a New York business house which handles a newly invented household tool, ascribes the extraordinary success of his firm chiefly to the thorough advertising of that article. He says: "We did not attempt to sell or to send out traveling salesmen or agents until we had advertised extensively. It is our experience that all our 'ads' bring some returns." What newspaper advertising does for one thing it will do for any other article that is equally meritorious.

A farmer in Southern Missouri recently received some garden seeds from the Department of Agriculture in an official envelope, on the outside of which was printed the usual warning: "Penalty for Private Use, $300." He immediately sent them back, with a letter to the effect that he had not used one of them and was not subject to any fine.

Governor Voorhees has tendered to Oberlin Smith, of Bridgeton, the position as New Jersey Commissioner to the Pan American Exposition, to be held at Buffalo. Mr. Smith, who has just returned from the Paris Exposition, has decided to accept the position.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

A story is told concerning the first public appearance of a well-known Plainfielder who died not long ago. He was then only a little lad and was expected to take part in some exercises to be held at one of the local churches. With a number of others, he was to stand on the platform and, when his turn came, recite the Biblical quotation, "It is I, be not afraid." The youngester took his place on the platform but as the time drew near, he began to feel decidedly nervous. When at length his turn came the lad had forgotton entirely what was to be done. He twisted his fingers, caught hold of his trousers and thought. The words didn't come back to him but the sense of the quotation did so he promptly spoke out: "It's me, don't get scared."

With the notice of the sixth annual meeting of the New Jersey State Federation of Womens Clubs to be held in the High Street Presbyterian church, Newark, Oct. 26th, next, the Newark Evening News of Saturday gives a full page history of the federation. Accompaning the interesting article are pictures of some of the promoters of thd organization, among them being Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of Madison avenue. Mrs. Hall is chairman of the committee on education. Her name was sent in nomination for the presidency this year with a number of others, all of whom have withdrawn in favor of Mrs. Stewart Hartshorn, of Short Hills. It is intimated that Mrs. Hall will allow her name to stand at the convention, but that is scarcely likely. The article refers to Mrs. Hall's position as a Suffragist in these words: "It is well known that Mrs. Hall's suffrage views are a stumbling block in the path to the presidency, for it is argued that her name and personality stand for suffrage. It is also well known that even this high office would never induce Mrs. Hall to bolt her political party or repudiate the New Jersey Women's Suffrage Association, of which she is president."

Gentlemen:—Our family realize so much from the use of GRAIN-O that I feel I must say a word to induce others to use it. If people are interested in their health and the welfare of their children they will use no other beverage. I have used them all but GRAIN-O I have found superior to any, for the reason that it is solid grain.

Yesterday the Jury gave a verdict in favor of the company.

THEY WILL GATHER FROM ALL PARTS OF UNION COUNTY.

Convention to be Held in Trinity Reformed Church in This City Thursday, Oct. 25th.

A varied and interesting programme has been arranged for the twentieth annual convention of the Union County Sunday-school Association, which will be held Thursday, Oct. 25th, in this city.

The convention will meet in Trinity Reformed church, and sessions will be held at 10:30 a. m. and 2:30 and 7:30 p. m. Every Sunday-school in the county is urged to send representatives, and thus contribute to the interest and success of the convention.

The morning session will consist largely of the reading of reports and other convention business. Rev. Arthur E. Main, D. D., will conduct a "round table" on the home department work, and an address upon the work throughout the State will be given by the State secretary, Rev. E. Morris Fergusson, of Trenton.

At the close of the morning session luncheon will be served by the ladies of Trinity church, and from 1:30 to 2:30 p. m. conferences as follows will be held: Pastors and superintendents, led by H. H. Dawson; teachers and students, led by Rev. H. A. Bomberger; primary and junior teachers, led by Miss Edith Cairds.

At the afternoon session devotional services will be conducted by Rev. N. W. Cadwell, of Westfield. Rev. H. A. Bomberger will deliver an address on "Decision Day" and graded school will be considered by William Macgeorge. The State association will again be represented by one of its officers, when C. B. Parsons, its president, will make an address. Reports of committees, the election of officers and a presentation of primary ideas and methods will close the afternoon session. This latter feature will be in charge of the Plainfield Primary Union.

A song service at 7:30 p. m. will open the evening session, and devotional exercises will follow. The reports of township secretaries will be given and an address will be delivered by C. D. Meigs, associate editor of the Sunday-School Evangel. Mr. Meigs is well-known as an indefatigable Sunday-school worker and a very entertaining speaker. His subject will be "Old Fogy and New Fogy Sunday-Schools," and he will likely have a large audience.

THEATRICAL

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

Even before the pictorial advertisements of that beautiful play, "Human Hearts," which will be presented at Music Hall tomorrow night, were posted in windows and on the boards about town, its praises reached us, so quickly flies the news of any great dramatic success. Not written for scholars, it is yet enjoyed by such; not written for the illiterate, it is yet to them absorbing in interest. It is a play for all. It deals with humanity, the universal elements of life. In its unfoldment by illustrations it teaches moral lessons and we are told there is no better preaching than by example. Sustained interest and pervading charm are pronounced qualities found in this play. It takes complete possession of the spectator, and after moving him now to tears, now to laughter, holding him in anxious suspense and satisfying his sense of justice, sends him home thinking. Its influence lasts long after the fall of the curtain. That "Human Hearts" will meet with a warm greeting at the hands of our theatre-goers is a foregone conclusion.

THE NEW WOMAN

BY ELIZA ARCHARD CONNER

The casting of the presidential ballot by the two daughters of Secretary Long of the navy will be a white milestone in the progress of woman suffrage. The passive, unreasoning opposition of women of wealth and fashion to the emancipation of their sex is the heaviest obstacle it has to contend with. Women of so called first society have all that heart could wish in the way of material things. Never do they feel the pinch of poverty, never the grinding down of wages, the narrowing of opportunity, the openly expressed contempt of men for them intellectually that result from lack of political power. Their higher, more serious aspirations are broken and scattered by the tide of frivolities in which they swim. When a woman in the front rank of social life proclaims herself in favor of woman suffrage, it is therefore a great gain to progress. Three ladies of Secretary Long's household will vote this November in Colorado, his two daughters and their grandmother, Mrs. Glover. One of the young women is a graduate of the medical school of Johns Hopkins university. The other was one of the most brilliant and accomplished ladies of the cabinet circle in Washington. Their names were entered upon the lists months ago. On the Tuesday following the first Monday in November their delicate fingers will drop a freeman's ballot into the polling box at Colorado Springs. This being the first time in our history that a lady of the cabinet ever voted for president, the act will be historic. It will start vibrations as a trumpet note casts them on the air. They will spread in waves throughout the Union. The story will be cabled to Europe. Queen Victoria and her princess daughters will learn that the American woman has political rights from which they themselves for all their royal blood are barred. It is splendid. If cabinet ladies can afford to vote, other women the country over will presently see a great light.

To the men of America: Finland has made women eligible to all municipal offices, that, too, without any special effort on the part of women themselves. Go ye and do likewise.

* * *

Mme. Sarah Grand need not have named her last admirable story "Babs the Impossible." Babs is no more impossible than Mme. Grand's other fascinating girls.

What we call our sensitiveness is often only bad temper.

It is worth a woman's gaining citizenship in Colorado and journeying thither every year just to cast her freeman's ballot.

One of the mighty joys of being at home in my native country after more than two years' absence is the possession of plenty of those invaluable rubber straps and bands to hold my letters and papers together. The benighted peoples of other lands than ours know them not. Even in British postoffices the clerk solemnly and profoundly winds a yard or two of string about a small bundle of letters and unwinds it in the same way when you ask him for your mail. Let us think on our mercies in America.

Another woman has been appointed to the post of quarantine officer by the British government. She is Dr. Bonte Amos and is on duty in Egypt, at Suez. When is the United States going to make one of our highly educated and capable women physicians quarantine inspector at a seaport? Answer—When women have the right to vote and elect presidents and congressmen.

The woman who can light two kerosene lamps with one match and lift the shades and chimneys off and on again while she does it may be called a true economist.

Charles Reade always contended that woman was stronger in the back and loins than man. Mrs. Charles Bally of West Orange, N. J., says so too. What is more, she has proved it in her own case. Her husband, the estimable Mr. Charles Bally, prided himself on his power and skill in the light and gentle exercise of sledge swinging. He had beaten several of the men in his neighborhood and was lifted up accordingly in his mind. His wife, 27 years old and weighing 160 pounds, bet $5 she could beat him. Two 12 pound sledges were selected, and husband and wife each began at the same instant thumping a block of wood in the yard. Charles began to pant at the end of an hour. His pride kept him up to it 20 minutes more, however. Then, crushed by the sense of his frail, weak masculinity, he threw down the sledge and abandoned the struggle against the stronger sex. Mrs. Charles continued batting a while longer, just to show she was not tired, then laid down her hammer and coolly claimed her $5. This is a true story of the new woman.

The woman who spends her spare hours doing fancy work and embroidering cushion covers, rough and unpleasant feeling to lie upon, is as wise as the man who puts in a year carving the Declaration of Independence upon a gourd.

They think they can—are positive they can—are willing to argue they can—yet five minutes explanation convinces them for all time they were mistaken. The chances are that all you have guessed about this matter is wrong.

A scientific truss should never touch the pubic bone, never press the spermatic cord or any other delicate parts, should never have under-straps, should always be easy on the back and should hold the rupture at the internal ring so as not to allow any part of it to lodge in the inguinal canal.

Can you locate the internal ring? If not you are guessing wrong for that is the "A.B.C" to start from.

HOW TO STAIN WOOD.

Formulas That Have Long Been Used by Professionals and Are Available for Amateurs.

The following suggestions, for which the Decorators' Gazette is responsible, are equally available for amateur and professional workers in wood, but if followed at all they should be followed strictly, inasmuch as some of the substances mentioned are dangerous.

If it is desired to stain any wood yellow, first coat the timber with a hot concentrated solution of picric acid and afterward dry and polish. Great care must be exercised when using this stain, as picric acid is poisonous. To procure a gray tint, apply a solution of one part nitrate of silver to 50 parts of distilled water; then coat the wood with a solution of ferric acetate until the requisite shade is produced. This preparation must not be allowed to touch the hands. No matter what may be the stain required, always take care to use only the very best ingredients, and then if the work is not a success the failure is with the workman and not the tools, and the keynote of successful staining is to remember that the agent employed is to color the wood without spoiling or obliterating the natural transparent richness of the wood grain.

To obtain a rich purple boil one ounce of madder and half an ounce of fustic in two gallons of water, and when boiling brush over the wood with the solution until the requisite degree of intensity has been obtained, and then with a weak solution of nitiric acid, afterward finishing with the following mixture: Put nine ounces of dragon's blood and two ounces of soda, both well bruised, into six pints of spirits of wine. Let the mixture stand in a warm place and shake frequently, and when using lay on with a soft brush, repeating the coats till a proper color has been obtained. Afterward polish with linseed oil or finish with varnish.

To obtain a good mahogany stain dissolve two ounces of dragon's blood in one quart of turpentine. To get a good and cheap walnut stain dissolve some dry burnt umber in vinegar, or mix one pound of dry Venetian red with one pint of asphalt and one quart of turpentine. A fine red brown can be imparted to maple, or a good yellow brown to oak and fir by the application of a solution composed of 50 parts of commercial alizarine in 1,000 parts of water, to which ammonia is gradually added till its presence can be perceived by the sense of smell. It must then be brushed over with a one per cent. solution of chloride of barium, when the maple will take a dark brown tint, and the oak and fir a brown hue of less intensity. If instead of the barium a two per cent. solution of sulphate of magnesia be employed, a dark violent brown will be obtained on the maple and a dark brown on the oak and fir. Alum and sulphate of magnesia will make the first-named timber a vivid red and the other woods a blood red. Chrome and alum give to maple fir a reddish brown and to oak a fine Havana brown.

KALSOMINING PUMP.

It Cover a Big Area Quicker Than a Brush Will and Does the Work More Thoroughly.

Paint and whitewash are now applied on a large scale to cars, stone walls and buildings by means of a special pump. The immense edifices in which the world's fair at Chicago was held in 1893 were coated in this manner. Railway companies often paint their freight cars with such apparatus, too. It is alleged that two men can with a pump do the labor that would require 30 if the brush were employed. The great advantage of the system, of course, is the saving of time effected by it. Although a kalsomining pump is on the market, it does not seem impracticable to use for this purpose apparatus used for spraying plants with poison, provided that the pump is cleaned before and after using.

KALSOMINING PUMP AT WORK.

Ox Races in Germany.

An ox race is held in many of the provincial districts of Germany. The entry fee for the race is very small, but each ox entered must be ridden by its owner. Furthermore, the rider is not allowed to have either whip or spurs, and he must ride his animal bareback and depend entirely upon his voice to guide the beast. It is here that the skill of the rider comes into play, as everything depends on the training of the ox and the ability of the owner to direct its movements despite the distracting noises of the other competitors and spectators. As the oxen do not race on a track to direct them is no easy matter. The rider who can force his lumbering steed to go in a straight line is certain to win.—N. Y. Times.

The Favorite Autumn Sports of CHICAGO'S Small Boys

This is the time of year when the vacant lots—and they are numerous in Chicago — are put to good use. There is a youthful football eleven, or a baseball nine, or a hockey team for every one of these lots. It is because of these vacancies in the broad prairies that Chicago is classed as a small boy's paradise, and upon them he is improving each shining moment these ideal days of autumn.

Wants to Be a League Twirler.

There is as great a difference in the games played by the youthful sons of the city as there is in the classes of people. The small boy who lives out on the West side in the neighborhood of the National league park considers baseball of prime importance. He is an enthusiastic "fan" at the league games when so fortunate as to capture a ball that has gone astray over the fence and is admitted through the gate for its return.

If he cannot get inside the fence he starts an opposition game on the vacant block of ground just outside, where he claims to play better ball than is to be seen from the "bleachers," and certainly attracts quite as much, if not more, of an audience.

To the boy living in the vicinity of the National league park nothing matters much but baseball. He gives better attention to his "nine" than he does to his school, and so long as he wins the neighborhood "pennant" he cares but little how many lessons he misses or what his percentage at school may be.

It is from these enthusiastic youths that the enthusiastic baseball "fans" grow, and the vacant lot contests send many a man to swell the gate receipts at the ball park.

What would the enthusiasm of these youthful admirers of the national game be if Chicago should happen to win a pennant some year? But that is talking of impossibilities.

Football on the South Side.

It is not many miles from the National league ball park on the West side to the Chicago university on the South side, yet the small boy of the university neighborhood knows nothing of the sport for which his West side cousin stands ready to bleed and die.

Is Ambitious to Be a Fullback.

There was a time, not longer ago than last spring, when baseball had its following around the university, but at the present time football holds full sway, and every boy in the neighborhood has the laudable ambition of becoming in time a second Capt. Cal Speed, of the 'varsity eleven.

The university has made football popular in Chicago. But a very few years ago a game of football, even between good elevens, attracted but a small audience, but to-day the big grand stands at Marshall field are usually crowded for any game that is announced.

This popularity has proven a boon to more than the university. The medical schools, the dental schools, the preparatory schools and the city high school all have football elevens, and all have profited by the popularity the university has given the sport.

And, speaking of football, some idea may be had of the growth of the game from the number of balls that are manufactured. There is one factory in Chicago that is turning out every day more than 2,000 football "bladders," and are even then running behind from 500 to 800 a day in their orders. But few of them are ever lost or bursted, so what do you suppose becomes of them? Five years ago this same factory had trouble in selling 10,000 a season. Now they sell more than that in one week, and the demand is far greater than the supply.

Golf the Game of the Wealthy.

There is still another autumn game that attracts much attention from the small boys of Chicago that cannot be said to have been centralized as baseball and football have been. It is golf, or hockey, which is golf without the frills. It is played in the vacant lots of the North, West and South sides, but it is the boys of wealthy parents that play it. The boy whose papa is a millionaire merchant, or a millionaire packer, or a millionaire anything for that matter, favors golf because he must follow in the footsteps of his sire and be fashionable.

The Game of the Wealthy Son.

Along the Lake Shore drive, on the North side, the youngsters play golf under police protection in the "District of Lake Michigan," regardless of Capt. Streeter. In this they are favored above the boys of either the South or West sides, as the sand heaps and great piles of wreckage scattered along the lake shore make excellent bunkers and obstacles of all kinds, and the boy who keeps inside the "bogey" on the "District of Lake Michigan" course is certainly in form to become a second Vardon.

There is one feature of this craze for golf among the small boys that is to be commended. It gives employment to the boys less favored in this world's goods as caddies. The young scion of wealth believes that a "caddy" is quite as necessary to vacant lot golf as it is to his father's game at Onwentsia. For this reason many a stray dime finds its way into the pockets of the poorer children. This makes golf a popular game with the poor as well as the rich.

Some prefer the old-fashioned games to any of the later ones, and lacrosse, croquet and hand ball are not without supporters, while such games as "tag" and "I spy" have quite a respectable following.

The Chicago Water Tower.

Chicago has outgrown the North side water tower. Its 136 feet of brick and stone offer no attractions to the proud Chicagoan who starts out to show his down east relation a "real city."

Just as High as it Ever Was.

There was a time when no visitor could get in and out of Chicago without seeing the water tower. In its halcyon days it was the pride of every man living within the municipal limits, and every visitor was forced to climb its numberless steps to view the city and lake from its top.

But no one goes there now; no one climbs its steps or views the city from its top; no one even talks of it, and fortunate, indeed, is the visitor who hears that Chicago has a water tower. Even the would-be suicides have abandoned it as a means of ridding themselves of life. This class of the population have long since found that the high bridge across the lagoon in Lincoln park was much better adapted to their needs, and have given the stately old tower the "go-by."

Yet the old tower is just as high as it ever was, and age has but improved its picturesqueness. Now the brick scarcely show through the vines that cling to its ancient walls, and the little windows that encircle it are almost hidden by the vines.

The trouble is the tower has not kept pace with the growth of the city. It does not satisfy the Chicagoan's love for bigness and highness as it once did. While once the pride of the city because of its height, it to-day looks like a pigmy beside the many tall buildings all over the city. To-day the children who play in the little park around it scarcely stop to wonder at its height.

Art Institute Opens.

The first of October the Chicago art institute started on its twenty-second year of usefulness to Chicago. During the 21 years that it has lived it has struggled from a mere nothing in the world of art to an envied place among the institutions of its kind in this country, and world-famous sculptors and painters look back to it as the place where they first began the successful career that is theirs.

All Sorts of Fantastic Attire.

This year 2,000 students are enrolled at the institute. They represent every class and every nationality of people. Among them may be some whose work will live through coming ages as masterpieces, and many—but why prophesy failure for any of them?

The art institute gives to Chicago what little of Bohemian life it knows, which is not much. In the basement of the handsome Michigan avenue structure are the class rooms. There the young men and women learn their first lessons in the life that has much of romance and much of privation. There they enjoy the Bohemian freedom which is the flavoring of an artist's life. One sees them dressed in all sorts of fantastic attire that students in any other class of school would be almost ashamed of. Big, bright-colored calico aprons are the rule with the girls, and white duck garments the rule with the boys.

Many of them leave the institute to become struggling illustrators, selling their wares wherever there is a market to be found. They huddle together, half a dozen in one small studio, and share each other's joys and pleasures and privations. And of the privations there are many for the most of them. The demand for art, as they understand it, is comparatively small, and in time most of them find places as newspaper illustrators, scene painters, etc., at none of which the pay is so very large.

Incidents in the Life of GEN. ROBERTS

The Commander Has Worked Up from a Junior Subaltern to the Command of the English Army

FROM a junior subaltern to command of England's glorious army is a long road, and one that is not often traveled without the influence of a name connected with either royalty or the nobility behind the traveler, but that it is possible for every soldier of the queen to achieve this distinction is proven by Lord Roberts' promotion.

A little less than half a century ago Lord Roberts entered the British military service in India. True he had been practically a part of the service since his birth, for he was born in the army, the son of a soldier, but it was not until 1851 that he was commissioned an officer, in the service he had followed so long.

He is a son of Gen. Sir Abraham Roberts, of the Indian service, and was born at Cawpore, India, September 14, 1832. It was as an officer in his father's command that he first entered the military service. Six years after he had entered the service came the terrible Sepoy rebellion in India, and in the campaign that followed the young officer proved himself well worthy the trust placed in him by the government that had commissioned him.

Through the memorable siege of Delhi he served as a lieutenant of artillery in the native army, and during this siege he was wounded and had his horse shot under him. After the fall of Delhi he took part in the campaign for the relief of stricken Lucknow, and also served with distinction in other campaigns during the mutiny.

LORD ROBERTS, NEW COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF THE BRITISH ARMY.

Acts of great personal bravery were not the exception during those terrible times in India, however, and while he, like any number of other officers, was mentioned in official dispatches for his bravery, it was not until 1860 that he received his promotion to a captaincy. In 1867 he left India for a year to take part in a war with Abyssinia, in which he also attracted favorable notice from his superiors. It was not until the campaign against Lushai in 1871-72 that he was given command of a field force and permitted to display the wonderful ability that was to eventually give him command of the English army and place him in the list of the century's greatest soldiers.

It was in the Afghan campaign that Gen. Roberts achieved the success that has made his name a household word in England, and gave to him a title that is the more valued both by himself and the English people, because well earned.

Of the three English armies, numbering all together but 34,000 men, that invaded Afghanistan, Lord Roberts commanded the smallest. His force numbered but 6,000 men, but with this he won the brilliant battles that resulted in the fall of Kabul and Kandahar. Of the two the latter achievement gave him his glory and his title of Baron of Kandahar, but of the two he considers the advance on Kabul a much greater achievement than the march from that place to Kandahar. In his "Forty-One Years in India" he says that his only explanation for the fact that the world regards the latter exploit as greater than the first is the glamor of romance thrown around the Kandahar expedition by the fact that his army was lost to view for nearly a month. This is probably true, and had Lord Roberts witnessed the anxiety of England for his force during those days when it was unheard of he could more easily realize the reason for the romance that surrounded the campaign.

For 40 years Gen. Roberts participated in all the wars of England in India. Every officer who has served in the Indian army knows full well that there are not many moments of peace to be looked back to during that time. During those years there was hardly a time when all of India could have been said to have been at peace, and Gen. Roberts participated in the majority of the campaigns whether large or small.

But it is not alone the number of his victories in the eastern wars, and the number was certainly great, that made Gen. Roberts' service of value to England. It is to him that England is indebted for the scheme of frontier defense by which the nation hopes to protect the Indian boundaries from Russian aggression. The protection of so vast a frrontier with the means available was a task that needed a master hand, and Gen. Roberts solved the many difficulties in the same masterly manner that he overcame the opposition on a dozen battle fields.

To his care of the enlisted soldier, whether native Indian or English born, may be credited much of the loyalty that is to-day recognized in the native forces of India. While he made of them effective troops during the time of his command in India, it was not an effectiveness of the drill field alone. He made of the native forces not only well-drilled, but patriotic soldiers, faithful and willing subjects of the queen.

Of his recent campaign and victories in South Africa little need be recalled, as it is still fresh in the public mind. When he relieved Gen. Buller of supreme command of the English forces there everything was confusion. The English armies were either penned up by the Boers or had been whipped by them, and the war which England had fondly imagined would be over in a month promised to result disastrously, and Gen. Roberts was sent to South Africa almost as a forlorn hope. But once there he soon realized as others had not the resources of the Boers and their wonderful fighting ability. He was face to face with an enemy worthy of his best military ability as an organizer and a strategist. His calls for reenforcements and munitions of war for a time almost staggered England, but time has proven that they were needed. Once well prepared, Gen. Roberts soon turned English defeat into English victory, and the besiegers became besieged.

To every English "Tommy" Gen. Roberts is simply "Bobs." They know that inside his small body there beats a heart large enough to contain a place for every man of them, and they glory in his promotion.

Probably no other man in the English army is so well qualified to undertake the reforms that are proposed for the army as Gen. Roberts, and he will give to the work not only ability but a love for the men for whom he is working, and the men know this.

No matter whether he sympathizes with England's course in South Africa or not it must be admitted that the services Gen. Roberts has rendered his queen and country entitle him to the promotion he has just received.

Hannibal's Oratory.

"Forward, my brave men!" shouted Hannibal; "beyond the Alps lies Italy!"

"Bah, you talk like a sweet girl graduate," growled a Carthagenian colonel on the general's staff.

Later on Hannibal completed the resemblance by discovering that Rome was not built in a day.—Baltimore American.

The Dirty Little Boy

Is allright when he is washed, but he is not very attractive until then. The vegetables you eat are dirty naturally, but you would not have them served on the table until washed.

Should it not be the same with what you feed your horse? All grain is naturally dirty, but when received by us it is thoroughly screened, blown and beaten, and reaches the customer in perfect condition. No one else in New Jersey can do this because they have not the machinery to do it with. Think of your horse, think of your pocketbook and buy from us.

SPORTING.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

Very satisfactory, indeed, is the showing made at the opening week of the season's activity in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. The formal opening of the physical work department of the association does not take place until next Saturday when the "model class" of the Newark Y. M. C. A. will give an exhibition. The classes have begun their regular meetings, however, and during the past week have shown a remarkably large attendance. Thirty-five young men turned out for the evening class which is a very large number for the start. The attendance at the business men's class was fair but bad weather was responsible for keeping many away on the first night. Much interest is shown in the class for women which Physical Director C. E. A. Heywood has organized. The opening meeting of the class was held Thursday and the number present were very encouraging. Many of last year's class have returned and there are a number of new ones.

GOLF

The Hillside Tennis and Golf Club team will play their last match this season in the East Jersey Golf Association series, next Saturday with the Glen Ridge team at Glen Ridge.

Among the enthusiastic devotees of that ancient game—golf—is Charles S. Lee, of Ninth street, who is the general passenger agent of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company. Last Saturday Mr. Lee played 45 holes, and he frequently makes two trips around the course at Hillside. His best score from scratch is 114, and this is considered excellent, in view of the fact that Mr. Lee does not play regulary. He takes this form of amusement aud exercises as a relaxation from confining duties at his New York office.

ROD AND GUN.

Reports from all parts of the State and especially from Passaic, Sussex and Ocean counties indicate an unusual quantity of quail. Only fifteen days intervene between today and the opening day for shooting them, and it is time to think of where you are going and whose dog you are going to follow if you have none of your own.

Encouraging Reports.

The quarterly meeting of the Sunday-school teachers of Trinity Reformed church met last evening in the lecture room of the church and transacted routine business. All the reports presented showed all departments to be in good condition. A social time followed.

Raymond Poole, of Grandview avenue, has returned from a visit with relatives at North Branch.

OPENED HIS DOOR TO A MARE.

A Bright Little Roan That Had Been Stolen From Newark and Badly Treated.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Oct. 17.—A week ago a little roan mare with a strap drawn tightly about her neck broke down a gate at the home of Col. Philip Bozener at Dutchtown, twelve miles from here, and walking up the garden path kicked at the door until it was opened by Col. Bozener, who forced a stick under strap and cut it. The mare fell, but soon got to her feet and ran toward the Colonel, who had become alarmed and took to his heels. The mare caught up with him and rubbed her nose against his shoulder. He was about to lead her to a watering trough when she spied a washerwoman at work over a tub in the back yard. Before the mare could be stopped she had pushed the woman away from the tub and swallowed several pails of soapy water.

Col. Bozener stabled the creature and then made an effort to find her owner. In a secluded spot in the woods, several miles from his residence, he found a light road wagon, which contained a set of harness. Hanging from a tree nearby was a broken rein which belonged to the strap which he had cut from the mare's neck. A number of mountaineers said that they had seen the mare tied to the tree for several days and believed she belonged to a party of campers. Col. Bozener believed the mare had been stolen and abandoned in the woods. He notified Detective Totten, of this place. Totten found that the mare belonged to Peter Laughlin of 99 Center street, Newark. Laughlin and the detective went to the Bozener place today.

The mare became frantic with joy when she saw Laughlin, and tears sprung into Laughlin's eyes as he placed his arms about her neck. The roan was stolen while standing in front of a hotel in Newark on September 30th. The thief tried to sell the rig several times before he abandoned it in the woods.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Mantz returned home last evening from their honeymoon spent in Washington.

Mrs. Eugene O'Reilly, of North avenue, has returned home after a pleasant visit with friends at New Brunswick.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vanderbeek, of Grandview avenue, was brightened this morning by the arrival of a baby girl.

Chief T. O. Doane returned last evening from the south, where he has been attending the National Convention of fire chiefs. He and D. W. Littell met Auguste Saltzman at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon as the latter arrived in the city after an extended visit abroad.

A Family Quarrel.

William Henry Park and his wife, colored, who live on Race street, were arrested last evening by Chief Campbell, who found the couple quarreling and fighting over some domestic troubles. They were arraigned before Mayor Smalley at 7 o'clock in the evening. The husband was given two days in the lockup, while sentence was suspended on Mrs. Parker. It is understood that Parker is wanted in this city and New Brunswick, and that he will be re-arrested upon his release in the borough.

Fined $3.

Joe Manning, of Pearl street, a well-known character, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Chief Campbell who found the man in a drunk and disorderly condition. When arraigned before Mayor Smalley last evening he was fined $3 for his violation of the borough ordinance.

Tried to Clean House.

Joseph Miles, alias Joe McGraw, was arraigned before City Judge Runyon this morning, charged with being disorderly in a saloon on Grant avenue Saturday afternoon. It is said that he tried to clean house but without a whole lot of success. He was fined $8.

THE GOAT CAME BACK.

AND THE GAGHANITES WERE ABLE TO HAVE AN INITIATION.

Lively Meeting of the West End Society in Which New Members are Received.

It was with great disappointment that the Gaghanites were informed by the president at their meeting last evening that the reception to their fellow-member, Alex. Muir, would have to be postponed indefinitely. The reason, he explained, was due to the non-arrival of the delegation appointed to secure a supply of mushrooms, not one of them being present. Nothing had been see of either the delegation on the barouche, with the exception of Jack Conroy. A Samptown milkman reported to Dave Adlemann that something resembling that individual had been seen traversing John Powers estate, early one morning, with a headlight in his hand and blithely singing "Hey You," the adopted association song.

Sergeant at arms Totten was instructed to borrow John Cose's bloodhound and take up the trail in search of the missing member. Professor Winzenreid also stated that owing to the difficulties encountered by his orchestra in rehearsing several selections sent him by Pat Chrystal, the musical part of the reception was not in readiness. In attempting to strike a B flat on the harp, Mike Nevins, he said, had jumped a bridge and thrown his thumb out of joint.

At the suggestion of Charles Hall, a collection was taken for the purpose of securing the services of Professor O'Reilly as instructor in order to facilitate the orchestra's progress. At this moment considerable excitement was caused by the announcement of the sentinel, that Howard Manning had arrived with the missing association goat which had been lost by Bert Littell last week.

Manning reported that he had found the animal on Clinton avenue where its custodian had tied it and in the excitement of answering an alarm of fire he had forgotten its whereabouts. After sternly reprimanding Little for handling association property in such a careless manner, the president ordered that several candidates should ride the coat and detailed Brothers Mehl and Feiring to superintend. Those admitted were Alex Martin, Charles Roberts and Mark Hipp.

The riding proved quite tame, however, as their long experience on Front street trolley platforms had inured them to bumpings. The suggestion made by Frank Hart that a certain city official who on several occasions had attempted to secure Gaghanite's pass words, be admitted to the association, was met with mingled refusals and agreements. A stormy debate was in progress when Totten appeared and pulling the fuse dispersed the members.

LEFT HER HAPPY HOME.

New Jersey Bride Deserts Husband for a Former Soldier.

Four weeks ago John Hughes, of Linden, led a blushing bride to the altar, took her to his home and was happy. Tuesday night of last week the bride "left her happy home for"—another man, with whom she is now staying in Rahway, next door to the police station.

Hughes was a member of the Third New Jersey Infantry, and while camped at Pompton Lakes met the young woman, to whom he has been devoted ever since. Ryan was a member of the same company, and the denouement now on hand is probably an outgrowth of that same camping time.

Ryan deserted from his regiment, and served a year in prison under court-martial sentence. Hughes is taking no active steps toward arresting the guilty couple, and he seems to think he is well rid of her. She is a fine looking, well dressed woman, about thirty years of age, well proportioned, and rather stunning in appearance.

He has many friends in this city and the borough who will wish him success.

COURT ON OUTCRY AGAINST TRUSTS.

Vice-Chancellor Pitney Says It is the Greatest Folly Ever Thought Of.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Oct. 17—The case of Robert J. Trimble against the American Sugar Refining Company was argued on a demurrer yesterday before Vice-Chancellor Pitney. Trimble seeks to compel the company to distribute among the stockholders its surplus, and to restrain it from engaging in the coffee business. The argument was chiefly technical. Trimble's counsel declared that the defendant was using its enormous surplus to force the Arbuckle Brothers to sell out to it in order to create a monopoly.

In the course of the argument the Vice Chancellor remarked that this outcry against trusts is the greatest folly ever thought of and said that future generations would look with surprise on the attacks on aggregations of capital. He thought the so called trusts had been of great benefit to the people.

Burglar Scared off.

The unexpected return home of William Hamilton, from the Manawah Tribe dance at South Plainfield last night, frustrated the attempt of a burglar to rob the store of P. J. McDonough. Mr. Hamilton who lives over the store was called home by illness in the family and as he was about to enter the front door he heard a noise in the building. On running around to a side window he was just in time to see a man leap out. The fellow made good his escape, but not before he was recognized as a well known resident. The store has been robbed several times before but luckily nothing was taken this time.

Caught in the City.

Nicholas Martone, the Italian, accused of keeping a disorderly place on the Somerset street bridge and selling cider on Sunday, and for whom a warrant was issued by Mayor Smalley, was arrested this morning by Patrolman James Totten, of this city. Martone has been keeping out of the way for a few days. This morning he went through Somerset street, and was quickly detected by Officer Totten who promptly arrested him. He will be transferred to the borough, where he will be obliged to answer to the charges preferred against him.

Thomas Cuming Elected President.

The semi-centennial session of the East New Jersey Baptist Sunday-school Association was held at Elizabeth yesterday and was very largely attended. A very interesting programme was presented, including address by Rev. Mr. MacGeorge, of Newark, and Rev. A. C. Dixon, of Brooklyn. A well deserved honor came to Plainfield in the selection of officers. Thomas Cuming, of Putnam avenue, a member of the association, being elected president for the coming year.

Rev. Orrin W. Snodgrass, son of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Snodgrass, of Central avenue, has been transferred from Unionville, Conn., where he was in charge of a small M. E. Church, to the Cropsy Avenue M. E. Church, Brooklyn. The pastor of the latter church has recently died and the board extended a call to young Mr. Snodgrass which was accepted with the consent of the officers of the Conference. He will begin his duties at his new church October 28th.

Old Tank House May Stand.

It was thought at first that with the completion of the new station and the formation of a park the Central officials would have the old tank house torn down. At present, however, it looks as if it would be left standing, as the workmen have graded the ground about it and built substantial walks.

THIEVING BUTLER STILL MISSING.

He Went to Elizabeth and Left Horse in Stable Owned by County Detective Keron.

NO FURTHER TRACE OF HIM.

RICHARDS WAS WITH PFIZERS ONLY SIX WEEKS.

He Had Come to Them Highly Recommended—Private Detective Agent Now at Work Trying to Find the Fugitive.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Oct. 18—David Richards, the butler who stole jewelry said to be worth $20,000 from his employer, Charles Pfizer, of Bernardville, on Monday, came to this city with his booty and went to the livery stable kept by County Detective and former Chief of Police John Keron, where he left the rig he had hired from Meaney at Bernardsville in Mr. Keron's care. He said that he would call later for the horse and buggy.

That was the last seen of him here, and it is believed that he took the 2:32 a. m. train for New York. He arrived at Detective Keron's place half an hour after midnight.

Barnardsville, Oct. 17.—No trace of Richards, the absconding butler who stole the diamonds of Mrs. Charles Pfizer, has been obtained here. Mrs. Pfizer says the true value of the stolen property is nearer $30 000 than $20,000 There were a number of uncut diamonds in the necklace, and the stones in the sunburst cost $10 000 before they were set. Mr. and Mrs. Pfizer arrived in Bernardsville last night. They at once obtained a warrant from Justice Dunster for the apprehension of Richards. A private detective agency has been engaged to try to find the fugitive.

Richards had been with the Pfizers only six weeks. He entered their service highly recommended from Morristown, where he had worked two and a half years for a wealthy family. During his stay with the Pfizers he had proved himself industrious, agreeable and obliging, and for those reasons had been retained in the place, although he was not a qualified butler. Richards was formerly a photographer, but was unfortunate in business and lost what money he had saved. All the papers in his room were torn up, including several photographs of himself, which were thrown into the waste basket. These are being restored by a photographer in New York, and copies will be distributed to the police.

Mrs. Pfizer says Richards had seen the jewels but once while with her family, the occasion of her wearing them being a dinner in the house. Before leaving Richards robbed Mr. Pfizer's wardrobe, selecting such garments as suited him, and throwing the wardrobe and room into great disorder. He overlooked a valuable stickpin of Mr. Pfizer's, which cost $1,000. He secured about $100 in cash from the different rooms, robbing several of the servants. To one servant, from whom he stole $5, he left a note bidding her good-by. From Mrs. Pfizer's maid he stole $25.

The wedding bells pealed out merrily in the West End last evening in honor of the marriage of Thomas F. Brown and Miss Catherine Bowden, at the former's home on Pond place. Rev. G. Miss Annie Bowden, a sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid and Charles Johnson was best man. At the conclusion of the ceremony a reception was given the young couple, which lasted until after midnight. The popularity of Mr. and Mrs. Bowden was shown by the large number of handsome presents, consisting of silverware, cut glass and furniture.

BANNER FOR EXEMPTS.

GIFT BY AUGUSTE SALTZMAN TO THE OLD FIREMEN.

Brought From Switzerland—Token of Esteem for Past Honors and Favors.

There was an important meeting of the Exempt Firemen's Association last evening when the members were honored in having present their fellow-member, Auguste Saltzman, who has just returned from a trip to the Paris Exposition. Mr. Saltzman surprised the association by making a presentation of a handsome and costly banner which he brought with him from Switzerland. The banner is in the form of a shield, and around the edge is a gold fringe. On one side is the inscription "Presented by A. Saltzman, 1900." This inscription is worked in gold and silver on a field of red, white and blue. On the other side appears the badge of the Exempt Firemen's Association, around which are the words: "Exempt Firemen's Association, Plainfield, N. J." At the top is a fire hat, and all is worked in silver and gold on a blue field. The banner is suspended from an ebony bar and from each end there hangs a gold tassel.

The banner was presented to the association by Mr. Saltzman as a token of esteem for past honors and favors. He made a few happy remarks in presenting the banner and President L. E. Barkalew accepted the present on behalf of the association with a few well-chosen remarks. The banner will occupy a prominent place in the association's rooms.

The gift was made in Switzerland by a woman and it took almost three months to complete the task. The work is a specimen of the finest ever seen in that line, all being done by hand. The association fully appreciates the gift and will ever hold in remembrance the giver.

RUMPUS IN THE JUNIORS

STATE COUNCIL WILL BREAK AWAY FROM NATIONAL COUNCIL

Pennsylvania New Jersey's Strongest Ally—State Councils of New York, Virginia and Others, Also, May Join.

Unless all signs fail, the New Jersey State Council, Jr, O. U. A. M., which meets in Trenton October 23, at Masonic Temple, will break away from the National Council and call on the state councils of Pennsylvania, New York, Virginia and the District of Columbia to join with it in the formation of a new national body.

At the last National Council meeting, the per capita tax was increased and the number of national representatives alloted the western states was also increased.

The order is stronger in the east and south than it is in the west, and the delegates from New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia contend that the western States were getting more representatives than their membership warranted.

The State bodies from the five States refused to impose the per capita tax on their members, and since then the relations have been strained.

There are a number of States in the south who paid the tax, but are very much in sympathy with the stand taken by the "Big Five."

The National Council, being incorporated in Pennsylvania, the State Council took the matter into the Dauphin County Court.

The Court decided in favor of the seceding States, but the United States Supreme Court reversed the decision, holding that the matter was a purely business one which concerned the members of the order.

The court in rendering its opinion said that the National Council can enforce the collection of the tax against every State council in the order, and further, that if the money cannot be collected from the local councils as a body, the members themselves become liable.

This decision in a way affected the action of the New Jersey State Council.

New Jersey, which heads the secessionists, has Pennsylvania for its strongest ally.

This decision will no doubt moderate the plans of the New Jersey body.

Nevertheless a resolution embodying secession will be introduced at the convention and there is no boubt of its passage.

If the other States do not follow, New Jersey will form a separate organization of its own, incorporated under the laws of the State.

—Jose A. Machado, will meet his class in Spanish at the Y. M. C. A. this evening. All young men interested are invited to be present.

WHAT PLURALITY WILL CITY GIVE M'KINLEY?

Republicans Claim That Figures of Four Years Ago Will be Equalled.

PLURALITY THEN WAS 1,665.

DEMOCRATS SAY THAT REPUBLICANS WILL CARRY CITY BY 1,000.

They Admit They Might Possibly Poll a Lead of 1,200 Votes—Heavy Registration Means Heavy Vote—Which Side Will Get the Increase?

Nobody doubts that Plainfield will give McKinley and Roosevelt a plurality at the coming National election. It's only a question of how great that plurality will be. The very heavy registration of Tuesday shows how deeply the voters of Plainfield are interested in the result of the approaching Presidential election. A record breaking vote is expected on Election Day and the local politicians are now figuring as to how much the Republican candidates will gain by the heavy vote.

No political canvass of the city has yet been made. The various ward organizations of the Republican party are now working toward that end and some reports concerning the canvass have been received by the Republican campaign committee. Before Election Day the Republicans will have completed a careful canvass of the entire city. Meanwhile they are basing their claims on the figures thus far received and the general understanding of the conditions. The Democrats will make no canvass in Plainfield. They lack both organization and funds to accomplish it.

No accurate statement has yet been made public by the Republican leaders concerning the results they expect Election Day. According to the official figures of 1896 the Republican electors that year received a plurality in this city of 1,665. This plurality the Republicans are confident will be equalled or exceeded. The so-called normal Republican plurality in Plainfield is usually considered to be between 700 and 800. The local Democratic leaders admit that it will be increased this year, but they believe it will be between 1,000 and 1,200.

A comparative table, showing the vote at the municipal election last December and the present registration, is interesting.

	City Election. 1899.	Registration. 1900.
First ward, first district	427	520
First ward, second district	179	240
Second ward, first district	358	469
Second ward, second district	136	243
Third ward, first district	356	553
Third ward, second district	96	226
Fourth ward, first district	332	534
Fourth ward, second district	331	541
Fourth ward, third district	248	417
	2,458	3,883

The Republican plurality at the city election was 926. At the State election last November the vote in the city was just five less than at the city election and the Republican plurality was 756. Party lines were more apt to be drawn closer at the State election. Estimating that the increase in the registration has been proportionally divided between the two political parties, the plurality this year, if all the voters now registered should cast a ballot, would be 1,194.

It is the belief of the Democrats that they will secure their share of the unusually heavy registration. If that is true, their estimate of the Republican plurality, 1,000 to 1,200, will not be far out of the way. But the Republicans say that the heavy registration means big gains for their candidates. They say there are many voters in this city who ordinarily pay no attention to politics. These men, they claim, have been aroused from their usual apathy by the vast movement throughout the country for "honest money" and will therefore turn out this year and vote. The Democrats turn out regularly every year, they state, while it takes some national issue of great importance to bring many of the Republicans and independent Republicans to the polls.

Four years ago the vote was exceedingly heavy, 2,973 ballots being in the city. The Republican ticket received 2,319 of that number and the Democratic ticket 654. It was well-known that many citizens, who had been lifelong Democrats up to that time, voted for McKinley or else supported the Gold Democratic candidates. The Democratic leaders are counting on the return of most of these.

There is still another day of registration, but it is doubtful whether the names added at that time will raise the total registry above 4,000. At least 80 per cent. of the registered voters should be polled. The percentage may be even greater. How

"DOC" DOTY'S COMPANY WAS MUCH WANTED

Mrs. Reuter and Mary Nelson Exchange Words Over Who Should Go With Him.

POLICE HAD TO TAKE A HAND

TWO OF THE WOMAN SENT TO JAIL FOR SIXTY DAYS.

Annie Nelson and Mrs. Wheeler Must Pay a Fine of $10 Each or Go to Jail, Too—Sentence Suspended on Mary Nelson.

Mrs. Carrie Reuter expected "Doc" Doty as an escort last evening. It was understood that "Doc" Doty was to accompany Mary Nelson. Hard feeling started long ago and fanned to fever heat by jealousy last evening, resulted in lively times on Plainfield avenue. The neighbors were assailed by a perfect shower of epithets and vile language for nearly an hour until the police arrived and placed the offenders under arrest.

The prisoners, gathered in last evening by the police and arraigned before City Judge Runyon this morning, included several young women who have frequently figured in city court scenes before. There were Annie Nelson and her sister, Mary Nelson, who have served terms in the county jail. Mrs. Carrie Reuter and her sister, Mabel Wilson, frequent visitors at court, were also included. Then there was Mrs. Kate Wheeler, of Plainfield avenue, who, as well as others, has been under police surveillance for some time. The other two prisoners were James Benson and Charles Latourette.

Just exactly what happened it would be hard to say, for the prisoners told such a variety of stories. The general drift of their remarks was, however, that one "Doc" Doty had expected to spend the evening with Carrie Reuter and, at the solicitation of a friend, had changed his mind and started off with Mary Nelson. Mrs. Reuter hurled insulting remarks at Mary and her escort and Annie Nelson, who appeared on the scene, started out to avenge her sister. A free fight was imminent and James Benson, who had only known the young women two days, departed in a hurry. He had already told Patrolman Higgins that a mix up seemed lively and begged the officer to warn him with a whistle should the police start to arrest the bunch.

Charles Latourette prevented a forcible meeting so the combatants contented themselves in hurling all variety of vile and insulting language at each other. All except Mary Nelson and Benson participated in the war of words.

Patrolman Higgins heard them several blocks away and so did Sergeant Frederickson, whom the officer notified. The two policemen went together and arrested them all but Doty who escaped.

Judge Runyon heard the various stories and decided that they were all guilty of disorder. He declared that Mrs. Reuter and Mabel Wilson were old offenders and many complaints had been made against them. Leniency seemed to do no good and he was now prepared to deal summarily with them. He sentenced them each to 60 days in the county jail.

Annie Nelson and Mrs. Wheeler were fined $10 each. The fines were paid by some of their friends. James Benson and Charles Latourette were fined $5. Their fines were paid. The Judge declared that he believed that Mary Nelson's companions were largely responsible for her downward course and that he was going to give her one more chance. She is eighteen year old. He suspended sentence in her case.

He Was Dead Drunk.

Chief Campbell arrested a drunken man this morning at the corner of Watchung avenue and Pearl street. He was a stranger and the officer found him lying face downward in a helpless condition. He was placed in the borough lockup where he will remain until he has sobered up. He will then be given a hearing

Missionary to Talk.

The Young Ladies' Mission Band of the First Baptist church will hold an important meeting tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Sunday-school room of the church. Mrs. Henderson, a missionary of Mone, India, will address the meeting. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

G. O. P. Song Writer.

Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, of the borough, is the song writer for the U. S. Grant Republican Club. Some of his latest efforts are very meritorious from a Republican point of view.

SOMERVILLE G. O. P. HAD A BIG RALLY

Senator Reed, of North Plainfield, Was Chairman of the Mass-Meeting.

SENATOR FITNEY A SPEAKER

W. R. STANBERY DENIES THAT HE WILL VOTE FOR M'KINLEY.

Democrats Will Rally in This City Tomorrow Night—Nominations Made in Warren County—Other Political Notes.

About one hundred members of the U. S. Grant Republican Club, of the borough, accompanied by the glee club and the Independent Fife and Drum Corps, went to Somerville last evening to attend a mass meeting which was held in Germania Hall, that place. All of the Republican dignitaries of Somerset county were present and assisted in making the meeting a rousing one.

Prosecutor Griggs, of Somerville, called the meeting to order, and Senator Charles A. Reed, of North Plainfield, was made chairman. The Senator gave a brief talk outlining some of the points favoring the cause of Republicanism. He showed by statistics gathered from the Pond Tool Works, Scott Press Works and Potter Printing Machine Works that the amount of wages paid employes during the past three and a half years were in excess of those paid during the previous four years.

The Senator then ntroduced the principal speaker of the evening, Mahlon Pitney, of Morristown. Mr. Pitney received a flattering ovation from the crowd, and for over an hour he held the closest attention of all while he reviewed the important issues of the campaign.

The next speaker was the Hon. Edmund Wilson, of Red Bank, who tersely reviewed the important issues of the hour.

During the evening there were selections by the Raritan Band also by the glee club from North Plainfield. Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan presided at the piano and H. J. Martin was in charge of the club. In addition to singing several well-known campaign songs, they also sang two songs composed by Dr. Buchanan and H. J. Martin.

Former Councilman W. C. Smith has been appointed marshal of the U. S. Grant Republican Club and will be in charge whenever the club goes out.

Owing to a previous engagement, Col. C. Meyer Zulick, of Avon, finds it impossible to be in in Plainfield tomorrow night to address the Democratic mass meeting in Washington Hall. There will be plenty of other speakers, however. E. A. S. Mann, candidate for Congress, will be present, as will also the candidates for members of Assembly, who will be nominated at Elizabeth this afteroon. Wendal C. Warner, of New York, will be another speaker.

The Warren Republican county convention met yesterday and nominated Dr. E. M. Beesley, of Belvidere, for County Clerk, and E. S. Hoover, of Mansfield, and William S. Purcell, of Phillipsburg, for members of Assembly.

United States Senator Kean will be the leading speaker at a Republican mass meeting which is to be held in Odd Fellows' Hall, Jersey City, tonight. His address will touch upon the issues of the campaign from a business standpoint, and will include a special appeal to young men who will cast their first vote for president.

Senator Van Cleef, who was renominated by the Middlesex County Democrats on Tuesday was in a chipper and cheerful mood yesterday. He fully expects to be re-elected. Mr. Strong is making a thorough and an active canvass of the county, and the reports are encouraging, but the Republicans must not discount the popularity of Senator Van Cleef. He has a way of making friends which is important in a political campaign.

Assessor W. R Stanbery, of Fanwood, stated to a Press reporter this morning that the News is wrong in its intimation that he is a supporter of McKinley and Roosevelt. "I want it distinctly understood that I am a Democrat," said Mr. Stanbery, "and under no circumstances will I vote for McKinley and Roosevelt. It is true I am in favor of the gold standard, just as thousands of other Democrats are who are supporting Bryan and Stevenson. I am a member of the Democratic county committee and loyally support the Democratic candidates—not, however, simply because of this fact, but because I believe in Democratic principles. I went to hear Con-

WANT ONLY TWO MORE.

WITH THOSE VICTORIES PARK CLUB WILL OWN STATE TROPHY.

Plainfielders Won Their Thirteenth Victory by Defeating New Jersey Whist Club.

Only two more victories are needed to give the Park Club permanent ownership of the State whist trophy. The Park Club four won its thirteenth victory for the trophy Tuesday evening by defeating the New Jersey Whist Club, of Newark, in a hotly-contested game at the Park Clubhouse, this city. The match was won by a score of 7 to 5, and the Park Club, the New Jersey Whist Club and the Elizabeth Chess and Whist Club are all tied for first place with thirteen wins. As the Park Club happens to hold it, however, it has an excellent chance of winning the two more games required.

Owing to the fact that several other challenges were withdrawn, the New Jersey Whist Club four had another chance to win. Since the retirement from active service of the Park Club veteran team, the four Newark players have been looked on as New Jersey's strongest combination. They have found their match, however, in the four young men who now represent the Park Club in the whistic arena.

The game was hard fought. The first round was in favor of the local team, 3 to 0. Honors were divided in the second, 3 points each. The New Jersey Whist team made a strong brace in the last round and managed to overcome their opponents but only by such a little that the Park Club's lead game them the match 7 to 5.

Fred H. Freeman, Ralph T. Willis, Albert Woltmann and Arthur F. Freeman formed the winning four of the Park Club. The New Jersey Whist Club was represented by its famous combination, Messrs. Otis, Aymar, Eagles and Cameron. The Forest Hill Club, of Newark, is next on the list of challengers.

VICTIMS OF A SHARPER.

BUSINESS MEN WOULD LIKE TO SEE ONE SAUERLAND

He Collected Money for Advertising, it is Alleged, That Has Never Appeared.

Business men in this city would like to know something of the whereabouts of one Charles S. Sauerland, an advertising fakir who struck Plainfield several weeks ago. Sauerland secured a number of ads from the business men of this city to be placed in a pamphlet containing the rules and regulations of the Plainfield Public Library. Notwithstanding the Board of Directors of the library notified the public that they neither authorized nor sanctioned such publication, Sauerland succeeded in not only getting the ads but also collected money for them. The business men who paid in advance for the library scheme have never seen it. It is not believed it was ever issued.

Sauerland boarded at Hotel McVey and left town owing a board bill of about $11 besides borrowed cash. Sauerland also while here secured a number of ads for a bill of fare scheme to be placed in Hotel McVey. This latter scheme also never appeared, although some who gave the fellow ads paid for them in advance. At the Clark Hotel in Elizabeth Sauerland was caught at an attempt to swindle, and the proprietor of the hotel kicked him from the place after giving him a severe thrashing. Sauerland is wanted by the authorities of Newark for getting money on a forged check.

A BROOKLYN BRIDE.

Willard Swick and Miss Mabel A. Yeaton Married Last Night.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yeaton, at 247 Forty-sixth street, Brooklyn, was the scene of a pretty wedding last evening, when their daughter, Miss Mabel A. Yeaton, was united in marriage to Willard Swick, of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. L. Mead, of Hoboken, in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives. The bride was attended by Miss Jessie Morcell, of Hoboken, while Hiram Humes, of this city, was best man. After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Swick will take up their residence in this city.

Fell From a Building.

John Miller, aged 48 years, unmarried, and a carpenter by trade, fell a distance of 18 feet from a building at Hamilton, N. J., early this morning and was brought to Muhlenberg Hospital. His injuries consist of several slight scalp wounds and some scratches about the face, and he was generally shaken up. He will be detained at the hospital but a few days.

—Bishop Wigger, of the Newark diocese, will administer the rite of confirmation in St. Mary's church in November.

DEMOCRATS WILL NOMINATE TODAY.

The County Convention is Being Held in Elizabeth This Afternoon.

ASSEMBLYMEN TO BE NAMED

PLAINFIELD DELEGATES ELECTED TO ATTEND THE CONVENTION.

Friends of W. E. Tuttle, of Westfield, May Present His Name for One of the Legislature Nominations to Be Made.

The Democratic County Convention is being held this afternoon in Turn Hall in Elizabeth. The offices for which candidates will be nominated are three members of the Assembly and one Coroner. So far as known there are no aspirants for any of the nominations. The only name that has been mentioned in connection with the Legislative nominations is that of W. E. Tuttle, of Westfield. Some of the Democrats of that town are working to secure his nomination in the hope that if it is accomplished it will be the means of cutting down the vote of Assemblyman Smith, of Westfield, who will be renominated by the Republicans next week. The convention this afternoon will be called to order by John Crowell, of Rahway, Chairman of the Democratic County Committee. An effort may be made to have Plainfield present a candidate for Member of Assembly but as there is no Plainfielder who is seeking it the candidates will probably be selected from other parts of the county.

Last night the ward primaries for the election of delegates to attend the County Convention were held in this city with the following results:

FIRST WARD.

At the primary held in the First ward Andrew Nolan was made chairman, Walter L Hetfield secretary, Charles Bock judge, and Jos. C. Blimm inspector. The following were elected delegates to the convention: Walter Hetfield, Jr., W. T. Banks, Joseph C. Blimm and Wm. A. Coddington.

SECOND WARD.

The Democrats of the Second ward held their primary last night in the Bryant School. The meeting was called to order by J. B. Guttridge, of the county committee, who was chosen chairman. Hezikiah Hand was made secretary. Julian S. Sutphen, J. B. Guttridge and Frank Vosseller were elected delegates to the county convention. The alternates were James E. Martine, W. K. McClure and Alfred Cox. J. B. Guttridge was reelected a member of the county executive committee.

FOURTH WARD.

The Fourth ward primary was held in T. A. B. Hall and was attended by the usual large number of Democrats. M. R. Flynn was elected chairman, E. D. Moffett, judge, and E. C. Searing, secretary. The following delegates to the county convention were chosen: Thomas Carty, E. D. Moffett, W. W. St. John, C. A. Shannon, M. R. Flynn, James J. Kane, V. L. Frazee and Jas. R. Phillips. W. W. St. John was reelected a member of the county committee.

HIGH SCHOOL DAMAGES.

Insurance Companies Agree to Pay Borough $2,925.

The Borough Board of Education believe that the settlement effected for damages to the High School building is very fair. The six companies holding policies agreed with the Board on the sum of $2,925, which will place the school in first-class condition. Three companies, the Germania, Magdeburg and Citizens, represented by George White, made a settlement yesterday, and the other three companies will probably settle today or tomorrow. The work of repairs has been started at the school, and is being pushed rapidly toward completion.

Dispute Between Lawyer and Justice.

Nicholas Martone, the Italian, wanted in the borough for keeping a disorderly place on the Somerset street bridge and selling cider on Sunday, and who was arrested yesterday by Patrolman Totten, was taken before Justice Nash. He was then paroled in the custody of his counsel, Walter L. Hetfield. He will be given a hearing this afternoon. There was a dispute between counsel and Justice as to whether the latter had a right to endorse a warrant for the arrest of Martone, and as Counsel Reed, of the borough, was away, his return was awaited before any further action was taken.

LITERARY.

With its November issue, The Century Magazine begins a Year of Romance, during which many of the most famous living writers of fiction will contribute to the magazine short stories, novels or novelettes. The reception accorded "The Helmet of Navarre," begun in the August number, indicates that the proposed departure will be a popular one, and with such names to conjure with as Rudyard Kipling, Mrs. Burnett, Bret Harte, Lew Wallace, Weir Mitchell, Miss Wilkins, Winston Churchill, Howells, James, Harris Cable, Stockton, Page, Anstey, and Ian Maclaren—to note but these few—the conductors of The Century are pretty sure to meet the tastes of all lovers of fiction.

The fiction in McClure's Magazine for November will be widely representative, both in subjects treated and in the localities in which the scenes are laid. Life in the far west and on the eastern seaboard, in crowded cities, in country districts, in turbulent mining camps, and in railroad centres, will be portrayed; incidents of ward politics, of a foot-ball game, of simple, true affection, of daring and energy, and of courageous self-sacrifice, will be related by Frederic Carrol Baldy, George Kibbe Turner, Lilian True Bryant, Charlens Warren, and Alvah Milton Kerr. The illustrations are by Frederic Remington, Albert T. Reid, W. R. Leigh and others.

WILLIAM L. WILSON DEAD.

Former Postmaster General's Sudden End at Lexington, Va.

LEXINGTON, Va., Oct. 18.—Hon. William L. Wilson, president of Washington and Lee university and ex-postmaster general, died suddenly of congestion of the lungs. He had been failing ever since his return from Arizona. His son, Dr. Arthur Wilson of Lynchburg, visited him Sunday and left Monday. Then came the sudden change.

Mr. Wilson's attendant physician did not give up hope of his rallying until late Tuesday night. He was confined to the house from Tuesday week, but was thought to be improving when his son left him.

He was conscious until the last. By his bedside were his wife, his daughters, Misses Mary and Bettie Wilson, and one son, William E. Wilson.

William Lyle Wilson was born near Charleston, W. Va., 59 years ago. He was the son of a schoolmaster, who died when he was 3 years old. His mother, however, who was a woman of much character and culture, devoted a great deal of attention to her son's bringing up, with the result that he soon became known as a remarkably bright and studious boy.

At the outbreak of the civil war young Wilson enlisted as a private in the Confederate army. He served throughout the struggle, and when the war was over he entered upon the study of law.

In 1880 he was elected a delegate to the national Democratic convention and was later appointed elector at large for Hancock and English. Two years were thus passed amid the turmoil of law and politics. Soon the young lawyer began to long for the quieter atmosphere of the scholar's life. Consequently when he received an offer of the presidency of the West Virginia university he accepted the post without hesitation.

He was destined, however, to hold the place for only two months, when the nomination for congress was offered to him. He accepted and entered upon the campaign with a vigor that carried him to victory. He was seated as a member of the lower house in the Forty-eighth congress in 1883 and soon came to be recognized as one of the strong forces of that body.

During the fight for the repeal of the Sherman silver law Mr. Wilson's health gave out, and he was obliged to go to Europe in order to recuperate his shattered energies. In 1894 Mr. Wilson was defeated for re-election.

President Cleveland, who was then in his second term, appointed Mr. Wilson postmaster general, which office he held until the end of Mr. Cleveland's term. Mr. Wilson then accepted the presidency of Washington and Lee university in Lexington, Va., which he held until his death. Mr. Wilson received many degrees from southern seats of learning.

Ghastly Discovery In a Pond Near Lynn, Mass.

MISSING MAN'S BODY IN SACKS.

Autopsy Reveals Horrible Details. Arrest of a Suspect—The Crime Believed to Have Been Caused by Rivalry For a Woman's Love.

LYNN, Mass., Oct. 18.—That great "trunk tragedy," as it was known all througout New England away back in 1872, when the mutilated body of Jennie Clark was found wedged into a trunk which had been picked up in the Saugus river, is in some respects at present no more mysterious than the murder which was revealed by the finding of a man's body, decapitated and denuded of the limbs, in a gunny sack in Glenmere pond. It may turn out to be another instance where rival affections for a woman have led to a quarrel and then in revenge the murder was committed.

Be that as it may, one thing certain is that the police are inclined to the belief that George E. Bailey has been murdered and so have taken under arrest John C. Best, 32 years of age, a farm hand employed on the estate of which the supposed victim of the murder was caretaker. Furthermore, the police in searching the Breakhart hill farmhouse, where the men lived,, found in the barn cellar an ax which bore blood stains, but it is not certain they are of human blood, and similar stains on a window sill and on a piece of cardboard in a room of the house.

Bailey disappeared on Oct. 8. No one knew the reason, but there were persons who supposed that he had followed his wife to Wiscasset, Me., she having left the house, it is asserted, because of a disagreement. It is now claimed that the woman known as Mrs. Bailey was not his wife; that although Bailey was married, his wife's whereabout is unknown. The woman is said to be Miss Susie Young and was the housekeeper. With these clews the police are trying to solve the mystery of the murder.

Glenmere pond, where the body was found, lies between Lynn and Salem. A bridge which is 256 feet in length floats on the pond, hence the local name "Floating Bridge pond." Beside this bridge about 10 o'clock yesterday morning was found floating a gunny bag which held the trunk of a man. Late in the afternoon two other bags of similar material were grappled to the surface, and each contained a missing leg. The head and arms are still missing.

After the finding of the body it was taken to an undertaker's, where Medical Examiner Pinkham held an autopsy, finding that the murderer had terribly hacked the body in his efforts to decapitate and dismember it. The weapon used was apparently a heavy knife not sharp enough to cut clean, but of sufficient strength to break the bones.

The police will continue the search in the pond for the man's head and arms and also try to clear up Bailey's disappearance and secure a positive identification of the body. The Bailey clew is undeniably a good one. The trunks answer the description as would be ascribed to Bailey.

Filipino General Captured.

MANILA, Oct. 18.—Under cover of a stormy night Captain Elliot of the Fortieth infantry surprised the rebel headquarters near Oroquieta, island of Mindanao, and captured without fighting General Alvarez, with his staff and 25 soldiers. The capture is important and will tend to pacify the district. Alvarez had for a long time been provoking hostilities in Mindanao. It was he who effected the disastrouns attack on Oroquieta. Detachments of the Twenty-sixth and Eighteenth regiments engaged the rebels near Tubungan, in southern Panay, routing them, killing 20 and wounding many.

Preacher Convicted of Bigamy.

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 18.—Rev. Edward F. Burrows, a local preacher of this place, was convicted of bigamy in the court of quarter sessions. He had been in jail three months, and Judge Armstrong sentenced him to six months additional. Katie Glenn and Mary Christie testified to having been married to Burrows, and both said they left him because of his harsh treatment. In his defense Burrows said after his first wife deserted him he thought it proper he should marry again, because his children needed a mother's care.

Torpedo Boats Collide.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 18.—The United States torpedo boats Dahlgren and Craven were in collision off Castle Hill Tuesday night, the former as a result having been slightly damaged. The two vessels succeeded in making their way to the harbor, but only the Craven was able to make her slip at the torpedo station owing to the heavy wind and angry seas. The Dahlgren was driven upon the mud flats at the south end of the habor, but was kedged off and taken to her slip.

Objected to the Oyster Supper.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 18.—Rev. J. H. Sheppard has resigned as pastor of the Lucas Avenue chapel because his congregation gave an oyster supper in the church. He considered suppers and bazaars sacrilegious in a church, threatening to resign if the supper was given, which he did.

Meteorite Fell Near Kingston.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 18.—A huge meteorite was seen in this city last night. It went shrieking and sputtering through the air, leaving behind a trail of colored fire which illuminated the surrounding country. It finally burst about six miles north of Kingston. The noise was plainly heard.

HOHENLOHE RESIGNS

German Chancellor Retires From Public Life.

COUNT VON BULOW HIS SUCCESSOR

Infirmities of Age and Disapproval of Emperor William's Chinese Policy Given as Reasons For Prince's Action.

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—It is announced that Prince Hohenlohe has handed his resignation as imperial chancellor to Emperor William. The emperor accepted the resignation and designated Count von Bulow, the minister of foreign affairs, as his successor.

Although rumors had been current for several days that Prince Hohenlohe intended to retire little credence was given to any of them, since such reports had returned periodically for several years past.

The fact is that neither the foreign office nor any other government department in Berlin knew until last evening of Prince Hohenlohe's retirement and Emperor William's approval of it.

The reasons which induced the prince to insist upon retiring were in the main his rapidly growing infirmities and his distinct disapproval of the emperor's personal policy in China. To his intimates

PRINCE HOHENLOHE.

Prince Hohenlohe during the last three months has repeatedly expressed strong criticisms upon what he has called the kaiser's "sentimental and impulsive interference in the troubles in China."

Since Chinese matters assumed a threatening aspect in June Prince Hohenlohe has virtually abandoned his duties and prerogatives with which the constitution clothes the chancellor, having vainly endeavored to inculcate more sober and dispassionate views regarding the China outrages.

Nearly all the summer Prince Hohenlohe was away on his German, Russian and Austrian estates, leaving the emperor and Count von Bulow to conduct the policy of the empire to suit themselves. This figureheadism of course could not long endure. Moreover, in addition to increasing and prolonged fits of somnolence, the prince has recently displayed exceeding physical weakness. The members of his family have all along been strongly urging him to retire from official life and to pass the remainder of his days in quietude.

The final parting with the emperor was cordial. At supper last evening in Homburg the emperor, after toasting the prince, thanked him warmly for the services he had rendered and kissed him on both cheeks.

Youtsey's Condition Improved.

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Oct. 18.—The defense in the Youtsey trial closed its case late yesterday afternoon, and the commonwealth began its rebuttal testimony, which will likely be concluded today. Youtsey's condition is materially improved, though he still remains in a stupor most of the time. The feature of the day was the testimony of Colonel Nelson, one of Youtsey's attorneys, who denied that he had told Arthur Goebel and Colonel Campbell that "Youtsey knew enough to hang Governor Taylor," but he admitted that he did say his client (Youtsey) knew "something that would be very beneficial to the commonwealth in its prosecution of Taylor." The defense got in some strong testimony, squarely contradicting the state's witnesses.

Hanna In South Dakota.

HURON, S. D., Oct. 18.—The special train bearing Senator Hanna and Senator Frye traveled up and down through the counties of central South Dakota yesterday in the districts where the vote as a rule is close and where farmers compose a greater part of the population. Fourteen stops were made during the day, Senator Hanna making speeches at Redfield, Northville, Groton, Andover, Bristol, Bradley, Elrod, Bryant, Lake Preston, Desmet, Iroquois, Huron, Aberdeen and Webster. Senator Frye also spoke at some length at the more important places. A good deal of spice was put into the speeches at times by sharp questioning on the part of the audiences.

Troublesome Dowieites.

MANSFIELD, O., Oct. 18.—The Dowieites are determined to thwart the efforts to keep them out of this city, and the results may be serious. About three have been deported every day since Sunday. Three are known to be hiding here now and have been holding secret services. Elder Edward Williams of Benton Harbor, Mich., who was sent out of town on Monday, rode in yesterday on a bicycle and gave the police a lively chase before they captured him. They sent him away on a train, but he said he would return every day, as he had been ordered to do so.

Governor Sayers at Merchants' Club.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Governor Sayers this afternoon addressed a meeting at the Merchants' club, to which were invited a number of men representing commercial and other interests. The governor not only explained the methods under which the relief work is being carried on in Texas, but showed the advantage which will accrue to commercial houses by extending their trade in the state.

Shipping Badly Damaged.

NANTUCKET, Mass., Oct. 18.—The heavy northerly gale which has been sweeping over this section badly damaged a large fleet of vessels which left the harbor at Vineyard Haven. Several coasting schooners are ashore, likely to be a total loss. No loss of life has been reported.

BRYAN IN THE EMPIRE STATE.

Enthusiastically Received at Points Between New York and Albany.

ALBANY, Oct. 18.—Presidential Candidate William J. Bryan ran around two sides of a triangle yesterday from Hudson to Albany inclusive and probably spoke to as cosmopolitan a lot of people as he will address or has addressed during the campaign. At Hudson he spoke to a gathering of business people of all classes, at Troy to the capacity of an opera house and with an overflow meeting of collar factory and laundry employees, at Mechanicville to a motley array of railroad people, at Cohoes to the mass of the employees of the cotton and woolen mills and at Albany to two immense meetings, one in the Opera House and one outside composed of the best element of the city.

The great meetings of this trip were held at Troy, the home of ex-Senator Murphy, and Albany, the home of ex-Senator Hill. Mr. Hill was unfortunately absent in the west on a speechmaking tour and therefore could not, as in the last presidential campaign, entertain Mr. Bryan. At both Troy and Albany the meetings were phenomenally large and enthusiastic, immense overflows having to be held to accommodate those who desired to either see or hear Mr. Bryan.

Mr. Bryan departed from New York yesterday morning to continue his campaign through the state. He returns on Oct. 27 to speak again at Madison Square Garden, but on that occasion under the auspices of the Young Men's Democratic league.

His schedule yesterday included Yonkers, Tarrytown, Sing Sing, Peekskill, Cold Spring, Fishkill, Newburg, Poughkeepsie, Hudson, Troy, Mechanicville, Cohoes and Albany.

His private car drew out of the Grand Central station at 9 a. m. Mr. Bryan stood upon the rear platform and, with the shouts of the enthusiastic crowds that had gathered in the train shed still ringing in his ears above the roar of the train, waved his hat until the tunnel curve hid him from view.

Trying to Release Carter.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Oct. 18.—A habeas corpus suit to release Oberlin M. Carter, ex-captain of engineers, from the federal penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth has been filed in the United States circuit court. The suit was filed with Stanton Carter, a brother of the prisoner, as the petitioner and was made out returnable against Warden McClaughey of the federal penitentiary. Frank P. Blair of Chicago appeared as the attorney for Carter. Judge Hook set Oct. 26 as the date for hearing on the application and announced that Judge Thayer of St. Louis would probably be here to sit with him.

Registered Mail Stolen.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Five bags of registered mail inclosed in one large pouch were stolen from Station H, at the corner of Lexington avenue and East Forty-fourth street, on Monday night last, and so far the postoffice inspectors have been unable to locate the thief, although suspicion has fallen on one man. The pouch, which was so heavy that only a strong man could move it, was stolen before it reached the delivery wagon and while it was still at the station. It had been duly checked off, sealed and locked with a numbered key. The loss is not exactly known.

Strike In Jamaica.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Oct. 18.—A strike of the employees of the electrical railroad began yesterday morning. The road is owned by Canadian and American capitalists. The men demand an increase of pay, and the manager of the road has promised to forward their petition to the central office at Montreal, with a recommendation that it be conceded, whereupon the men agreed to resume work for the fortnight which must elapse before a reply is received.

Galveston Bazaar Closed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The bazaar for the benefit of the homeless Galveston orphans which began Monday night in the Waldorf-Astoria was closed last night by Mark Twain. The attendance was the largest of the three evenings. Mr. Clemens in closing the bazaar spoke for about ten minutes. His remarks were pathos and humor mixed. The management of the bazaar estimated the net receipts for the three nights at between $25,000 and $30,000.

Zeppelin's Airship Successful.

FRIEDRICHSHAFFEN, Wurttemberg, Oct. 18.—Count Zeppelin's airship ascended yesterday afternoon, was steered against the wind and was put successfully through various tacks and maneuvers. The airship after a short flight toward Immerstadt remained poised in the air for 45 minutes at a height of 600 meters and then safely descended to the lake. The king and queen of Wurttemberg witnessed the trial.

John Sherman In Failing Health.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Former Cabinet Officer and Senator John Sherman is dangerously ill at his residence on K street in this city. The attack has taken the form of a general collapse, in part due to the general debility incident to old age and to the effects of the serious illness which he suffered while on a trip to the West Indies two years ago.

Fatality at Newburg.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Oct. 18.—David Somerville was killed and Arthur Hutchinson was badly hurt in an accident which occurred in the Erie yard. The men were car repairers and while working under a car some freight cars crashed into it. Somerville was taken out dead, and Hutchinson had his arm cut off at the elbow.

Peace Negotiations Begun?

ROOSEVELT'S OHIO TRIP.

Rousing Receptions In Cleveland and Other Cities.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 18.—Yesterday was a day of triumph for Governor Roosevelt in Ohio. At night the city of Cleveland gave him a reception rivaling any similar demonstration ever made here. There was an immense parade consisting of half a score of brass bands and dozens of political organizations, including many which had come hither from other places to do honor to the candidate for vice president. Superior street, the chief thoroughfare, through which the parade passed, was ablaze with electric lights suspended in loops crosswise and lengthwise from tall pillars surmounted by flaming globes and decorated with evergreen. Along this brilliant course thousands of rockets and flambeaux flared. The walks were thronged with men, women and children.

From the Union station, riding in a gorgeously decorated carriage drawn by four white horses, in company with Governor Nash and Senator Foraker, Governor Roosevelt was escorted, while bands played and cannon boomed salute, along the route of the parade to a large tent on Marcelline avenue, Newburg, the iron working district, where he addressed a large audience. His speech was very brief, consisting of part of that delivered by him an hour later at Central armory, in Bond street. At the tent the governor was followed by Colonel Curtis Guild, Jr., who made an exhaustive address. Senator Foraker opened the meeting at the armory.

This was the fourteenth speech which Governor Roosevelt made in Ohio yesterday, beginning at Delaware, which city, Marion, Upper Sandusky, Carey, Fostoria and Pemberville gave him large audiences. The first big demonstration, however, was made at Toledo, where the governor addressed a crowd that almost filled the great circus lot.

ONE HUNDRED FEVER CASES.

That Number Reported In Havana. Governor Wood's Kindness.

HAVANA, Oct. 18.—It is officially reported that there are 100 cases of yellow fever in Havana.

Before leaving for the United States and in spite of the heavy pressure of official business, Governor General Wood visited Las Animas hospital, where the yellow fever patients are under treatment, to say goodby to his sick officers and to speak a word of encouragement to the other Americans there. This kindly action is commented upon by the Havana press as quite characteristic of General Wood.

Senor Perfecto Lacoste, secretary of agriculture, will sail for the United States next Saturday to investigate concerning the proposed purchase of cattle for breeding purposes.

Oscar Feyt, an employee in the Havana postoffice, has been arrested on a charge of stealing registered letters.

Whisky Trust Meeting.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The annual report of President S. M. Rice for the year ended June 30 last, which was read at yesterday's meeting of the whisky trust, showed the net profits of the Distilling Company of America were $129,737.31. The net profits of the constituent companies were $1,387,182.77. The net earnings of the constituent companies were divided as follows: The Kentucky Distilleries and Warehouse company, $1,100,330.99; the Standard Distilling and Distributing company, $141,545.82; the Harris Distilling company, $126,698.79; the Spirits Distributing company, $40,874.58. The fifth and only other company in the trust reported a loss of $22,266.91. The report gives the capital stock as $125,000,000, divided into $70,000,000 of common and $55,000,000 of preferred.

No Trace of Butler Richards.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The robbery of the Pfiser family at Bernardsville, N. J., grows larger as the facts become known. A warrant has been taken out for the arrest of David Richards, the butler, for the larceny of the jewels, and it is said the value of the cash and gems taken will amount to nearer $30,000 than $20,000, as at first supposed. Even the maids in the house were robbed of their savings. Richards has not been located. The last seen of him was at Elizabeth. He reached there at noon the day after the robbery and put his horse and buggy in the livery stable of County Detective Leron, after which he disappeared.

Mohonk Indian Conference.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 18.—The eighteenth annual Mohonk Indian conference has organized at Lake Mohonk with 150 members present and Dr. Merrill E. Gates of Washington as chairman. Albert K. Smiley welcomed the members. Dr. Gates reviewed the work of several years, and General Wittlesy described the practical results of congressional legislation. The Rev. Mr. Welman also spoke. Measures relating to Porto Rico and the Sandwich Islands were discussed.

Would Reorganize Spanish Army.

MADRID, Oct. 18.—General Linares, to whom the premier, Senor Silvela, has offered the portfolio of war, stipulates as a condition of acceptance that he shall have perfect freedom to introduce sweeping military reforms and to reorganize the entire army. He also stipulated that his method of reaching these ends must rest solely with himself. Senor Silvela, it is understood, has accepted these conditions, and the nomination of General Linares is, therefore, practically assured.

GREAT STRIKE ENDED

Coal Companies Agree to the Demands of Miners.

ANNOUNCEMENT CAUSES REJOICING.

Official Order to Return to Work Expected Soon—Sliding Scale Suspended and Ten Per Cent Advance Promised Till April 1.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18.—The great strike of the anthracite mine workers of Pennsylvania, which began Sept. 17, practically ended yesterday when the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company and the Lehigh Valley Coal company agreed to abolish the sliding scale in their respective regions and to grant an advance in wages of 10 per cent net, the advance to remain in operation until April 1, 1901, or thereafter. This action meets the demands of the Scranton miners' convention. The decision was arrived at after a conference between representatives of the individual coal operators and the large coal carrying companies. The conference began Tuesday.

Yesterday's action was the culmination of the recent meeting of the individual operators at Scranton following the mine workers' convention in the same city. Nearly all of the collieries in the coal region had previous to the mine workers' convention posted notices granting an advance of 10 per cent. The mine workers in considering this demanded that the sliding scale in the Lehigh and Schuylkill districts be abolished, the increase to be guaranteed until April 1, 1901, and all other differences be submitted to arbitration. The individual operators agreed to everything, and the appointment of a committee to induce the Reading and the Lehigh companies to abolish the sliding scale and make the wage increase permanent followed. It is conceded that the result of the conference is a complete victory for the men. All the demands of their convention are acceded to, and, as one of the individual operators put it after the conference, the operators go a little further in agreeing to maintain the wage advance after April 1.

Just how soon the official order notifying the men that the strike is ended and to return to work will be issued by President Mitchell can only be conjectured. It is the belief here that no order to return will be issued until a notice similar to or in line with that of the Reading and Lehigh companies is posted at all the mines. The Reading company's notice is as follows:

"It hereby withdraws the notice posted Oct. 3, 1900, and, to bring about practical uniformity in the advance of wages in the several coal regions, gives notice that it will suspend the operation of the sliding scale, will pay 10 per cent advance on September wages till April 1, 1901, and thereafter until further notice and will take up with its mine employees any grievance which they may have."

MITCHELL CLOSE MOUTHED.

Pleased With Philadelphia Decision, But Refuses to Outline His Plans.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 18.—The news from Philadelphia that the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company, after a conference with officials of other mining companies, had agreed to the anthracite miners' proposition as set forth in resolutions adopted in convention last Saturday brought forth many expressions of surprise that it should come so soon after the convention.

President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers, when informed of the Reading company's action, was pressed for a statement on this acceptance of the miners' proposition. All he would venture to say, however, was that he would be glad indeed to know that the anthracite operators had decided to change the notices previously posted so as to comply with the provisions of the resolutions adopted at the Scranton convention.

Mr. Mitchell declined to say whether the union would let the men return to work at those collieries where the operators had accepted the miners' proposition before all the companies had fallen into line. It is generally believed that the big coal carrying railroads that mine coal will quickly follow the Reading company and grant acceptance of the proposition and that all other operators will do the same.

The first companies in the Hazleton region to take action similar to that of the Reading company were Calvin Pardee & Co., operating the Lattimer collieries, and A. Pardee & Co., owners of the Cranberry mines, both of them individual concerns.

Waiting For Mitchell's Word.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Oct. 18.—This city was crowded last night with miners who came from points between here and Mount Carmel. They are all happy over the news that the operators and representatives of the coal carrying companies had in conference at Philadelphia agreed to abolish the sliding scale and grant the 10 per cent increase. The men are ripe for a celebration, but will not jubilate until advised by Mitchell that the strike is at an end. They all say that, while they are glad a settlement has been effected, they will not go to work until President Mitchell instructs them to do so.

Rejoicing at Shenandoah.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Oct. 18.—The one topic of conversation here since the result of the coal operators' conference at Philadelphia was announced is the great victory gained by the United Mine Workers. The advance of 10 per cent means an increased disbursement of $20,000 every month in Shenandoah. Last night about 150 breaker boys with miners' lamps on their heads and carrying banners bearing triumphant inscriptions paraded the streets, shouting and cheering for President Mitchell.

Independent Operators Will Join.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 18.—Mr. Connell announces there will be a meeting of the independent operators of this region in Scranton today to arrange for posting the notices announcing accession to the new demands of the miners.

Price of Coal Goes Up.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18.—The Reading company has announced an advance in the price of line and city coal of 25 cents a ton over the circular of Sept. 18. This makes an increase of 50 cents a ton since the July circular.

To Save the Palisades.

Now and then something appears in the newspapers about the movement for the preservation of the Palisades, but it is so infrequent that many get the idea into their heads that if anything is being done in that line it is so spasmodic that it can not amount to much. It is stated, however, that the Palisades Park Commission has been doing and is doing all that is possible under the law.

In a talk on the subject with a reporter, Abram DeRonde, one of the commissioners, said: "The Palisades commissioners have not been idle. It may seem to many that they should be more in evidence, but any one really acquainted with the situation could easily understand that more haste on their part up to the present has been quite impossible and under the circumstances would have been ill advised. The preservation of the Palisades and legislation in connection therewith have so long attracted public notice that I fear the present commission is looked upon as of long standing and apparently dilatory about its work. The acts creating this commission, both in New York and New Jersey, although passed early in the present year, did not go into effect until June 1st last, and thirty days were allowed within which appointments might be made. My own commission bears date of June 25th, 1900.

"The commission organized as early as possible and has held regular and frequent meetings since July 1st, all the Commissioners showing their interest by very regular attendance. Many plans have been suggested and discussed and much information has been gained regarding the work in hand. New Jersey requires that a complete map of the property over which the commission acquires any authority, showing individual property lines, owners' names, etc., must be made before we can exercise the powers conferred by the act. This was arranged for as soon as it could be intelligently considered, and a proper contract made, and it is now about completed. The permanent preservation of the palisades can be accomplished only when all interested can be brought together in harmonious action.

"The commission, with no means and limited power, must go slow. The State has done its part at present and we trust it will do all that it consistently can as matters progress. Will the public do its and facilitate the work that must be done by its help, if done at all? The property or private interests we believe can be so treated as to see it to their advantages to cooperate in the preservation of the palisades."

It is reported that before the end of the present fiscal year the rural mail delivery will be extended to accommodate a total of 2,000,000 farmers' families in the United States. The postoffice department is locating new routes as rapidly as possible, 776 having been established since the 1st of July, and Mr. Machen, the superintendent, expects to have 4,300 in operation before the 30th of June next. The service promises to be more than self-sustaining because of the great increase in the mail handled, this increase averaging more than 40 per cent. The number of letters registered has increased 57 per cent., the number of money-orders issued 40 per cent., and the sale of postage stamps 24 per cent. The largest increase has been in the newspaper mail, varying from 50 to 300 per cent, in different parts of the country. This last is perfectly natural, because under the rural free-delivery system a farmer can have a daily paper delivered to him on the date of its publication, whereas formerly it was useless for him to subscribe because he could not afford to waste the time to go to the postoffice more than once or twice a week. Another noticeable feature is the increase in fourth class matter, which consists chiefly of small articles purchased by mail from the city stores.

Considering where this country stands in mechanics and electricity, the United States makes poor showing at the Paris Exposition, if the judges' awards are any criterion. The Americans won one grand prize or gold medal for every 7.8 exhibits of machinery. This is the worst result attained, for Switzerland comes first with only 0.58 of one entry for each grand prize or gold medal. Next in order is Belgium, 1.6 entries; Germany, 1.8; Austria, 2 8; Russia, 3.2; France, 3 8; Hungary, 4.7; Great Britain, 4 6. In electrical apparatus, too, the Americans stand last, the comparative figures being: Austria, 1.1 entries for each grand prize or gold medal; Germany, 1.3; Hungary, 1.8; Switzerland, 2.1; France, 2 5; Russia, 3 4; Great Britain, 4.2; Belgium, 4 6; United States, 9.8.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The "pneumonia express" is now getting in its fine work on the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway line, and a suffering public is obliged to ride in these open cars or else walk. They are a few closed cars running on the line, but it is dollars to cents that the average passenger does not strike one to ride in. The old excuse of closed cars being ordered and delayed is again being worked for all it is worth, but one of these days the public will rise up in their wrath and smite someone for the trouble and inconvenience caused them. At present the public seems to be helpless to do anything to improve the condition of affairs, and the city and town officials along the line of the road also seem wholly indifferent to the plea of the people. There does not seem to the slightest disposition on the part of the trolley company to give the public what they deserve, and unless the officials bring the company up with a round turn the present conditions are apt to continue indefinitely. The people who are now suffering from poor service can now look back to the time when the franchises were granted, when the cry was "Give the company anything so long as we get the trolley." Now that the people have the trolley they do not know what to do with it.

Gentlemen:—I must say in regard to GRAIN-O that there is nothing better or healthier. We have used it for years. My brother was a great coffee drinker. He was taken sick and the doctor said coffee was the cause of it, and told us to use GRAIN-O. We got a package but did not like it at first, but now would not be without it. My brother has been well ever since we started to use it.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

A real production, handsome and complete in every detail, will be offered to our theatre goers when "Friend Fritz" is seen at Music Hall on Thursday night of next week, the 25th inst. A comedy of world-wide fame, an excellent company headed by the well known operatic star, Marion Manola, and a complete scenic dress, combine to give promise of a more than ordinarily interesting evening.

• • • • • • •

Charles E. Callahan's beautiful scenic play, "A Romance of Coon Hollow," will be seen Saturday afternoon and night next week at Music Hall. It is by no means a clap trap melo-drama. It is natural and pastoral in its characters, with a strong dramatic plot.

• • • • • • •

If your mind needs relief from the worries of the day, if your heart needs an outlet for its pent-up feeling, if an entertainment is desired which will not leave a bad taste in the mouth as do many forms of amusement now presented in our theatres, see one of the greatest successes of the day, the beautiful melodrama, "Human Hearts," which is the attraction at Music Hall tonight. Did you like the Old Homestead?" Did "Shore Acres" please you? If so, and where is there a living man woman or child in this broad land of ours that one of these two grand plays have not thrilled, then you will be charmed again with this great successor, "Human Hearts." It is a play with well proportioned light and shade, rich in humor, pathos and dramatic incident, ably acted by a capable company, its story, its purpose, and the characters concerned in the plot are revealed with cleanness and force. The attention which has been given to the details of the action and the scenic accompaniment has made "Human Hearts" an artistic success, interest not abating but rather increasing from season to season. It is a play long remembered, not alone because of novelty, but also because of the deep impression it makes upon all who witness it, whether young or old.

FAD OF PYROGRAPHY

FRAU TROMM'S BURNT IVORY MINIATURES AND HOW SHE MAKES THEM.

Decorations In Spanish Leather. The Latest Craze For Hangings, Wall Paper, Chair Covers, Curtains and Cushions.

Pyrography has grown tremendously since the World's fair, where one saw so many specimens of clever work done by foreign artists. Now every one who can afford it has a table, chair or mural decoration in this effective burnt wood, and the amateurs who are beautifying their homes by this means are so numerous that they cannot be counted.

It remained for a young German artist, Frau Tromm, to find a new use for her burnt wood instruments. Frau Tromm does most beautiful miniatures, not by painting them, but by burning the ivory. "It is not very difficult," she said, smiling, as she showed me an exquisitely shaded portrait of a society woman, "not more difficult than the ordinary painted miniatures and much cheaper. See. I will tell you. In the first place you will notice the grain of this piece of ivory. It is a crosspiece, a mere slice from the tusk, and comparatively inexpensive. Now, to paint a miniature one must have a lengthwise section, and this costs much more. Then as for the instruments, they are the same as I used on wood; first the curve point for hard, sharp outlines, then the flat point for broader surfaces and last the blow point which gives the soft shadows. Sometimes I make the entire picture with the blow point, and then the effect is most delicate."

As I had never seen the apparatus before she proceeded to explain it to me. The main arrangement is practically a medical cauterizer, a spirit lamp, a bulb and tube of rubber, with a little tank of benzine. The point of the instrument (fastened to the rubber tube) is heated in the flame, then a current of naphtha charged air is forced through the tube. In this way naphthaline gas is generated, and a flame of great intensity is maintained at the hollow of the instrument, which can be handled as easily as a pencil. The blow point differs from the other instruments in the fact that it is never allowed to touch the surface of the material worked upon, but is held at a distance of about a quarter of an inch, allowing a stream of hot air to come out through a tiny hole in the point. The difficulty in dealing with ivory is that one can only work ten minutes at a stretch, because it becomes so heated that it is likely to crack.

Besides her clever work in ivory this original little German artist has her studio filled with striking examples of carved and burnt wood and Spanish leather painting. She gave quite a lecture on the subject, and for the benefit of those of you who are amateurs I am going to repeat some of it.

In burnt wood the large pieces are usually of mahogany, oak or any other hard wood. Pine contains too much resin. The smaller articles, such as pictures, steins, boxes and book covers, are made of holly. Very often the designs of these are tinted, and then common water color paints are used. For instance, a stein of basswood is elaborately carved and burned. There is a medallion of Bacchus surrounded by a design of grapes and autumn leaves which are tinted in dull reds and greens. A book cover which is a very striking imitation of a mediæval missal is of holly carved in heraldic design and touched here and there with a little raw umber to give it richness of tone. The antique idea is heightened by the book markers, which are made of strips of brown sacking, with heavy red and gold seals.

A carved chest is burnt and inlaid with leaf gold. It was made in the following way: First the outline of the design was burnt in. Then it was brushed over with shellac. Then it was given a coat of oil size so that the gold would stick. Then the gold leaf was applied in a Moorish design. Finally the whole surface was waxed to give it an old look.

A Turkish stool was burnt in an outline pattern, and then arabesques were painted in red, blue and green water color. The outline kept the colors from running with the grain, as they otherwise would. Among the larger pieces about the studio was a panel reaching from floor to ceiling representing a seventeenth century cavalier. This was an exquisite piece of work worth $800. A reproduction of one of Rembrandt's portraits was done in basswood, with a very heavily carved frame and a mural decoration. "A Boar Hunt," the original of which was exhibited in the Architectural league, now decorates the fireplace of a wealthy New Yorker.

"I do many decorations in carved and burnt leather also," said Frau Tromm, "but it is the Spanish leather which is the craze at present. Spanish leather, as it is called, is used for hangings, wall paper, chair covers, curtains and cushions. The hide—morocco or common sheep or calf skin—is first covered with gold or silver leaf. That is the first essential. All Spanish painting must be done either on silver or on gold. Then the leather is tooled—that is to say, designs are hammered upon it with steel tools of different patterns—stars, little parallel lines, squares, etc. There are 12 of these tools which come in the set. Then color is applied—oil color—wherever the design seems to need it. A coat of French varnish follows and last a light wash either of umber or black to give it the antique appearance."

A beautiful wall panel represents the head of the Brocklen Medusa on a background of hammered gold, with green and gold snakes creeping in and out of the dusky masses of her hair.

A sheepskin dyed green is worked into the resemblance of an alligator skin, the central decoration being a heraldic dragon in red and gold.

A beautiful piece of morocco which was imported at great cost from England is elaborately tooled in red and gold and ornamented with the coat of arms of a prominent family.

A curtain 7 by 19 is made of 12 sheepskins dyed crimson and is burnt and painted with a design of lilies in green, silver and gold.

It is fashionable to have the walls of an entire dining room decorated with this leather and the backs of the chairs made to match. A well known society woman has her dining room wainscoted in mahogany, the remaining space on the walls is filled by paintings of Spanish leather, the background is silver, and the hunting scenes are in bright colors. The sideboard and table are of carved mahogany, and the chairs have little hunting figures done on Spanish leather set into the backs.

There is nothing more fascinating to the amateur than this work on wood and leather. It is not hard to learn, and with a little taste and originality one can create almost any number of pretty things both for the home and for one's friends.

ORIGIN OF THE TRAIN.

Theory That It Came From the Savages of Africa.

There was a great discussion at the club the other day. It was about the fashionable trained skirt. Some of the men were in favor of it, and others held that it was a menace to health and that it ought to be abolished and a thousand other things. Finally Billy Jones spoke up.

"How did the blooming thing originate, anyhow?" he drawled. Billy is always asking questions.

"I'll tell you," said Vance de Peyster, with his cynical little smile. "Two women were walking along the street, and one stepped on the skirt of the other, causing a number of stitches to fly and a goodly amount of material to trail behind, but at this moment the victim happened to catch a glimpse of herself in a sidewalk mirror, and she was so charmed with the graceful effect that instead of getting angry she went straight home and had her new dress made just like it."

"Humph!" muttered Billy Jones.

The silence of deep thought fell upon the room. "Of course we know that in mediæval times"— began Jack Remberton in his high pitched tones.

"For that matter in the days of the ancient Romans," interrupted Billy scornfully.

A lean, ill shaven face was thrust into the group. It belonged to Hermanus Dryasdust, the scientist. "What are you people talking about?" he growled.

"We want to know where the train originated," spoke up Billy.

Hermanus put down his book and carefully rubbed his spectacles. "It originated," he answered slowly, "in Africa."

"The deuce it did!" interrupted Jack, but Hermanus, being once wound up, proceeded without noticing him. "You must know," said he, "that the Dor inhabit the Nile district just above the equator, and although the surrounding tribes enjoy a perfect state of nudity the Dor look down upon them with unutterable contempt. The Dor women especially pay great attention to their dress. Every morning they go into the forest and make for themselves a short kilt of trailing vines, which are suspended from their belt. When a woman marries, she fastens several long creepers which depend from the back of her belt and form a leafy train of ample dimensions. With these picturesque trains they perambulate from hut to hut in everlasting gossip, which is the essence of their being, and the longer the train the greater the rank of the lady." Hermanus paused.

"Say," ejaculated Jack Pemberton, awestruck, "you've got the biggest imagination I ever"—

Vance de Peyster shrugged his shoulders. "Anyway, it's one comfort to think it's of savage origin," he muttered thoughtfully.

TRIALS OF EDITORS.

Innocent Victims of the Literary Mania of the Hour.

Everybody Nowadays Wishes to Shine in Print—Women Are as Industrious Scribblers as Their Men Friends.

[Special Chicago Letter.]

THE "literary" mania, now perhaps in its most acute stage, began with the "signed article." It is unfortunate that publishers of this country ever adopted that French custom. This invitation to vanity led troops of poor writers to invade the field heretofore occupied only by people who had something to say, and said it well and intelligently. Previous to this the writers who were prompted mainly by vanity were under the necessity of showing their screeds to their narrow circle of acquaintances. Now the signature saves them that trouble, and "fame" being thus easily acquired, others are thus tempted to try their "hand." Were it not for the signature the magazines would not require so many "readers," and the manifold troubles of the "Sunday" edition of the daily papers would be greatly lessened. While the great majority of articles submitted to magazines and newspapers is written with a desire to "shine in print," many of the amateur writers want money also. These amateurs have learned that professional writers are paid for their labor, and they think that they also should be paid for what they consider "good work." They are willing to take almost any price, and in this is shown the only good judgment displayed by them. However, it has the depressing effect of cheapening the literary market. But fame, or rather notoriety, is the main object of these amateurs; money is the secondary consideration, as most of them follow other vocations, such as typewritists, department clerks, lawyers and doctors with little practice, and others of that class who think they have something to say. In this large class is found the female contingent of scribblers, who, being supported by fathers or husbands, devote time which should be employed in household duties to "browsing" in the public libraries and appropriating the thoughts of others.

There are some exceptions, but they are few, except in works of fiction. There woman is original, or can be, and does not require a "study" for a guide. These borrowers are, however, soon discovered, and their Mss. are returned with astonishing rapidity. Several instances have frequently occurred in which these plagiarisms were printed, and the publishers were humiliated by an apology to their readers. These frauds were cleverly perpetrated, being "adapted" from foreign or out-of-print publications. So eager were these so-called authors to "make a name" that they have ruined their prospects, if indeed they had any. There are so many subjects of timely interest that there is no need of "borrowing," but, as stated, the female scribbler is, as a rule, devoid of originality in the selection of a subject; hence she copies.

LOOKING FOR AN "ORIGINAL" PLOT.

Fiction is her province, and, knowing woman as she does, she would be successful if she wrote from nature, but, as a rule, her pictures of women are most unnatural. She either overdraws or undersketches. More often the woman is depicted as an angel, of which being she can have no knowledge, her ideas being drawn from pictures—the dreams of artists. Or, the woman may be a "Satan"—a character unknown to realism.

Before the "signature" craze women confined their literary efforts almost entirely to poetry or fiction. A pen name was used, and they seemed satisfied when their fame extended into the next county. But when the signature was adopted by some of the leading magazines and newspapers to give weight to articles written by persons with technical learning on special subjects, the pen name was discarded and every crossroads amateur "author" insisted upon his name appearing. It required no special training or scientific study, to "write up" a function at the "palatial" residence of Mrs. Kerjhones, and to give a harrowing description of the costumes of "among those present." But the "author" of "society's doings" insisted that her name should appear to give weight to the article. This stimulated others, and then the guttersnipe reporter who "wrote up" a brutal prizefight thought his name should appear as an "expert authority." And so the signature craze spread, until now the Sunday papers, especially, are advertising mediums for commonplace writers. This has its bad effects, as stated, in crowding the field with incompetent writers, much to the annoyance of Sunday editors and "readers" for the magazines.

Readers care little or nothing for names. They want ideas, and want them clearly presented. It is these that make a magazine and add to the worth of a newspaper. The standing of the magazine is a sufficient guarantee, and the reader does not question the authority or correctness of the article, because he knows the standing of the magazine better than he does that of the writer in nearly every instance. It is the same in reference to the newspapers. No signature can give weight to an article in a newspaper that has no standing or influence with its readers.

When this craze for "big" names and little names shall have run its course the literary mania will somewhat subside, no doubt. The "big" name literary shop business has been overdone, much to the detriment of pure literature and good, plain newspaper writing. It does not follow that because a man becomes famous or a woman notorious that he or she can write a readable article. The contrary is almost invariably the case. A general may plan and fight a battle, but he could not describe it as well as the trained correspondent; yet it is thought in some literary circles that his name to such an article would add more weight than that of the man of letters.

The prevalence of this idea is mainly responsible for the signature craze and the increasing mania to write. In the hot haste for "reputation" little care or thought is given to subjects, and the public gets a very weak solution in the great majority of instances. Much has been said about "big names" having no influence in the acceptance of articles. This may be correct in some quarters where only pure literature is considered, but in the majority of instances it is the name that carries the article, as in others an article is carried by the illustrations. In the matter of "little names" the articles submitted are on a cheap basis, and that carries weight. This drugging of the literary market in the hot race for reputation has been instrumental in overcrowding the publisher's market with new publications.

Some of these, however, do not pay anything for articles—and perhaps they are right, judging from their contents. But the name of the "author" appears, and that is considered by both parties as a fair compensation. Some of the concerns, which are scarcely honest publications, require a contributor to subscribe to the magazine as a "condition precedent" to submitting manuscripts. Yet this does not discourage amateurs—hundreds bite at this "policy" game. Some of these so-called magazines print alleged literary articles at a stipulated price per page—to be paid by the writer. And some of them claim to be deluged with manuscripts from aspiring authors. One instance is known in which a western magazine sells stock to writers in consideration of printing their articles—on the basis of $100 per page. And yet this does not seem in the least to discourage amateurs or abate the fever for writing. Of course, in these instances the writers are persons of means, and have the advantage of the poorer writers whose contributions are offered gratis—provided their names are attached.

In countries where there is a press censorship the signature is perhaps necessary in order to fix the responsibility, but it would seem that this is not necessary in this country, as the proprietor of the publication is responsible for everything that appears in it, and the writers are responsible to him. Furthermore, he has a blue pencil. As the writer is paid for his work, he should let the publisher have some credit; but it is the publisher's fault. He is pursuing the popularity of "big names," and he also catches many small ones. He is also responsible for the signature innovation and the overcrowding of the literary market, which has caused him a great deal of trouble and expense. It is within his power to curtail this mania, and no doubt the great reading public would be better satisfied, trusting to the taste and discrimination of the publisher for their mental food. As stated, the reader cares nothing for a name, big or little. He wants to be instructed and entertained.

I was in the hardware business at this time and the heavy lifting and being on my feet so much greatly aggravated the troubles. I was at my worst when I concluded to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I got them at L. W. Randolph's drug store. It only required a few doses to convince me that I had the right remedy. SPORTING.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

The Plainfield High School eleven will go to New Brunswick Saturday afternoon and meet the team from the Rutgers Prep School on Neilson Field. The Rutgers boys are strong and will make things decidedly lively for the local school team. The High School has only played two games, both against North Plainfield and on its own grounds

A challenge was received by Manager Edward J. Kline for a game for Election Day with Yale Law School eleven. The cost of bringing the Yale boys down from New Haven would have been a heavy one but they appeared such a strong drawing card that he wrote to their manager accepting the date. He has since learned that they will not be able to play on Election Day afterall as they have another game arranged for that day. They offered to play any Saturday during November but it is hardly likely that Manager Kline will book a game as all the dates are filled and it has been his policy thoughout not to break his word with any club.

GOLF

The Cranford Golf Club signed papers yesterday for the purchase of sixteen lots adjoining the links, and will shortly take possession and improve the property.

CRAGIN HAS A NEW SCHEME.

Asks Riparian Board to Make a Change in Grant Promised.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, Oct. 18—Edward F. Cragin, the promoter, who applied to the Riparian Board last spring for a grant of the land under water between Bedloe's and Ellis Islands, and whose claims are now being considered by the United States Harbor Line Board, was before the Riparian Board at its last meeting with a new proposition.

The Riparian Board had passed a resolution giving Cragin the grant, providing the Harbor Line Board approved the deal, on the understanding that he intended to build an island on his grant and place on that island immense grain elevators, also construct wharves and introduce appliances by means of which ocean steamers could be loaded in an incredibly short time from the elevators. Now Mr. Cragin has asked the commissioners to change their resolution or pass a new resolution giving him the right to make any improvement of the land he may see fit and not restricting him to the building of grain elevators. The Board has reserved decision on the application.

Teachers' Meeting.

The Somerset County Teachers' Association will have its regular fall meeting in the school building, at Raritan, next Saturday, at 10:30 a. m. An interesting programme has been arranged by President Krebs. B. C. Gregory, of Trenton, will discuss "Spelling," in a paper that has attracted wide attention throughout the State. Prof. Louis Bevier, Jr., of Rutgers College, will give a talk on "English." A daily programme for Ungraded Schools will be placed on the blackboard and explained by P. B. Hall, of Neshanic. There will be other papers and a question box.

Boy Traveler to be There.

At the meeting next Sunday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. Hall, Harry Steele Morrison, the famous boy traveler, will relate his personal Christian experiences and will speak of the advice given him by the late Mr. Gladstone. Mr. Morrison is endorsed by Mr. Don O. Shelton and he spoke last Sunday for the second time at the large mass meeting under the auspices of the West Side Branch of the Y. M. C. A. of New York city, of which Mr. Charles F. Powlison, formerly of the local association, is the special secretary for religious work.

TOWNSEND HAS TROPHY

YESTERDAY AFTERNOON HE DEFEATED EDGAR I SERRELL.

Two Players Were Quite Evenly Matched, But at the End Serrell Showed up Badly.

Morgan T. Townsend holds the green committee challenge trophy of the Park Golf Club once more. Last Saturday he received the trophy by default from both W. J. R. Thiers and W. de la Anderson. Owing to a misunderstanding, he did not play Edgar I. Serrell, who was next on the list of challengers. The match took place on the links of the Park Golf Club yesterday afternoon instead and Townsend finally won the match two up.

Serrell has been playing steadily this fall and has kept in good form. He now leads for the president's cup, although playing from scratch, and is likely to win that trophy. Townsend has not been such a regular attendant at the links of late. The two players were quite evenly matched, however, but both felt the strain of excitement accompanying the contest. At the end of the first round Serrell was one up and apparently had a good show of winning. In the second round his form began to grow worse. He held his own until the finish of the fourteenth hole and then Townsend came to the front and won out the match by two holes.

Thiers still leads in the contest for the green committee tropny, with Townsend second. If the green committee decides that play for the trophy shall continue up to Thanksgiving there is a possibility of victory for Townsend if he wins steadily. The standing for the trophy is now as follows:

W. J. R. Thiers	10
Morgan T. Townsend	6
Gustavus W. Faber	2
W. de la R. Anderson	1
Fred P. Taylor	1
Edgar I. Serrell	1

TOOK HIS BROTHER'S WIFE.

Now Bird is Anxious to Have Common Law Marriage.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Oct. 18—For the first time in the history of the Chancery Court in this State a man has asked for the annulment of a common law marriage. The petitioner is James M. Bird, of Orange, and in his petition he says he was in the west a few years ago living with his brother, who was the husband of the defendant. His brother died and he became the protector of the widow. The couple came east and settled in East Orange, where they lived as man and wife, and in the presence of witnesses agreed to continue thus. Three children were born to the couple.

Four years ago the woman went to visit her mother in Michigan and refused to return. She has two of the children with her. The other child remained with its father. After repeatedly, but vainly, asking Mrs. Bird to return, Bird then applied for a divorce.

The case was referred to Master in Chancery John R. Hardin, who recommended a decree. As the Chancellor is known to be opposed to common law marriages, his action in the case is looked for with a great deal of interest by the lawyers.

A PLAINFIELD GROOM.

Thomas Curren Takes Brooklyn Girl for His Wife.

The marriage of Thomas Curren, of this city, and Miss Somerville, of Brooklyn, took place in the latter city, yesterday at 7:30 p. m. They were married by Rev. Father Dolan, of Our Lady of Victory church. The bride was becomingly gowned in gray silk trimmed with white lace and chiffon and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Meelan, of Brooklyn, and the best man was Richard Curren, of Plainfield, brother of the groom. After the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's brother on Fulton street. Guests were present from Brooklyn, Plainfield and New York. After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Curren left for a short wedding tour after which they will take up their residence at 320 Watchung avenue, this city. Mr. and Mrs. Curren were the recepts of many handsome and useful presents.

Hand Car Jumped the Track.

A hand car on which was Foreman Martin Coffield and his track gang jumped the track near Westfield depot yesterday and in consequence three of the gang were injured. Michael Whalen had a leg and arm cut, Thomas Valentine was injured about his back and legs, and Andrew Possick was cut on the head and thigh. Possick's injuries were the most serious. He was attended by Dr. F. A. Kench.

Assessments Confirmed.

Township Attorney I. J. Cox, of Cranford, yesterday secured the long delayed confirmation of sewer assessments for extensions on Union avenue. The commissioners appointed by the court completed their work of assessing benefits a year ago. The cost, $1 56 per front foot, greatly exceeds that of all other laterals heretofore constructed.

that number of votes will be divided is a matter which it is impossible to foretell with any degree of accuracy. As the campaign progresses and the canvass of the city is completed, the politicians will be able to do some pretty close figuring. Until then it is mostly guesswork.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Now is the time to have your feathers, bedding and carpets renovated. You will find A. F. Naylor, of West Front street, prompt and reliable.

—A small advertisement placed in The Daily Press secured the return of a boy's shoe that was lost on Front street a few days ago. The moral is plain: Advertise in The Daily Press.

—There will be an auction sale on Saturday afternoon, October 20th, at 2 o'clock at Emery's Hotel, Scotch Plains. Mr. Emery has sold his hotel business and on the above date he will sell his personal effects, such as a family horse, wagons, paving, curbing and cobble stones, lot of scaffold plank, shovels, picks, bars, wheelbarrows, plows, etc. Everything to be offered for sale will be a bargain. Hand & Pangborn will be the auctioneers.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

A. S. Patterson and family, of Franklin place, left yesterday for New York, where they will spend the winter.

O. E. Bradford, night operator at the North Avenue station, has returned from a visit to his home in Bethlehem, Pa.

Miss Helen O'Keefe, of West Fifth street, and Miss Nora Flynn, of Plainfield avenue, have gone to New York for an extended visit.

William Miller, of the Fifth Artillery, Battery L, stationed at Fort Wadsworth, has been visiting friends in this city, previous to his departure for Porto Rico.

Auguste Saltzman, who has just returned from abroad, and who spent yesterday with Plainfield friends, left this morning for New York State, where he will remain for a time. Afterward he will go to Hawley, Pa., where he will spend a month with his daughter, Mrs A. S. Fritts.

SOMERSET REPUBLICANS.

County Committee Believes That G. O. P. Prospects are Good.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Oct. 18.—A meeting of the Somerset county Republican executive committee was held yesterday afternoon and there was a full attendance of the members. Reports were received from the various districts in the county and all were of an encouaging nature.

It was reported that a well-known campaign worker from New York would spend next week among the farmers in the smaller places in the county, staying a night or afternoon in each place. In this way the State committee hope to reach effectively nearly everyone in the county.

At the conclusion of the meeting a dinner was given to Senator Mahlon Pitney and others who took part in the mass meeting in Germania Hall last evening. Senator Reed and Mayor Smalley represented North Plainfield at the meeting and dinner.

BANDED FOR GOOD GOVERNMENT.

To Vote for Moral Candidates and Boycott Liquor-Selling Druggists.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, Oct. 18.—The Citizen's Good Government League of Neptune township is a new organization, whose influence in the county political campaign is likely to result in the defeat of Assembly candidates. The League already numbers 200 members in the township, and notices have been sent out to other townships asking that similar bodies be formed at once. The members are pledged to vote only for men whose moral character is vouched and indorsed after a thorough investigation by a special committee appointed for that purpose.

The latest move of the new League is a general boycott of all drug stores in Asbury Park where it is known that liquor is sold. The members are pledged not to patronize these stores.

Wedded Twenty Years.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Stratton, of 311 East Fifth street, will celebrate their twentieth wedding annversary tomorrow evening. A great many invitations have been issued for the event, and among those who will attend will be the State board of officers of the Daughters of Liberty, of which Mr. Stratton is one.

Charges for Trolley Road.

The Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company will have a new superintendent. Secretary Radel announced yesterday that James Butler, who has served at Newark and Bridgeport, and whose experience covers 22 years, will be the new incumbent. D. F. McGregor will be chief electrician.

UNDER ARCH OF HOLLY.

Pretty Home Wedding of Miss Cora Huff and John Hoffman, Both of This City.

A very pretty wedding was that of Miss Cora Huff and John Hoffman, both of this city, which took place last evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Helen Huff, of Manning avenue. The house was tastefully decorated with palms and flowers.

To the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march the young couple walked, unaccompanied, into the room and stood beneath an arch of holly, where the marriage vows were adminstered by Rev Cornelius Schenck, Ph D., pastor of Trinity Reformed church.

The bride was attired in a travelling gown of caster colored cloth. Following the ceremony a reception was held which was attended by forty guests from Newark, Somerville and this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman left on the 8:38 train for New York, but will spend their honeymoon at Washington and Old Point Comfort.

AN AUTOMOTOR HORSE.

Its Inventor Thinks It Will Overcome the Antipathy of Horsemen to Mechanical Vehicles.

A French genius, M. Emile Langrenne, says British Invention, hopes with his automotor horse to overcome the antipathy of horsemen to self-propelled vehicles. This equine-shaped device contains within its body the mechanism to propel it, and can be attached to any form of horse-drawn vehicle, the steering being effected by means of reins or rods held by the rider or driver, the neck of the horse being for this purpose intersected and mounted upon ball bearings. The reins are attached to a cross-head mounted on a verticle spindle, to the lower end of which are attached arms contained within the forelegs and connected to the axel of the front wheel. The motor mechanism consists of one or two gasoline motors (according to the power desired) supported upon cross bars and driving wheels mounted on the hind legs of the horse. It is extremely doubtful whether M. Langrenne's hopes as regards the frightening of horses will be realized by his device.

AUTOMOBILE RULES.

In France the Horseless Vehicle Is Working a Revolution in Many Departments of Life.

The automobile has now thoroughly entered into the French mode of life; timorous persons no longer exist; the sight of an automobile running in the streets no longer attracts any attention; and a breakdown alone causes the gathering of a crowd, and that of much smaller size than one that is collected by the falling of a horse. Odors no longer call forth protests, since people have got used to them. Horses have been pleased to put themselves upon a level with man (and for this the poor pedestrian should be thankful to them), and no longer take fright or even shy at mechanical or other street cars that come towards them at 15 miles an hour, and graze their noses at such speed. The noise made by petrolettes, motorcycles and quadricycles leaves everybody indifferent, and it may be said that the horse, the dog, and man are now trained. Another progress made by automobilism in its entrance into our mode of life is seen in the theater. For example, in a piece put upon the stage by the "Varietes," one of the principal incidents is an accident that happens to the automobile of the prince, and which is followed by a happy denoument for the latter, the piece and the author.—Automobile.

Stopping by the Wayside.

Bicycle riders have a right to stop by the wtyside and leave their wheels standing at the curb, and when so left it is the duty of drivers to refrain from running over or against them, and the person so negligently injuring a bicycle will be liable for the damage so caused. This right must, however, be subordinate to the necessary use of the highway for public travel, and there are doubtless many instances in which the narrowness of the way or the press of a crowded street would put the burden of proving ordinary care on the person leaving his wheel at the mercy of heavy traffic. The rule is less strict with the bicycle than with a horse and wagon, for the former is not only smaller in bulk, but cannot take fright and collide with others.

Most Expensive Feathers.

The tail feathers of the feriwah, a rare member of the family of paradiseidae, or birds of paradise, are the most expensive known. The only tuft existing in England—probably in any civilized land—was procured with such difficulty that it is considered to be worth $50,000. It now adorns the apex of the coronet worn on state occasions by the prince of Wales.

gressman Fowler, like lots of other Democrats, but I did not, as the News intimates, come away from the meeting a convert to Republicanism."

A meeting of the Fourth Ward Republican campaign committee was held in Republican headquarters last night. A constitution and rules were adopted. It was decided to give a rally, open to all voters of the city, at Republican headquarters Tuesday or Wednesday night. The exact night will depend on when the county committee can provide speakers. The Elizabeth Glee Club will also be present. The finance and canvass committees were appointed and organized as follows at the close of the campaign committee meeting: Finance committee: F. C. Lounsbury, chairman; W. A. Westphal, secretary and treasurer; W. S. Angleman, Andrew Vanderbeek, F. S. Runyon, Robert L. Lee, Joseph Neuman, Herman Weber, E.E. Anthony and James Craig. Canvass committee, Harry C. Runyon, chairman; Clarence L. Murphy, secretary; Andrew McCardell, D. S. Galbraith, Chas. Dunham, F. S. Randolph, Frank Smith.

Erastus E. Potter, who was Labor candidate for U.S. Senator in 1887, will address a meeting of North Plainfield Democrats at their headquarters, Saturday night.

HILLSIDE IS SURE OF FINISHING FIRST.

Newark Will Have to Forfeit Game It Won From Hillside Last Month.

IT PLAYED NON-MEMBERS.

CROKER AND DUGOLL WERE NEITHER ONE MEMBERS OF NEWARK A. C.

Rules of East Jersey Golf Association Requires Teams to be Composed of Club Members—Mistake Was Made Through Thoughtlessness.

First place in the East Jersey Golf Association is now assured for the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, of this city. A week ago the Hillside Club, while in the lead, had by no means a sure thing of it. The sudden change is the result of a discovery that the game, played at Newark against the Newark A. C., will be forfeited to the Hillside Club. Captain Mooney, of Newark, played Croker and Dugoll, neither of whom are members of the Newark A. C. One of the provisions of the rules governing the championship of the Association are that no team shall play any one who is not a member of that club. Otherwise the match is defaulted.

Information concerning this fact was learned by Captain R. M. Shepard and he wrote to the secretary of the Newark A. C. concerning the fact. He received word that the two players mentioned were not members of the club and that the Hillside Club was entitled to the match in Newark. The officials of the East Jersey Golf Association will probably act on the matter. It has been kept very quiet as the Hillside men were adverse to making any trouble over it. The fact exists, however, and both Croker and Dugoll won their games in the match and thus became very important factors in Newark's victory. The men were played on the team without any thought of breaking the rule.

Counting the game at Newark as a victory, the Hillside Club has now nine victories and but two defeats. Tomorrow afternoon the team goes to Glen Ridge to meet the club of that place. The result of the game can make no difference, however, in the Hillside Club's standing in the league, as they cannot be defeated now. Counting a defeat tomorrow they will then only have three, while the nearest of the other clubs, Elizabeth and East Orange, each have four, with a chance of more.

The only fight now in the league is whether it will be Elizabeth or East Orange which will be second. Those two clubs will meet soon on the Town and Country Club links at Elizabeth, and the question will then be settled.

The standing of the clubs at present is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.
Hillside Tennis and Golf Club	9	2
East Orange Golf Club	8	4
Town and Country Club, of Elizabeth	6	4
Glen Ridge Golf Club	5	6
Forest Hill Golf Club	3	6
Newark Athletic Club	3	7
Madison Golf Club	3	9

TELEPHONE ORDINANCE.

Borough Council to Consider Putting Wires Underground Across the Brook.

There will be an adjourned meeting of the Borough Council this evening when the ordinance regarding the granting of a franchise to the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company to put it wires underground, will be considered. Before the Council was willing to take any action regarding the ordinance the members desired to make several amendments, such as requiring the company to make a deposit of $450 as a guarantee that the streets would be put back in a satisfactory condition. There are several other amendments dealing with minor matters such as the future erection of poles and the painting of them. The Council believes that with these amendments the ordinance is very satisfactory and it will no doubt be adopted.

The meeting is called for this evening to consider the above matter, but it is quite likely that some other matters will be discussed relative to the borough's interest.

Fire Drill at High School.

A fire drill was held at the Plainfield High School yesterday morning and the 300 students were gotten out of the building in one minute and forty-five seconds. The alarm was given with the regular system of electric bells. The fire alarm signal was a succession of three fours. All the pupils passed out quietly and in order. This was the first occasion this year that a fire drill has been held.

RED MEN'S GOOD TIME.

Dance and Entertainment Enjoyed by Members and Friends of Paughcaughnaughsinque Tribe.

Paughcaughnaughsinque Tribe, No. 193, I. O. R. M., gave an enjoyable entertainment and ball in Washington Hall last evening. It was attended by a crowd which completely filled the large hall to the doors. The different numbers on the entertainment part of the programme, though not numerous, were well rendered and were greeted with loud applause.

Past Sachem Nash, in a few well chosen words, addressed the audience and the order and told to what use the proceeds of the affair would be put, that of assisting sick or disabled members. He then announced the first number which was a song by James Hagerty. He was followed by Tony Lusardi, who gave a neat exhibition of buck and wing dancing, which was loudly encored. A short sketch entitled "The Indian Dance" was then given by seventeen members. It represented an attack upon a pale face camp by a band of Indians who after killing all but one of the campers, built a fire and burned that luckless individual at the stake. His death was celebrated by a dance on the part of the band which was a true representation of that given by the primitive sons of the forest. At the conclusion of the sketch, the order for the grand march was given and was led by the Indians in full costume. Dancing followed to the strains of Professor O'Reilly's full orchestra, and was kept up until the small hours of the morning. As a result of the affair the tribe's treasury will be greatly increased. Those who helped make it the success that it was were Charles Westcott, chairman, William Young, Lawrence Doyle, James Kane, John Hurley, John King and Thomas Parsons.

TAKEN TO ASYLUM BY FORCE

Young Woman Protested Vehemently Against Being Sent to the Institution at Trenton.

Annie Linbarger, the daughter of David L. Linbarger, of New Brunswick, created a sensational scene Wednesday night at the George street railroad station.

Miss Linbarger is twenty two years old. She has been an inmate of the asylum for the insane at Trenton for some time. She had been brought to New Brunswick from the asylum by attendants to be present at the funeral her mother, which took place Wednesday. After the funeral Miss Linbarger protested against being taken back to the asylum. She was, however, taken to the station to await a train for Trenton.

When the train pulled in and she was about to be placed aboard she resisted violently and struggled with the attendants, crying piteously, "Papa, save me!" She finally had to be taken on the train by force.

SABBATH SCHOOL WORK.

First of a Series of Institutes Held in First Presbyterian Church.

The Plainfield Sunday-school Union has planned to hold four district Sabbath-school institutes. The first of the series was held last night in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church and represented the section of the city between the railroad and the brook. The attendance and interest were good and the meeting a success. The programme was as follows:

Song and prayer service....Rev. Mr. Herring
Organized Work.....G. E. Hall
Home Department.....Dr. A. E. Main
Primary and Junior Work..Mrs. J. A. Powlison
General Suggestions in Regard to Sunday-school Work.....W. D. Murray County Convention.....J. A. Robinson

Mrs. Barrows Gave Luncheon.

A day at the clubhouse of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club with golf and a luncheon has become very popular with the women of Plainfield this year, and these luncheons have been even more popular than the informal dinners which were so numerous the season before. Yesterday Mrs. E. T. Barrows, of West Eighth street, gave a luncheon at the clubhouse at which thirty-nine were present. It was a charming affair.

A Bad Cut.

Berrel Mierovitz, aged three years, of West Third street, was playing in a butcher shop near his home yesterday, and in some manner got hold of a sharp knife. Before the knife could be taken from him he succeeded in cutting the two middle fingers of his left hand through to the bone. Dr. VanHorn was called and dressed the wounds.

DOINGS OF THE PARTISANS.

CITY REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN MANAGERS ARE BUSY.

Effort Being Made to Get Webster Davis to Come to Plainfield—Democratic Club Organized in Netherwood—Other Notes.

When the Kansas City convention was held Webster Davis promised James E. Martine that he would try to arrange it so that he could speak in this city during the campaign. Efforts are now being made to secure the presence of Mr. Davis at a Music Hall meeting in this city next week or the week after. He is considered one of the finest orators in the United States, and would be a great card for the local Democrats.

A Bryan and Stevenson Club was organized in Netherwood Wednesday evening. George Wyckoff was elected president, and John Hensey secretary. Mr. Hensey was formerly a Republican.

The third Democratic rally of the present campaign will be held in Washington Hall on West Second street this evening at 8 o'clock. Hon. Wendal C. Warner, of New York; Col. E. A. S. Mann, of Bayonne, nominee for Congress, and John R. Lammerding, of Elizabeth, and F. W. Park, of Cranford, candidates for member of Assembly, will be present and deliver speeches. The following gentlemen have been selected to act as vice presidents: W. A. Coddington, Joseph Blimm, Frank Eick, Michael DeCourcy, Frank Stover, C. H. Lyman, Clarence Teel, Hezekiah Hand, E. W. Tomlinson, John Galbraith, John Moran, Arthur Gallup, W. H. Brokaw, Cormick Caufield, George Stevens and James Kane.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Third Ward Republican Association was held at their headquarters in the Casino last evening. Reports of the work of the finance and canvass commitees were presented and showed considerable activity in the ward. It is doubtful if another smoker will be held by the club this campaign.

The Union Colored Republican Club, of this city, had planned to give an entertainment last evening in their rooms on East Front street. Owing to an error on the circular, however, which set the date for a month later, much of the programme arranged for last night was omitted.

A meeting of the Republican campaign committee of the First ward will be held this evening at ward headquarters in the City Hotel. Some matters of importance will come before the meeting to be acted upon. The committee has made excellent progress in raising campaign funds and a further report on that subject is expected this evening.

A mass meeting of the colored voters of Union county will be held at the Lyceum Theatre, Elizabeth, Friday evening, October 26th. The chief speaker will be Congressman George H. White, of North Carolina, the only colored member of Congress at present. A special invitation has been sent to all the Plainfield clubs and all other voters of this city.

Erastus E. Potter, the famous Morris county school teacher who was the Labor candidate for United States Senator in the memorable contest of 1887, when Rufus Blodgett was elected by a combination of Republicans and four Democrats, will address a meeting at the headquarters of the North Plainfield Democrats, 80 Somerset street, Saturday evening. Mr. Potter is now engaged in teaching school at Port Oram, Morris county, and is considered an unsually brilliant public speaker.

The U. S. Grant Republican Club is arranging to hold a monster mass meeting in Saengerbund Hall about November 1st. There will be speakers of renown and plenty of good music.

A Democratic mass meeting will be held in the borough tomorrow evening and an address will be made by E. E. Potter, of Morris county, who has quite a reputation as an orator.

A meeting of the Board of Managers of the Second Ward Republican Association was held in Republican headquarters last evening. A number of voters were elected to membership. The work of collecting campaign funds and making the ward canvass is progressing very satisfactorily. A rally, under the auspices of the association, will probably be held in Republi-

CORN WAS KING AT TRINITY LAST NIGHT

A Rustic and Autumnal Scene Witnessed by Those Who Attended the Affair.

THE CEREAL IN ALL FORMS.

PROCEEDS OF THE SUPPER FOR USE IN MISSION WORK.

Old-time Songs Rendered in a Room Fixed Up in the Style of a Half Century Ago—Those Who Were in Charge.

The worthy cause of missions is a noble and inspiring object of the Young Women's Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church, and this very active body of Christian workers is always striving to carry the Gospel and further its interest among those who have not the advantages to be found in the civilized parts of this and other countries. In doing mission work money is an important factor, and it sometimes happens that the members of this band feel justified in calling on their friends to assist them in carrying out their plans.

In view of this a novel and original method of securing such aid was arranged by the president, Miss Lillian A. Force, and the social committee, consisting of Mrs. H. W. Marshall, chairman; Mrs. Elizabeth Leggett, Miss Adelaide Baxter and Mrs. David J. Krymer. The plan took the form of a corn supper, and the affair was given last evening and will be continued this evening. To say that the efforts of the young women have been successful is expressing it mildly. From the very first there was no doubt of this essential feature, and it was even more successful than was expected.

From early until late a throng of people visited the Sunday-school room of Trinity Reformed church and enjoyed the good things provided. As the name implies it was a corn supper, pure and simple, and this idea was carried out to perfection. In the decorations everything was used that would associate the affair with the Indian product. There were corn stalks stacked about the various pillars and tied with green colored ribbon, while here and there could be seen ears of corn. Very much in evidence was the green and corn-colored draperies that were festooned between the pillars. In the centre of the large room there were numerous tables presided over by attractive young women, members of the Band, and their assistants, who gave their undivided attention to their many patrons. The tables were made attractive through the use of bunches of flowers, while the bright silverware and cut glassware gave an additional charm.

Along the sides of the room were handsome booths, where there was a successful sale of home made candies, popcorn and cake. The color scheme of the booths was green and white and was produced through the use of ivy, Japanese hydrangeas, asparagus vine, pampas plumes, white flowers and strings of popcorn. Throughout the evening the booths were liberally patronized and those in charge had no difficulty in disposing of the goods on sale.

The primary department room was transformed into an old-fashioned kitchen, such as one would see about a hundred or more years ago. This was a centre of attraction for all. There was the old style fire place, with the familiar andirons, tallow candles, illuminated pumpkins, china closet, the quilt on the quaint old quilting frame, the old-fashioned chairs, and table upon which was the family Bible, and the spinning wheel, all of which had a peculiar interest and charm to those present.

It was in this kitchen that "ye olden choir," under the direction of F. S. Cutter, gathered frequently during the evening and sang sweet old melodies. The choir was composed of young women, members of the Band, and of young men of the church. A feature was the singing by a quartette composed of Miss Minnie Williams, Mrs. F. E. Woodruff, F. S. Cutter and Horace J. Martin, Jr.

Of course the most important part of the affair was the corn supper. This was the attraction and those who partook of the palatable and appetizing menu were flattering in their praises of the efforts of those who prepared it. At each table there was an attractive menu card, the work of Miss Grace Nevius. The title page portrayed a pen and ink sketch of a shock of corn, while the good things served were

DEMOCRATS MAKE COUNTY NOMINATION

Lammerding, Park and Clark Nominated for Members of Assembly.

DR CLADEK FOR CORONER.

THE PLATFORM DENOUNCES TRUSTS AND IMPERIALISM.

City Attorney Connolly Chairman of the Convention—Speeches by Candidates and Others After the Nominations.

(By a Staff Representative.)

Elizabeth, Oct. 19.—The Democratic candidates to be presented to the voters of Union county for their consideration on election day are now complete, the job of filling out the ticket being finished yesterday afternoon at the county convention of that party held in Turn Hall on High street in this city.

A mistake was made by the county committee in setting the date for the convention for the day after the primaries were held to elect delegates, because in several instances delegates who were elected the evening before were not able to arrange their work so that they could attend the convention. Notwithstanding this, however, the delegates from the various wards and townships were well filled and the convention was carried on with interest and enthusiasm.

Before the convention was called to order there were a dozen names mentioned in connection with the Assembly nominations, but there was no certainty as to who would be given the honors. There were no aspirants for the nominations.

The convention was called to order by County Chairman John L. Crowell, of Rahway, who suggested the name of City Attorney James Connolly, of Elizabeth, for chairman. Mr. Connolly's selection met with approval and Col. Collins and City Clerk Manning, of Elizabeth, escorted him to the chair. In accepting the chairmanship Mr. Connolly indulged in a short speech, in which he discussed the issue of imperialism.

W. W. St. John, of Plainfield, was then selected as secretary of the convention. Credentials of delegates were received and then Chairman Connolly appointed the following committees:

Credentials, Lawrence O'Donnell, of Elizabeth; George Cladek, of Rahway, and David Rankin, of Roselle; resolutions: W. W. St. John, of Plainfield; D. F. Collins, of Elizabeth, and Addison Clark, of Westfield; permanent organization: James Manning, of Elizabeth; Mulford Scudder, of Westfield, and W. H. Swain, of Summit; rules: Alvord Cook, of Rahway; John Hurd, of Elizabeth, and Noah Woodruff, of Roselle.

A recess of fifteen minutes was then taken for the committee to do their work, after which the convention reassembled. The committee on resolutions reported the following platform:

We, the Democrats of Union county in convention assembled, do pledge our support to the platform of principles adopted at the Kansas City convention, and at the same time congratulate our fellow-citizens on the action of that convention in nominating that peerless and patriotic American, William Jennings Bryan, for President, and Adlai E. Stevenson for Vice-President.

We condemn the present National administration for its subserviency to trusts and other corporate interests detrimental to the public welfare.

We denounce the attempt to foist upon the republic colonial possessions, making necessary the maintenance of large standing armies, which must necessarily be supported by excessive taxation wrung out of our people.

In every war our National honor and integrity has been maintained by the volunteer army of the republic, and looking to the future our nation can rely upon the patriotism and valor of its citizen soldiery.

We pledge the public efforts of our Legislative candidates to the enactment of such legislation in the State of New Jersey as shall tend to eradicate from the statutes such laws as are now favorable to the modern system of great corporations controlling and monopolizing the necessities of life.

We ask the people of this Congressional district to support Edward A. S. Man, our candidate for Congress, believing that through the action of Congress must come the relief from the threatening policies of the present administration.

The platform was adopted. W. H Swain, of Summit, also offered resolutions on the death of the late Thomas F. Lane, which were adopted by a rising vote.

Nominations for the Assembly were then taken up. City Clerk Manning, of Elizabeth, presented the name of John R. Lammerding, of Elizabeth. Joseph Shann, of Rahway, nominated Addison Clark, of Westfield, and James E. Martine, in a glowing speech, presented the name of Frederick W. Park, of Cranford. The name of Cornelius J. Daly, of Elizabeth, was presented, but later withdrawn, and the secretary

RAPIDLY RECOVERING.

Mrs. Borsum Improving Nicely From Compound Fracture of the Leg Received in New Hampshire.

Mrs. Louis Borsum, of Netherwood, who returned by private car from Maplewood, N. H., with a compound fracture of the right leg, is rapidly improving. The splints were removed yesterday for the first time. Mrs. Borsum is under the care of Dr. Pittis and Miss Augusta Bull, a trained nurse from St. Luke's hospital.

Dr. Pittis states that within a short time Mrs. Borsum will be able to move about the room on crutches, although it may be several weeks before she is able to leave the house. Mr. Borsum, who was also injured in the same accident, has recovered sufficiently to leave the house although he is yet disabled for business. In September last Mr. and Mrs. Borsum and Miss Borsum were injured by the overturning of a brake in the White Mountains, the driver having lost control of the six horses which had taken fright from a locomotive on the Boston and Maine railroad. The railroad company at once placed a private car at their disposal and every courtesy was shown them by the Maplewood Hotel management. Doctors Cilly and Marsh, of Boston, with the trained nurses, accompanied them to Plainfield where they were met at the station by the city ambulance. They were removed to their home on Woodland avenue which had been prepared for their reception by St. Luke's nurses in charge of Dr. Pittis.

FROM HOSPITAL TO JAIL.

Doyle Now Locked up at Elizabeth Will be Arraigned on Murder Charge Next Week.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Oct. 19.—Thomas Doyle, who killed Farmer Horace Baldwin, of Unionville, was brought to the county jail here yesterday afternoon from the Newark City Hospital, where he had been a patient under guard while the wound inflicted on him by Baldwin was being treated

Doyle will not be arranged this week to answer to the indictment for murder found against him by the grand jury. Prosecutor English is at Atlantic City, attending the Presbyterian Synod, so nothing will be done in the matter until next week.

The grand jury has not yet taken up the Schreiber defalcation case, owing to the prosecutor's absence. Mr. English is slowly recovering from a severe illness.

New Papers Issued.

New papers have been issued in the contract case of Matthias Plumb against L. A. Hummer, which was non suited in Justice Smalley's court a few days ago. The case will be tried before Justice Mattison Wednesday, Oct. 24th, and J. P. D. Kirch will represent the plaintiff, while W. K. McClure will look after the interests of the defendant. Justice Smalley granted a non-suit in the case because Willie Nash appeared as attorney for the plaintiff, when the law does not give a minor that privilege.

Set Fire to Window Curtain.

In attempting to light the gas at his home, last evening, Patrolman Lunger accidentally set fire to a window curtain. It sprang into a blaze, but before any other damage was done the patrolman pulled it down and threw it out of doors. The West End firehouse was notified, but upon their arrival they found that Lunger had completely extinguished the blaze.

A RECEIVER WANTED FOR LINCOLN TOWN.

Silas Dewey Drake, the Founder of the Town, is One of the Interested Ones.

MISMANAGEMENT CLAIMED.

THINGS GOING BACKWARD SINCE DRAKE WAS OUSTED, THEY SAY.

Application for the Receiver Made to Vice Chancellor Pitney—Craig A. Marsh Represents the Petitioners.

Lincoln, the much talked about spot, the product of Silas Dewey Drake's ambition, may pass into the hands of a receiver, or to be exact, application has been made for the appointment of a receiver for the New Jersey Mutual Realty Company, of Bound Brook, which company owns Lincoln. Peter G. Polhemus, of Lincoln, Silas Dewey Drake and John S. McGuire, of Plainfield, are the applicants. They are all large stockholders. Several other local people are stockholders in the company, but Mr. Polhemus is the largest, he holding from $8,000 to $10,000.

The application was made before Vice Chancellor Pitney on Tuesday, and is in the form of a rule to show why a receiver should not be appointed. Craig A. Marsh, of this city, represents the applicants.

This Realty Company owns considerable real estate about Lincoln. Silas Dewey Drake founded the company and was its president for some time. A year ago last July other interests secured control of the majority of the stock and ousted Mr. Drake. Daniel Whitlock became manager of the company, being elected treasurer, while his son was made secretary.

It is claimed by the applicants that since then the stock has depreciated in value, falling from $150 a share to $100, through mismanagement. They claim that interest upon mortgages has not been paid and that the affairs of the company are in such a shape that a receiver is necessary to straighten them up and put an end to the existence of the concern.

Mr. Polhemus, when interviewed, said that he had purchased stock at $150 with the assurance that things at Lincoln were booming so rapidly that it would soon be worth $175. Now it is worth but $100. He says that it is in order to protect his own interests that he has joined in the application for a receiver.

As an example of the mismanagement of the company, its boom of last Labor Day is named. It is said that it spent $2,000 in providing for balloon ascensions, special trains, music and advertising for that day and that the total receipts for the day were not above that amount. Some of the stockholders object to this kind of a boom.

Mr. Drake is no longer interested in booming Lincoln, but is devoting his time to making a metropolis of Dewey Park, near Plainfield. The contest between he and the company promises to be very interesting before it is concluded. Wm. Smalley of Bound Brook, is now acting president of the company. Louis D. Cook, of Bound Brook, is also a large stockholder of the company.

In regard to the above story, a Press reporter interviewed Mr. Drake this morning. He stated that for the past eighteen months, though a large stockholder in the New Jersey Realty Company, he has had nothing whatever to do with its management. What improvements were made at Lincoln previous to that time were done under his direct management as president and manager. In view of the fact that he was instrumental in forming the company, he declared that he should not be credited with the mismanagement of others. The liabilities, according to his statement, July 1, 1900, were $44,000 including stock of the company. The assets, as appraised by a committee of stockholders at a meeting, are $159,000.

Steam Roller on Front Street.

Work on the West Front street macadamizing, where the street car tracks have been relaid, was commenced in earnest yesterday morning when the steam roller arrived for duty there. The job is being hurried as fast as possible, greatly to the relief of the drivers and bicyclists who have occasion to use that thoroughfare.

Purchased the Property.

Messrs. C. E. Gulick, W. W. Dunn and Mr. Voorhees, members of the firm of C. E. Gulick & Co., Park grocers, have purchased of the owner, Mrs. A. C. Baldwin, the property corner of Duer street and Lincoln place.

The articles themselves are excellently written. Other subjects of interest in this issue of the magazine are: "A Turkish Wedding," effectively and profusively illustrated; a complete story entitled "The Man in the Cloak;" an article on "How to Sit for One's Photograph," and short household and toilet articles galore, besides a large number of suggestions for Christmas gifts in embroidery and lace.

BIG SUM STOLEN.

Mail Robbers In New York City Secured $40,000.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Forty thousand dollars is believed to be a conservative estimate of the amount of money, postoffice orders, checks and stamps stolen from postoffice station H, in the Grand Central palace, Monday night or on its way to the general postoffice. Officials tried hard to keep secret not only the fact that the robbery had occurred, but the amount of money stolen. They even went so far as to keep the matter from the New York police and the secret service agents.

It was learned yesterday that many of the largest business houses and banks in Manhattan above Forty-second street had registered mail in station H on the night of the robbery. None of them was able to find out whether they had sustained losses. They will not know until they have communicated with their correspondents. The Murray Hill hotel, the Hotel Manhattan, the Grand Central railroad, the Third avenue branch of the Bank of New Amsterdam, the Murray Hill bank, the New York Furniture company and the Manhattan Storages and Furniture company are a few of the big business houses that sent registered mail and money from their places on Monday night. Five mail pounches in all were stolen.

Information reached Postoffice Inspector King and Deputies Jacobs and James yesterday which convinced them that some one thoroughly familiar with the workings of the substation and possessing a key which opened the registered lock had committed the robbery.

ROOSEVELT IN WEST VIRGINIA.

His Great Campaign Tour Drawing to a Close.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 19.—Governor Roosevelt entered at noon upon his West Virginia itinerary, making his first speech at Wheeling to a large crowd at the fair grounds. On the platform were 100 men who voted for Fremont in 1856.

The demonstration in Parkersburg is conceded to be the biggest political affair in the history of the state. Preceding two meetings there was a big parade, participated in by marching clubs and rough riders as escorts of Governor Roosevelt. The streets were lined with people. Governor Roosevelt spoke first to 5,000 people in the wigwam and was then hurried to the auditorium, where he addressed an audience of 2,000.

Early in the day Governor Roosevelt spoke to enthusiastic audiences in Ohio, beginning at Canton.

Governor Roosevelt will finish his general campaign at Baltimore tonight, after having traveled nearly 19,000 miles and after making nearly 500 short and long speeches. Then he will spend the final week of the campaign in New York state. The Boston visit has been eliminated, and if possible Governor Roosevelt will spend next Sunday with his family at Albany.

Unionists and Independents Clash.

MUNCIE, Ind., Oct. 19.—A result not unexpected, the outgrowth of labor union troubles, came last night at Eaton between independent workmen employed in the resumption by the Bauer factory and the members of the window glass labor unions, known locally as Burns' men. The factory resumed work Tuesday, and officers have protected the independent workingmen, who have slept and eaten in the factory. These men ventured out last evening, and trouble began right away. Robert Gowan was knocked down by Lewis Milhelm and then inflicted a probably fatal bullet wound in his assailant's back as the latter was running away. Cowan was hurried to a place of temporary safety by his friends and officers were summoned from this city to come and place him in jail for safekeeping.

The Rice Institute.

HOUSTON, Oct. 19.—A deed to the Capitol hotel property was yesterday filed by the trustees of the William M. Rice institute to be situated at Houston. The deed was executed June 20, 1892, by William M. Rice and his wife, Elizabeth Baldwin Rice, as a donation to the endowment fund of the William M. Rice Institute For the Advancement of Literature, Science and Art. The property is a five story building covering a quarter of a block in the heart of the business district and is worth more than $300,000. Mr. Rice gave a promissory note for $200,000 to the endowment fund of the institution, and on this note he had been paying interest regularly since 1892.

Germany Imports Butter.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Vice Consul General Hanauer at Frankfort writes to the state department relative to the increasing consumption of imported butter in Germany. The amount of butter used during the first seven months of this year was 8,098 metric tons (of 2,204 pounds) as against 5,784 tons for the same period of 1899. Of the total amount Holland supplied 2,850 tons, Austria-Hungary 2,476 tons and Russia 1,685 tons. The consul, thinking that our butter is equal to the best produced, sees no reason why the manufacturers of the United States should not furnish the market with this commodity.

Triplets For Two.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Oct. 19.—Mrs. Walter J. Swanson gave birth to triplets Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. An hour later Mrs. Howard E. Swanson similarly surprised her husband. The circumstances are surprising. Less than a year ago Dorothy and Parthenia Freeman, twin sisters, were the belles of Breeden, W. Va. They had many suitors, and finally they chose Walter J. and Howard E. Swanson, young timber men and also twins.

War on Bucket Shops.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Board of trade officials today entered on what they consider the last skirmish in a winning battle against Chicago bucket shops. Of 27 of these concerns in operation on Aug. 1 or since 13 have been obliged to close their doors, and 13 more have at last given up their fight to secure the board of trade market quotations by roundabout means.

Galveston Relief.

GALVESTON, Oct. 19.—John Demlin, treasurer of the Galveston relief fund, has given out a statement showing that the total contributions to date are $1,095,202.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 19.—It is announced that the immediate danger attaching to the illness of King Oscar has passed, but that he will require a long rest.

TIME TO TALK PEACE

Chinese Officials Announce Readiness to Confer.

BOXERS TO BE DEALT WITH BY COURTS

Losses to Be Estimated by Powers. Immediate Cessation of Hostilities Demanded—The French Minister's Demands.

PARIS, Oct. 19.—The Havas agency has received the following dispatch from Peking:

"The diplomatic corps has received a joint note from Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching saying that it is time to end the present situation and to treat for peace and that the princes and ministers who were accomplices of the Boxers will be handed over to the courts to be judged and punished according to Chinese law.

"In their quality of plenipotentiaries Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching offer to treat for peace and accept the principle of indemnities for the legations destroyed. The losses are to be estimated by delegates of the powers.

"European nations can be accorded fresh commercial advantages or the old treaties modified, but, as the requirements of the powers vary, each power must formulate its own.

"The plenipotentiaries demand an immediate cessation of hostilities because of their offer and request an interview with the tsung-li-yamen for Oct. 21.

"Replying to the note, M. Pichon, the French minister, said that China, having recognized that she has violated the law of nations, was bound to accept for that very reason the responsibilities involved. Consequently he demanded that exemplary punishment be inflicted upon the principals guilty—namely, Prince Tuan, Prince Chwang, Kang Yi and Tung Fu Hsiang, adding that so long as their heads had not fallen it was impossible to cease hostilities.

"M. Pichon has been confined to his bed for several days with a slight attack of typhus, but his condition is not grave.

"Owing to the arrival of Count von Waldersee, General Voyron, commander of the French forces, has decided to prolong his stay in Peking until he receives fresh orders."

IMMEDIATE NEGOTIATIONS.

Minister Conger Instructed to Confer With Earl Li and Prince Ching.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The French memorandum presented to the secretary of state by M. Thiebaut, the charge d'affaires of France, in which the French government requests that the United States minister at Peking be instructed to enter immediately into negotiations for peace with Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching, is regarded here as paving the way for a satisfactory adjustment of the troubles in China. In his answer the secretary of state will express the gratification of the president over the turn affairs have taken and say that Minister Conger has been instructed to enter upon peace negotiations. In his memorandum M. Thiebaut said that all the powers had agreed in principle with the first French note suggesting that negotiations begin immediately, and there is a strong feeling of hope in official circles here that the general peace conference is assured.

Secretary Hay personally handed to Wu Ting Fang, the Chinese minister, yesterday a letter from President McKinley to Emperor Kwang Su in answer to the letter of thanks from the emperor handed to the president yesterday by Mr. Wu. The text of the two communications was not made public, but it is learned the president's answer is brief and does not contain any new advice to Kwang Su as to means to be pursued to re-establish normal conditions in China.

A telegram from Minister Conger, the first for some time, was received by Secretary Hay. Mr. Hay took it to the president. Information as to the contents of the message was refused, and some concern was manifested by officials over the fact that it was known outside the state department and the White House that such a message had come. The dispatch is regarded as important. It is said that it contains information as to the culpability of Chinese authorities in the Boxer outrages, but this cannot be verified.

It was learned at the state department that Mr. Conger's previous instructions fit him perfectly to deal with the new phase of the Chinese situation developed by the general acceptance of the French note as the basis for present action.

The Occupation of Mukden.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 19.—The war office has published further official advices regarding the advance to the occupation of Mukden. These show that the Russians left camp at Liao-jan Sept. 30. The Chinese retired before them in disorder, plundering and burning the villages as they traversed them. The main body of Chinese retired in the direction of Mukden, although large numbers moved eastward and westward. At Jan-tai General Subbovitch, one of the Russian commanders, learned that the Chinese authorities had deserted Mukden and that their flight had been followed by that of the Chinese troops after pillaging the town. He immediately dispatched a flying column under Colonel Artamonoff, which, after slight resistance, occupied Mukden at 4 o'clock p. m. Oct. 2. The Chinese had fired the mines and destroyed the city gates. The Russians found all the buildings belonging to Europeans and native converts burning. The imperial palace had been looted and partially burned.

Strange Shanghai Stories.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—Special dispatches from Shanghai recite numerous rumors in circulation there. Among these are reports that the heir apparent, Pu Chun, son of Prince Tuan, is dead, that Li Hung Chang has been degraded on account of the surrender of Pao-ting-fu and that Prince Tuan has got possession of the emperor's seal and is terrorizing the dowager. The Shanghai correspondent of The Times, wiring yesterday, says: "The taotai has applied to the consuls to arrest over 600 Chinese who reside in the foreign settlement on a charge of conspiracy. Those named include several well known Chinamen whose only crime is that they possess progressive ideas."

King Albert's Illness Serious.

BERLIN, Oct. 19.—It is now known that the illness of King Albert of Saxony, which has recently become more acute, is due to a cancerous affection of the bladder, which his medical attendants consider incurable.

THE STRIKE NOT OFF

Operators Count Powder Reduction Part of Advance.

DEMAND WAS FOR STRAIGHT INCREASE

This Difference, It Is Feared, May Prolong the Fight and Necessitate the Calling of Another Convention.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 19.—Representatives of nearly all the big coal companies of the region conferred here yesterday and made an agreement to amend the notices already posted by attaching the following: "In further explanation of the above notice this company desires to say that it is its intention to pay the advance in wages above noted until April 1, 1901, and thereafter until further notice."

The following statement was issued to the press: "The representatives of the larger coal companies after their meeting this afternoon stated in reply to inquiries that they had offered their men a 10 per cent advance, as indicated by the notices they had posted, that this notice specifically stated that the reduction of powder from $2.75 to $1.50 would be considered in arriving at the wages of their contract miners. It was expected when the notices were posted that the offer was to stand until April 1 and indefinitely thereafter, but inasmuch as there seems to be some misunderstanding in this matter they have agreed to add to their notice a clause to the effect that it is their intention to pay the advance in wages until April 1, 1901, and thereafter until further notice."

National President Mitchell, District President T. D. Nichols, District Secretary John T. Dempsey and National Organizer Fred Dilcher of the United Mine Workers have all been quoted as saying that the resolutions of the Scranton convention contemplated a straight advance of 10 per cent for all parts of the region and that the matter of having this increase made up in part by a decrease in the cost of powder in these upper regions, where powder is sold for $2.75 a keg, was not to be agreed to. The powder question, they one and all said, was left out of the present negotiations, with the understanding that it should form one of the grievances to be adjusted in the conferences which the offer says the operators agree to have with their men to "take up any grievances they may have."

President Mitchell, when informed by telephone of the action of the operators, stated that he would have to decline to discuss its probable effect in regard to a settlement until he had given the matter careful consideration. He would not say whether or not it would be possible to deal with the difficulty without calling another convention.

President Nichols, whose whole district is affected by the powder question, said that it looked to him as if another convention was necessary. "I do not know that the delegates will consent to waiving their demand for a straight increase and allowing the substitution of this clause about powder which the operators are so insistent about," said he. "But without their consent I do not see how the matter can be adjusted. To me it looks like a prolongation of the fight."

Miners' Union Makes No Move.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 19.—As far as ending the coal miners' strike is concerned not a move in that direction has yet been made by the United Mine Workers' officials. President Mitchell is absolutely silent on all questions pertaining to the termination of the contest, and it is not believed that he will have anything to say on the subject until he calls a meeting of the national executive board for the purpose of considering the question of issuing a formal declaration calling the strike off. When that shall be depends, it is understood, entirely upon the operators. The feeling is prevalent here that the decision of the operators' meeting at Scranton yesterday to insist that the reduction in the price of powder must be taken into consideration in determining the net 10 per cent increase in wages has complicated matters somewhat and may prolong the controversy.

Pyne, late of Agawam, 27 shares of the Springfield First National bank are given to the Women's American Home Missionary society and $2,000 to the town of Agawam as a fund for the poor, $1,000 to the Springfield Home For Friendless Women, $1,000 to the Women's Baptist Foreign Missionary society of Boston, $2,000 to the American Baptist Home Missionary association, $2,000 to the Massachusetts Baptist conference for the relief of disabled ministers and $1,000 to the Baptist Missionary association. The Agawam Baptist church also receives a large bequest.

British Ironmongers Excited.

BIRMINGHAM, England, Oct. 19.—The midland ironmasters are inquiring in official quarters about the reported intention to prefer American manufacturers to British in awarding contracts for the extensive railway and bridge construction contemplated in South Africa. Several of the principal iron men who are acting conjointly in making these inquiries intend to organize a campaign to press the government into favoring British manufacturers if it is found that any contracts are likely to go to the United States, even though the American bids should be lower than the British.

A New Hospital.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Oct. 19.—The cornerstone of the new city hospital in this city was laid yesterday afternoon with appropriate ceremonies. Addresses were made by Right Rev. Bishop Gabriels of the Cathedral diocese of Ogdensburg, Rev. A. N. Wight of the Congregational church and George Hall, mayor of the city. The new hospital will be 110 by 89 feet and three stories high. Its walls will be of marble and brick, and it will be the finest institution of its kind and size in this section of the state.

BRYAN'S EMPIRE STATE TOUR.

Speaks at Many Points In the Mohawk Valley and at Oswego.

SYRACUSE, Oct. 19.—Hon. William J. Bryan, the Democratic presidential candidate, continued his tour of the Empire State yesterday, traveling half way across it from east to west. He began his journey at Albany, and, following the course of the picturesque Mohawk and the line of the Erie canal, he reached this city late in the afternoon. From here he made a run northward to the southern shore of Lake Ontario and made a speech of half an hour's duration at Oswego. Returning to this city later, he spoke here last night.

The other points at which he spoke during the day were Schenectady, Amsterdam, Fonda, Johnstown, Gloversville, Fort Plain, Little Falls, Herkimer, Ilion, Frankfort, Utica, Rome, Oneida, Canastota, Chittenango and DeWitt. The attendance at the majority of the meetings was complimentary in size, and some of the audiences were large. In comparatively few places was there marked enthusiasm. There was, however, close attention in every instance, and in no case was there any interruption worthy of note. The Oswego meeting was the best attended and in other respects the most notable of the day.

The Wilson Funeral.

LEXINGTON, Va., Oct. 19.—Memorial services for the late Hon. William L. Wilson, president of Washington and Lee university, were held in the university chapel yesterday afternoon. The Rev. T. A. Hall, the dead man's pastor, conducted them, and a touching memorial address was delivered by the Rev. James A. Quarles of the university. The edifice was filled with a sorrowing audience. On the rostrum were the university faculty, the Virginia Military Institute faculty and Lee-Jackson camp of Confederate veterans, of which Mr. Wilson was a member. A special funeral train left here this morning at 7 o'clock over the Baltimore and Ohio railroad for Charleston, W. Va., his old home, where the final funeral services and interment will take place at 12 o'clock. The family were accompanied by the faculty, trustees and students.

The annual statement of the company for the year ended July 31 shows total revenue was $15,022,858; net earnings, $6,623,476; surplus, $4,895,944.

Entire Body Found.

LYNN, Mass., Oct. 19.—The entire body of George B. Bailey of North Saugus, who was murdered about Oct. 8, is now in the possession of the Lynn police and has been positively identified. The missing head and arms were found by the police in dragging Glenmere "Floating Bridge pond," yesterday. These remains were taken to a local undertaker's rooms and there identified by people who knew Bailey well. John C. Best, who is held on suspicion of having committed the murder, was confronted with the head, but all he would say was that he thought it might be Bailey's.

Prohibition Candidates In Brooklyn.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—John G. Woolley, Prohibition nominee for president, spoke to an audience of about 1,300 persons at the Star theater in Brooklyn last night. He also spoke at meetings in Elizabeth and Jersey City earlier in the evening. His address was practically a repetition of his New York speech delivered Wednesday evening at Cooper Union hall. He assigned the entire blame for the existing evil conditions solely at the door of the so-called Christian voter and stated that the remedy was in his hands.

OUR TROOPS HEALTHY.

General Sternberg Makes His Annual Report.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The annual report of Surgeon General Sternberg has been submitted to the secretary of war. The report devotes considerable space to a statement regarding the health of the troops and says:

"During the calendar year 1899 there were 229,885 admissions to sick report recorded in a mean strength of 105,546 regulars and volunteers. This is equivalent to a rate of 2178.06 per 1,000 of strength, as compared with 2146.18 per 1,000 during 1898, and with 1237.24, the mean annual rate for the decade 1888-1897. Of the admission rate for the year 714.99 were caused by malarial diseases, 380.69 by diarrheal diseases and 192.48 by injury, of which 20.69 per 1,000 men resulted from gunshot. Typhoid fever contributed only 20.29 cases per 1,000 of strength.

"The deaths in 1899 amounted to 1,945, a rate of 18.43 per 1,000, as contrasted with 27.99 during the year 1898 and with 6.69, the means of the preceding decade. The principal causes of death and the rates per 1,000 men were: Gunshot wounds, 5.10; other injuries, 1.57; typhoid fever, 2.44; diarrheal diseases, 2.14; malarial diseases, 0.99; pneumonia, 0.94, and variola, 0.80. The highest death rate during the past year, 30.58 per 1,000 men, was reported from the Pacific islands. One-half of this was caused by injuries, gunshot injuries being responsible for the death of 12.60 per 1,000 of strength."

The Schreiber Case.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Judge Gilhooly, counsel for the Elizabethport bank, said yesterday that he was in possession of the diamond necklace given to Mrs. Hart by William Schreiber, the defaulting clerk. The jewels were obtained through legal proceedings about which Judge Gilhooly is reticent. He admitted the possession of the jewels in question, but declined to say where they had been secured. From another source, however, it was learned that these are part of the lot put up as security for a loan with a New York jeweler. Judge Gilhooly said that Mrs. Hart was still in New York and that any report to the contrary was untrue. He also said that she was not now under surveillance by the police.

Captain Gridley's Daughter Married.

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 19.—The marriage of Miss Katharine Vincent Gridley to Lewis Buddy, Jr., of Cleveland took place last evening at St. Paul's P. E. church, this city, Rev. F. S. Spalding officiating. After a reception which included only intimate friends the couple left for the east. Miss Gridley is the daughter of the late Captain C. V. Gridley, commander of Dewey's flagship in the battle of Manila Bay and who died on his way home from the Philippines. Lewis Buddy, Jr., is secretary and treasurer of the Stearns Manufacturing company and is art editor of The Chautauquan, a magazine published in Cleveland.

Brooklyn Wins the Trophy.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 19.—The agony is over. Brooklyn is champion of the world baseballically, the owner of the beautiful $500 Chronicle-Telegraph trophy cup and carries away one-half the gate receipts of the four games necessary to decide their supremacy over Pittsburg. The champions demonstrated throughout the series that they were deserving of the League pennant by playing better ball in every way than their opponents, who finished second in the race. In only one game of the four played did Pittsburg look to be in the same class with Brooklyn. The score in yesterday's game was: Brooklyn, 6; Pittsburg, 1.

Tiffany's Men at Work Again.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—It is declared at the store of Tiffany & Co., in Union square, that the backbone of the strike of the copperplate engravers at the firm's factory at Forest Hill, N. J., has been broken. A representative of the firm said that half the men had returned to work unconditionally—that is, at the same terms as those under which they had worked before the strike. He added that the ringleaders of the strike would not be taken back under any conditions, but that their places were being filled by new men selected from the many applicants who had applied for places.

Close Call For Fast Train.

SYRACUSE, Oct. 19.—The Empire State express, west bound, had a narrow escape yesterday afternoon near Minoa. A few moments after it had passed on track No. 2 a freight train on track No. 4 was wrecked by the bursting of air hose which suddenly set the brakes. Wreckage was piled on track No. 2 and was not cleared away for several hours. Two telegraph poles were broken and several wires snapped.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—There is some talk here of ex-Vice President Levi P. Morton as the third member on the part of the United States on The Hague international arbitration board. BULLER'S HARD TASK

Sir Redvers Tells of Obstacles He Faced.

A COMMANDER WITHOUT AN ARMY.

Lost the Supreme Command In South Africa Rightly—Praise For His Troops, Who Endured Such a Tremendous Strain.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—The morning papers express indignation at the discovery that the admiralty is sending home a dozen invalided Australian troopers, who were attacked with enteric fever, in the steerage.

A charitable fund has been wired to Gibraltar, where the troopers have been recuperating, to insure their transfer to the second cabin.

The Pietermaritzburg correspondent of The Daily Mail wires as follows:

"In his speech returning thanks for the sword of honor Sir Redvers Buller made a spirited defense of his strategy. He said he did not believe that any general had ever faced a situation so difficult as that which confronted him when he disembarked at Cape Town without an army and with no hope of one for another seven weeks or longer.

"'I found Mafeking and Kimberley beleaguered,' he continued, 'and the two main avenues across the Free State, Bethulie bridge and Norval's pont, in the hands of the enemy, with Ladysmith nearly surrounded. If I had waited for the army and then advanced on Bloemfontein, it would have been at least 12 weeks before I could have exerted any influence on the situation.

"'In that time the Boers would have completely overrun and occupied Natal, and what would have been the effect of that on Europe and the British people?'

"General Buller then proceeded to make the interesting announcement that Sir Evelyn Wood had wired asking to be allowed to come out to serve under him. He said he was never so tempted in his life to take a man at his word, for he had begun to look upon Natal as a forlorn hope, but it would have been cowardly to have let Sir Evelyn come to take the risk.

"'I knew that if I failed to relieve Ladysmith,' he exclaimed, 'I should lose the supreme command. I lost it, and rightly, I think, but I had taken on the task and was bound to see it through to a conclusion.'

"Sir Redvers paid the highest compliments to the loyalty and gallantry of his troops under the tremendous strain, a strain, he believed, such as no soldiers in the history of the world had ever to undergo before."

Boers Make Much Trouble.

PRETORIA, Oct. 19.—The Boers are daily tearing up portions of the railroad and cutting the telegraph and telephone wires. Their attacks are intolerable. The repairing linemen cannot leave the garrisoned points without considerable escorts. The only remedy seems to be to corral all the burghers and deport them, as apparently none can be trusted.

Arizona's Great Growth.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The census bureau has made public the population of the territory of Arizona. The population of the territory in 1900 is 122,212 as compared with a population in 1890 of 59,620. This shows an increase during the decade of 62,592, or 104.9 per cent. This large increase is due in part to the fact that there were 28,469 Indians and 154 other persons, or a total of 28,623 persons, on Indian reservations, etc., in Arizona who were specially enumerated in 1890 under the provisions of the census act, but were not included in the general population of the territory at that census.

May Be an Oyster Famine.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—It is said that an oyster famine threatens this city, due to the war which is now raging between the Long Island oystermen and their employers. The war also threatens to spread to the clam diggers, and even the clam may be a scarce article before many days have passed, as the diggers declare that they will stand by the oystermen in their fight. The oystermen are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, and the matter has been brought to the attention of that body. The men declared that the employers are trying to break up the union.

Youtsey Trial Ends Today.

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Oct. 19.—The Youtsey trial is drawing rapidly to a close. All the testimony is in, the instructions have been given the jury, and the speeches are being made. A verdict is expected this afternoon. There is no improvement in Youtsey's condition, though he is not any worse. Now and then the paroxysms return, and for an hour afterward he is much worse, but is still able to rally, showing remarkable vitality. Opinion here as to the verdict is divided, some thinking it will be guilty, while others believe in acquittal or a hung jury.

Tragedy In Havana.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The war department has received the following cablegram from Havana: "Major Matt R. Peterson, U. S. V., died of yellow fever at Los Animas at 9 o'clock Oct. 17. Mrs. Peterson, his wife, killed herself an hour later." Major Peterson was of the commissary department and held the rank of captain in the regular establishment. He was a graduate of West Point and was appointed from North Carolina.

Rescued From Capsized Boat.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 19.—The steamer City of Monticello, which arrived from Yarmouth, brought in Jonas Stafford, who had been sitting on the bottom of a schooner for 38 hours with the thermometer at freezing and a 50 mile gale dashing waves over him. He is the only survivor of the schooner Rowena's crew. The Rowena sailed light from Westerly, R. I., Oct. 5.

Yellowstone Park Railroad.

TRENTON, Oct. 19.—The Yellowstone Park Railroad company, capital $2,500,000, has been incorporated here, with power to build railroads through the Yellowstone park. The incorporators are Alexander Morrison of Hackensack; D. E. Everitt of Jersey City, J. B. Clark of Hoboken, F. A. Hall of Livingston, Mon., and C. E. Barrett of Indianapolis.

More Gold Coming.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—It is reported that gold to the amount of £500,000, which is due to arrive here from India next week, has been engaged for the United States.

Outrageous Trolley Service.

The rank mismanagement and outrageous treatment of the public by the Plainfield Street Railway Company is still an iniquitous feature of local transit facilities. For more than two years the managers of the Street Railway Company have been "jollying" the people of Plainfield with the story that "we expect those new cars now in a few days." The tale has done service so long that it would seem as though the trolley magnates would be ashamed of it, but apparently they are not. In the summer time, when the people object to riding in closed cars, it is open cars that are expected at once; in cold weather when objections are made to open cars, it is closed cars that are expected. After hearing this tale, varied as to open or closed cars just as the weather happens to favor either one of the build, for two years past, we have come to the conclusion that the company has no serious intentions of getting new cars. With the exception of three or four new open cars received last summer, all the rest of the rolling stock of the trolley company is of the poorest sort. A large number of second-hand cars have been secured, most of which had been previously abandoned as worthless by other companies. Even with this second-class stuff the company is so niggardly that they refuse to get enough closed cars for winter service or open cars for summer service.

Anent this subject, we have received the following communication from an indignant citizen of Plainfield whose home is convenient to the Arlington avenue line of the street railway. The correspondent says:

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—Where is the manager of the trolley line? Perhaps he is away and does not know that the Arlington avenue patrons are not being well treated. We have complained before because we only have half service on our line. We certainly ought to have cars running every fifteen minutes. But now "insult is being added to injury."

When the weather was warm and open cars were desirable we were obliged to ride in a closed car. The ride out to the end of the line is very pleasant, but those who go out for pleasure rides will not go in closed cars in warm weather. Of course under these circumstances—a closed car, and only once in a half hour—the line could not expect to carry many passengers. Such an arrangement undoubtedly interfered with the travel on the road, and must have cut down the profits very seriously.

Now since cold wintry weather seems to be with us our closed car has disappeared, and we have an open car which has been very appropriately called a "pneumonia express."

We have come to the conclusion that we are only permitteed to have what other people wont have. Of course we rebel. We must have our closed car back again. If not, please forward to the Arlington avenue line a good bye for the present from this Trolley Patron.

The Elizabeth Journal says that it is a singular coincidence that the late Thomas F. Lane met his death in the same manner as did the man whom he succeeded in office in Washington. Mr. Lane's predecessor in office was Benjamin F. Worrell, one of the members of old Company A, New Jersey Volunteers. Worrell lost one of his legs while in the army, and applied for and was appointed to an office in Washington. He retained this until Mr. Lane was appointed to the same office and then, after vainly trying for another position, committed suicide on the steps of the treasury building in May, 1894.

Referring to the closing days of the great coal strike in Pennsylvania, the Philadelphia Times truthfully says: "That labor disputes ought always to be harmoniously adjusted all admit; that they can be, even under such complicated conditions as exist in the anthracite region, has been demonstrated by this strike. The victory is not for a class merely, but for all who believe in the dignity of labor and in the justice and good sense of the American people. It marks another step forward in industrial progress, and it cannot but have a lasting effect for good."

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The Central Railroad commuters have given Conductor M. L. Rarick a new title, and his train a new name on account of the entire crew being members of the Christian Endeavor Society of Dunellen. The train is now known as the "C. E. Special," and its conductor is Deacon Rarick. Conductor Rarick and his crew live at Dunellen, and are all members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian church of that place. Conductor Rarick is a deacon of the church and leader of the choir. Engineer Frank Wynkoop and Fireman William Dunham are also active workers in the society, as are also the brakemen, A. F. Warden and Silas Naylor. The entire crew are chicken fanciers, and have many choice fowls on their properties at Dunellen. When they are not running a train they are attending to their chickens or church duties. Conductor Rarick, like David Harum, is an expert on horse flesh, and occasionally swaps horses while en route on the "C. E. Special."

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

"A Romance of Coon Hollow," one of the largest dramatic associations on the road, will be seen at Music Hall Saturday afternoon and night of next week. Besides a magnificent equipment of scenic calcium and electrical effects and a strong acting company, the troupe carries a "hot" band of colored boy and girl buck dancers and two quartettes. It has been before the public more than six successful seasons. The production here will be a duplicate of the original production at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, New York, as all the scenery is carried and the company is in the main the same.

* * * * * *

Very much is expected, and apparently with good reason, from the appearance at Music Hall on Thursday night of next week—25th inst—of Marion Manola in the Strange-Edwards version of L'Ami Fritz, called "Friend Fritz." The company throughout will be an expert one, the production is to be elaborate and beautiful to a degree; and with such favorable surroundings, the famous operatic comedy will be seen at its best.

MOURNING ATTIRE.

Good Taste In Dress In Times of Bereavement.

While there are so many women whose recent bereavement makes it necessary to wear mourning, it seems a duty to say a few words about the present styles for such garments. We all know that black is the proper color and that crape should be used to trim it, but until death has struck some one of ours we scarcely give mourning a thought. Yet there are as many different ideas in mourning as there are in festive costuming. No one now goes about hidden under a shapeless mass of black crape and bombazine. All the garments are made with as much taste as the other garments show. Much of this is due to the fashions set by the royal family in England, for they are almost always in mourning for some one. Queens and princesses cannot go off alone and grieve. They must hold themselves in readiness for all the demands of their people, and often one of them appears in public with smiles on her face, but sorrow in her heart, and this necessity has given rise to the styles of what we might call ornamental mourning.

For all who can possibly afford it—and no one counts the cost when one is endeavoring to honor the memory of the one who is gone—the eudora cloth is the one desirable thing, as while jet black, and that color never changes however long it may be worn, it has a dull richness very suitable for the purpose. And crape shows up on it as it does not on any other kind of stuff made. This is for first mourning and is nearly covered with crape. Later this crape is narrowed until it becomes but a border. For first mourning the dress is made rather long, and the crape is faced upon the skirt so that little of the eudora is seen. In three months this can be cut down, and so on by degrees until the first year is past. Many ladies wear mourning for three and four years, but they are the exception.

A cape of some kind is considered best form for the first mourning, and such capes are trimmed with heavy crape laid on flat. Collars are made in the same form as those which are not for mourning and are covered with crape. Stylish they are and as handsomely made as those for swell functions, though all black and crape laden.

Speaking of crape reminds me to speak of the different kinds and to define the uses of each. The Italian goods of this description are all called Italian crape and the French the same, and the China crape is another thing entirely and not at all transparent, while the other two are quite so. These two are used only as trimming to the other crape. The English fabric is also called "crape" and bears with that way of spelling the knowledge that the material is of the wide wale and solid crinkle which is the only kind possible for the flat trimming and for the veils. There are two or three different weights of this English crape, which is known by the name of courtauld, as it has been from time unknown. All of the English crape is now made waterproof.

For home the handsomest way to make a dress is to have a demitrain and a ripple flounce of the material deeply faced with crape and the waist laid in folds all converging to a point from the shoulder to the bottom of the front. The collar and sleeves may be covered with crape, or if that proves too expensive a binding will do and more stress laid on the street attire. For mothers and widows the depth of the crape is as great as the purse will allow, and the veil is long enough to go over the head double and fall to the hem of the dress in the back. A small mask veil is worn down over the face for the purpose of helping to hold the bonnet in place. The capote and the Marie Stuart shape will always be the best bonnets for heavy mournings, as they form the best hold for the long and dragging veil. For evening when it is almost obligatory for a woman to be present at some semigreat function, like a wedding in her family, a trained dull silk with fine ruffles and plaitings of crepe lisse or chiffon and garnished with dull jet beads and perhaps some chenille embroidery is suitable. This can be made with a V shaped neck, or it can be close, but ornamented with white crepe lisse wherever it is possible to put it. HENRIETTE ROUSSEAU.

STOP

The time to stop disease is before it really gets started. Then it is easy. Almost all disease starts in the stomach. A little trouble planted there will spread its branches all over the body. Indigestion drags behind it a lengthening chain of disease. Indigestion makes impure blood, it makes assimilation poor, makes the body weak, causes loss of flesh, and makes a hundred openings for disease to enter. Stop indigestion and you stop the rest. Go to the root of the trouble and you soon kill the branches. Keep the digestion in good order and you may laugh in the face of sickness.

RIPANS Tabules

are for the digestive organs—for stomach, liver and bowels. They stimulate the appetite, help digestion and assimilation of food, keep all the organs healthily active. They cure indigestion—that means biliousness, sour stomach, flatulence, headache, bad blood, bad complexion, pimples, eruptions, constipation and half a hundred other things that arise from the one cause. They cure the cause—the rest is easy. One Tabule is a dose—one gives relief. It should be taken at meal times, at bed time, or whenever a premonition of a need of it is felt. You'll feel better, and quickly too.

CHINESE IN THE FUTURE.

They May Eventually Enter Into Competition in the Markets of the World.

The possibilities of Chinese competition in the markets of the world are discussed in a noteworthy article by Alleyne Ireland in the North American Review. He believes that China will eventually enter into active commercial rivalry with the western nations. The point, which we have emphasized in previous discussions of this aspect of the Chinese problem, that the Chinese population is capable of a high degree of industrial development, is forcefully put by Mr. Ireland. "A Chinaman," he remarks, "can outwork and underlive any other worker in the world." The industrial capabilities of her population will enable China, when equipped with modern appliances of production and distribution, not only to hold her own markets against western competition, but also to invade foreign markets. Instead of remaining a passive purchaser of American and European merchandise China will become in the future an active seller of her own products in other lands.

The commercial rivalry of the Chinese, Mr. Ireland points out, will be especially formidable in the tropical and subtropical markets. There are almost boundless opportunities for the development of trade with tropical countries. The Chinese are in a position to compete for this expanding trade on peculiarly favorable conditions. In fact, as Mr. Ireland puts it, "the commercial problem created by the prospect of an economic awakening of China may be said to consist, in its simplest form, of the possible exclusion of the white race from participation in the advantages which would follow an increase in the economic efficiency of the tropical and of the subtropical peoples."

A fact of great importance in this connection is that the Chinaman can settle and thrive in all the tropical countries, while in most of them the white man can never be more than a temporary resident. Mr. Ireland predicts that "throughout the tropics, possibly excepting India, the Chinaman, even should he continue to emigrate in no greater force than hitherto, will gradually supersede all the native races." The Chinese saturation of the tropics, he believes, will be delayed for a considerable period on account of the aversion of the Chinese to emigration. But eventually the tropics will probably be overrun and dominated by the Chinese. This result would be hastened if the Chinese government, as is by no means improbable, should deliberately embark on a policy of territorial expansion.

"In any event," Mr. Ireland concludes, "the industrial development which may be expected to follow even a moderate degree of internal reform, if accompanied by the adoption of western industrial methods, will soon set China at work seeking foreign markets." China is not to be treated as a neglectable quantity in the future development of international trade. She seems destined to become a very lively rival of the western nations in the markets of the world.

CHILDREN AS CLIMBERS.

They Are Serenely Happy When Traveling Up the Hills of Switzerland.

Mr. E. H. Cooper, in Cassell's Magazine, says in an illustrated article "On the Matterhorn:" "Among my most frequent climbing companions are children of ages varying from six to sixteen. They require attention on mountain heights—a good deal of attention. The usual nursery method of negotiating a mountain is to skip up the first quarter, run up the second, walk rather soberly up the next quarter and proceed for the rest of the way in tears. Their boots are hurting them horribly, their stocking suspenders are broken and the stockings are coming down, they have got headaches, and at every fresh step buttons are flying off from all parts of their clothing. The return journey is mostly a matter of hiring guides with some of the hand-drawn sledges used by hillside peasants to carry men down. But when those little folks have been trained to walk they are the most charming companions; and no climb is so nice as one made in company with some happy crowd of small alpinists with miniature alpenstocks, ridiculously small nailed boots, and a general capacity for eating, climbing, and laughing at, anything. The guide who comes with you is also happy, feeling that at any difficult place he has only to grasp several small petticoats in one large hand, and at the worst can carry the whole party on one arm without serious difficulty. The average child is so serenely and perfectly happy climbing on the hills of Switzerland in a blaze of sun and the most perfect air of Europe, that it seems a pity children cannot come more often to share the holidays of their elders."

Shanghai an Important Consulate.

The United States consulate in Shanghai is one of the most important in the far east, if not in the world. Diplomatically, it ranks with that of London, Liverpool, Paris, St. Petersburg, Rio Janeiro, Calcutta and Hong-Kong. This consulate comprises a small world within itself presided over by the consul general, who is head and chief, whose word is law, whose official ultimatum, in many important emergencies, is decisive, and to whom obedience is yielded without question.—N. CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 21—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Our stewardship.—Luke xii, 42-48.

These words were spoken by Christ in connection with a discourse upon the importance of being prepared for His coming at all times. They apply particularly to ministers as God's stewards, but may be applied in general to all Christians as being in a real and true sense stewards of God in this world. Life is a stewardship. It is given to us of God for the accomplishment of His purposes, not ours. We usually look upon life as a career for the fulfillment of our own aims and ambitions, but it is first of all a stewardship. We have a course to run, we have a destiny to fulfill, but over all we are God's servants, placed here to do what He would have us do, and he only truly finishes his course and fulfills his destiny who first realizes that life is a stewardship from God and subserves everything else to the one aim of doing the will of God.

1. The faithful steward, verses 42-44. In these verses Christ pronounces a glorious blessing upon the faithful and wise steward, the one who, having been placed in a position of honor and trust, faithfully performs his work as a servant of God and is found so doing at the Lord's coming. This servant is to be made a ruler over all that the Lord hath. All God's children who are faithful to the end are to be rewarded by friendship and fellowship with God, but those who have been faithful in important service are to rule with Christ in heaven. There will be degrees of glory and happiness in heaven. Let us be stewards, and faithful stewards, that we may share in this glorious reward.

2. The unfaithful steward, verses 45-48. The unfaithful steward is one who lives as if he never expected to account for his stewardship. He lives as if the Lord had delayed indefinitely His coming. He gives himself up to the oppression of those under him and the indulgence of his appetites and passions. A terrible doom, said Christ, awaited such a steward. Suddenly and unexpectedly his Lord would come upon him, and he would be cast out and beaten. Separation from God is the doom passed upon the unfaithful steward. Instead of friendship, fellowship and divine power the unfaithful steward is to lose God and to suffer the penalty of his infidelity.

The reward of fidelity and the punishment of unfaithfulness should seriously impress upon our minds as Christian stewards the necessity and importance of faithfulness to God in all that He gives us to do. The greater our opportunities the greater our responsibilities and the greater our punishment if we are unfaithful. We live in a day of opportunity. God is giving us splendid opportunities to do good and great things for him. How blessed our lot if we are faithful to the trust committed to us and how sad our fate if we fail! Let us be faithful and wise stewards whom the Lord when He cometh shall find ready.

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Have a personal testimony meeting, letting each one give his opinion of life as a stewardship and testify as to how far he reaches this ideal of life.

Parsimonious Policy In Religion.

A business that is important should not be crippled by a policy of parsimony. Such a proposition is close to the self evident. Religious business is important. The business of spreading a correct knowledge of God, of Christianity, of human duty and human destiny, is transcendently important. Nothing can be named that surpasses it. How grave the error is of restricting the field of operation and influence of such a business need not be argued. Yet we too often hear of parishes or boards of trustees eager to close with an arrangement to save expense, though it means inevitable curtailment of activity, loss of interest, decrease of contributions and looks toward not distant death! If we treated any other business as we sometimes treat the chief concern of our lives, we should kill it, of course. Religion is tenacious, vigorous, prolific. If it were not, it would succumb under the illiberal and inhospitable usage it often has much more frequently than it does.—Universalist Leader.

A Quiet Hour With God.

A quiet hour spent alone with God at the beginning of the day is the best beginning for the toils and cares of active business. A brief season of prayer, looking above for wisdom and grace and strength, and seeking for an outpouring of the Holy Spirit, helps us to carry our religion into the business of the day. It brings joy and peace within the heart. And as we place all our concerns in the care and keeping of the Lord, faithfully striving to do His will, we have a joyful trust that, however dark or discouraging events may appear, our Father's hand is guiding everything and will give the wisest direction to all our toils.—Philadelphia Methodist.

Silences of God.

How sweet the joy that fills the soul
When, after silent waiting long
For answer to the pleading prayer,
The sigh becomes triumphant song.

All darkened hours of trial time,
When we had thought our prayers unheard,
Our God was listening to our cry
And answering still our pleading word.

In His own time, in His own way,
He comes with blessing, surest, best,
Drawing the soul that on him waits
In sacred nearness to his rest.

Prayers which we thought unanswered may,
Like incense, still ascend to heaven,
And to the patient, waiting soul
The sweetest blessing may be given.

DEATHS ON LAND AND SEA.

Statistics Show That It Is Safer to Go to War or to Sea Than to Travel by Rail.

According to late official returns one's chance of being drowned by falling overboard or losing one's life through shipwreck in the British merchant marine is as 1 to 147. Taking into account all the other accidents which occur on board ship, the chances are as 1 in 129. This is for the officers and crews of the merchant navy. The passenger has a much better chance—in fact, his risks are almost nothing. Of the hundreds of thousands of passengers carried by British ships in the last year only 116 lost their lives through shipwreck. It would almost seem that it is safer to go to sea than to stay ashore, provided one is a passenger. Great Britain employed over 221,000 men in her merchant marine last year, a smaller number than she has employed before for many years. Of these 1,503 were lost by wreck or drowning, and 205 by other accidents, making a total of 1,708 sailors of British ships, sail and steam, who perished at sea in the course of 1899. Sailing vessels are not as safe to work as steamers, for one sailor in 99 was shipped in a "lime juice wind jammer," which, being interpreted, is a British sailing vessel, last year lost his life by wreck or drowning, and enough were killed aboard such ships in other ways than wreck or drowning to bring the average up to 1 in 81 sailors who never again will see the "dear white cliffs of Dover." In steam vessels the number lost from every cause was only 1 in every 152 sailors employed.

It is interesting, says the Washington Post, to compare this record of lives lost at sea with the report of the United States interstate commerce commissioners, showing the deaths among railroad employes in this country as the result of accidents. Last year 2,210 railroad employes were killed and 34,923 injured, a total of 37,133. This is nearly 2½ times as many men as were killed and wounded in the British army in South Africa up to July 1, which is set down in round numbers as 15,000. Taking the record of deaths on American railways among the employes, those people who are technically known to the roads as "trespassers" and the passengers, the number of killed foots up to 7,123, besides which there were 44,620 people injured—a total of over 51,000. This is far in excess of the number of people killed and wounded in the wars in South Africa and in the Philippines, including friend and foe. It would seem that warfare and seafaring were, after all, safe occupations compared with traveling by railroad. The figures also would seem to prove that we are still far away from the perfection of railway travel. In spite of all the ingenious inventions which have been made to make it safer to travel by rail, the loss of life due to railway accidents is still appallingly large.

A Cunning Dog.

A rabbit-dog belonging to James Ross, a farmer, living about two miles from Blackwood, Camden county, N. J., recently saved himself from being burned to death by burrowing into the earth. The barn in which he was confined was set on fire by a small boy with a lantern, who tumbled through a skylight. When the dog found himself hemmed in by a circle of fire he began to dig in the soft earth which formed the floor of the barn, and soon had a burrow four feet deep, in which he took refuge. Debris fell across the hole and protected him. When the fire had burned itself out the dog was found uninjured.—Philadelphia North American.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 21, "Our Stewardship"—Text, Luke xii, 42-48.

"To whom men have committed much, of him they will ask the more."

Ability is the measure of responsibility. Opportunity gauges obligation. You can, therefore you should. The compulsion is one of inner impulsion and not of outward constraint. I ought, therefore I wish to do and I will, is the highest reach of human loyalty and service. Recognition is not all a matter of reason; it is often more of the nature of intuition. The wish is not the result of cool calculation, but the flame of a soul burning. Man is made up with more than mere head. The pulse beat of a living heart is as powerful as the nerve thrill of a thinking brain. Stewardship lies over all and claims recognition from both. Wisdom and fidelity are alike needed. Know and feel and act justly.

Too many people fancy that they own some part of this world. They talk of "my business, my stock, my land." Some would even say my air, my ocean and my sun if only it was not beyond their reach to box up and fence in. Title deeds in perishable records do not establish permanent rights. Tenants at will during the pleasure of the owner is all any of us can claim to be. Stewards we have been charged to be, occupying for the Master and administering according to His directions and for His profit. We have our wages, but woe to him who attempts to claim ownership of the plant itself.

The main point is, How are you fulfilling your commission? Settle it down deep into your consciousness that you are God's servant, that He owns all and that you are accountable to Him and shall finally make returns of all trusts, and your life will take on a deeper color, a truer value, a more genuine purpose. Never be tempted for a moment that repudiation of the claim will secure liquidation of obligation or escape from settlement. Recognize the Owner and be honest.

Pattison of Pennsylvania.

One of the notable delegates to the last general conference at Chicago was ex-Governor Robert E. Pattison of Pennsylvania. He is 50 years of age, of commanding physical presence, clear in thought, forceful in utterance, broadly intelligent and deservedly influential. His interest in all departments of church work is keen and his helpfulness not crippled by his business and political duties. He has been twice elected governor of the great commonwealth of Pennsylvania by the Democratic party on reform platforms and has the fullest confidence of men of integrity in all parties. No layman in the general conference was more influential, and none displayed higher talent and devotion. He is a lawyer and banker and won national distinction as president of the Pacific railroad commission. The league and church is to be congratulated in having such men as these in her ranks, who can understand her needs and are not afraid nor ashamed to be faithful in Christian stewardship.

Close examination shows striking differences between the Christian Endeavor society and the Epworth League. The close official connection of the latter with the church through approval of the officers by the quarterly conference and making the president of the local chapter a member of the quarterly conference secures responsible oversight, which is often the genius of Methodist conventionalism. The other society is framed on the plan of local independence. Each society largely makes its own rules, except that the pledge and Endeavor name must be retained. These peculiarities arise from the very nature of the cases. Methodism does not need to emphasize the pledge, because every one of its members has already as a member of the church covenanted in this service. The social, literary and benevolent features of conventional work are more prominent in the league, and especially the abstaining from questionable amusements, because the devotional life, public and private, of the members has been more insis

SPORTING.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

For the first time this season the Whittier School eleven was scored against yesterday afternoon in its game with the North Plainfield second eleven. The Whittier boys won by a score of 6 to 5, after a closely contested game. The game was played on Martine Common. The Whittier team is anxious to arrange games with other teams averaging between 90 and 100 pounds. Challenges should be sent to Clifford Smith, of Westervelt avenue.

A hard proposition is in prospect for the Alis A. A. eleven tomorrow afternoon. They have a game scheduled with the team of the Orient Field Club, of Newark, to begin at 4 o'clock. The Orients have one of the strongest elevens in Newark, and have made a good record for themselves so far this season. A few weeks ago they played the second team of the Olympic Field Club, of Jersey City, and defeated them 22 to 0. The Alis boys were supposed to play the second team of the Olympic Club last week, but the team which lined-up on Martine Common was really the first team. Of course, the first team is stronger than the second and a comparison of scores is always unfair. From the showing made by the Newark team it is quite evident, however, that they will give the Alis boys a good fight, particularly as they average considerably more than the local team.

GOLF

The team of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club will play its last game for the championship of the East Jersey Golf Association on the Glen Ridge links tomorrow afternoon.

Play for the President's cup will take place tomorrow afternoon on the links of the Park Golf Club as usual. There are now only three more Saturday afternoons, including this week Saturday, before the conclusion of the season's play for that trophy. Edgar I. Serrell is now well in the lead and should he manage to win once again, his final victory for the trophy is practically assured. It is very doubtful now if any of the other golfers can manage to win enough points before the close of the season to win out.

The brokers in wheat and produce options held control of the links of the Englewood Golf Club yesterday for their annual fall handicap. In all, twenty-seven of the Produce Exchange traders took part in the event, which was an 18-hole, medal-play handicap. The players had the inspiration of quite a concourse of onlookers, who cheered every good put on the home green with much energy. The net prize was won by T. R. VanBoskerck, of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, of Plainfield, with 98, 12—86. His detailed card was:

Out ..... 5 5 7 6 5 6 5 5 4—48
In ..... 3 6 5 10 5 6 5 4 6—50—98

Another Plainfielder, F. H. Andrews, of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, finished fourth in the contest with the following score: 123, 30 93.

The second round for the Consolation cup was played yesterday afternoon on the course of the Baltusrol Golf Club, and among the contestants was Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, who beat Mrs. Caleb Fox, of Huntingdon Valley, by 3 up and 2 to play.

MISS THOMPSON MARRIED

QUIET HOME WEDDING OF DAUGHTER OF A. D. THOMPSON.

Was Married to E. Frank Vail, of This City, Yesterday Afternoon at Five O'Clock.

Very quiet and simple was the marriage at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon of Miss May Davis Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Thompson, of 789 Belvidere avenue, to Eugene Frank Vail, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Vail, of 230 LaGrande avenue. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of two score of the relatives and the intimate friends of the young couple. The officiating clergyman was Rev. J. W. Richardson, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, of which both the young people are members.

While the wedding was a very quiet one, it was prettily arranged. The house was profusely decorated with autumn leaves and evergreens. The couple were unaccompanied. The bride wore a gown of ashes of rose colored cloth, trimmed with blue velvet.

An informal reception followed the ceremony and at 7 o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Vail left on their bridal tour. It was supposed that they were going to South Plainfield and a wagonette full of guests drove over to see them off. They left by the Jersey Central Railroad at the Netherwood station for New York. They will take a trip to Boston and through Canada and will be absent two weeks.

On their return, they will take up their residence at 826 Second place. Mr. Vail is well known in this city where he is associated with his father, J T. Vail, in the real estate business. The bride has many friends in this city where she has resided for many years. Both of the young people have been prominent in the work at the the Park Avenue Baptist church.

UNDERGROUND WIRES FOR THE BOROUGH

North Plainfield Council Gives Necessary Permission to the Telephone Company.

NO EXCLUSIVE RIGHTS GIVEN

ENTIRE WORK TO BE DONE FREE OF COST TO BOROUGH.

Manager Runyon Promises That There Will be No Increase in the Cost of Telephone Service—Growth of the Service.

By the unanimous vote of Mayor Smalley and Councilmen Clark, Codington, Lee and Rogers, the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company was given permission last evening to place their wires underground in the borough. Councilmen Swackhammer and Valiant were not present at the meeting. It was an important victory for the telephone company and Charles W. Runyon, the local manager, deserves much credit for the very fair proposition made and the securing of the franchise asked for. There was some opposition manifested in the matter, but when the Mayor and Council thoroughly understood the situation and had carefully examined and amended the ordinance granting the asked for privileges, there was no hesitation about voting in favor of the ordinance. The borough is well protected and the company will be treated fairly and with all due consideration.

One very fair clause incorporated in the ordinance is that which provides that the telephone company shall not have the exclusive rights asked for, that the Mayor and Council reserve the right to grant any other body or corporation similar privileges at any time. The telephone company is to furnish a $1,000 bond for the faithful performance of its work, and as a guarantee that the streets will be replaced in good condition. The entire work is to be done free of cost to the borough, and all the necessary provisions are made as to securing permission to open streets and about the carrying on of the work which is to be done under the supervision of the street commissioner. The telephone company is to assume all risks. The company is also to allow room in the conduits for the placing of telegraph and fire alarm wires free of cost to the borough. The ordinance was adopted on its second and third readings, ordered advertised and is to take effect November 9th, 1900.

In connection with the adoption of the ordinance there was some discussion among the members of the Council. Mr. Clark, as chairman of the street committee, stated that every precaution had been taken in going over the ordinance. Counsel Reed had been called in and he believed that every point had been thoroughly covered and protected. Continuing, Mr. Clark said that in view of an apparent opposition in the matter would offer a resolution which was to the effect that all privileges granted by the ordinance cease at the end of twenty-five years. This resolution was not seconded and therefore not adopted.

Regarding the resolution Manager Runyon was asked to say a word. He replied by stating that he was sure the company would not agree to that provision. The company would not expend several thousand dollars to place wires underground in the borough, knowing that their privileges would cease at the end of twenty-five years. It is only because wires have been put underground in Plainfield that the company is willing to do the same work in the borough. Otherwise the company would not expend so much money in a a place where there are only one hundred telephones.

Mr. Rogers thought that the granting of lower rates by the company was a desirable feature, more so than some other provisions. The Mayor spoke in favor of cheaper rates, and said that he believed the telephone was a great protection and that everyone should have one in their house. He thought the borough would be well protected by the ordinance and that the rights of the people would be preserved by the ordinance.

Manager Runyon, in reply to questions, gave the Councilmen reasonable assurances that there would be no increase in the rates for telephones, that it is the principle of the company to give the best possible service at consistent rates.

After the matter under consideration was thoroughly discussed Mr. Clark moved the adoption of the ordinance, and all voted in favor of it. In speaking about the growth of the telephone business in this district, Manager Runyon stated that when he

MRS. CARMAN RELENTS.

Wishes to Stop Commission From Inquiries Into Sanity of Mrs. Hutchinson.

Believing her daughter's property may better be sacrificed than her life shortened, Mrs. Theodosia Carman has made application to the Court of Chancery at New Brunswick for the discontinuance of the proceedings for the appointment of a commission to inquire into the sanity of Mrs. Lottie Belle Hutchinson. The physician attending Mrs. Hutchinson says she is not well enough to stand an examination.

When the case came up two weeks ago it was alleged that Mrs. Hutchinson was under the hypnotic influence of James A. Nichols, who had obtained possession of considerable of her property through his power over her. It was also sworn that he had obtained possession of her bank books and had taken some goods out of her house surreptitiously.

WOULD SAVE THE FISH.

Local Sportsmen Want New Brooklyn Pond Screened When It Is Emptied.

Sportsmen from this city and South Plainfield are somewhat alarmed over the prospect of seeing some fine bass turned out of the New Brooklyn pond and into the water courses which lead to the Raritan river. Early last spring Col. John I. Holly stocked the mill pond near his residence at Avon Park with two thousand small bass, of both the large and small mouthed varieties. When the heavy rains of last week came the water became so high that the dam was broken, and the water, together with most of the game fish, was swept down into the New Brooklyn pond.

What troubles the interested fishermen at present is that it is announced that the New Brooklyn pond is to be emptied and cleaned before the ice season begins. If that is done, all the bass and other fish which were brought down from Holly's pond, will pass on into the Raritan. According to the State law, it is required that a pond, stocked with game fish, shall be screened in case the water is let out. It has never been the custom to screen the pond in question, but the fishermen are very desirous that the State law should be observed this year and the finny ones therein saved for the sportsmen of this neighborhood.

Rumored Sale of Traction Company

There was a report current yesterday that the Middlesex & Somerset Traction Company had been sold to the North Jersey Company, which controls many miles of trolley lines in Essex and Hudson. Judge Krueger at Newark, denied that there was anything in the rumor. He said that he was president of the company, and if it had been sold he would know it. Furthermore, he did not know that any offer had been made.

DEMOCRATS ENTHUSED BY ABLE SPEAKERS

Wendal C. Warner Proved to be One of the Best Campaign Orators Heard in This City.

A SPEECH BY MR MAN ALSO.

IMPERIALISM AND TRUSTS THE ISSUES THAT WERE DISCUSSED.

Mr. Warner Declared That There Are Two Classes of Imperialism, Home and Foreign—He Defined Them Interestingly.

Interest and enthusiasm to a marked degree prevailed at the Democratic mass meeting held in Washington Hall fast night, the audience being composed almost entirely of voters in all walks of life. There were a number of out-of-town Democrats present to attend the meeting, including Sheriff Schoonmaker, of Somerville; Peter B. Hall, of Neshanic, and Frederick W. Park, of Cranford, who was nominated for Member of Assembly by the Democrats of Union county last Thursday. The speakers were Col. E. A. S. Man, candidate for Congress in the Eighth Congressional district, and Wendal C. Warner, of Buffalo, who was a United States Consul in England during President Cleveland's last term.

The meeting was called to order shortly after 8 o'clock by President O'Keefe, of the Democratic Jeffersonian Club, who presented the name of Frank M. Bacon for chairman. Mr. Bacon accepted the position in a few appropriate words. As the first speaker he introduced Mr. Man.

At the beginning of his speech Mr. Man referred to the large gathering in the hall and declared that it was but a repetition of what he had seen in Essex and other counties where crowds of 5,000 at a meeting were common occurences. "These crowds," he said, "signify that the people are beginning to think of the issues and act accordingly. Since 1861 the issues have been on the money question, but in this campaign the one live issue is the one known as imperialism. Since the Declaration of Independence was signed, the country has grown and prospered as the signers intended it should. But now we are confronted with the problem of having subjects as well as citizens to govern and provide for. When the several islands were engaged in war with Spain, humanity called upon the United States to interfere At first the Republicans held aloof but seeing that it was the will of the people they went in and assisted the Democrats in the efforts to free them. But now that the object of the war has been accomplished and as we did not go in for territory, why should we hold them? But not content with freeing the people the powers at Washington gave $20,000,000 for the Philippines.

"The people of Porto Rico hailed the United States as their deliverer, but instead of delivering them the present administration has taken away their municipal government and forced an unwilling one upon them. There was formerly no tax on their exports or imports; now there is a satrap known as a governor general who has been put over them invested with absolute power. They have taxation but no representation.

"The Republicans say they want to make us a world power. We always have been but as for seeking new territory, how can we look the world in the face and attempt to keep up the Monroe Doctrine? We can't say to the world, keep off and then go about seeking new lands."

Referring to the trusts, the speaker said he regarded them as an economical question, while imperialism was a National one. "Trusts," he said, "are creatures of modern growth. A few years ago everyone declared competition was the life of trade, but with the formation of the trusts plants were concentrated and competition crushed out. Factories are shut down or closed entirely, and sometimes, as was the case at Milltown, whole towns are ruined. But in spite of the rubber trust Milltown was saved by its former employes getting together and building a new factory and the blighted town is once more enjoying prosperity. A few years ago every workingman had a chance to better his condition, but now, with the rise of the trusts, it is the employers, and the workers must stay where they are without any hope of future advancement."

In conclusion, Mr. Man spoke of his opponent, Hon. Charles N. Fowler, and referred to the arguments given by him in a speech at Bayonne recently, in which he stated imperialism was a ghost. But if the Democrats would get together, he said, after November 6th not only would Mr. Fowler find that imperialism existed, but he would find William J. Bryan elected President.

The second speaker of the evening was then introduced as Hon. Wendal C. Warner, of New York. A more able speaker, or one who could hold the attention of his listeners more than did Mr. Warner, would be hard to to find. At times when he spoke of stopping, loud shouts of "go on," "don't stop," and similar expressions were heard from all parts of the audience. Mr. Warner took imperialism as his theme and divided it into two parts, that of foreign and home imperialism Referring to the latter, he said it was due to the centralization of wealth, which placed all power in the hands of a few and deprived the people of having equal opportunities. He thought the government should protect the weak from their grasp, but with the dying out of the Republicanism of Abraham Lincoln, that of Mark Hanna was formed and this country, which was intended to be the home of free men, was in the grasp of and controlled by greedy corporations. In a most graphic and interesting manner the speaker then traced the growth and development of this country from the time of its discovery by Columbus until the present day. He told how labor had entered the forests and immediately prosperous towns and villages sprang up; ships were placed on the seas and rivers, and railways, telephone and telegraph bound the people together until today it has developed into a nation producing seventy millions of wealth annually. But of this amount the Republicans take ninety per cent. of it and place it in the pockets of ten per cent. of the people. Huge incomes are made possible by Republican laws, not by "equal rights to all."

"Now that the census has been taken the people will point to the figures at the bottom of the column as an evidence of prosperity. There is an increase, but if they should ask who gained it, they will find that it has been distributed among the few, while the many are as poor as they always were, if not more so. I by no means advocate equal distribution of wealth, but I do advocate its distribution according to the aptitude of the individual without legislative aid. There would be no Rockfellers without this aid. With Bryan elected no trust can exist, for he will enforce the laws and curb the greed of corporations. I do not blame the trust magnates, but the Government which allows such opportunities to exist That is home imperialism.

"As for foreign imperialism take the late war. Two-hundred and sixty-one thousand men were called to whip weak, decrepit Spain. Three thousand were actually engaged, while the other 258,000 were left around dying in camps, so that army contractors could make money and divide with Hanna at the end of the campaign."

Mr. Warner then referred to the war in Cuba, the sending of Shafter to prevent the possible future hero worship and an ultimate president; and when Cuba was freed, on the plea that she would have quarrels among her people, this government stepped in and has been plundering them ever since. "$200,000,000, he said, were paid for the Philippines and we have been fighting to prove our claim ever since and always will be. McKinley does not want to give them up on the plea of principle but it has been done before as in the case of Alaska. America can stand the money cost of imperialism, great as it is, but there is a moral cost which will sink her to the depths; that of claiming to be a land of the free and then attempting to force our government upon an unwilling people.

Centralizing of wealth, Mr. Warner said in conclusion, had ruined ancient nations and would ruin this nation but with Bryan at the head of it, the corporations would be curbed and the flag would stand for a land of freedom.

One of the Signers.

Among the facsimiles of business men's autographs attached to the New York Message in yesterday's Mail and Express, testifying to the prosperity the county during the last four years and the desire for a continuance of the government's administration under the same leadership is the name of Ernest R. Ackerman, president of the Lawrence Cement Company.

FOR AMUSEMENT LOVERS

ATTRACTIONS THAT WILL BE SEEN IN MUSIC HALL SOON.

Manager Edwards Has a Notable List of Bookings for Those of Theatrical Tastes.

A top heavy audience was in attendance at Music Hall last Tuesday night to witness the performance of "A Lucky Coon," by an all colored organization which included in their number Ben Hunn and Walter Dixon, two of the best comedians seen here. Another good feature in the performance, which by the way was very meritorious throughout, was the work of Carl Dante in feats of legerdermain and necromancy. "A Lucky Coon" is a clean and pleasing farce comedy filled with ragtime specialties, and will ever be a popular entertainment.

A good sized and highly pleased audience attended the performance of "Human Hearts" Thursday night, and a better play could not be desired. It will be well remembered as one of the best ever seen and with its variety of characters, incidents, stage settings and moral, combine to make it a great and enjoyable attraction. No play presented by Manager Maze Edwards has had heartier welcome than "Human Hearts" and the cast of characters is in capable hands.

A local benefit concert will take place Monday. The first dramatic presentation of the coming week will be on Thursday, when Marion Manola will make her first appearance in "Friend Fritz," a musical comedy of the highest order, of which much is expected and it really is one of the newest and daintiest of musical creations. The Boston Transcript speaking of the performance at the Tremont Theatre, said:

"The house was thronged from wall to orchestra rail to see "Friend Fritz," and the most cordial applause greeted the player's efforts. It is pleasant to add that the emphatic success was a deserved one. "Friend Fritz" is a delightful little play, fresh as meadow flowers; and it is presented with picturesqueness, grace and charm. The stage settings are very beautiful and poetic. The acting is admirable—of exactly the hearty, unaffected sort one would ask for a comedy so homely, so human. Miss Manola's Suzel was almost faultless, maintaining exquisitely throughout the atmosphere of pure, shy girlhood and tender, simple truth. Nothing more appealingly, idyllically beautiful has been seen among us in a long day than the little scene where she stands beside the well, and having given the kind old rabbi to drink from her quaint pitcher, tells at his bidding, meekly, gravely, sweetly, the story of Rebeccah and of Eleazer, servant of Abraham."

"A Romance of Coon Hollow," which will be seen Saturday afternoon and night of the coming week, has some of the most exquisite scenery on the road. The first act reveals an autumn view of a typical southern plantation, with sunset and moonlight effects, and contains a splendid electrical display The second act is a fac-simile of "Coon Hollow," a rugged glen in the Tennessee hills, painted from sketches made on the spot, and is made sensational by a strong and thrilling climax. The third act shows a wood landing on the Mississippi, and night view of the famous Lee-Natchez steamboat race, the boats being lighted up and under full head of steam. The last act is given to an actual cotton press in operation, and is thrillingly dramatic. The play will be given here with all the effects used in the original run at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, New York. In the wood landing scene is introduced a rollicking melange of songs and dances by a troupe of colored boys and girls, including a splendid quartette of vocalists. The play is now in its seventh successful season on the road, and is one of the most popular entertainments traveling.

Edgar Selwyn's farce comedy, "A Spring Chicken," is booked for Tuesday, October 30. "Hogan's Alley" comes Friday, Nov. 2. The late Fanny Davenport's great play of "Fedora" will be seen Monday, Nov. 5, and the redoubtable Robert Fitzsimmons, with his wife and son, "Bob Jr." will appear Thursday, Nov. 8, in the new play, "The Honest Blacksmith."

A Great Interviewer.

Harry Steele Morrison, when a boy of sixteen, spent several months in Europe and while there succeeded in interviewing Mr. Gladstone, Queen Victoria, President Faure and King Leopold, of Belgium. During the past summer he obtained interviews with the Pope, the Shah of Persia and others. He will address the Y.M.C.A. meeting tomorrow at 4.15 o'clock.

$75 FROM CORN SUPPERS.

Cause of Missions Will be Materially Benefitted by the Efforts of Trinity's Young Women.

Equally successful was the second night of the "corn supper" of the Young Women's Mission Band, of Trinity Reformed church, held in the Sunday-school room of that church last evening. The attendance was as large as on the night before and a hundred and forty suppers were served. Everything was sold out before the evening was over. The suppers were as popular as before and the booths were constantly surrounded by interested crowds of purchasers.

An informal programme was given during the evening. There were a number of selections by a chorus of young people and several cornet solos by Benjamin LaVere. The band will probably realize $75 from the affair, which will be devoted to the cause of missions.

John Muldoon, involuntary manslaughter of Jacob Henning, three months in county jail. The Judge said he would take into consideration the fact that Muldoon had already been in jail three months, and that the jury had recommended mercy.

George Wright, resisting an officer at Bernardsville, fined $10.

Charles Remple, assault and battery, fined $10

Martin Grapes, illegal liquor selling, six months in the county jail. The Court said it had been his second offense, and if he ever came before him again he would send him to State's prison.

John Davidson, assault and battery on his wife, fined $60. The Court said he had no sympathy with wife-beaters

James Wyckoff and Joseph Mason, stoning turkeys, fined $5 each.

The jury appeals will be taken up Tuesday next.

BRIDE DIDN'T CHANGE NAME.

Mrs. Fanny VanCleef Becomes Wife of Freeholder VanCleef.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

East Millstone, Oct. 20.—The marriage of Mrs. Fanny Roorbach Van Cleef and Freeholder Cornelius G. VanCleef, of this place, took place last Wednesday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. A. McWilliam, a former pastor of the couple, at his home in Somerville. The bride was attended by her son, Arthur VanCleef, and the best man was George W. Barcalow, both of this place. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. VanCleef left for Scranton, Pa., where they will spend their honeymoon. Upon their return they will live at East Millstone.

The bride and groom are both well known throughout Somerset county. The groom is engaged in the hay press business, and besides he is an active and popular member of the Somerset county Board of Freeholders. The bride is a most estimable woman and highly thought of by all who know her. While it was surmised that they were to be married, the event came as a surprise to a great many.

MRS. HENDERSON'S ADDRESS.

Interesting Talk on Missions Made to Baptist Women.

Mrs. Henderson, wife of Dr. A. Henderson, missionary to Burma, gave an interesting address before the Young Ladies' Missionary Society of the First Baptist church yesterday afternoon. In a graphic manner she told of some of the discouragements attending pioneer work on a mission field, the difficulty in acquiring the language, the establishment of an orphanage at Mone, Burma, and the pleasure experienced when changed lives and characters were the result of Christian teaching. Mrs. Henderson is a twin sister of Miss Julia G. Shinn, who is also a missionary stationed at Rangoon, Burma. The resemblance between the sisters is very striking and Miss Shinn's many friends in Plainfield have given Mrs. Henderson a cordial and hearty welcome.

Bad Street Work.

Many persons who have occasion to use West Front street as a means of travel are complaining very much about the way the employes of the Plainfield Gas Company are laying a main on that street They do not follow up their work closely and they generally leave a long ditch open every night, making travel somewhat dangers. It is the opinion of many that the excavations should be closed up just as soon as the main is laid.

POLITICAL NOTES OF BOTH PARTIES.

Frederick W. Park Will Not Accept Nomination for Assembly Given Him.

COL. BRYAN IN ELIZABETH.

GREAT PREPARATION FOR RECEPTION TO PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE.

Congressman Fowler Got a Big Ovation in Elizabeth Last Night—E. E. Potter to Address Borough Democrats this Evening.

The Elizabeth Democratic City Executive Committee held a meeting Thursday night to make arrangements for the great reception to be given William J. Bryan when he speaks there next Thursday night. It is the first time Elizabeth has had a visit from a Presidential candidate since General Winfield Scott, was in Elizabeth, and who was overwhelmingly defeated when he ran for office. It is a coincidence that Mr. Bryan is to speak here in Scott Park, which is in the rear of the City Hall, and directly opposite the old Scott mansion on East Jersey street. A stand is to be erected in the centre of the park, from which the Democratic candidate will deliver his address. It is expected that 40,000 people will gather to see and hear Mr. Bryan.

James E. Martine spoke at a Democratic mass-meeting in Washington, N. J., last night, and this evening he talks at Dover. Monday night he will speak at a meeting in Rahway.

It is expected that 200 Democrats will go from Plainfield to Elizabeth next Thursday afternoon to attend the meeting in City Hall square which Col. Bryan will address for half an hour. It is possible that Plainfielders may go in a body.

E. E. Potter, who will address the North Plainfield Democrats this evening in their headquarters in the Eggerding building on Somerset street, is a fine talker, and will undoubtedly make an excellent address. This will be the first speech making meeting to be held by the borough Democrats.

Frederick W. Park, of Cranford, who was nominated for member of Assembly by the Democratic county convention Thursday afternoon, last night told a Press reporter that he would not accept the nomination. This will necessitate the substitution of some other Democrat to fill out the county ticket.

A Democratic mass meeting will be held this evening in their rooms on Somerset street. There will be several prominent speakers present.

In Plainfield and all through the rest of Union county, the Republicans will hold their primaries Monday evening to elect delegates to the coming county convention at Elizabeth and also to choose members of the county executive committee. The primaries in this city will be conducted on the Roger Murray system. The polls will be open from 5 o'clock until 9 and the business meeting will be held at 8 o'clock. Only those who have been enrolled as Republicans will be permitted to vote at the primaries.

A meeting of the First ward Republican campaign committee was held last night at the ward headquarters in the City Hotel. Most of the time was devoted to a discussion of the local situation. Encouraging reports were received concerning the progress made in collecting campaign funds and in making the ward canvass.

Announcement was made this morning as to the date of the rally of the Fourth ward Republican campaign committee. It will be held in Republican headquarters, Marsh building, Park avenue, next Wednesday evening. The chief speakers of the evening will be Colonel William E. Rogers, of Washington, D. C., and Congressman Charles N. Braum, of Pennsylvania. The North Plainfield Glee Club will sing.

The Republicans of the city will keep "open house" at their headquarters in Marsh building, Park avenue, this evening. Five minute talks have been promised from Assemblyman Charles S. Foote and Charles S. Sminck of this city. The crowd will gather at eight o'clock. There will be some music and singing.

Congressman Fowler received an ovation when he appeared at a Republican mass meeting in Elizabeth last night. He was escorted by all the Republican clubs in the town from the Mattana Clubhouse to the Lyceum Theatre. The street was bright with fireworks and bonfires. The theatre was so crowded that hundreds had to go away disappointed. In the boxes

RECLAIMING ARID LANDS.

Agricultural Department Has Made Important Investigations.

WASHINGTON, Oct 20.—The forestry division of the agricultural department has just finished the collection of the most important series of irrigation observations ever carried on in the west. The work relates to the effect of forest cover on the "run off" from any given watershed and is the first complete work of the sort ever attempted here or in any other country. The scope of the forestry division's work and the numerical strength of its field force has been very largely increased within the past two years in response to a general demand for its services from the states west of the Mississippi comprising what is generally referred to as "the arid region."

A national movement is on foot for the reclamation of the millions of acres of arable but now arid land in this region. The prime requisite for the successful prosecution of this work is the reforesting of the headwaters of the streams from which water is drawn for irrigation. It has been recognized for a long time that forest cover retarded the run off at the headwaters of the streams and thus prevented the water supply from going rapidly to waste. But no definite figures were available as to the value of the protection thus afforded. During the past field season the agricultural department has been collecting data from about 550,000 acres of land in southern California. There are to be found in this tract all the characteristic varieties of watersheds that will be encountered in the general work of water conservation from the virgin forest to the burned off and reforested hillsides and valleys.

This data has just been received and is now being tabulated. When the work is done, it will show what results are to be expected from reforesting any given area and also will show how far and in what localities it will be profitable for the department to push this class of forest work. There is now an urgent call for forestry assistance from all the states in the arid belt, and the result of the observations in California are awaited with great interest.

GIRL'S MYSTERIOUS DEATH.

Paterson, N. J., Stirred by the Evident Murder of a Girl.

PATERSON, N. J., Oct. 20.—This city has a mystery to solve in the violent death of Jennie Bosschieter, whose body was found lying near the Wagaraw bridge on the Bergen county side of the Paterson river yesterday. There was a fracture of the skull near the base of the brain, and the head of the girl rested upon a jagged rock which was covered with clotted blood. There were no marks of violence on the face.

The body was found by two milkmen, who at once notified a workman at the feed elevator nearby, who when he saw the corpse recognized it as the remains of Jennie Bosschieter. He in turn notified the girl's parents, who live at 153 East Fifth street, Paterson.

Coroner Vroom, who gave the body a thorough examination, afterward said that he considered it most probable that the girl had had her head forced against the rock, thus producing fracture of the skull. He said that she had been dead probably two or three hours. Her neck and body and limbs were slightly warm when he made the examination. He could discover no sign of poison or liquor, and the girl had not been assaulted. The coroner's examination was made at 8 o'clock in the morning, and the body had been found by the milkmen shortly before 5 o'clock. She lay as though asleep. She was stretched out on her back, her hands lying at her side, palms downward and fingers relaxed. One leg crossed the other at the ankle. Her dress was not disturbed and was stretched at full length.

When the matted hair in the back of the girl's head was removed, it was seen that her scalp had been cut. There was a gash two inches long and with jagged edges. The skull had been split. The fracture was not ragged, and the coroner believed it might have been caused by a sudden sharp blow with a heavy instrument.

Dr. Koch Blames the Mosquitoes.

MARSEILLES, Oct. 20.—Dr. Robert Koch, the bacteriologist, who is employed by the German government to investigate tropical diseases, has arrived here from German New Guinea by way of Hongkong. He is on his way to Berlin, where he will present to the Academy of Medicine the results of 15 months' study of malaria in New Guinea, Java and adjacent German territories. He confirms the report that he has succeeded in insulating and cultivating the malaria bacillus, and he repeats his Hongkong declaration that there is no doubt that mosquitoes are the principal propagators of malaria in the districts where his latest investigations have been conducted no less than in Egypt and German East Africa, where he went in 1898.

Wife Enjoined From Talking.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 20.—Judge Ludwig of the superior court issued an injunction restraining a woman from talking. The order was issued in the suit of Emilie Koerner against Herman Koerner, the proprietor of a grocery store on the south side. In his affidavit the defendant charges his wife with coming to the store and talking incessantly. The court accordingly issued an injunction to restrain Mrs. Koerner from going to the store "and talking to the great injury of said Koerner."

Noted Abolitionist Dead.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.—Charles Jones, father of Charles R. Jones, chairman of the state Prohibition committee, is dead, aged 70 years. Mr. Jones was a native of England, but came here at an early age. He was one of the early abolitionists and took an active part in the work of the underground railroad, which was instrumental in freeing hundreds of negro slaves during the civil war.

A Sensational Case.

BERLIN, Oct. 20.—A sensational case is reported from Nausslitz, near Dresden. Eighteen years ago a railway official named Dittrich was run over there. He had remained ever since in a cataleptic condition. Scores of noted physicians after examining him had declared themselves unable to explain the phenomenon. Thursday his wife shot and killed him and then hung herself.

Brazilian Warships Go Visiting.

RIO JANEIRO, Oct. 20.—Three Brazilian warships left here yesterday with President Campos Salles bound for Buenos Ayres to return the visit of General Roca, the president of Argentina, who visited Rio Janeiro in 1899.

CROWDS HEAR HANNA AND HILL.

Cornell Students and Schoolgirls Make Things Lively For the Democratic Standard Bearer, but They Are Well Managed.

ROCHESTER, Oct. 20.—Hon. William J. Bryan, the Democratic standard bearer, yesterday experienced his second encounter of the campaign with college students. It occurred at Ithaca, and the students were from Cornell university. The incident was not so exciting as that at Ann Arbor, Mich., for the reason that the young men were not so persistent and did not work in such unison, but there was one feature of interest which was not noticeable at Ann Arbor. This was the participation of young women in the affair.

A hundred or more members of the opposite sex were stationed at windows in the High school just back and over the stage from which Mr. Bryan spoke, and they disturbed the proceedings to as great an extent as they could by lowering posters bearing a picture of President McKinley so as to attract the attention of the crowd. The young men who were below responded to these signals with cries and yells, and they also asked numerous questions while the speech was in progress. Evidently, too, a quite large percentage of the students was in sympathy with Mr. Bryan, and some of them shouted lustily for him when his replies to the questions of their fellows were especially to their liking.

Mr. Bryan was generally voted to have met the occasion successfully, and that he did so was evidenced by the fact that the interruptions grew fewer and farther apart as the speech proceeded and at last ceased altogether.

The day was also rendered interesting by a spirited meeting at Auburn, the home during his lifetime of Secretary Seward, and by Mr. Bryan's pointed reference in his speech there to the manager of an important manufacturing enterprise located at that point, which he evidently intended should have greater than local application.

Speeches were also made during the day at Cortland and Binghamton and at several other smaller points. The day's work closed with a meeting in this city late at night. The meetings of the day were generally well attended, and those at Ithaca and Binghamton were especially large. Probably the Binghamton meeting was the most enthusiastic meeting of the day. In all instances except at the beginning of the Ithaca meeting close attention was given to the speeches.

STUMPING WEST VIRGINIA.

Governor Roosevelt Addresses Large Gatherings at Many Points.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 20.—Yesterday, politically speaking, was the greatest day in the history of this city for years. Early trains and steamers brought hundreds of people to hear Governor Roosevelt. From sections of the contiguous territory where no other conveyance could be had the people came to town afoot, on horseback and in country road wagons. Women and children were largely in evidence, and they "camped out" until nearly a thousand horses and probably twice as many more footmen began to move. The day was given over to good natured conduct. The town belonged to the Republicans for the day.

Governor Roosevelt and party reached here at a late hour, but was met at the depot by an escort. Governor Atkinson was traveling with him, and they went direct to the "wigwam," which was so crowded that it required strong efforts to press through the immense throng to the speakers' stand. Governor Roosevelt appeared a little fatigued, but spoke in good voice for 20 minutes.

Governor Roosevelt resumed his tour of West Virginia early yesterday morning, his special train departing from Parkersburg over the Ohio River railroad at 5 a. m. The Republican organization of the state was represented on board the train by William M. O. Dawson, secretary of state and chairman of the Republican committee. C. H. Livingston, secretary of Senator Elkins, was also on board. The first stop was at Ravenswood and the second at Mason City. At each place good sized audiences heard brief speeches from the rear platform of the train. Governor Roosevelt spoke in his accustomed strain, urging Republicans to help maintain prosperity and ridiculing the Democratic cry of imperialism. At Point Pleasant Governor Roosevelt and party left the train to address a large crowd from a platform in the town. At Huntington, which was reached at 11:30, there was a large demonstration and street parade.

Hanna In Nebraska.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 20.—With prosperity as his principal topic of discussion, Senator Hanna traveled through the eastern counties of Nebraska yesterday, making speeches in more than a dozen cities and towns, winding up at night at Lincoln, the home of Mr. Bryan, where an immense demonstration had been arranged in his honor. Most of the district covered was distinctly agricultural, and in speaking to the farmers, who made up a large proportion of the crowds, Senator Hanna took present and past industrial conditions as his topic.

Hill Speaks In Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—An audience of 5,000 crowded the Second regiment armory last night to listen to an address by former Senator David Bennett Hill of New York. A great number of people were unable to get into the armory, and for their benefit several outdoor speeches were made by local orators. When Senator Hill arrived at the armory, accompanied by Mayor Carter H. Harrison, he was given a magnificent ovation. Mayor Harrison introduced Mr. Hill, calling forth a prolonged outburst of applause.

England's Cotton Crisis.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—In an article dealing with the cotton crisis The Standard says: "Probably by the end of October less than 50 per cent of the spindles will be idle, and by the middle of November the spinners will have no trouble in obtaining all the raw cotton they require. It must not be assumed, however, that the end of the crisis is in sight. Unless the predictions of the small yield of the cotton crop are falsified the supply will be materially short of the demand, which will mean the continuance of relatively high prices and another curtailment of production later on."

CHINESE SITUATION.

Eighteen Natives Killed and Two Villages Burned.

MARSHAL WALDERSEE IN PEKING.

Will Reside With His Staff In the Empress Dowager's Palace—Paoting-fu Expedition Met With No Opposition.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—According to the latest telegrams on the Chinese situation received at the Japanese legation, four Japanese commissariat soldiers were attacked by insurgents near Poliin, a village between Peking and Tung-chow, and were lost sight of. A detachment was sent on the 16th from Peking, but as the village was already deserted it was burned down as a punitive measure.

A body of German troops burned down a small village below the German settlement at Tien-tsin after killing 18 Chinese and looting the houses. The villagers appealed for protection to the provisional government at Tein-tsin, which, however, refused, as it was outside their jurisdiction.

Field Marshal Count Waldersee and staff left Tien-tsin on the 14th for Peking by train as far as Yangtsun and thence on horseback. The empress dowager's palace will be their temporary abode. They will return to Tien-tsin in three weeks. Sir Ernest M. Satow, the new British minister to China, left Tien-tsin by boat for Peking on the 15th. The German and Russian ministers are still at Tien-tsin.

Joint Note Disliked.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—A dispatch from Berlin says:

"The joint note of Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching has not made a good impression in government circles here. The general comment is that the note reads more like conditions imposed upon the conquered than the reverse. Dr. Mumm von Schwartzenstein, German minister to China, will arrive in Peking in the course of a few days. Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching will be informed formally of the conditions upon which the powers have agreed."

The secretary of state for India, Lord George Hamilton, has received the following from Major General Campbell, dated Wang-chia-fou, Oct. 16:

"Arrived here without opposition. Two thousand Chinese cavalry retreated southward. Lieutenant King, sent with a communication to French general officer, left Me-nan-hsien at 2 p. m. yesterday and returned here at 5 p. m. today with orders, having ridden 80 miles on one horse.

"Gaselee is at Sung-lin-tien, six miles southward of Cheo-chow.

"The Chinese regulars are retiring.

"The local governments appear to be trying to suppress the Boxers. Thirteen heads of Boxers were hanging on the gate of Chee-chow when we entered."

The foregoing dispatch relates to the Pao-ting-fu expedition.

AMERICANS GET CONTRACTS.

President Kruger Said to Have Secretly Boarded Dutch Cruiser.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Joseph Westwood & Co., limited, engineers and contractors, write to The Daily Express this morning thanking it for its efforts in behalf of English contractors and asserting that within the last fortnight steel viaduct constructional work worth £100,000 has been placed in the United States by the British government for the Uganda district.

A dispatch from Lourenco Marques says President Kruger secretly boarded the Dutch cruiser Gelderland at 5 o'clock yesterday morning.

A news agency dispatch from Lourenco Marques says that the embarkation of President Kruger at such an early hour was because the ex-president of the Transvaal feared an attack by the Boer refugees at Lourenco Marques, who are particularly bitter against him because of his flight.

Lord Roberts telegraphs from Pretoria as follows: "A party of Boers managed to enter Jagersfontein on the night of Oct. 16, and a fight ensued on the following morning. Our losses were nine men killed and two mortally wounded. The Boers had a commandant and 20 men killed. Kelly-Kenny has dispatched a column from Edenburg which will reach Jagersfontein."

A Plot to Kill Emperor Nicholas.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The Sebastopol correspondent of The Daily Telegraph sends details of an alleged plot about a month ago against the life of Emperor Nicholas. It appears that about a fortnight before the czar and czarina began their journey to the Crimea a student at Moscow university, son of a post captain of the Black sea fleet, was arrested for digging in a suspicious manner in the vicinity of a railway tunnel near Sebastopol. The police, after the arrest, found a large quantity of explosives deposited where they would have inevitably wrecked the tunnel when the imperial train was passing.

Secretary Root Home to Register.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Secretary Root has gone to New York and probably will not return to Washington until Monday. He went to New York to register his vote, as today is the last registration day in that city. As Assistant Secretary Meiklejohn is in Nebraska, Lieutenant General Miles will be the acting secretary of war during Mr. Root's absence.

No Way of Checking Mortality.

SIMLA, Oct. 20.—Alluding to the shocking mortality in the native states, Lord Curzon said that, broadly speaking, no relief system in the world could counteract the effects of reduced food, the cessation of wages, high prices and the breaking up of the homes of millions, or prevent pestilence following famine.

John Sherman's Condition.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Ex-Secretary Sherman is more comfortable, and last night he rested easily. There has not been any appreciable change in his condition except perhaps that he is a trifle weaker. The bronchial cough from which the patient suffers is less severe, giving him a chance to sleep more than usual.

Freedom of Dublin For Kruger.

DUBLIN, Oct. 20.—Mr. John J. Clancy has given notice that he will move at the next meeting of the corporation that the freedom of the city be conferred upon ex-President Kruger.

WANTED TO KILL GATES.

Man Arrested Charged With Attempting to Take Millionaire's Life.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—S. I. Morris was arrested last evening for an alleged attempt upon the life of John W. Gates ex-president of the American Steel and Wire company. When searched at the police station, two large revolvers were found concealed in his pockets.

It is asserted that Morris also had designs upon the life of W. J. Brimson, general manager of the Kansas City and Southern railroad, whom Morris, it is alleged, had enticed to this city by means of a telegram purporting to have been signed by Gates, but which he himself had sent. Manager Brimson arrived at the Grand Pacific hotel in accordance with the appointment made in the telegram. Failing to find Mr. Gates, he called upon him at his office in the Rookery building.

After a hasty consultation the two men decided that Morris originated the scheme, both having received threatening letters from him.

Morris was captured near the offices of the Illinois Steel company in the Rookery building. He was formerly in the employ of Gates and maintains that the latter owes him $50,000.

Tenants of the Rookery are said to have overheard the prisoner making threats to kill Mr. Gates, and the two men refrained from going to luncheon at the Grand Pacific hotel, where, according to the telegram, they were to have met.

Instead, the attorneys for Mr. Gates, with offices in the same building, were notified, and they at once dispatched a messenger to detective headquarters and asked Captain Colleran's assistance. When taken into the chief of detective's office, Morris could apparently give no intelligible explanation of the affair and refused to assign any reason for being in possession of the two revolvers.

Mr. Gates is a multimillionaire and returned but a short time since from Europe, where he spent the summer.

FACTS ABOUT CUBA.

General Lee Thinks Our Troops Will Be Needed For Some Time.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—General Fitz-Hugh Lee of Virginia, who is here on leave of absence, paid his respects to the president yesterday. General Lee will return to Cuba at the end of the month. He says that the constitutional convention of the Cuban people, to which delegates already have been elected, will be held Nov. 5 to establish "the free and independent republic of Cuba." General Lee says there is likely to be a great deal of friction in the convention, and the result is problematical. The foreigners, French, English, Americans and property holding Spaniards, he says, are in favor of some sort of American protectorate which will insure the protection of life and property, but the old soldiers of Gomez's army want to carry out a radical programme. They threaten to initiate the proceedings in the convention by the adoption of a resolution demanding the immediate withdrawal of the American troops.

General Lee expressed the opinion that the troops could not be withdrawn until a stable government was set up which proved capable of furnishing the necessary guarantees as to life and property. In any final settlement, the general said, some difficult problems will have to be adjusted. General Lee said the past year in Cuba has been the worst, so far as yellow fever is concerned, in his experience. The fever had been prevalent all over the island, and he said that some of the facts in connection with it seemed to completely explode the theories of American medical experts regarding the efficacy of sanitation as a preventive.

Walking Delegate Arrested.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 20.—William J. Gaven, walking delegate for the Grocery and Provision Clerks' union of this city, was arraigned in the police court on a charge of defacing a building with printed stickers boycotting a number of business concerns which are on the "unfair list." He pleaded not guilty and the case was continued for a hearing. The Central Labor union and the Clerks' union disclaim any connection with the affair, and their officials affirm that the action of the delegate was unauthorized.

Laforge Was Drowned.

HIGHLAND FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 20.—About two weeks ago John Laforge, aged 28 years, mysteriously disappeared from home at this place. His parents were of the opinion that he had either enlisted in the army or had gone to join his brother, who is an engineer on the Nicaragua canal. Yesterday his body was found floating in an ice pond in the extreme southern part of the town. The cause of the drowning is clouded in mystery.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Wheat Weaker, Small Advance In Pig Iron—Leather and Hides Firm.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Wheat has shown more weakness, due in part to the greater activity at Russian ports, and Atlantic exports for the week were only 2,647,235 bushels against 3,270,226 a year ago. Corn also declined, but is 6 cents above last year, which may account for the loss in exports, in three weeks 7,651,765 bushels against 10,924,406 in 1899.

Few important fluctuations occurred in iron and steel, but there were small advances in bessemer pig at Pittsburg and billets at Philadelphia. Moderate gains are reported in the volume of transactions, although the tendency is to delay large contracts a few weeks. Implement makers take bar iron freely, however, and orders for pipe are urgent with severe weather coming on. Structural shapes are taken for foreign points as far distant as Egypt, and domestic bridge builders buy freely. More mills have gone into blast, and the general tone is improving. Production of coke has increased, but prices are easy and many ovens still idle. Tin declined again, making the fall 1¾ cents in two weeks and 6 cents from the high point in July.

Leather and hides are firm and selling freely because of steady improvement in demand for boots and shoes. Jobbers are placing large orders with manufacturers, and demand is no longer limited to fall and winter goods. Spring contracts are increasing at an encouraging rate, although an effort is made to keep these sales as quiet as possible, owing to the effect on the market for raw material.

Failures for the week were 209 in the United States against 145 last year, and 26 in Canada against 20 last year.

PORTO RICO ELECTION.

Republican Delegates and Federal Commissioner Likely to Be Chosen.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Oct. 20.—Partial returns as to the registration for the forthcoming election, which took place Oct. 16 and 17, indicate that about 50,000 registered throughout the island. In the municipal elections last spring 51,179 votes were cast. Next month's election will be the choice of a Porto Rican commissioner to the United States congress and 35 members of the house of delegates, the elective or lower house of the insular legislature, which will meet Jan. 1. The party leaders agree that the Republicans will have a majority in the house of delegates and that the Federals will elect their nominee, Senor Manuel Gastell, as commissioner.

Thursday was the second anniversary of Spain's evacuation of the island. There were no official observances, the only indication that the day was remembered being the decoration of the city buildings in San Juan and of certain public buildings elsewhere.

Brigadier General George W. Davis and Mr. Martin Grove Brumbaugh, Porto Rican commissioner of education, are due to reach New York next Saturday on the steamer Ponce.

Miss Bertha Allen, daughter of Governor Allen, will be married to Lieutenant Logan at the palace Oct. 25.

IN JURY'S HANDS.

Youtsey Case Closed—Prisoner's Condition Improved.

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Oct. 20.—State Attorney Franklin began his speech at 3:30 yesterday afternoon and spoke till 7 o'clock. His eloquence at times was thrilling and brought sobs or tears to all, even Judge Cantrill on the bench, and Judge Askew of the defense being visibly affected. He scored ex-Governor Taylor, saying if he had two sparks of courage he would return here and help Youtsey out of this trouble; that if he had even one spark of manhood he would now commit suicide under the whip of his conscience. He said if Arthur Goebel told an untruth as to what Youtsey had told him then Arthur Goebel was a worse man than the one who assassinated William Goebel. At 7 o'clock court adjourned till 8:30, when the case was formally given to the jury by the judge.

The judge told the jury they could use their own pleasure about considering the case, and they decided to take the papers to their rooms and report at 9 o'clock this morning, and they were sent out with that understanding.

Youtsey's condition is better. He took nourishment yesterday without trouble, and physicians say his temperature, pulse and respiration are normal.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 20.—The Prohibition special train arrived here at 6:30 last evening, having made five afternoon stops on the run from Jersey City. Over 1,000 persons attended the evening rally at Heptasoph's hall, it being necessary to open an overflow meeting in the lower hall of the building. A torchlight parade by the Young Men's Prohibition League, headed by the Great Southern band, preceded the speaking. Joshua Levering, Prohibition candidate for president in 1896, presided.

Work Resumed on Coal Docks.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—What is taken in Weehawken as a sign that the great coal strike is settled is the fact that the Delaware and Hudson Canal company yesterday put to work 100 men wheeling coal from the company's docks to the barges alongside. There are about 2,000 tons on the docks and 3,000 tons in cars in the yards. Men are also at work on the Erie docks.

HITCH OVER POWDER

This Grievance Delays Strike Settlement.

MINERS WILL FORCE A CONCESSION.

Mother Mary Jones Heads a Band of Strikers In an Attempt to Close the Markle Mines—Sheriff Interferes.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 20.—As far as the United Mine Workers' officials are concerned matters are at a standstill in the anthracite miners' contest with the operators. There is nothing new in the situation, and President Mitchell still refuses to talk.

Much disappointment is expressed in this region because an early ending of the strike was prevented by reason of the powder grievance. What will be done with this question is difficult to forecast, and it is believed the United Mine Workers' officials have not yet definitely decided what they will do.

Some of the strike leaders say the union officials are not authorized by the Scranton convention to decide the powder grievance and that another convention of miners will be necessary to dispose of the question. A prominent official of the United Mine Workers said last night that the men throughout the anthracite coalfield are insistent on a flat 10 per cent increase without the powder reduction being considered in figuring out the percentage of advance. When he was asked what the United Mine Workers would do if the operators refused to recede from their stand, he said the contest would continue until they were forced to make the concession.

When it was suggested to him that there might be a break in the ranks of the strikers before the operators would weaken, he expressed the utmost confidence in the loyalty of the men in the entire region.

The production of coal, judging by the shipments made from this region, is growing smaller. Thursday the Hazleton division of the Lehigh Valley Coal company, which taps nearly all the collieries in this region, hauled only 96 cars of coal against an average daily shipment of about 800 cars before the strike. This is the lowest shipment made in any one day since the strike began.

A labor demonstration will be held in Pottsville next Tuesday in which President Mitchell will participate.

The ten collieries of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company situated in the Panther Creek valley are still in operation. The state troops are located there, and matters remain quiet.

That the G. B. Markle & Co. collieries should be working has been a thorn in the side of the strike leaders, and they long ago determined to close down operations there. Not until yesterday morning, however, was a concerted effort made to do this.

Eight hundred strikers swooped down on Oakdale, No. 4, mine and drove out the men working there. This accomplished, they attempted to close the other Markle collieries further up the valley.

On the approaches to the Jeddo colliery the mob was met by Sheriff Harvey, and a force of deputies opposed its further progress. Harvey told Mother Mary Jones, who was leading the mob, that if she didn't at once make herself scarce he would arrest her. She at once departed with her followers.

With the exception of closing down the one colliery at Oakdale the raid on the Markle mines failed.

Operators Change Front.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 20.—It is a practical certainty that the miners will not be back to work next Monday, as was expected from the action of the Philadelphia conference of operators on Tuesday and Wednesday and the Scranton conference. Some of the biggest of the local companies are balking at the agreement to continue the 10 per cent offer in force until April 1, 1901, as is demanded by the resolutions of the miners' convention. They were all willing enough at first to amend their notices to conform to this demand, but they seem to have undergone a change of heart, and only one operator of any prominence will say outright that he will make the modification. They say it would be humiliating for them to come out with an amendment to their notices. As one prominent operator put it: "The modification would serve but one purpose and that is to gratify a whim of John Mitchell. We do not propose to waste any energy bowing and scraping to Mr. Mitchell." The Connell Coal company is the only one to send out the amendment to the notice. No other company would even admit that it intended to do so.

Suicide In a Cemetery.

ONEONTA, N. Y., Oct. 20.—F. H. Sloat, one of Oneonta's best known residents, committed suicide here yesterday. He was village tax collector and went to his office as usual. About 10 o'clock he went to a drugstore, purchased two ounces of carbolic acid, walked to Glenwood cemetery and sat down on a seat in the lot of an old friend, the late L. L. Bundy, and drank the poison. He was found dead half an hour later. The deceased was 66 years of age and leaves a wife and six children. Despondency resulting from ill health was the cause. Mr. Sloat was a veteran of the civil war.

Would Be Cowboy Taken Home.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Henry Starr, the New York schoolboy whose journey to the plains armed with a pistol, bowie knife, lasso and dime novel was interrupted by the police of this place, was taken home by his guardian, Joseph Bensamon of 436 Lexington avenue, yesterday afternoon. Even two days in jail had failed to break his spirit, and he was extremely indignant because his journey had been interrupted and his weapons confiscated.

Governor Sayers Calls on President.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Governor Sayers of Texas was among the president's callers yesterday. He is on his way back to Texas from New York, where he went to attend the charity bazaar for the benefit of the orphans of the Galveston disaster and stopped here to pay his respects to the president and to thank him for the aid the government extended to the victims of the storm.

Franklin Murphy, chairman of the Republican State committee, estimates that McKinley and Roosevelt will carry New Jersey by 40,000 majority. He bases his statement upon figures gleaned from the reports of the party managers in every county in the State. Everywhere, with the exception of in one or two of the smaller counties, there is thorough Republican organization. Over 200 meetings have been held and over 200 more will be held between now and election day. The strongest organization and work outside of Essex is being done in Hudson county, though it is not expected that Robert Davis' territory can be turned into the Republican column.

The Philadelphia Record notes that a large and successful advertiser says that when he first went into business he regarded newspaper advertising as an expense which was important, but not essential to success; but a little experience taught him to view regular and systematic advertising in the most widely circulated newspapers as an investment or as a necessary part of the capital put into his establishment. "Like any other safe investment," he says, "the newspaper ad brings in profits, and without it and enterprise falls short of its possibilities."

The Syracuse Post-Standard rejoices over the termination of the coal strike, saying: "The miners have been able to hold out for four weeks without experiencing want, but, if reports be credited, their funds were running low. Hunger and cold would soon have been forced upon them, even though the organized labor of the land had turned a helping hand. The settlement is timely for the operators, for the public and for the miners, and all concerned are to be congratulated."

The increase in the money order business of the Post Office Department for the fiscal year ending June 30th last will be shown by the coming annual report to be $30,000,000, as compared with the preceding twelve months. Coming on top of an increase of $19,000,000 for 1899 over 1898, and of $17,000,000 for the year ending June 30th, 1898, as compared with the previous period, the year just closed is deemed phenomenal.

In 1890 the Territory of Arizona had a resident population of 55,620, or nearly 10,000 more than the pocket-borough State of Nevada. Returns of the census of last June show that Arizona's population at that time was 122,212, or more than double that of Nevada, and exceeding that of Wyoming or Idaho.

The Democratic Gubernatorial nomination is brought into focus by current events. Johnston Cornish, the Senator from Warren county, desires the honor. Mr. Cornish will probably be the master of ceremonies for Bryan's tour of the State, which will be the first step to lay claim to the nomination.

"The only person who is really in a position to enjoy the campaign in the doubtful States," sagely remarks the Pittsburg News, "is the deaf mute."

came to Plainfield ten years ago there were 124 telephones in this district. Now there are 836, and the business is constantly increasing.

The only other business considered at the meeting was the appointment of special marshals to do special duty only. The Mayor appointed George Weiss, Henry Myers, Robert Carson, Daniel C. Adams and Thomas Rutledge. The appointments were confirmed. The idea in appointing these special marshals is that there may be in various parts of the borough officers of the law who will have the authority to act immediately whenever the opportunity is offered. According to this plan it will not be necessary to go on a hunt for the Chief Marshal or a regular marshal, and the borough will be better protected than ever. This concluded the business and the meeting adjourned.

POLITICAL NOTES OF BOTH PARTIES.

of the theatre, which was decorated with flags, were nearly all of the leading Republicans of the county. Governor Voorhees presided and made a brief and effective speech. The Governor likened Bryan's conjuring of evil to the land if the Republicans are retained in power to the lamentations of a modern Jeremiah.

Fourth Free Newark Excursion.

Newark's free excursions are getting to be quite prominent features of New Jersey's merchandising history. On Wednesday next the "Big Four" dry goods houses of Newark will celebrate the fourth of these enjoyable affairs. The forth-coming excursion will be carried out on precisely the same attractive plan as those previous. Free railroad fares both ways and no obligation to buy a cent's worth of merchandise of any of the Newark firms who provide the treat. Those who desire to participate will buy their tickets at the regular ticket offices on the day of the excursion and the whole amount paid will be refunded on presentation of rebate coupon attached to each ticket at any of the before mentioned Newark stores. Newark Free Excursion trains will leave on the New Jersey Central Railroad as follows: Somerville, 8.30 A. M.; Finderne, 8.34 A. M; Bound Brook, 8.39 A. M.; Lincoln, 8.52 A. M.; Dunellen, 8.48 A. M.; Plainfield, 8.55 A. M.; Netherwood, 8.58 A. M.; Fanwood, 9.03; Westfield, 9.08 A. M.; Cranford, 9.13 A. M. Returning leave Broad street, Newark, at 4.50 P. M.

Bed Bugs and Cock Roaches.

For destruction and complete riddance of Cock Roaches, Beetles, Wood and Water Bugs, Bed Bugs, Ants, Rats, Mice, etc., "Rough on Rats," though poisonous, if used with care is most effective. In fact it is the only thing that will permanently annihilate Bed Bugs and Cock Roaches. As an exterminator of Rats and Mice, "Rough on Rats" is the old reliable that never fails nor disappoints. They "don't die in the house." Is sold all around the world. Is used by all civilized nations of the earth. Is the most extensively advertised, the best know and has the largest sale of any article of its kind on the face of the globe. It gives satisfaction every time. Beware of imitations. I employ no peddlers. Have a suspicion of any dealer offering substitutes said to be as good. 15c. and 25c.

Gentlemen:—My mamma has been a great coffee drinker and has found it very injurious. Having used several packages of your GRAIN-O, the drink that takes the place of coffee, she finds it much better for herself and for us children to drink. She has given up coffee drinking entirely. We use a package of Grain-O every week. I am ten years old.

PLAINFIELD AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Oct. 20—One of the Italian employes at Harper, Hollingsworth & Darby's factory, while working about a vat in which the chemical used in the preparation of the fur is made, slipped and fell into the mixture yesterday afternoon. The chemical used is a preparation composed principally of acid. The men who have charge of this work have been warned repeatedly about the danger attached to the work and have been cautioned to be careful. But as no one has ever met with an accident while mixing it, it is supposed that the man became careless and in an unguarded moment slipped. Fortunately only one leg went into the acid as the man had presence of mind enough to throw himself while falling so that he saved himself from serious injury. As it was the leg was badly burned to the thigh and the man suffered intense pain. As soon as possible the man was taken to his home near Plainfield and a physician summoned. No serious results are anticipated from the unfortunate accident, but the man will be confined to the bed for sometime.

An important meeting of Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., was held in their rooms last evening. A representative was selected to represent Twilight at the State Grand Council meeting which will be held at Trenton next month. The Republican voters will hold their primary to elect delegates to the county convention, which meets at Elizabeth on Thursday next, on Monday evening in the club rooms. Two members of the county committee will also be elected at the meeting. A large turnout is desired as business of interest to all Republicans will be transacted at the meeting.

The Young Tigers, junior football eleven, met and defeated the eleven from the Whittier School, Plainfield, on the school gridiron yesterday afternoon, the score being 15 to 11. This afternoon the boys are playing an eleven from Westfield on the same grounds.

The ordinance recently passed by the Township Committee prohibiting the posting of bills or advertisements of any kind upon the trees or fences in the township is being broken nearly every day. But no effort is made to enforce the ordinance.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, Oct. 20.—There was a large attendance at the town rooms yesterday morning when the suit of Tuttle Brothers against Mrs. Mary MacMurray came up before Justice of the Peace Toucey and a jury of twelve men. The suit was for $50 which the lumber dealers claimed Mrs. MacMurray owed them for lumber. The defendant denied the bill and stated that she did not even know the members of the firm but that her husband, James MacMurry had made a contract with the said firm for lumber which was to be paid for in stove wood. Mr. MacMurray stated that he was willing to live up to his part of the contract. The jury was out but a few minutes when it brought in a verdit for $50 and costs in favor of Messr Tuttle. Prul Q. Oliver looked after the interests of the plaintiff.

WEDDED TWENTY YEARS

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM STRATTON ENTERTAINED THEIR FRIENDS.

The Celebration of the Nuptial Event Made an Occasion for a Pleasant Social Time.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stratton, of East Fifth street, have had celebrations at their home many times before but the one which they gave to their friends last evening in honor of their twentieth wedding anniversary surpassed all previous efforts. No pains had been spared which would help make the event an enjoyable one as the hundred or more guests who came from Elizabeth, Rahway, Woodbridge, Somerville, Trenton and other places can attest.

The decorations were very elaborate, potted plants, flowers and the national colors predominating. A novel feature was an entire bank of fruit and plants placed on a sideboard, which attracted a great deal of attention. The table where supper was served, was also prettily decorated, a large and handsome wedding cake forming the centre piece. It would be hard to name all who took part in the varied programme of music, songs and recitations as nearly everyone contributed to the evening's enjoyment. The honors were divided, however, between Mr. Stratton, who gave a comical stump speech and Professor Leach, of Elizabeth, whose clever songs, recitations and animal imitations held the attention of all present for nearly two hours.

There was also violin solos by A. G. Carpenter, songs and recitations by John Manley, Miss Lewis and Mrs. Bath. Towards midnight dancing was taken up and lasted until a late hour. It was nearly 4 o'clock before the last guests took their departure and all vowed they had never enjoyed themselves as much before. As for presents, they consisted of a great variety of articles, the individual ones being very numerous. A handsome vase was presented to Mrs. Stratton by the members of the members of D. of L. Council No. 92, of Elizabeth, who were present in a body. The State board of officers of the Daughters of Liberty, of which Mr. Straton is a member, were also present.

FOR ENDEAVORERS.

Interesting Side of the Work Being Carried on by Young Christians.

(Conducted by Press Department Union County C. E. Union.)

The Christian Endeavorers of the Keystone State will meet in convention at Philadelphia, November 20th to 22d, and, like the recent gathering of New Jersey Endeavorers, it will be the fourteenth annual State convention. Many of the speakers who so delighted the thousands at Jersey City, will speak in the city of brotherly love, and a fine convention is expected.

One of the most inspiring features will undoubtedly be the Junior rally, in the Second Regiment armory, Thursday afternoon, the 22d. If the weather is fine the Juniors will march to the armory, headed by a brass band. There will be at least 2,500 Juniors in the parade and about 4,000 children will attend the exercises in the armory.

In Deadwood Camp, on the Island of St. Helena, a remarkable Christian Endeavor work has sprung up among the Boer prisoners. While in camp at Simonstown, the younger people had organized a society of about 100 members, but through a laxity in enforcing the pledge the real spirit of Christian Endeavor was absent. Rev. J. R. Albertyn was requested to arouse the dormant society and in a large open-air meeting, attended by the young people interested and by about 1,500 older people, the society was reorganized with 14 active members and 30 or 40 associate members. In three weeks the society's membership had increased from 14 to 40, all the members being young people who had joined only after careful consideration and upon an intelligent understanding of the requirements of the pledges.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Charles E. Buell, of Craig place, has been entertaining a young woman from Cuba for a short time past. She recently came to New York, where she will pursue a course of study in a Catholic institution, and being acquainted with Mr. Buell she took the opportunity to come to Plainfield and see him. She visited a number of places of interest and seemed to be delighted with all that she saw.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, therefore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. BELTS AND CHAINS.

ORNAMENTS WHICH SHOW FEMININE FORM AND CHARACTER.

Leather Much In Vogue—Silks and Ribbons as Numerous and Gorgeous as Ever—The Fashionable Slope In Waists.

The belt is the most important detail of miladi's costume. It both flatters and caricatures the waist line. It can either cause it to look two inches smaller or three inches larger. It makes or mars a dress and by its outline shows whether the wearer is in fashion or not. Consequently perhaps the greatest ingenuity of designers is devoted to this article. Every month new patterns appear, and miladi buys them, for who could resist a pretty belt? Not the woman with a trim figure certainly.

Just now there is a return to leather. You may remember that last year it was rather in disgrace. Little crushed satin affairs were worn even with golf and outing skirts, but now all that is changed. To be in the height of fashion you must have at least four strips of leather—patent, red, white and tan—and a "bit buckle" to go with all of them. This is the latest thing. As its name implies, it is an exact counterpart of a horse's bit. It comes both in gold and silver and has a patent arrangement by which it can be fastened to any belt at a moment's notice. Another novelty is what looks like a strap from a harness fastened by a gold horseshoe buckle. Scarfpins representing the different parts of a carriage or of the accouterments of a horse are sold to wear with these belts. Everything is very horsy.

Strange to say, the leather idea is carried out even in dressy belts. There is a dainty little girdle composed of five narrow strips of pale gray, white or lavender kid and held in place by jeweled crossbars. With this there is a dog collar of narrow strips with a gorgeously jeweled buckle in front. These collars are meant to be worn over plain stocks of contrasting shades. A necktie which is an outcome of this fad is a strip of leather half an inch wide incrusted at intervals with little silver ornaments and finishing in front with a clasp and two short ends.

Still you must not imagine that the silk and ribbon belts have gone out of style. Far from it. They are more numerous and gorgeous than ever. Toward the latter end of the summer there was a tendency to wear them narrow, but now all widths are permissible and almost all styles. Most of the belts are made on a foundation of stiffening, and when they are soft and crinkly there is usually a slide in the back to pull out the ribbon to its full width and give the waist the fashionable slope which is the thing.

The craze for gilt is never so apparent as in the belts. The gold ones range from the narrowest ribbon with a tiny pearl or black enamel buckle to the wide folded girdles fastening with a large sparkling clasp on the side or front. There is no doubt of the fascination a glittering belt exercises over the average woman. She even loses sight of the fact that it makes her waist look enormous.

The three layer belt is one of the novelties. Three strips are joined, the top one of dark velvet, the next of gold ribbon and the third of some delicate shade which harmonizes with the gown. For instance, a belt was made of black velvet, gold and shrimp pink panne, and it fastened in front with a big bow of pink panne. All over the belt at intervals were cut steel and coral ornaments. I leave it to you if the effect was not rich! It is characteristic of the novelties that many of them fasten in front with ribbon ends, but wide ribbons, not the stringlike affairs of the pulley belt, now happily disappearing.

Jet belts are much in vogue, but not the clumsy affair sewed on elastic. No, indeed. The delicate tracery is appliqued on pale blue, pink or white panne with elaborate buckles of pearl and jet. Sometimes jetted and jeweled ribbons hang from these belts, for the fad now is to wear all manner of tags and ends, jeweled and otherwise.

The belt of white velvet and lace is another new thing. A wide scarf of panne is covered with lace applique, ecru on white or black on cream. It is wound twice around the waist and fastens at the left side with a chou and long ends of the lace. It is useless to add that it is only for the most dressy occasions.

The coin and metal girdles of three years ago have all come back into vogue. So take them out, all ye wise girls who hoard things, and fit them over velvet ribbons to match your gowns.

Perhaps the most striking device and one which has taken New York by storm is the belt of satin elastic. Unfortunately its price puts it beyond the reach of all except those who do not mind spending a sum with two figures for a mere trifle. It is from 3½ to 4 inches wide, of glossy black or white satin webbing. It has so much spring that it will give a delightfully small waist to even a plump woman. It can be had either plain or covered with tiny cut steel fleurs-de-lis or other small figures, and the buckle, which is almost as large as a saucer, is of the finest cut steel and rhinestones. A woman might well be excused for holding her head up wearing a belt like that.

Long live the snake! He still flourishes and ornaments everything. In green enamel and gold he forms the slide at the back of miladi's belt. In finely jointed silver, with emerald eyes, he holds his tail in his mouth and encircles her waist. In tortoise shell, silver and gold he becomes a hair clasp to hold up the loose curls at the back of her hair.

Speaking of these hair clasps, the new styles are becoming larger and larger. Between side combs, back combs, aigrets, bows and curl clasps woman's hair is in a fair way to be entirely covered. This is well enough for the girl with the nondescript chevelure, but the fortunate one whose hair is her beauty will do well to avoid all small ornaments no matter how fascinating they may seem. They give a woman's hair such a patchy effect!

Designers promise us new things in long and short chains to be worn about the neck. The fact is that these same chains are a boon to jewelers because the average woman is forever catching hers over the arm of a chair and breaking it. The chain may not cost very much at first, but the bills for repairs make it come up to a pretty sum, I can tell you.

Just now there is nothing newer than the Zaza and the Florence chains. The Zaza is a thick rope of silver tied in a complicated knot in front, with four ends ornamented with large crystal, pear shaped pendants—diamonds, of course, if you can afford them. The Florence is a longer chain and is ornamented by a Florentine medallion of enamel. These chains also come in jet, with jet cameos and pendants, and they are truly beautiful when worn with white or pale colored gowns.

I must tell about one of the latest novelties in wedding presents. It is a wide band of white satin fastened to a handsome jeweled or ivory cross. It is ornamented at intervals with the initials of the wearer and anchors or other religious symbols in silver or gold. It is designed to be worn by the bride over her left arm, the arm which usually carries the bouquet or prayer book.

EDITH CRESTON.

For and About Women.

You can't frighten the modern woman any more with bear stories. When Mrs. James J. Harland of Sonoma county, Cal., discovered four bears perched in a tree and staring at her out of the darkness with their glittering eyes, she did not scream or cling to her husband. Seizing her rifle she helped him to kill them one after the other. The largest weighed over 400 pounds.

"Grower of mustaches" is the profession of Dr. Jessie Lyons. It would appear that men are vain on this point, for the clever young woman has more customers than she can attend to.

Those back pads with which so many girls are disfiguring their slender, pretty figures at present are unpleasant looking and very ugly. They make a girl of 16 look in the back like a stout woman of 50.

San Francisco proudly lays claim to a new Florence Nightingale in the person of Miss Annie J. Garlick, who has been untiring in her care of the sick at Manila.

The vice president of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America, Mrs. M. T. Lake, says that intemperance is alarmingly on the increase among society women.

Mrs. Mamie Worthington Leeds received three wedding presents which a queen might envy—a ruby pendant worth $5,000, a pearl necklace worth $65,000 and a $10,000 ermine cloak.

When we speak of being perfectly sincere with our friends, why do we always mean telling them of their faults and defects? When a friend says, "Will you pardon my saying something to you?" you always know what is coming, and your heart sinks into your boots. It is the unpleasant prerogative of friends to give to those dear to them hints that may improve them, but why are we not just as sincere when we tell these dear ones of their good looks, their amiable qualities and their intelligence? There is much more good than bad in everybody, and it can do not the least harm to let people know that we see and appreciate their goodness and beauty. On the contrary, we do not say the pleasant things to one another half often enough. Try this way and make the world better and happier.

A lady forty-two years of age, by occupation a seamstress, living in Bark Hill, Carroll Co., Md., describes some very distressing circumstances of which she has been the victim. "I had suffered for years," she says, "from indigestion, constipation and nervousness and for over a year had been taking medicine from our family physician. I got better but did not get well. I was very constipated and terribly nervous My nerves have been bad for years. I am always shaky in my hands. At times I would get nervous spells at night. I would feel as though I could not get my breath. I would be more that way in warm weather. The fifth of August I received a sample of Ripans Tabules that I had seen advertised and wrote for. I took one at once, and before I had taken three of them I felt very much better. Before I had taken them all I had made up my mind they were just the thing for me, so I sent for a dozen boxes, and have been taking them, sometimes two, three or four Tabules just as it suits. I am so much better. I was miserable and did not feel like doing anything or going any place. Now I feel so much better than I did. I can say truthfully that Ripans Tabules have made me feel like a different person."

THE BARGE OFFICE.

Place Where Immigrants Must Answer Many Questions.

Not All Who Come to Our Shores Are Permitted to Land—Work of the Commissioner of Immigration.

[Special New York Letter.]

A GREAT crowd of people is pushing against the rope that has been stretched along the outer edge of the walk in front of the barge office on the Battery. Men and women are struggling with one another in their endeavor to get to the front. Four policemen parade up and down the line, swinging little canes in a vain attempt to keep order.

From the door of the building a stream of immigrants is pouring. There are men clad in clothing made of queer cloth and cut in quaint shapes. There are women—mostly without head covering—dressed in the picturesque costumes of the far-away countries. Some are leading by the hands little children attired in miniature imitation of old women and old men, and others carry in their arms big bundles of shawls and rags, beneath the corners of which peer the shining eyes of infants.

Those coming down the steps have met their relatives and their friends. Those without the rope are seeking the loved ones who have come from beyond the sea. There is a wild jargon of voices—a strange commingling of many tongues. Just off the walk, up toward the Battery park, an old man in a long coat, a skull cap, with gray beard and stooped shoulders has thrown his arms around his son and kissed him on the cheek. Not far from here a young woman stands bewildered and alone. Her escort who had met her on the borders of the strange land has left her for a moment, and she has been surrounded by a horde of rapacious expressmen. Within the building, close to the identification desk, is a tall, lank Dutchman. On his head is an odd little Dutch cap. His trousers have a hitch and his coat has a swing that betrays his nationality. It has only been a few days since he discarded the wooden shoes of his fatherland and his baggage bears about it the air of dykes and ditches. To each one of the attendants who passes he says, in low Dutch: "Have you seen my Jacob? Tell me if you have seen my Jacob?"

Out on the esplanade three Turks are making salams to an aged father. An old Russian woman, speechless with joy, is clinging like a child to the skirts of a daughter who led the way to the wonderful America. And above it all may be heard the rollicking laugh of the Irish lad, surrounded by his friends who have preceded him and are already giving him information on the ins and outs of city politics.

The ship has come in. And some come with joy and some with sadness.

If you care to study the great foreign population of America, as it comes to us in the original form, you should spend one day with the commissioners of immigration. Last year 400,000 immigrants came to this country—a pretty good indication of the rapidity with which the land of liberty is filling up. You doubtless have seldom given heed to the care that must be exercised on the part of the government officials who pass on the right of these people to come among us and make this land their own. When the gates have once been opened they are our people. Is it a wonder, then, that they are closely scrutinized by the gatekeeprs? Last year, in round numbers, 35,000 of the immigrants were deported. They got no further than the examination room of the special board of inquiry, and their glimpse of the land which they had hoped to inhabit extended only to the trees in Battery park.

Long years of practice have made the system of the commissioners almost perfect. When the ship first enters the harbor she is placed in quarantine by the New York state medical board. If any of the passengers are found with contagious diseases they are detained at Swinburne and Hoffman islands. This is the work of the state authorities. After that the United States immigration officials from the marine hospital board the vessel and examine all for diseases of the eyes, the throat, etc. The cabin passengers are examined aboard ship, but the steerage passengers are examined in the barge office. They are transferred from the ocean liner on a barge and are sent through each department as rapidly as possible. The expedition with which the officials transact their inquiries and examinations may be understood when it is known that from 2,600 to 5,000 cases are passed upon in a day.

When the immigrant first arrives at the barge office his name is entered in a book in alphabetical order. This is called the identification book, and is kept at a desk in the front of the building on the ground floor, where all inquiries in regard to friends and relatives are answered. No immigrant unless he have a manifest card—that is, a card of directions, stating explicitly where he is going, which is issued by the railroad or steamship company at the point at which he starts—is allowed to leave the building until some friend calls for him. If he have no card and no one comes for him he is retained for five days in what is called the "New York pen." This in reality is a commodious room furnished with comfortable seats and benches. During the immigrant's stay there he is fed at the expense of the steamship company that brought him over. The meals are furnished by a restaurateur located in the building, who pays the government $5,000 a year for the concession and furnishes a bond of like amount as a guarantee that the food shall be pure and palatable. The expense to the steamship company is 50 cents a day for each immigrant detained. If at the end of five days no one calls for the immigrant he is returned to the country whence he came at the expense of the company that brought him here.

Although he has already passed the state quarantine, each immigrant as he comes in his turn is closely examined by three doctors, and if he be found sick or in any way indisposed he is sent to the medical department on Long Island and the steamship company which he patronized is charged $1.50 a day until he is released. If he pass the medical examination satisfactorily he then goes before the registry clerk. Here his name is entered and he is asked leading questions as to his ability to gain a livelihood in the new country to which he has come; as to his past record—whether or not he has been a criminal, and whether or not he is likely to become a pauper. Sometimes queer answers are brought out by these questions. An Irish girl with red cheeks and beaming with good nature was asked the other day how she expected to earn enough money to keep her, and she replied, as her cheeks got still redder:

"Shure, and it's Pat I'm going to marry."

"Where is Pat?" asked the clerk.

"Shure and isn't this Pat?" said the girl, pointing to the stalwart laddybuck standing at her side who had come over in the same ship with her.

"And what do you expect to do?", asked the clerk, turning to the man.

"Shure," said Pat, "an' it's meself that will get on the police force."

If the answers are not satisfactory to the clerks the immigrant is turned over to the special board of inquiry. There three examinations are held. At the first the immigrant appears alone. At the second his friends appear for him, and at the third hearing the entire case is reviewed. If the case is decided adversely, the immigrant, unless an appeal to Washington is made, is at once deported at the expense of the line bringing him here.

"HAVE YOU SEEN MY JACOB?"

The attendants about the building must necessarily be extensive linguists. All of them speak at least seven or eight languages, and the chief of the interpreters speaks 26. In all there are 242 languages and dialects spoken by the officers of the immigration commission.

When the immigrant has been passed upon by the examining staffs and he has been given a clean, moral and physical record, he is soon sent on the completion of his journey. The representatives of all the railroads in the country have offices in the barge building and they conduct the passengers that are to go to their respective lines safely to the stations.

And so each day when the great ships come in hundreds and hundreds of these new people are going to the east, to the west, to the north and to the south, becoming farmers and artisans and mechanics, swelling the millions, strengthening the sinews of the mighty nation, and making it still mightier and stronger.

JUSTICE STORMS DEAD.

Old Resident of New Market Passed Away at His Home This Morning.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

New Market, Oct. 20—Justice A. L. Storms, one of the oldest residents of this place, died at his home here this morning at 10 o'clock. Death was caused by heart trouble.

Justice Storms was over eighty years of age and has spent much of his life in Middlesex county. Of late he has been in rather feeble health. Two weeks ago, he was compelled to take to his bed.

It was thought that he would recover until yesterday when he began to sink rapidly. This morning he was very low and finally passed away at 10 o'clock.

He was one of the oldest Justices of the Peace in the State. He was a Republican. He leaves three children, Mrs. E. S. Ingham, of 939 Arlington avenue, Plainfield; Mrs. Isaac E. Bain, of Chatham, N. Y., and W. J. Storms, U. S. Consul at Victoria, Mexico.

GAME OF "STAGE COACH."

Novel Features at the Hallow'een Sociable Given in Vincent Chapel Last Evening.

Some decidedly novel features marked the "Hallow'een sociable" in Vincent chapel last evening under the auspices of the Epworth League of the First M. E. church. A game of "stage coach," with original little souvenirs, was the first part of the programme. The guests tried their skill at blowing out a candle blindfolded.

Some thrilling and ghostly tales were related by S. H. Tugwell and Miss Luella B. Crowther, both of whom were dressed in white. A huge bowl of alcohol and salt was burned to illuminate the scene and gave a pale and ghastly light. Then there was bobbing for apples.

Pumpkin pie and milk formed the refreshments, which were distributed. After a social hour the guests departed homeward. The affair was arranged by the social committee of the League, of which Mrs. S. H. Tugwell was the efficient chairman. She was ably assisted by the other members of the committee.

Chronic Nasal Catarrh poisons every breath that is drawn into the lungs. There is procurable from any druggist the remedy for the cure of this trouble. A small quantity of Ely's Cream Balm placed into the nostrils spreads over an inflamed and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation, cleanses, heals and cures. A cold in the head vanishes immediately. Sold by druggists or will be mailed for 50 cents by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

Special Sermons.

The members of the Mt. Olive Baptist church have made an improvement in the church by supplying their pastor with a new style pulpit which is better adapted for his work. Pastor Jackson will give a series of special sermons during November. The first sermon will be given tomorrow night. The subject will be "The Handwriting on the Wall." The service will be held at 7:45 o'clock.

Offered Use of Red Men's Hall.

A YONKERS ROMANCE.

A Plainfield Girl Acted as Bridemaid and Soon After Was a Bride Herself.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Yonkers, October 20—Miss Sarah Chamberlain and Andrew Hasborn, of this city, were married at St. Mary's church, last Wednesday, by Rev. Charles R. Corley. Miss Rose Kennedy, of Plainfield, N. J., and Benjamin Brownslee, of this city, acted as bridemaid and best man. The arrangements had been made so secretly that none of the friends of the interested parties had suspected that a wedding was in contemplation. On the way home from church Mr. Hasborn chided Mr. Brownslee on his single state until Brownslee turned to Miss Kennedy and asked her if she would return to the church and marry him. She immediately answered, yes. The driver received new instructions and within half an hour from the time of the first ceremony the second was performed. The two bridegrooms have secured two flats on Linden street, side by side.

HORSE FELT FRISKY.

Charles Jeter's Milk Wagon Was Given a Lively Run After He Was Hurled Out.

After a day of rest and quietness, a horse belonging to Charles Jeter, of Belmont avenue, felt real frolicsome yesterday afternoon. Mr. Jeter had the animal attached to his milk wagon and was driving down Belmont avenue when the horse made a plunge and a dash and hurled the surprised driver out of the wagon. He landed on his face and shoulder, receiving several cuts and bruises.

The horse turned the corner into Brook avenue and continued out that thoroughfare, crossing the brook at Elm place and along Elm place to East Front street. There the runaway turned into Front street and started toward town. Roundsman Flynn was standing at the curb, opposite the First Presbyterian church, when the horse approached on a dead run. The officer ran to the middle of the roadway and jumped at the horse. The animal shied and slakened its pace so that the officer was able to stop it. The load of milk cans was strapped in and so did not come to grief.

Case Adjourned.

The case in tort of Albert Gentle against Frank Cleaves which was to have been tried yesterday afternoon before Justice D. D. Smalley and a jury of six men, was adjourned to Monday, October 29, owing to the absence of an important witness. S. S. Swackhammer represents the plaintiff while W. L. Hetfield represents the defendant. It was at the request of the latter that the case was adjourned.

STRIVE TO WIN THE PRESIDENT'S CUP.

First Honors on Park Links Saturday Afternoon Went to Allan B. Laing.

SERRELL LEADS THOUGH.

MEREDITH DRYDEN TOOK SECOND HONORS FOR THE DAY.

Professional Blair Has Severed His Connection With the Club—Course Was in Fine Shape Saturday.

While a delegation from the Park Golf Club was absent at Morristown Saturday, there was a fair turnout at the links of that club Saturday afternoon. Those who went found the course in splendid condition and the day an ideal one for the royal and ancient game. The only event of the afternoon was the weekly competition for the president's cup for which there were half a score of entries. The weekly match for the green committee challenge trophy was played earlier in the week.

First honors for the day went to Allan B. Laing, who made the rounds in company with H. D. Hibbard. There were no particularly low scores, for all the scratch men were absent. Edgar I. Serrell, who now leads for the cup, was not present else he would have probably scored a first as Laing's net score was 98. By thus winning three points for the cup Laing has advanced to second place from fourth and is now next to Serrell. The latter still retains a good lead, however.

Meredith Dryden took second honors and advanced from sixth place to fifth, in the contest for the president's cup. H. D. Hibbard made low gross score, 108, and took third honor with an even 100 net. He advanced from seventh to tenth.

Andrew D. Blair has severed his connection with the club as professional and the course is now in charge of John Calder, who has been employed there all summer. The course never looked finer than it did Saturday, the putting greens being particularly fine.

The scores for the day were as follows:

	Gross.	Hand.	Net.
Allan B. Laing	113	15	98
Meredith Dryden	111	12	99
H. D. Hibbard	108	8	100*

The standing for the cup is as follows:

Edgar I. Serrell	14
Allan B. Laing	10½
Morgan T. Townsend	9½
Wm. R. Faber	8½
Meredith Dryden	8
George T. Rogers	6½
H. D. Hibbard	6
S. St. J. McCutchen	5 5-6
Charles A. Reed	5½
W. J. R. Thiers	5
Gustavus W. Faber	4½
W. de la R. Anderson	4
Wm. M. McCutchen	4
Samuel Townsend	3
George C. Worth	3
Herbert S. Rogers	3
J. H. Simpson	3

Scattering—Henry C. Wells, Gustavus W Faber, Donald A. McGee, Charles B. Morse, J. D. Sandford, Townsend Bushmore, Charles Dupee, Frank Rogers, Roger F. Murray and William A. Townsend.

The standing for the green committee challenge trophy is as follows:

W. J. R. Thiers	10
Morgan T. Townsend	6
Gustavus W. Faber	2
W. de la R. Anderson	1
Fred P. Taylor	1
Edgar I. Serrell	1

NO CLUE TO SCHREIBER.

Mrs. Hart's Diamond Necklace Placed in the Bank's Safe.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Oct. 22—The diamond necklace which has been recovered from Mrs. Annie Hart has been placed in the safe of the Elizabethport bank. There are 179 diamonds in the necklace, and each one is set in platinum.

No clue has been found as yet to the defaulter. Constables made a search Thursday of his home to see if anything could be found there that would help along the efforts being made to capture the fugitive. Schreiber's mother, who has entirely recovered from the hysterical attacks brought on by the news of her son's crime, informed the officers that there was nothing in the house belonging to Willie but a novel, a pair of shoes and a couple of old hats. She sarcastically remarked that she would give the hats to the bank directors if they could wear them, as that might help them to take better care of the bank's funds in future. The search developed nothing.

Disregard of the Public.

The Plainfield Street Railway has again shown its disregard for the people by removing the rails of the switch at Grant avenue and Front street and allowing the ties to remain in the ground. They were simply covered over to give the impression that they had been taken out. It will only be a matter of time before the ground will cave in and the street, which has only recently been macadamized, will be placed in a wretched condition.

GOLFERS PAY A VISIT.

HILLSIDE PLAYERS ENTERTAINED AT MORRISTOWN SATURDAY.

Team Match and Other Competitions Played—Luncheon Served to the Party.

A party of young people from the two local golf clubs went to Morristown Saturday and spent the day there as guests of the Morristown Field Club. A mixed foursome team match and other golf competitions were arranged while the guests were entertained in most hospitable manner by the Morristown Club. The Plainfielders in the party included Miss Daisy Elsberg, Miss Adelaide Ball, William R. Faber and Morgan T. Townsend, of Park Golf Club; Miss Edith Tracy, Miss Lida vanHerwerden, Laurens H. VanBuren and W. L. Glenney, of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club.

During the morning, the mixed foursome team match was held. It was the result of a challenge sent to M. T. Townsend, as captain of the Park Club team, by Duyckink, captain of the Morristown Club team, some ago. Only four pairs went to represent Plainfield. The Morristown Club had six pairs ready so one of the latter played on the side of the visitors. The result was a tie but it was due to the fact that the Morristown players, who sided with the visitors, defeated their opponents. The score was as follows:

PLAINFIELD.		MORRISTOWN.
Miss Tracy and W. L. Glenney	0	Miss Marsh and Mr. Snow	2
Miss vanHerwerden and M. T Townsend	2	Miss Burnett and Mr. Emott	0
Miss Elsberg and W. R. Faber	0	Miss Slade and Mr. Thomas	11
Miss Ball and L. H. VanBuren	1	Miss Neezer and Mr. Cadwel	0
Miss Swords and Mr. Fuller	1	Miss Hull and Mr. Duyckinck	0
	13		13

A charming luncheon was served at the clubhouse at noon. In the afternoon, the Plainfield golfers exchanged partners with their Morristown opponents and a single round of nine holes was played. Then an approaching and putting contest was held, the exchange of partners being continued. Each pair had two chances to approach. Miss March and W. L. Glenney, Miss Elsberg and Mr. Thomas and Miss Neezer and L. H. VanBuren tied for first, holding out with a total of six strokes each. Miss Elsberg made a remarkably long put and scored a two for herself and partner on one trial. On the playoff, Miss March and W. L. Glenney won. Prizes were awarded for this contest. That concluded the day's pleasure.

DROPPED DEAD.

Mary E. Thompson a Victim to the Grim Reaper While Visiting Her Brother.

Mary Elizabeth Thompson, the wife of David Thompson, a colored bootblack, of East Fourth street, dropped dead at the home of her friend, Mrs. Holloway, on Cottage place, yesterday afternoon. She had gone to the latter's home on a visit and was seated on the front porch when she suddenly fell forward. Those near rushed to her side but she had already expired. County Physician Westcott was notified and gave a permit for the removal of the body to Cole's undertaking rooms. Death was due to heart disease. The deceased was thirty-six years old. Beside her husband, she leaves a sister, Mrs. Rebecca Long, of this city, and a child by a former marriage who lives at Rye, N. Y.

DR. RAYMOND PREACHED.

Also Visited Sunday-School at His Old Charge.

Dr. A. V. D. Raymond, formerly pastor of Trinity Reformed church, but now president of Union College, preached two strong and interesting sermons in the Crescent Avenue church, yesterday morning and evening, and the attendance was large at both services. In the afternoon he visited the Sunday school at Trinity Reformed church, and congratulated the school on its growth and the evidences on all sides of prosperity. After an absence of nearly fourteen years he beheld young men and women, who when he left Plainfield were boys and girls, now teachers in the Sunday-school. He also congratulated Superintendent E. E. Anthony on still holding the reins as superintendent.

Quarterly Meeting.

The quarterly meeting of the Sunday-school of the Park Avenue Baptist church will be held tomorrow evening at the home of the Superintendent, Mrs. David M. Runyon, 1080 Arlington avenue. The meeting will take the form of a conference and there will be a discussion of the needs of the Sunday-school and how to meet them.

Concert Postponed.

The military concert to be given for the benefit of Clarence A. Roberts, of Dunellen, in Music Hall, has been postponed from tonight to some night next week. The date will be set later on.

BOROUGH DEMOCRATS WERE STIRRED UP.

E. E. Potter Delivered a Rousing Campaign Talk to the North Plainfieders.

BRYAN'S REVISED PLANS.

PLENTY OF ACTIVITY AMONG NEW JERSEY POLITICIANS.

Republican Primaries will be Held This Evening—Martine Speaks in Rahway Tonight—No Democratic Vacancy.

North Plainfield Democrats were up and doing in a vigorous and enthusiastic fashion Saturday night when their first mass meeting was held in the headquarters in the Eggerding building on Somerset street. The headquarters were crowded to overflowing by those who were anxious to hear the arguments presented in favor of the Democratic side. Councilman S. S. Swackhamer, president of the Club, presided over the meeting and made an introductory speech that was entertaining and witty throughout. The speaker of the evening was E. E. Potter, of Port Oram, whose reputation as a campaign speaker is well known in this section. Mr. Potter discussed the three most important issues—imperialism, trusts and money—all of which were presented in an original and favorable manner for the Democrats. Mr. Potter has a wealth of anecdotes to illustrate his principal points and he kept his audience in good humor during the entire time he was speaking. He spoke especially on Americanism, and in this connection appealed to the patriotism and honesty of voters to support Bryan and Stevenson. The meeting was a complete success.

Final arrangements were made Saturday by Democratic State Committeeman Harry B. Paul for the schedule of the special train which will bear William Jennings Bryan north after his address at Washington Park next Thursday. Bryan will speak at Washington Park at 11:30 a. m., reaching the park by boat from Philadelphia. At 1:15 he will leave Westville, the station near Washington Park, on the special train at 1:15. Stops will be made at Riverside from 1:50 to 2:05; Burlington, 2:18 to 2:25; arrive at Broad street station, Trenton, 3:05, and leave Clinton street station, Trenton, at 5:10; arrive at Princeton Junction at 5:25 and leave 5:40; arrive at New Brunswick 6:10 and leave 6:40; arrive at Elizabeth at 7:10 and leave at 7:49 p. m. No speeches will be made from the train platform, owing to the danger from passing trains, but stands will be erected at each stop.

The Republicans of this city will hold their primaries this evening to elect delegates to the county convention at Elizabeth Thursday and also to select members of the county executive committee. It has been decided to observe the amendment to the primary rules, passed last spring, which provides that the polls are to be open from 8 until 8:30 o'clock instead of from 5 to 9 o'clock. The First ward primary will be held in the old City National Bank building, East Front street; the Second ward primary at the Bryant School building; the Third ward primary at the Casino; and the Fourth ward primary in the reading room of Reform Hall. The nominations were filed with the various ward clerks Saturday evening. There will be no contests as only one ticket was filed in each ward.

If it is possible to get the desired speaker the Republicans of the borough will hold one rousing mass-meeting just before election in Saengerbund Hall. If this is not possible the G. O. P. will content itself with holding the smaller meetings in their clubroom.

James E. Martine will speak in Rahway this evening. Saturday night he addressed a big meeting in Dover.

The U. S. Grant Republican Club of the borough will hold several meetings this week and some excellent speech-making is promised.

Hugh Gordon Miller, of Virginia, will address a Republican mass meeting in Bound Brook this evening. North Plainfielders are invited to be present.

Frederick W. Park, of Cranford, who was nominated for Member of Assembly at the Democratic county convention last Thursday, has reconsidered his decision to decline the nomination, and has now signed his acceptance of the nomination to be filed with the County Clerk. All the other candidates have also signed the necessary acceptance blanks.

INJURIES PROVED FATAL

HARRY B. PARK DIES SEVERAL MONTHS AFTER ACCIDENT.

He Was Struck by a Train on the Central Railroad at Grant Avenue Station.

In spite of the best medical skill obtainable and every possible convenience, Harry Bertram Park passed away at his home on West Sixth street, shortly before midnight Saturday. Death was due to a long standing heart trouble caused by insufficient blood nourishment. The young man, who was not quite twenty-one years old, had never fully recovered from the terrible injuries received on the railroad at the Grant Avenue station last February.

Since that time Drs. Hedges, of this city, and Drs. Janeway and Jackson, of New York, have been in constant attendance, but the injuries weakened him to such an extent, bringing on the old trouble, that their services proved of no avail.

Young Park was a student in the New York University Medical College, and would have graduated in two years. He had always been regarded as one of the brightest young men who ever took up the study of bacteriology.

It was while returning from the institution in company with his father, that, as he alighted from the train at the Grant avenue station, he was struck by an east bound express and all but killed. The railroad company has since settled for $15,000.

The funeral services will be held from the residence of his father, Albert E. Park, Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The pall bearers will be selected from his former classmates. Interment will be made at Middleport, Niagara County, N. Y, the families old home.

Y. M. C. A. ANNIVERSARY.

THE EVENT CELEBRATED AT TRINITY CHURCH LAST NIGHT.

Excellent Sermon on the Work of the Association Preached by Rev. Dr. Schenck.

Yesterday marked the thirty-fourth anniversary of the organization of the Young Men's Christian Association and in honor of the event the services at Trinity Reformed church last night were devoted to the work and achievements of this great body of young men.

Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck preached a sermon in recognition of the day, taking for his subject "The Glory of Young Men in Their Strength."—Rev., 20 29.

Dr. Schenck divided his sermon into three parts, as follows: Physical strength, mental strength and moral strength. Under each of the heads he told of the methods and good results of the Y. M. C. A. At the close of the sermon he spoke in the highest terms of the good that is being done by the association in Plainfield and elsewhere, and commended its advantages to all young men. He also paid a deserving compliment to the local secretary, J. H. Manning, for his good work in that capacity and his intense interest in young men.

The offering taken was for the benefit of the association.

Before Dr. Schenck's sermon an interesting detailed statement of the work of the local association for the past year, signed by the president, Stephen Cahoone, was read to the congregation by the clerk of the consistory, Fred E. Smith.

Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, pastor of the First Baptist church, preached a sermon yesterday morning in the interest of young men and women. He also read the annual statement of President Cahoone, of the Y. M. C. A. showing how much that association has accomplished during the past year.

May Start Work November 9th.

According to the ordinance adopted by the Borough Council last Friday evening, the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company can commence work November 9th. It is hardly probable that much work will be done this year, but no doubt it will be started in earnest next spring. The uncertainty of the weather at this time of the year makes it undesirable to start such work as putting wires underground.

Sight Reading and Ensemble Playing.

Sight reading and ensemble playing classes are being formed by Miss Anna O. Marsh. The classes are composed of four players at two pianos. All who wish information in regard to plan of study and other items, are requested to call at 915 Madison avenue, on Wednesday afternoon, the 24th, between 4 and 5 o'clock or to send for circular by mail.

GIRL'S DRESS CAUGHT FIRE FROM BONFIRE.

Terrible Injuries Sustained by a Four-year-old Girl Last Evening.

NOW IN CRITICAL CONDITION.

CHARLES POST AND CORNELIUS PERRINE TO THE RESCUE.

Clara Parsons the Unfortunate Child—She Was Playing Around the Fire—Mother Witnessed the Accident.

But for the prompt response of Charles Post and Cornelius Perrine to her frantic appeals for help, Clara Parsons, the four-year-old daughter of Andrew Parsons, colored, of Cottage place, would have been burned to death before her mother's eyes last evening.

As it was the child is in a critical condition and suffers great agony. Her face, chest and back and one entire arm are a mass of burns, the marks of which, in case of recovery, will never leave her. In company with a number of other children, Clara was dancing about a bonfire, which she had built on the railroad bank opposite her home, about 6 o'clock last evening. Suddenly and without warning, the light dress worn by the child, sprang in a blaze which enveloped her completely. Screaming piteously, she ran across the street to her home. Her cries attracted the attention of her mother but the latter became panic stricken and was unable to assist her.

The two men already mentioned were also attracted by the shouts, and rushing to the child pulled off what remained of the burning clothes.

Dr. Browning was then hurriedly summoned and made the child as comfortable as possible. The burns were so severe that the skin came off in strips, but the little one bears the pain uncomplainingly.

In tearing off the girls clothes Charles Post had both hands badly burned. They were attended to by Dr. Browning and he is able to be at work.

JOHN SHERMAN DEAD.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Washington, Oct. 12.—John Sherman ex-Secretary of State, died at 6:45 o'clock this morning. He had been unconscious for nearly fifteen hours and his end was peaceful.

Midgets to Marry.

The engagement to marry of two midgets was announced in Newark yesterday. The contracting parties are Albert J. Criqui, twenty-three years old, weighing fifty-five pounds, and thirty-eight inches in height, and Pearl Robinson, of Chicago, twenty years old, weiging fifty-five pounds, and thirty-five inches in height. Criqui lives with his parents at No. 30 South Orange avenue. His father is Frank C. Criqui, and he weighs 280 pounds. Pearl Robinson recently made an engagement with the Lilliputian Opera Company. Her mother is Ida Robinson, who weighs 200 pounds.

Roof Will Cost $3,000.

The Plainfield Water Supply Company has decided to put a roof over the water tower on the side of the mountain on Johnston's Drive. The tower is 75 feet across and it is estimated that it will cost $3,000 to cover it as proposed. It is expected that covering it will prevent a recurrence of the filth that gathered on the top of the water recently and necessitated drawing off the water and doing away with the tower as a source of supply.

New Cars at Last.

Two of the long promised new cars for the street railway were placed in service between this city and Elizabeth yesterday. The cars are handsome in appearance and equipped with all modern conveniences including a smoking compartment and electric brakes. They are being run by North Jersey Street Railway motormen until the local employes become acquainted with the workings.

Buckle Plates Don't Arrive.

The present delay in the Madison avenue-Duer street bridge is the failure of the arrival of the buckle plates. Mr. Kirk, the contractor, is looking for them daily and as soon as they arrive he can finish his part of the contract in a few days ready for the concrete roadbed and sidewalk.

Engine Broke Down.

Part of the employes of the Potter and Campbell Press Works were forced to quit work temporarily this morning owing to the engine breaking down. The trouble was repaired later in the day.

RAGTIME DITTIES AND BUCK DANCING AT HEADQUARTERS.

Republicans Held "Open House" Saturday Evening—Speech by Charles S. Sminck.

There was "open house" at Republican headquarters Saturday evening. The city campaign committee realized some time ago the advisibility of making headquarters something else than a mere centre for the distribution of campaign literature and a meeting place for the ward committees. So a committee was appointed with City Judge William N. Runyon as chairman to look after headquarters and provide some kind of informal entertainment at frequent intervals.

One of the first acts of the committee was to secure a piano for headquarters and also enough seats to accommodate several hundred people. It was decided to hold "open house" at headquarters Tuesday and Saturday nights up to election time. Saturday evenings there will be speaking and some other form of entertainment. Tuesday nights there will be gatherings of Republicans of local prominence.

No attempt was made to advertise the first "open house" at headquarters Saturday night save for the notices which appeared in the local newspapers. A hundred men gathered there, however. City Judge Runyon acted as chairman of the meeting. A quartette of colored vocalists rendered some rag-time ditties while John Taylor and William Wilson gave an exhibition of buck and wing dancing.

Charles S. Sminck, of the First ward, was the first speaker. He spoke briefly on some of the issues of the campaign and pointed out that the path of National prosperity lay along the line of the policy of the Republican party. He was followed by Assemblyman Charles S. Foote, of this city, who talked on expansion and the currency questions. A book of campaign songs was distributed during the meeting and the audience did a little singing on its own account.

FELL ASLEEP DRIVING.

Tumbled Off His Seat and the Rear Wheel Ran Over His Head Inflicting Injuries.

While returning from Elizabeth late Saturday night, where he had been delivering telegraph poles, Prime Carmon, a colored man, 60 odd years old, fell asleep and tumbled off the wagon near Richmond street. A rear wheel passed over his head, inflicting severe injuries. His lower jaw was broken in two, his teeth knocked out and his face and head badly crushed. Despite these injuries Carmon got up and securing the horses drove them to the home of his employer, Levi Bird, of Belmont avenue. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bird heard the team come in the yard and going out asked Carmon if he was cold or tired. He replied "no" and in the darkness they did not notice his face covered with blood. After unhitching the team he told Mr. Bird he did not feel like going home and would stay in the barn all night, which he did. He left the barn early in the morning and walked to his home in the rear of French's mill. His face was in such a terrible condition that his wife failed to recognize him. Still uncomplaining he entered the house and some neighbors saw him. They at once notified Dr. Currie and the latter made him as comfortable as possible, but seeing that he needed good care had him removed to the hospital. Although the injuries will not prove fatal he will be confined to the institution for some time.

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION.

Twenty-seventh Annual Convention to be Held in New Brunswick.

The twenty-seventh annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of New Jersey will be held in the First M. E. church, New Brunswick, October 23, 24, 25 and 26. A meeting of the executive committee will be held in the church tomorrow afternoon, the 23d, at 3 o'clock. Tuesday evening—Welcomes, president's address, reports of corresponding secretary and treasurer. VICTORY SNATCHED FROM ALIS' GRASP.

Crack Local Eleven Became Demoralized When the Game Was Almost Won.

THE PLAY WAS ROUGH.

VISITORS FROM ORIENT F. C. OF NEWARK WON 18 TO 12.

Alias Led 12 to 0 at End of First Half—Nearly Half of Alis Team Laid Out by Slugging of Newark Team.

With victory apparently in their grasp, the eleven of the Alis A. A., of this city, met unexpected defeat on the gridiron at Martine Common Saturday afternoon at the hands of the Orient Field Club, Newark. In the first half the superiority of the Alis' game was evident. The visitors played snappy football but their game, particularly in the second half, was marked by such brutality and roughness that the Alis men were retired for repairs, one after another. All the available substitutes were utilized and finally volunteers from the side lines, dressed in citizen's clothes, had to be called in. Against this weakened line the visitors had little trouble in scoring and eventually winning by a score of 18 to 12.

At good clean football the Alis team was the stronger as the first half showed. Alis kicked off to Orient's thirty-yard line. Twice the ball changed hands on fumbles, and finally Alis recovered it on downs on their own forty-five-yard line. Cuming turned right end for fifteen yards. Further attempts to gain failed, and Tom Smith kicked to Orient's twenty-five yard line. King fumbled badly a double pass for the visitors, and Homer Smith fell on the ball on Orient's ten-yard line. Cuming went for three yards, Rapalje plunged through tackle for five more and Woolston went through center for a touchdown, after nine and a-half minutes of play. Phillips kicked the goal.

McClure fell on the ball on Orient's kick-off, and then the Alis boys started down the field with vigor. Cuming, Woolston, H. Smith and Dumont each ran for fifteen yards. Cuming retired. The ball went down the field in good shape, and Rapalje plunged through tackle for four yards and the second touchdown. Phillips kicked the goal.

There was a prospect of another touchdown but the Orient umpire gave the ball to the visitors for holding by T. Smith and the half ended with the ball on Alis' twenty five yard line.

Quick work by the Alis' boys brought the ball up the field from Orient's kickoff to the centre when they lost the ball for holding, T. Smith being the offender. New backs had been substituted on the visiting team and they began to gain ground at once. After a run of fifteen yards by Hervey, King took the ball on a criss-cross and ran twenty-five yards for a touchdown. B. Bennett kicked the goal. That was after eight minutes of play.

After Alis' kickoff, the Orient team brought the ball down the field on quick opening plays and masses on tackle. The game began to grow very rough and an Alis player was laid out in almost every play. The loss of so many players began to demoralize the home team and their defensive work drew weaker and weaker. Orient had no trouble in forcing the ball down to Alis' goal where Grover went through left tackle for three yards and a touchdown. B. Bennett kicked the goal.

Again the Orients repeated their work and brought the ball down to Alis' twenty-five yard line, where T. Smith got the ball in a scrimmage. It was then almost dark. Dumont was out and Woolston was at quarter. Twice the Alis' backs hit the line but only a trifling gain resulted.

The lineup was as follows:

ALIS A. A.	ORIENT F. C.
T. Smith.
Badford.	King
Wittke.	Price
Wittke.	Hamberger
Long	Pitchard
McClure	Erler.
G. Smith	C. Bennett
Walton.	Williams.
Davis	Perry
Rapalje	B. Bennett
H. Smith.	Baldwin.
Lovell	Hervey
Dumont.	Dodd.
Woolston.	Hagerty
Cuming.	Grover
T. Smith
Phillips

Score—Orient F. C., 18; Alis A. A., 12. Touchdowns—Woolston, Rapalje, King, Grover, (2). Goals from touchdowns—Phillips, (2), B. Bennett, (3). Time of halves—20 minutes. Referee—Roger Erickson, of Plainfield. Umpire—George Young, of Newark. Field linesman—A. Willis West, of Plainfield. Linesmen—Huston, of Cranford, and Thorn, of Newark.

Brides and Grooms Plentiful.

There were five October brides and grooms in attendance at the morning service in one of the Plainfield churches yesterday.

PEACE TALK POSTPONED.

Nothing Heard From Conger in Regard to Peking Conference.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Nothing has come to the state department from Minister Conger in regard to the proposed preliminary meeting for the consideration of peace negotiations asked for by Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching for October 20. The presumption of the officials, therefore, is that the press dispatches announcing that it had been postponed is correct. This postponement was due probably to the unreadiness of the powers generally to begin negotiations, the ministers in all likelihood not having received their final preliminary instructions from their governments for their guidance. The United States minister, Mr. Conger, is preparing to proceed with the preliminary work, his instructions from the state department being ample to cover all questions which it is expected will be raised at the beginning. As is understood here, the initial meeting will relate mainly to the verification of the credentials of the Chinese plenipotentiaries, and if these be satisfactory the base will be laid for future conferences.

The state department has received a copy of the Anglo-German agreement regarding China published in the dispatches from London Saturday afternoon. It was sent to the department by Count de Quadt, the German charge d'affaires, who earlier in the day had received it by telegraph from Count von Bulow, the German chancellor at Berlin. The official version is identical in terms with that already published, and it was communicated to our government with only a formal letter of transmission. Count de Quadt is very much gratified over the agreement between the two powers and believes it augurs well for the prompt beginning of peace negotiations in China.

Rebels Paid by Americans.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—"It is supposed here," says the Hongkong correspondent of The Daily Chronicle, "that the rebels who are operating under Sun Yet Sen are subsidized by Americans at Singapore."

A dispatch from Peking, dated Oct. 20, says: "The new British minister to China, Sir Ernest Mason Satow, has arrived in Peking, and Sir Claude Macdonald, the retiring minister, who has been appointed British minister to Japan, will leave next Tuesday."

Russian Minister Returns to Peking.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 22.—The Official Messenger formally announces and explains the return to Peking of the Russian minister to China in the following paragraph: "An edict of the Chinese emperor having appointed Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang to be plenipotentiaries the czar has ordered M. de Giers to return to Peking and to enter upon peace negotiations together with the representatives of the other powers."

ABOUT THE PLAGUE.

Dr. Jenkins Tells of Investigations in Glasgow.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Dr. William T. Jenkins of the board of health of this city was among the passengers who arrived on the Cunard liner Umbria. He has been in Great Britain since the latter part of August investigating the sanitary systems of that country. Among other cities he visited Glasgow during the prevalence of the bubonic plague there. Speaking of his trip and the results of his observations concerning the plague Dr. Jenkins said:

"At the time of my visit to Glasgow there were 18 cases in the hospital. They were treated by the serum processes, the Hafkin and the Yersin, of the former of which I secured 12 bottles. I am very favorably inclined to the serum treatment. The cases in Glasgow are not isolated as some people think. The principal precaution taken is the inoculation with serum of persons who come in contact with the disease. All of the doctors in the hospital had been inoculated.

"After looking over the systems for the protection of health in vogue in England I have no doubt whatever concerning our ability to cope with the plague should it ever be brought to this port."

New York City's Registration.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—New York city's electors, over 600,000 in number, are enrolled for the coming election. The registry books were closed at 10 o'clock on Saturday night, and the party managers are studying the returns. The increase in Manhattan and the Bronx and in Brooklyn over the registration of 1896 amounts to 60,782, and in the boroughs of Queens and Richmond there is a substantial increase over the figures of 1898. Both political organizations claim that the registration is favorable to their cause.

Zeppelin's Airship Works Well.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Oct. 22.—Another trial of Count Zeppelin's airship was made yesterday, resulting in a series of successful evolutions. The airship, with Count Zeppelin and Herr Eugen Wolff on board, ascended at 5 o'clock in the afternoon to an altitude of five-eighths of a mile, where various maneuvers were executed. It then descended slowly to the water, which it reached near the point of departure at 25 minutes past 5. The king and queen of Wurttemberg witnessed the trial.

Fatal Freight Wreck.

WALTHAM, Mass., Oct. 22.—Two freight trains on the Fitchburg division of the Boston and Maine railroad collided about 1:10 o'clock yesterday morning directly opposite the Waltham station, resulting in the death of G. F. Cooper, a passenger brakeman, who was riding to his home in Somerville on the engine of the east bound train, and slight injury to Harry Downs, the fireman of the train, while 15 cars were demolished and one large locomotive badly wrecked.

Horrible Tortures by Chinese.

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 22.—According to a correspondent of the Shanghai Mercury Bishop Fontosati, in South Honan, was tortured for four hours by Chinese. The members of his body were removed singly. Two priests were covered with coal oil and placed in a pattern of sticks, which were then set on fire. Bishop Fontosati and others were frightfully tortured. Three thousand converts led by French priests in defending their church were massacred.

Indians In Council.

DENISON, Tex., Oct. 22.—The Creek full blood council has been joined by Choctaws, Chickasaws, Cherokees and Seminoles. They are armed with Winchesters. All declare they will stand by the treaty of 1866 and will not take allotment of lands. Colonel Sheenefele, agent of the five civilized tribes, is confident that he can handle the situation.

OPERATORS BLAMED.

President Mitchell Says They Treated Miners Unfairly.

NO PARTIAL SECTIONAL SETTLEMENT

Only a Portion of the Coal Companies Have Yet Announced Their Willingness to Accede to the Scranton Demands.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 22.—When President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers was asked what he had to say in regard to a settlement of the anthracite coal miners' strike, he said:

"As there appears to be some disposition on the part of the public to place the responsibility for the prolongation of the strike on the shoulders of the mine workers, speaking for them I want to say that when the Scranton convention accepted the 10 per cent advance in wages providing the operators abolished the sliding scale and guaranteed the payment of the advance until April 1 the miners had met the operators more than half way. They had shown a conciliatory spirit, and I know of no good reason why the proposition should not have been accepted by the operators.

"As a consequence the responsibility for the continuation of the strike rests solely upon the failure of the operators to treat the proposition of their employees considerately. The public should understand that, unsatisfactory as is the proposition of the operators who make the reduction in the price of powder part of the advance of 10 per cent, even this proposition has not been offered by a very large number of the coal producing companies in the anthracite region, and until all companies guarantee the payment of the 10 per cent advance above the rate of wages paid in September until April 1, according to the decision of the Scranton convention, the miners are powerless to act. I want to repeat again that there can be no partial sectional settlement of this strike.

"The large companies in the Lehigh region that have refused to move at all since the Scranton convention was held are Coxe Bros. & Co., the largest coal producers in the Lehigh region; G. B. Markle & Co., the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre company, the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company and a large number of smaller companies. There is also a considerable number of coal companies in the Lackawanna and Wyoming regions that have not guaranteed the payment of the 10 per cent advance until April 1. The only district that has accepted the terms of the Scranton convention in full is No. 9, better known as the Schuylkill district.

"Companies which produce about 65 per cent of the total production of the anthracite coal fields have guaranteed the payment of the 10 per cent advance and have abolished the sliding scale."

When Mr. Mitchell was asked what he would do if all the companies were to post notices, he said, "When all the companies have posted notices, then I will have something to say."

THE END NEAR.

General Belief That the Strike Cannot Last Much Longer.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 22.—The general belief here is that the coming week will see the wind up of the strike. The strikers do not admit this openly, but it is the feeling that the lockout cannot be continued much longer. Both sides are expected to make concessions.

The operators say they have none to make, but under certain pressure they are expected to make them nevertheless. The politicians have had their say in the negotiations looking toward a settlement, and now the sales agents for the big coal companies and the retail dealers in the big cities are taking a hand. They are writing and telegraphing every day to the coal companies that unless something is done very soon to bring the strike to an end and an effort made to get some hard coal on the market at salable figures the anthracite trade will be demoralized for years to come, and some of it will be lost forever.

One sales agent writes: "One of my largest customers tells me that consumers are getting to like bituminous coal and that they think they will keep on using it."

It is such reminders as these that make the operators just as anxious to settle the strike as the miners. But the strikers must make the biggest concession, and there is every reason to believe they will do it before the week is out.

Trouble Over Weyler's Appointment.

MADRID, Oct. 22.—Senor Silvela, the premier, had an audience with the queen regent yesterday and formally announced the resignations of Senor Gassett, minister of agriculture, and Senor Dato, minister of the interior, together with the resignations of the high officials in their departments, as a protest against the appointment of General Weyler as captain general of Madrid. The cabinet council which followed disclosed serious differences between the members of the ministry, and the premier decided to place the question of confidence in the cabinet before the queen regent. At 7 o'clock last evening Senor Silvela went to the palace to tender the resignation of the entire cabinet. Subsequently the queen regent received General Azcarraga, president of the senate, whom she intrusted with the formation of a new ministry.

Cycle Record Broken.

ALBANY, Oct. 22.—Louis Bailey of Poughkeepsie cut 35 minutes off the bicycle record between New York city and Albany yesterday by making the distance in 11 hours and 10 minutes. The former record was 11 hours and 46 minutes, held by A. H. Achorn of the Century Bicycle club of New York city, and was only made recently. Bailey left New York city at 5:05 in the morning and arrived at the city hall in this city at 4:16 p. m. He reports the roads as being in poor condition.

MADMEN RUN WILD.

Inmates of Hospital For Criminal Insane at Large.

KEEPERS AT MATTEAWAN OVERCOME.

Dash For Liberty Thought to Have Been Made Because of the Cramped Quarters of the Institution.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Oct. 22.—There was a revolt at the Matteawan State Hospital For the Criminal Insane at half past 6 o'clock last night, when six or eight keepers were assaulted and overpowered by about 20 insane patients. Some of the patients escaped, and seven are still at large. One or two of the keepers are badly bruised as a result of the assault.

After the patients had been given their usual Sunday night supper they were taken back to their apartments in company with the keepers. Among the number were 15 or 20 who slept in one of the large corridors, this being necessary on account of the cramped conditions at the institution. In this hall with the patients were six or eight keepers, who sat on their chairs watching the inmates as they walked up and down the hall in a restless manner. There were no suspicious movements on the part of the patients to indicate that they had been planning a revolt of any kind. They looked as they always did, first at one keeper and then at another, but the keepers did not even think that there was any trouble in the evil minds of their 20 prisoners.

Suddenly and without warning each keeper was attacked simultaneously by two or three patients, and heavy blows fell on the heads of the surprised attendants. There did not seem to be any leader of the revolt, and while the patients were assaulting the keepers they would gaze at each other occasionally, as if waiting for the word to make the break for liberty. The keys held by the keepers were soon taken from them, and a rush was then made for the door leading from the hall into the dining room.

As the patients rushed through the dining room each one of them picked from the table a heavy plate or cup or bowl to use as a weapon in case they were overtaken by the keepers. The lights were still burning in all the apartments, and the insane mob had clear sailing. From the dining room they went through to adjoining rooms, the doors of which were unlocked, and then into the long hall leading to the rear entrance.

The patient in advance of the others was nervously fingering over his bunch of keys as he ran, looking for the keys to the rear door. The keys were well known to them, and the rear door was unlocked without much loss of time. With a wild yell the mob rushed out of the narrow door, fighting with each other as they went, each wanting to be in the lead and to reach the outer gate first.

Through the yard they ran like deer and crowded around the big gate in the wall while one of their number was turning the key in the lock. When the gate was thrown open, they rushed out of the yard, fairly tumbling over each other in their anxiety to be free again.

In the meantime the keepers who had been overpowered and who had rapidly recovered from the surprise given them by their assailants sent in an alarm to the main office, and the keepers in the front of the administration building started around the building on a run with the hope of heading the mob off before they came out of the rear gate. The keepers who had been assaulted ran through the dining room and through the adjoining room into the long hall leading to the rear entrance, expecting to see the patients crowded around the rear door, but they were disappointed. They continued their chase, and, after joining the other keepers, they saw the patients running across the hospital farm back of the main building. A hot pursuit followed, in which all but seven of the patients were captured. The keepers then took the recaptured patients back to the institution and had them securely locked up in other parts of the building. By this time the keepers had formed several searching parties, and they all started out to scour the woods in the vicinity of the hospital. The keepers who were assaulted were given medical attendance and joined in the search for the fugitives.

The revolt, it is thought, was caused directly by the cramped quarters at the hospital.

Mr. Bryan Left Behind.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Oct. 22.—The private car Rambler, in which William J. Bryan, the Democratic presidential candidate, is making his tour of the country, arrived here at 8 o'clock last night, but Mr. Bryan was not a passenger. It brought only the newspaper correspondents who usually accompany Mr. Bryan. They had been separated from him at Buffalo and had not been able to connect with him after leaving that city. His failure to reach here at the time expected was due to a series of unscheduled occurrences. In order to make connections it was necessary for the car to leave Buffalo at 11 o'clock Saturday night. Mr. Bryan's meeting in that city kept him so late that it was impossible for him to leave with it, and he decided that it should proceed without him, intending to follow on a later train and believing that he could overtake the car at Pittsburg in the morning. This he failed to do, and at Wheeling it was learned that Mr. Bryan had concluded to attempt to come to Huntington by way of Columbus, O.

FIVE FIREMEN KILLED.

Fire In St. Paul Proves Disastrous to Life and Property.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 22.—As a result of a fire which broke out in the slaughtering pen of A. V. Hinman & Co.'s packing house at the Minnesota transfer at an early hour yesterday morning five firemen are dead and a number of others injured, and property to the amount of $130,000 was consumed.

The fire, which is supposed to have been of incendiary origin, spread with great rapidity, fanned by a strong southerly wind, and the firemen were seriously handicapped by lack of water and further by the fact that the long bridge over the railroad tracks which furnished access to the scene of the conflagration was torn up for repairs. From the packing house the flames spread to the warehouse of the Northwestern Lime company, thence to the McCormick Harvester company's large brick warehouse, filled with valuable farm machinery. It was here that the fatalities occurred.

The firemen of engine company No. 12 had entered the warehouse to be in a better position to fight the flames. There was a tank containing 200 gallons of gasoline in the rear part of the building and it exploded, shattered the walls and buried the men in the debris. Andrew Johnson was taken from the ruins alive but so badly injured that he died during the day. The bodies of the other victims have all been recovered.

The McCormick Harvester company was the heaviest loser, their loss footing up $380,000. Of this $80,000 was on buildings and $300,000 on stock and notes, all their papers and records being burned. They carry no insurance. The loss of D. M. Robbins, owner of the packing house where the fire originated is placed at $35,300, which includes the loss on several tenement houses and other buildings. The loss to the Great Northern railroad on cars destroyed foots up $8,000; Northwestern Lime company $15,000; A. V. Hinman & Co., lessees of the packing house plant, lost $4,000 on stock and machinery; the Merriam Park Ice company, $1,000 on buildings and stock, and other minor losses which will bring the total to nearly $450,000.

CUBAN CITY AFFAIRS.

Better Business Management Urged With Threats Rebuked.

HAVANA, Oct. 22.—Senor Cancio, secretary of finance, in the course of a pamphlet he has just issued on the financial condition of the municipalities of the island, urges better business management, pointing out that a municipality should be as carefully conducted on its financial side as a business corporation.

"Last year," he says, "the municipalities had almost absolute freedom in the matter of levying taxes and spending the funds. Nevertheless their aggregate receipts were some 30 per cent below the estimated expenditure, not including the cost of police, prisons, public instruction and charities, all of which was paid by the state. The municipalities expended $6,730,825. They received in taxes $4,292,831, leaving a deficit of nearly $2,500,000, which came out of the state funds."

In a few years, Senor Cancio believes the municipalities can be made self supporting, and then large reductions will follow in the duties on imported necessaries of life.

Senor Salvador Cisneros y Betancourt, in a recent letter to the press of Puerto Principe, said:

"If the government of intervention does not keep its promises, I have confidence that, should the time arrive when such a display would be necessary, the Cubans would show the same honesty, energy and valor as the Spaniards showed at the siege of Numancia and resist until the whole island was utterly ruined."

El Diario de la Marina, commenting upon this, says:

"We do not think that many will follow the advice of Senor Cisneros. Naturally the inhabitants of Numancia fought to the death, as they had only to choose between being killed while fighting and being murdered. Fortunately our conquerors are content to govern and administer the country in the interests of civilization."

Governor Roosevelt at Home.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Governor Roosevelt spent yesterday at his home at Oyster Bay, quietly resting from his labors after his trip through the west. He received no visitors at all except Private Secretary William J. Youngs, who had a conference with his chief in the afternoon. The governor did not go to church, and Mr. Youngs explained the refusal to see any one on the ground that every moment that could be stolen from the campaign must now be taken advantage of in order to save the candidate's strength. Mr. Youngs said he was surprised at the fine condition of the governor. He had lost but little weight during the trip, and his eye was as clear as ever. He was suffering from his throat somewhat, but not to such a great extent as was feared. The strain on the vocal chords had strengthened them after making them sore, and the governor's voice was now in far better condition than after less work during the last state campaign.

The plant is valued at several hundred thousand dollars. The former working force will be augmented.

NAVAL CONSTRUCTION.

Rear Admiral Hichborn Makes His Last Report.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The report of the chief of the bureau of construction and repair for the fiscal year 1899-1900, which has just been made public, is no exception to the rule which that bureau has established in recent years of making its report complete and explicit. Especial interest attaches to the current report, as it is the last one to be submitted by Rear Admiral Hichborn, the present chief constructor, who under the operations of law will retire on the 4th of March next. The period during which he has held this important post has seen greater changes in the navy than any other equal period in its history, the chief constructor having begun, as he states, 45 years ago as a government apprentice employed upon the construction of the Merrimac and Hartford.

After speaking of the old wooden sloops of war, without water tight subdivision and armed with broadsides of smooth bores, he says:

"How many of those associated with the work of this period, looking into the future, would have believed that during the space represented by the active career of one man wooden ships of war and sails as a means of propulsion would have passed; that steel should have become the material of construction, steam the one propelling power and electricity a general agent on shipboard; that the demands for protection, armament, speed and endurance would have forced the construction of battleships and armored cruisers of deep displacement, of over 15,000 and 16,000 tons and speeds of 22 knots? Who of them would have believed that within that time the resources of this country could have been so developed that when such vessels of war are to be constructed every part going into them is American production?"

In speaking of the steel for naval vessels it is pointed out that nearly 50,000,000 pounds of steel material has been inspected, passed and shipped during the year by the inspectors under the bureau of construction and repair, representing an increase of more than 100 per cent in two years in the quantity of this material required. The vastness of the figures gives some idea of the extent and importance of the operations carried on under the bureau.

VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY.

Celebrates Its Twenty-fifth Anniversary—Kissam Hall Dedicated.

NASHVILLE, Oct. 22—Vanderbilt university is celebrating its twenty-fifth anniversary. The exercises have been planned on an extensive scale and include the formal presentation of Kissam hall, the most recent evidence of the interest of the Vanderbilt family in the institution, for the erection of which W. K. Vanderbilt gave $100,000. The latter will attend the exercises, which will last three days and be participated in by Bishop E. R. Hendrix of Kansas City, Bishop R. K. Hargrove of Nashville, United States Senator W. V. Sullivan of Mississippi, W. K. Vanderbilt, Chancellor Kirkland of the university, Chancellor Fulton of the University of Mississippi, Professor E. E. Barnard, the astronomer; President Hadley of Yale college and other men of note. Mr. Vanderbilt will officiate at the presentation of Kissam hall tomorrow.

Kissam hall, the gift of Mr. W. K. Vanderbilt, grandson of the founder, a memorial to his mother, Maria Louisa Kissam Vanderbilt, was formally presented to the university by Mr. Vanderbilt. The hall is in the form of a hollow square. The entrances are located in the interior angles and are approached by two short flights of steps and a portico. The basement is of cut stone. Above it rise three full stories of pressed brick, with Bedford stone trimming. The fourth floor, though nearly full, is built with a dormer window effect. The brick walls rise over the windows and are capped with cut stone. In the middle front wall is the memorial tablet of Tennessee marble bearing the name of the donor's mother in gilt letters.

United After Seventy-seven Years.

ROCHESTER, Oct. 22—Seventy-seven years ago, at the death of their mother, Allen and Reuben Brownell were separated, Allen having been adopted by a neighbor's family, who moved south immediately. Saturday Reuben F. Brownell of Berlin, Wis., entered the town of Newark for the first time and seeing a sign with the name Brownell over a grocery store entered and there found his brother Allen. The brothers are now 80 and 77 years of age, and the meeting was a most joyful one. For years each brother had tried in vain to get some trace of the other.

Japan's New Cabinet.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The Yokohama correspondent of The Daily News, who describes the new cabinet formed by Marquis Ito Oct. 19 as a "curious experiment," says: "Demagogues who had been fighting the government for years have been admitted. Some of them have had remarkably checkered careers. One, the son of a plasterer, has been in prison for opposing the government and was expelled from the diet and deported. Another suffered ten years' imprisonment for conspiring to overthrow the government."

Trafalgar Day Celebrated.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Trafalgar day was celebrated yesterday in the usual fashion throughout England. Nelson's column in Trafalgar square, London, was decorated with beautiful wreaths. There was a municipal procession at Liverpool. Nelson's flagship, the Victory, was hung with wreaths at Portsmouth. At Rottingdean Mr. Rudyard Kipling addressed a meeting and dwelt upon the importance of maintaining a strong navy.

Football Player Dead.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Oct. 22.—W. D. Price of Palestine, Tex., a student at the Bingham school, is dead from injuries sustained in a practice game of football. His spinal column was broken between his shoulders. The body will be taken home for interment.

Dominican Revolution Not Ended.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Oct. 22.—Advices received from Haiti assert that the revolution in Santo Domingo is not ended and that fighting is proceeding in the interior, although the revolutionists are weak.

Charles Dudley Warner's Funeral.

HARTFORD, Oct. 22.—The funeral of Charles Dudley Warner, who died suddenly Saturday, will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Asylum Hill Congregational church.

A BUSY COMMISSION.

Nearly $500,000 Appropriated For Philippine Expenses.

TAKING EVIDENCE REGARDING FRIARS

Filipinos Generally Opposed to Their Return—An Aguinaldo Letter Turns Up In Manila—Situation More Quiet.

MANILA, Oct. 22.—The Philippine commission has passed a bill appropriating $475,000 gold for the payment of expenses incurred for the benefit of the insular government during October. The bill goes carefully into detail regarding the items of expenditure throughout the archipelago.

Judge Taft, president of the commission, has been engaged for some time in taking a mass of Filipino testimony concerning the conduct and policy of the friars, this being a continuation of the investigation which began with the depositions of bishops and members of monastic orders. The statements of the Filipinos go to show that the friars under the Spanish regime greatly abused their limitless political and religious powers over the community and that this abuse of authority often led to immorality. All the testimony offered by the Filipinos shows that they do not desire the return of the friars to the parishes.

Archbishop Chapelle has gone to the more peaceful provinces of northern Luzon, accompanied by three Dominican friars. It is asserted and generally believed that he intends to re-establish these friars in certain parishes, and the trip is exciting the natives of Manila, who call upon their countrymen to prevent the re-establishment of any friar on the ground that it would fix a dangerous precedent for the future.

Senor Buencamino has received what purports to be a letter from Aguinaldo ordering the former leaders of the revolution who are now in Manila to desist from the formation of political parties and to cease all their attempts at pacification. The letter mysteriously hints that plans are maturing among the armed rebels in the field and describes these as "best for the country." Senor Buencamino declares that the letter is genuine.

The military situation was comparatively quiet last week. The commission, the military authorities, the Filipinos and the foreigners are awaiting the result of the presidential election in the United States. Many persons assert that, whatever this may be, it will have no immediate effect upon the armed situation in the Philippines and that disorders and guerrilla attacks will continue for a time.

Mr. R. Wildman, United States consul general at Hongkong, who is now in Manila, says the expectation of a general antiforeign outbreak in southern China, notably in Canton, is growing daily and that cablegrams received by him last week record an increasing uneasiness in Hongkong.

A troop of the Sixth United States cavalry and a contingent of marines have arrived here from China.

Tornado In Texas.

ATLANTA, Tex., Oct. 22.—A tornado struck about half a mile west of Lodi and 15 miles west of here. The path of the tornado was 200 yards wide, and the wind swept everything before it. One house in the center of its path, occupied by negroes, was destroyed, six people being killed outright. Three others are missing, who are supposed to be dead. The cyclone traveled from the southwest to the northeast, crossing the Texas and Pacific railroad at Campbellsville Spur, a lumber loading station two miles north of Lodi. The lumber was carried away in all directions. It is feared further loss of life has resulted in the country. A hard rain fell here yesterday morning, commencing about 7 o'clock with light hail. The result will be considerable damage to the cotton crop remaining ungathered in this section.

Russia Needs No Loan.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 22.—The Official Messenger makes the following announcement: "In view of the reiterated false reports appearing in foreign newspapers that Russia is seeking to conclude a foreign loan the ministry of finance considers it necessary again to declare that the government is not seeking to concluue loans of any kind, seeing that the current revenue and the cash reserve fully suffice to meet the ordinary expenditure as well as the outlay entailed by events in the far east. All the newspaper reports concerning an alleged Russian loan emanate from various speculators who persistently but unsuccessfully endeavor to force their services upon the ministry of finance."

Americans Too Swift For British.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The Cape Town correspondent of The Daily Mail says: "Despite all denials I learn that large orders for coal trucks to be used in Transvaal Colony have been placed in the United States at prices for delivery here which are 20 per cent below English prices, while the Americans have contracted to deliver in half the time required by the English. The Transvaal military railways have placed an order for tank engines to the value of £250,000 with English firms, although the prices are 20 per cent over American quotations. The great drawback to English work is delay in delivery."

Baroness Von Ketteler In Detroit.

DETROIT, Oct. 22.—Baroness von Ketteler, the widow of the murdered German embassador to China, arrived in Detroit yesterday afternoon and was immediately driven to the residence of her father, Henry B. Ledyard, president of the Michigan Central railroad. No one was permitted to see her. Mr. Ledyard said that the baroness was suffering from nervous prostration, but stood the journey from Peking to Detroit as well as could have been expected.

Daring Navigators.

PUNTA GORDA, Fla., Oct. 22.—Peter Johansen and his 12-year-old son Peter have arrived from Gibraltar in an open boat 29 feet long and 7 feet 6 inches beam. They left Gibraltar with 180 gallons of water and provisions for 60 days and made the trip in 59 days, encountering no storms.

Abattoir Burned.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.—The abattoir of the West Philadelphia stockyards was partially destroyed by a fire of unknown origin, causing a loss of about $50,000; fully covered by insurance.

Mr. Gourley's Position.

If New Jersey should give its electoral vote for Bryan and Stevenson William B. Gourley, chairman of the Democratic State committee, will be hailed as a great political manager and elevated accordingly in the eyes of his political colleagues. If, however, she should remain in the Republican column the same as four years ago, Mr. Gourley would drop out of sight unnoticed and unmourned by his partisan friends. But such are the chances for glorification or ignomy in the activity of political life. A politician occupying a position such as Mr. Gourley fills in New Jersey may fight a losing battle with even more ability and attention than the manager of opposing forces, but if the votes go against his side on election day the great public, looking only at results, lacks the appreciation that a finer insight into campaign conditions should give them.

But whatever may be the result, Mr. Gourley says that the end of this campaign will witness his retirement as the active head of the New Jersey Democratic organization. In that connection Mr. Gourley says:

I am done with further active concern with the management of the Democracy of this State. I have done my full share of duty in that respect, and I have had my full share of thanks and gratitude for whatever good I may have accomplished for the party, but I feel now that when this present contest is settled, some other man with more leisure time on his hands should take charge of the work for the party in this State. I will certainly lay aside any official connection with these matters just as soon as I can consistently do so after the close of the election. I want to attend to my private business and I like to have some time to myself.

During the present campaign Mr. Gourley has been criticised and abused a good deal not only by Republicans but by Democrats. To those who know the campaign conditions in New Jersey these attacks—especially from Democratic sources—seem unjust and uncalled for. It is a well-known fact that it requires a great deal of money to prosecute a campaign in this State, taking into view only those expenditures that are essential to a vigorous canvass. The Republicans are well supplied with financial means, but the Democrats are not. This has been a serious obstacle to effective work by the committee of which Mr. Gourley is the head, as very local worker in various sections of the State can testify to.

Considering all the difficulties that has confronted Mr. Gourley in his management of the campaign in New Jersey, he has done remarkably well.

Allan McDermott, of Jersey City, candidate for Congress in the Seventh district, evidently has a lively appreciation of the fact that the Democrats are overwhelmingly in the majority in his district and are bound to vote for the regular Democratic candidate whether or not. Else how would he dare to denounce the bi-metallic plank of the platform adopted at Kansas City and also declare that the trusts are not an issue. Such an attitude on the part of any other Democratic Congressional candidate in New Jersey would mean sure defeat. But if the candidate has the stamp of regularity in Hudson he gets there all right.

The World's canvass of the Congressional districts gave the Republicans 172 members, the Democrats 167, Silver Republicans and Fusionists 8, with 10 districts in doubt. The estimate made by the Chicago correspondent of the Mail and Express, after consultation with the Republican leaders there, puts the Republican sure districts at 173. A majority of the House is 179. The Herald's canvass gives the Republicans 185. All these estimates agree that the House will be close.

The very numerous class of people who think they know all about running a newspaper in a popular and profitable manner should note the fate of the Hudson County Dispatch, "a home daily for North Hudson." The plant and good-will was sold the other day for $50. The incumberances and expenses reach $125,000. It is one thing to run a paper and another thing to make it pay.

That the young men of the Chicago Tribune have camped on the trails of both William Jennings Bryan and Theodore Roosevelt appears from the following statistical table which that journal presents to the public:

	Roosevelt.	Bryan.
Speeches	300	285
States covered	19	14
Cities visited	350	280
Number auditors	700,000	550,000
Hand shakings	40,000	30,000
Words in speeches	2,000	3,500
Total words	600,000	997,000

Today commences the last two weeks of the campaign. Things political on all sides and questions should hum from now till November 6th.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Parents who reside in the vicinity of the new bridge over Green brook, which will connect Madison avenue and Duer street, should see to it that their children are forbidden to play around the structure. Ever since the girders have been put up there are a number of children who have been wont to play around them, and, childlike, they have taken great risks of falling into the brook. If the practice of the children is not stopped there is liable to be some serious results.

Mrs. Cutler, of Glen Ridge, who has been visiting her friend, Miss May E. Howlett, of Elmwood place, is one of the originators of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and was one of those present at the first meeting held in Cleveland, Ohio, when the organization was formed. It was through her efforts that the word "Christian" was inserted in the name of the organization, as there was considerable opposition to it on the part of those who objected to identifying religion with the movement. Mrs. Cutler was also one of the crusaders and for some time she assisted very much in prosecuting this early work in the well-known organization.

Miss Mary E. Wilkins, the distinguished writer whose stories of New England life and character have made her famous in the literary world, will soon come to Metuchen to live, as she is to marry Dr. Charles Manning Freeman, of that place, as soon as her new book is completed. Miss Wilkins reputation is world-wide and New Jersey will give her a cordial welcome when Massachusetts has to give her up. She will doubtless find new types in new surroundings and we are sure she will be as just in describing Jersey characters as she has been in depicting life in New England.

Frederick N. Sommer, of 794 Broad street, Newark, has just issued a most interesting list, showing the prices of advertising in nearly all of the prominent daily, weekly and monthly publications of this country, and some of the prices are really startling, especially when they reach $6 a line, which means over $3,000 a page. People pay these prices just because it pays to do so. Mr. Sommer was first an office boy and then clerk in the Daily Advertiser office, under Mr. Kinner's management, and conceived the idea that there was something to be done in the independent advertising line. There were no advertising agents in Newark when he opened his little shop a dozen years ago, and nobody thought that an agency would pay here, but he began in a small and systematic way, and as a consequence he has become an authorized agent of over seven hundred papers, including the Herald, Sun, Tribune, Journal, World, Press and Times, of New York, half a dozen Philadelphia papers and weeklies, monthlies and quarterlies throughout the country.

Gentlemen:—Our family realize so much from the use of GRAIN-O that I feel I must say a word to induce others to use it. If people are interested in their health and the welfare of their children they will use no other beverage. I have used them all but GRAIN-O I have found superior to any, for the reason that it is solid grain.

Yours for health, C. F. MYERS.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, October 22.—An employe of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, who has been stationed in this vicinity for some time past, disappeared suddenly last Tuesday. Since then nothing has been heard from him, and several creditors in town, the largest being his former boarding mistress, are beginning to realize that they have been duped.

Under the leadership of Alex. Manning, the Democrats of the county are endeavoring to hold a mass-meeting in Friendship Hall in the near future.

On account of several similar affairs to be held shortly, M. W. Casterline, has postponed his intended pigeon shoot until after election.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shepperd, spent yesterday with relatives at Long Branch.

Mrs. Wyckoff Voorhees has returned home from a visit with Elizabeth friends.

Charles E. Baker, of Newark, was the guest of friends in town yesterday.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Oct. 22.—The Young Tigers, the junior football eleven, met the junior eleven from Westfield on the gridiron in the rear of the school Saturday afternoon. The game was an exciting one and both teams made some very brilliant plays. The score at the finish was tie, 5 to 5. The two elevens will meet to play the tie off Saturday afternoon.

The local football eleven were disappointed in having their game Saturday with the Battin School eleven, of Elizabeth, cancelled at the last moment, when it was too late to arrange another. It is quite probable that the two teams will meet late in the season.

The Democrats in town are arranging to fly a Bryan and Stevenson banner to the breeze in a few days. Dory Vroom has been engaged to fix up the old banner of 1896, and as soon as the work is completed the banner will be swung.

The Republican voters of Fanwood will hold their primary to elect a delegates to the county convention at Elizabeth on Thursday, in the Fire House this evening. One member of the county committee will also be elected.

The auction sale of W. S. Emery, who recently sold his hotel business to John Anderson, was held Saturday afternoon at the hotel stables. Hand & Pangborn were the auctioneers.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Stillger and son, of Roselle, were the guests Sunday of Mr. Stillger's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Malone, of Grand street, entertained friends from New York Sunday.

AX OVER HOLDERS OF JOBS.

Democrats at Trenton Must Help Republican Campaign Fund.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, October 22.—The Republican campaign managers have given it out on the quiet that the Democrats employed in the State House must contribute to the campain fund. There are thirty-five Democratic officeholders who will be required to "put up" or run the risk of having their heads lopped of by the official ax. Some of these officials received as high as $3,500 a year and the average annual salary of the thirty-five is $1,600. It is understood that the tax has already been levied in the Secretary of State's office, and in the offices of the Clerk in Chancery and Clerk of the Supreme Court.

It is said that Chairman Gourley, of the Democratic State Committee, has also asked the officeholders to contribute to the cause of Bryan. The proposition is a new one in most of the offices. The Chancery Court Clerk, Lewis Thompson, has insisted on assessments being levied during the two years that he has filled the office, but in the other departments the Democrats have not been approached. The assessment this year is limited to one-half of a month's salary and the sum expected is over $1 300.

FOR ENDEAVORERS.

Interesting Side of the Work Being Carried on by Young Christians.

(Conducted by Press Department Union County C. E. Union.)

Dr. Clark, the founder of the Christian Endeavor movement, has offered a number of suggestions for specially signalizing the twentieth anniversary of the Endeavor's birth—Feb. 2, 1901. Very much has been accomplished in this score of years, and Dr. Clark believes that the societies should celebrate not only the milestones in Christian Endeavor, but at the same time should mark the beginning of the new century with some special work "for Christ and the church." One of the plans which he most strongly urges is the observance of a "decision day." He suggests that on Feb. 2d or as near that date as possible, special efforts in behalf of the associate members and other unconverted young people should be made.

Local Christian Endeavor Unions in various places often have inventive people among them and they sometimes plan peculiar forms of work. In the latest work undertaken by the Endeavorers of Pittsfield, Mass., a horse is an important factor. The local union purchased a horse, harness and buggy and placed them at the disposal of a Christian Endeavor worker who was spending the summer in a neighboring village. Aged people were taken to church in the conveyance, it was used in carrying the worker to the schoolhouses were classes of children were taught and it was also valuable in house-to-house visitation.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Playgoers Can Witness.

The story of "Friend Fritz," which will be presented at Music Hall, Thursday night, by Marion Manola and a carefully selected company, is unique among theatrical themes. No tragedies mar its gentle flow, no frenzied villians or doubtful "ladies" disturb its course. Its strength lies entirely in its gentleness and purity and sweetness. Of comedy there is a plenty and the story is never dull. Mme. Calve, the celebrated opera singer, has made one of her greatest successes in the character of "Suzel," in the opera which Mascagni, the composer of "Cacalleria Rusticana," wrote for the story of "L'Ami Fritz." It is from this story that "Friend Fritz," the comedy, was adapted by Stanislaus Stange; and in which Miss Manola, as "Suzel," and an excellent company will be seen. It is a delightful comedy with some very pretty music by Julian Edwards.

. . . . . .

One of the most interesting events of the theatrical season is announced for Saturday afternoon and night at Music Hall in Callahan's big production "A Romance of Coon Hollow," with the same scenery and effects used during its triumphant season at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, New York. All of the scenery and effects are carried, and besides a strong company, the organization includes the Coon Hollow serenaders, a troupe of colored singers and dancers, boys and girls, absolutely unequalled. Unique electric and calcium displays are also features, but the play depends rather on vigorous plot and well portrayed characters true to nature than its scenic features. It has been a great success in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, New Orleans, and all the leading cities east and west. The play is in its seventh season of success and the dramatic company, which embraces most of the original New York cast, is everywhere commended.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Katharine Glen, of Madison avenue, sang very acceptably in the choir of Trinity Reformed church yesterday morning and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander, of Rutland, Vt., parents of Mrs. Wm. Symons, of East Third street, have taken up their residence on East Fifth street.

Miss Mildred Tyrell, of the borough, who has been quite ill with an affection of the ear, underwent a second operation last week for the trouble. She seems to be doing very well.

MISS ESTELLE REEL.

Her Success as General Superintendent of Indian Schools Has Been Quite Gratifying.

Estelle Reel, the general superintendent of the Indian schools, has made her third annual report containing much information of general interest. She believes the Indian porblem is approaching a solution. The North American savage responds, she finds, to the ethical impulse in education, and when the red man knows the white man's speech much of the preliminary difficulty of the problem will be cleared away. In laying the greatest stress upon the cultivation of manual training she believes she is preparing her charges for useful lives in the civilized world. The boys are taught trades, the girls domestic arts. Since her appointment three years ago Miss Reel has traveled 41,138 miles. She has lived with the Indians in camp and adobe, has studied the children of the various tribes, and is convinced that the race can be made self-supporting. Miss Reel first came into prominence in 1887, when she ran for the office of county superintendent of schools in Laramie, Wyo. She was elected by a big vote, and since then has made a national reputation as an educator, in which capacity she had labored in obscure places from her girlhood. She is a native of Illinois.

Peculiarities of Honduras.

Honduras is a curious mixture of jungle and gigantic forest, of cocoa and of rubber trees, of bugs, vampires, snakes and crocodiles—of all manner of things that creep and crawl and sting and bite. Here, in every hamlet and city are to be found men from different lands, mostly outlaws from their own country. Chicago, Boston, New York and Philadelphia all furnish their quota. England, France, Italy and even far-away Russia have their share.

Shrewd Yankee Sportsmen.

In Maine the bounty on bears is paid on presenting the animal's nose; in New Hampshire the ears are shown. Some enterprising sportsmen exhibit the ears in one state and the nose in another, thus collecting double bounty.

It is a well-known fact that tailors experience more suffering from headaches than any other class of industrial workers. The constant buzz of the sewing machines and the heavy atmosphere caused by the heating apparatus used for pressing and sponging clothing are responsible for this in a measure. A well-known merchant tailor of Philadelphia, a prominent man in his community, says: "For over ten years I was a 'presser,' then I became a partner of the establishment with which I am now connected. Having charge of the pressing and ironing department, I am compelled to spend most of my time in a room that is overheated and where the atmosphere is very heavy. This resulted in giving me frequent headaches, and I sometimes suffered great torture. The medicines prescribed by my physician brought me no relief, and I was on the verge of despair when a friend advised me to try Ripans Tabules. I did so, and the result was that the first two Tabules wrought an almost magic change. I escape headaches now, and no matter how hot the room is one Tabule does away with all suffering. I always carry some with me for an emergency, and can sincerely recommend them."

MARTHA FOOTE CROW.

One of the Well-Known Educators of the Country and Dean of Northwestern University.

The new woman is a highly interesting person and appears in a striking variety of guises. In one of these she has recently been apointed dean of the woman's department in the Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., which has 2,344 students and eight colleges.

The dean lives in a hall where 100 young women reside. It is a magnificent building, somewhat colonial in style, and has great, broad staircases for approaches. The deanship there is one of the best that a woman can hold in the United States, as a "really, truly professional chair" is associated with it. The work is exacting and hard, not a genteel pretense to support an empty dignity.

The woman to whom this coveted honor has fallen is Mrs. Martha Foote Crow, Ph. D., who has been associated with many colleges, including Wellesley. At Iowa college she was "lady principal" and was professor of literature at Chicago university.

Dr. Crow is a daughter of Rev. John B. Foote, of Syracuse, N. Y., who holds a prominent position in that city as a pulpit orator and still carries on a career of distinguished usefulness as a clergyman in the Methodist Episcopal church. The husband of Mrs. Crow was the well-known archaeologist, Prof. J. M. Crow, who occupied the chair of Greek at Iowa college at the time of her marriage to him.

Mrs. Crow has not restricted her studies within ordinary limits, says the New York Tribune, but has spent much time in research in the British museum and the Bodleian library. Some years ago she received a commission from the board of education at Washington to investigate the university education of women in Europe, and in that way was brought into association with well-known men and women in many countries.

Her chosen work lies chiefly in the Shakespearean period, and she has become so generally recognized as an authority in that line that she was the first American asked to cooperate with the English editors of the Warwick edition of Shakespeare, and has edited "King Lear" and other plays in the series. She has done a great deal of independent work along these lines, including lectures.

Dr. Crow is an "all around" woman in the best and widest sense. She has written poems and a play soon to be produced; she rides the wheel and enjoys other athletic exercises; she is a skillful wood carver, and at one time had a "printing fad," in which she and the friend who shares her home bought a press, and with their own hands printed a number of booklets in daintily artistic fashion. This was the result of an enthusiasm aroused by meeting the poet Morris. Some of these specimens of bookmaking are enriched with beautiful "illumination."

In her busy life Prof. Crow has found time to join a club or two and confesses membership in the Association of Collegiate Alumnae, the Little Room, a society of novelists, artists and poets; Modern Language Association of America, Woman's Christian Temperance union, Chicago Woman's club, Fortnightly club, of Chicago; the Bibliographical society, Arts and Crafts society and Twentieth Century club, of Chicago; the Alumnae association, of Syracuse university, the Alpha Phi, the Mulberry club, the Woman's institute, of London, England, and she is an adopted member of the Alumnae associations of Wellesley, Iowa and Waynesburg colleges, and the University of Chicago. She is about to become a member of the Colonial Dames and the Daughters of the Revolution, and belongs to two working girls' clubs. The Mulberry club was founded by Dr. Crow and is composed wholly of "versemakers."

The Meaning of a Sigh.

Sighing is but another name for oxygen starvation. The cause of sighing is most frequently worry. An interval of several seconds often follows moments of mental disquietude, during which time the chest walls remain rigid until the imperious demand is made for oxygen, thus causing the deep inhalation. It is the expiration following the inspiration that is properly termed the sigh, and this sigh is simply an effort of the organism to obtain the necessary supply of oxygen. The remedy is to cease worrying. One may be anxious, but there is no rational reason for worrying. A little philosophy will banish worry at once. Worry will do no good; it will rob one of pleasures when blessings do come, as one will not be in a condition to enjoy them.—Ladies' Home Journal.

HIS FAITH SHATTERED.

Why a Chicago Wheel Crank Is No Longer Preaching About the Honesty of Mankind.

"It's great," he told his fellows when he came down town in the evening to go to work. "Plenty of pure air out there and breezes from the lake. And then the people along the north shore are all honest. My wife don't even have to lock the windows at night or have the washing brought in. You men who are bothered all the time by sneak thieves and burglars don't know what a great relief it is."

This declaration of implicit confidence in the absolute honesty of all the people living north of Lincoln park was received with ribald laughter by the incredulous cynics who heard it. They told him to wait and see and advised him not to leave his salary envelope out on the front porch.

One night a couple of weeks later he rode his bicycle to the office and found on his arrival that the new electric lamp he had just added to its equipment was missing. On his way home at four o'clock the next morning he picked up the lamp in the center of a quiet street not far from his house, where he had evidently dropped it on the way down town. That was the last thing needed to make his faith in the honesty of the north shore residents complete and unchangeable. He used the finding of the lamp as a text next evening for a further sermon to his office mates on the advantage of living in a section where virtue is supreme and a thief unknown.

Two weeks later again he went riding on his wheel in the afternoon and stopped to make a call at a flat building well within the territory of honest men. Just as a token of his confidence, he left the wheel standing at the curb while he went upstairs. When he came down the wheel was gone. Naturally that fact was not communicated to the men who had laughed at his boasts in the city. It leaked out finally, however, and with it another fact which shows that he has not even yet given up all faith in the honesty of his fellow citizens, or at least that he is determined to rid the community of the one thief among its residents.

He comes to and goes from his work since the wheel was stolen on the Northwestern "L" and every morning, leaving his office at three o'clock, he reaches the station nearest the spot where he lost both bicycle and confidence an hour later. He leaves the train and seats himself on the lowest step of the stairs leading up to the elevated station. From that point he has a good view of the two main streets leading down town from the north. There he sits for three hours every morning, or until the last of the men riding by on their way to work have passed. Some morning he expects to see his bicycle go by with the rest. Then he will rush out and stop the wheel and drag its rider to the police station. When that is done he will feel justified once more in feeling that all the rest of the men along the north shore are honest.—Chicago Tribune.

NEW BICYCLE CARRIER.

A Rack That Is Easily Attached to the Rear of Street Cars and Other Conveyances.

Andrew Hunter, of San Francisco, Cal., has come to the conclusion that if a cheap and easily operated bicycle rack were offered to the street car companies they would be willing to transport bicycles as well as passengers, and so he has designed a carrier for this purpose, as shown herewith.

BICYCLE CARRIER FOR STREET CARS.

It is so arranged that when not in use it can be folded up against the front or rear of the car, thus being out of the way, and yet it is only a matter of a moment's time to swing the carrier into place again and attach the bicycle. Two vertical rods are provided for attachments to the dashboard and on these rods sleeves are mounted, which revolve freely when the rods pivoted thereon are lifted into a vertical position. The rods are provided with hooks, on which the wheels are suspended, and the act of bringing the rods into a horizontal position locks the sleeves on the rods and provides a rigid hanger, which will prevent injury to the wheels while the car is in motion.—Chicago Daily News.

Fastening Grips on Handles.

A good cement for fastening grips on handle bars is made by soaking white glue in water until soft, when a gentle heat will bring the softened glue into solution. This liquid glue is then mixed with whiting to a thick paste and applied to the inside of the grip with a stick. A day or two should be allowed for the cement to harden before using the wheel.

Dairying in Great Britain.

THE HOUR OF DEATH

Interesting Statistics Compiled by Dr. Charles W. Pilgrim.

"Death Softly Follows Life," and Suffering at the End, Either Physical or Mental, Is of Exceedingly Rare Occurrence.

A study of statistics by Charles W. Pilgrim, M. D., superintendent of the Hudson River state hospital at Poughkeepsie, which has been published in the American Journal of Insanity, has been reprinted in pamphlet form and attracts some attention, particularly by reason of Dr. Pilgrim's citations and deductions concerning the hour of death. Dr. Pilgrim's paper is entitled "The Study of a Year's Statistics." At its conclusion he says:

"An examination of the hour of death showed that 26 per cent. died between midnight and six a. m., 19 per cent. between six a. m. and noon, 31 per cent. between noon and six p. m., and 24 per cent. between six p. m. and midnight. By adding these percentages together we find the curious fact that deaths were evenly distributed between the hours of darkness and light, 115 patients having died between six p. m. and six a. m., and 116 between six a. m. and six p. m. Desiring to pursue this question still further, I examined the deaths for the ten preceding years, nearly 1,500 in all, and found this statement strikingly confirmed, as a change of one-half of one per cent. would have made the deaths exactly even during the hours of day and night.

"A chart which I made of the deaths for the year—and I might also add that the statements which I am about to make were corroborated by a chart made of all the deaths during the preceding decade—showed when divided into sections of three hours each, that the highest point of the curve was reached, both for men and women, between the hours of three and six p. m., nearly 20 per cent. of all the deaths having occurred between those hours. The next highest point was between the hours of three and six a. m., although there was a decided fall of both sexes for the single hour from four to five, when the line went down to the lowest point reached in any hour of the 24. There was also a decided fall, especially for women, between 11 and 12 in the morning.

THE HOUR OF DEATH.
(Dr. Pilgrim's Chart of Cases Watched by Him Last Year.)

"These figures, therefore, show that there is some reason for the popular belief that many deaths occur during the early morning hours, but they show still more plainly that the majority of those who suffer from long continued mental disease give up their lives toward the close of day. As a general rule 'death softly follows life,' and suffering at the end, either physical or mental, is of rare occurrence. In fact it is not an uncommon thing to notice a clearing up of the clouded brain a few hours before the final change. This fact was noticed by Rush 100 years ago, and, in my opinion, too little has been written of it since. From my own observations, and from the reports of reliable nurses, many patients, especially those dying of phthisis, or after surgical operations, or from acute intercurrent diseases, or injuries which produce a profound shock upon the general system, become calm and coherent shortly before death."

Elsewhere Dr. Pilgrim makes this remark: "The number of cases diagnosed upon admission as acute melancholia, which is just about two and one-half times as great as that of acute mania, is quite suggestive. It not only proves, as is generally admitted by alienists, that it is the rule for insanity to begin with depression, but it also shows that cases are sent to the hospital much earlier than they used to be, before the later stage of mania has had time to develop. It is undoubtedly this fact which so often gives rise to the assertion that the form of insanity has changed of late and that the terribly troublesome cases of former years, in which restraint seemed to be necessary, are no longer seen. But it is my belief that the real reason for the infrequency of such cases is that hospitals for the insane are to-day regarded much more favorably than they were even a decade ago, and their aid is much earlier sought and their full benefits much oftener obtained."

Crusade Against Prairie Dogs.

A crusade against prairie dogs is to be made in northwestern Kansas. Strychnine and cyanide of potassium are mixed with wheat and put around the hole of the prairie dog. When this is done a couple of times the prairie dog is no more. In the prairie dog neighborhood there are an average of 160 holes on every 160 acres of land, and 160 prairie dog families will play sad havoc with any kind of a crop.

Church Bells Dedicated.

It was "Memorial Bell Day" at the Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, in Rahway, yesterday. The new set of church bells donated by L. K. Ryno, as a memorial to his wife, was dedicated. Rev. Dr. R. VanHorn, of Newark, spoke at both the morning and evening services. The pastor, Rev. Dr. Galloway, accepted the bells in behalf of the church. Special music and singing completed the interesting programme.

The programme was commenced at 8:30 o'clock with class moves on the flying rings followed by moves of skill on the same. Moves on the high bar and German horse were given, after which several men showed how beginners started work in the Newark association, affording much amusement to the spectators. The evening's exhibition wound up with mat tumbling and window diving. During the latter one man dove through a space eighteen by eleven inches without displacing the ropes. Master Smith gave a wonderful exhibition of Indian club swinging. The young man is but ten years old. The programme was brought to a close by the serving of refreshments in the boys' room.

JUDGE STRONG SAYS SALOONS ARE NEEDED

Plain Talk Heard From the Bench in the Middlesex Court on Temperance.

PEOPLE WILL HAVE LIQUOR

REMARKS BROUGHT OUT BY SOUTH PLAINFIELD CASES.

His Decisions in License Matters are Based on What People Say Who Think That There Should be Barrooms.

Judge Strong in Middlesex county court discussed at length yesterday his views on the saloon question and defined the duties of the Judges and Common Councils in granting licenses. He outlined the provisions of the law upon the matter and showed wherein some public speakers err.

The matter came up in court when Judge Strong considered the application of Mrs. Amanda E. Poling and that of Morris Higgins for licenses for South Plainfield. These applications have been pending since the opening of the September term of the court. Mrs. Poling's application is for an old-established place, while Mr. Higgins' application is for a new place. In discussing the matter Judge Strong said:

"I had intended to go to South Plainfield and see for myself the conditions there. I did not find time to go, but I did find time to inquire and inform myself fully from people who are not extremists on either side. There are some people who favor granting all license applications, while there are others who would have the Court deny all. Neither of these classes have any weight with me in determining these cases.

"I go to the people who recognize that the drinking classes form a considerable part of the people of this country. I applied to this class of people and all agreed that there are now places enough at South Plainfield to meet all the requirements of the place.

"A great many people think it right and the duty of a Judge on the bench to refuse all applications on the ground of immorality, and thus exterminate the existence of saloons. It seems exceedingly strange that an intelligent man should advance in public such a proposition.

"The law makes it the duty of the court to license such places. The court may think what it pleases about the morality of such places, but it is duty bound to license them. I may say at the present time that it seems best to the court that there should be a reasonable amount of saloons in every county of the State. For fifty years the court has been familiar with attempts to force upon the people total abstinence. All have failed."

Lawyer Silzer, attorney for Higgins, proved by witnesses that Mrs. Poling did not have the required number of legal signers, five of the fifteen signers not being property owners. Both applicants were allowed to withdraw their applications. Judge Strong said that the application of Mrs. Poling will be given the preference at the next term of court, if presented, and that only one will be granted."

WAS ROUGHLY HANDLED.

MRS. MATTHEWS ALLEGES FURNITURE MEN INJURED HER GOODS.

Now She Wants the Firm to Pay Her Damages and Brings Suit in Circuit Court.

At the convening of circuit in Elizabeth yesterday morning, presided over by Judge Vail, the case of Mrs. Anna V. Matthews of Plainfield against John Mullin, of Mullin & Son, Newark, was began.

Mrs. Matthews, who is represented by Coddington & Swackhamer, sues to recover damages for alleged physical injuries sustained by her January 25th last, at the hands of two men in the employ of the defendants.

She resided at 204 South Orange avenue, Newark, previous to December last. Before leaving Newark she received by express from Mullin & Son a fancy table and lamp, which she had not ordered, nor purchased, and which she had reason to believe had been bought by some friend and sent her as a present.

On the afternoon of January 25th last two of Mullin's men visited her house and asked for a settlement.

Mrs. Matthews said if she was in debt to the firm she would settle within two weeks, whereupon the men declared that it must be at once.

They started to remove the goods, when Mrs. Matthews, placing her hand on the stand, ordered them to desist, when, as she alleges, one of them grasped her tightly about the arms and swung her violently around, so that she would have fallen to the floor but for the other man catching her. At that time the table and lamp were overturned, and her carpet, dress and underskirt were ruined by oil, which spilled from the lamp.

As a result of the rough treatment she alleged her back was injured and she suffered greatly from shock and nervousness from which she has not as yet fully recovered.

The defendant is represented by P. H. Gilhooly. The defense claims that Mrs. Matthews was fully aware of the fact that the lamp was not paid for, and it was shown that the plaintiff had been in the store a number of times and had bought goods on the instalment plan.

After being out all night in considering what verdict to render, the jury this morning reported that they had decided to award Mrs. Matthews damages to the amount of $1,200. In connection with her case there was also involved a damage suit of a similar nature brought by her husband. Both cases stood upon the same evidence. The husband was awarded damages to the amount of $250.

HAD THE GAS TURNED ON

LOOKED AS THOUGH LIZZIE M'KEE HAD ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

Had Got Into Bathroom of Hotel Without Being Noticed and Was Found Unconscious.

With the gas turned on but not lighted and the door shut, Miss Lizzie McKee was found in the bathroom in a local hotel at 5:30 o'clock this morning. She was sitting on a chair in the middle of the room unconscious. The police believe that she attempted to commit suicide.

Miss Lizzie McKee lives in the borough. She is about thirty-five years of age. In some unknown way she gained admittance to the hotel late last evening unseen by the clerk or any of the employes of the house. Early this morning one of the boarders at the hotel passed the bathroom door and discovered a strong ordor of gas. He notified the clerk and Patrolman McCue was summoned. The lock to the door was forced and the woman was found unconscious.

Dr. Carman was summoned and soon revived her. She did not appear much the worse for her experience. She was taken to police headquarters where she would give no reason for her act. She was subsequently released. The police believe that she was intoxicated and wandered into the hotel.

A Brooklyn Bride.

The marriage of Miss Lulu Miner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Miner, of Brooklyn, to George F. Bremmer, of North Plainfield, took place Sunday at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. Mr. Hines performed the ceremony. The best man was Herman J. Bremmer, of North Plainfield, brother of the groom. Miss Hattie Miner, sister of the bride, was bridemaid.

THERE WAS NO BATTLE

BUT OFFICER OF THE LAW HAD A EXCITING TIME THOUGH.

Snyder Threatened Constables With a Gun, but Escaped With His Fast Horse.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bernardsville, October 23. — What threatened to be a tragedy, but resulted in a comedy, occurred near here Saturday. Some time ago Nick Howlett won a suit for $300 against John Snyder. Snyder had been on a farm controlled by Howlett, near Liberty corner. Later he removed to the Mine Brook road.

An attempt was made by Constables Bird and Chapman Saturday morning to levy on Snyder's household effects to satisfy the judgment. Snyder barricaded the house, and appearing at an upstairs window, gun in hand, threatened to kill anyone who attempted to enter. Snyder's house keeper was so frightened by the threats and counter threats that she was thrown into a fit.

The constables returned to Bernardsville, obtained a State warrant from Justice Dunaster, returned to Snyder's home with the intention of making forcible entry, fully prepared for violent resistance. But Snyder surrended himself at once, and said he was willing to give bond, at the same time pulling $1,000 in bills from his pocket.

While the officers had been getting the State warrant Snyder had packed his valise, and harnessed his fastest horse to a rubber-tired wagon. He asked Constable Bird to ride with him, and the two started to the office of Justice Dunster. As they drove in front of Snyder's house Snyder asked the constable if he would get the horse blanket from the front porch. Bird alighted. Snyder then whipped up his trotter, and disappeared down the road toward Liberty corner, leaving Constable Chapman and Bird gazing after him in astonishment. Bird, had no horse, and Chapman's was crippled in such a way that pursuit was impracticable.

A large crowd had collected at Bernardsville to congratulate the constables on Snyder's arrest, and when they returned without the prisoner they were unmercifully jeered.

It is supposed that Snyder made his escape via Peapack to Chester, where he has a brother. His household goods were found to be practically worthless. His most valuable property was the fast horse that made his escape so easy.

RECKLESS DRIVING.

Rival Drivers of Beer Delivery Wagons Raced in a Wild Way.

In a spirit of rivalry James McEvoy, a driver for the Eastern Bottling Company, and James Shea, who occupies the same position with Frank Linke, started to race their horses along South Second street, near the Potter Press Works, early last evening.

The wagons were side by side, when in a narrow part of the street Shea's rig struck a wagon belonging to Patrick Cahill, of Samptown, which was standing near the curb. In it were four children who were waiting for Mr. Cahill to quit work at Potters. All four were thrown out, but fortunately they escaped with only slight bruises. Shea was also thrown out and his ankle was badly wrenched, if not sprained.

Cahill's wagon was wrecked and another one had to be procured to get the children home. Shea's wagon was damaged slightly and the harness broken in several places.

Past Four Score Point.

The death of Mrs. Jane E. Pearson, 86 years old, occurred last evening at her home on Sherman avenue. Death was due to old age. For a long time past Mrs. Pearson had been very ill and her death was expected at any time. She was a devoted Christian woman, and held the high esteem and love of the members of her family and of all who knew her. She lived the greater part of her life in this city. Mrs. Pearson was the mother of William W. Pearson, 610 Liberty street. The funeral services will be held from the late residence on Sherman avenue tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Miss Raybert as Hostess.

About thirty friends were entertained by Miss Etta Raybert, of North avenue, at her home, last evening, in honor of her birthday. Several hours were spent by those present in listening to a varied programme of vocal and instrumental selections and recitations. The evening's enjoyment was brought to a close by the serving of refreshments. Miss Raybert received many presents, among them being about thirty handkerchiefs sent by those invited, through the mails.

FELL TWENTY FEET AND MET HIS DEATH.

While Climbing a Ladder Lemuel Coles, a Painter, Was Overcome With Dizziness.

DIED IN THE HOSPITAL.

ACCIDENT OCCURRED AT HOME OF WILLIAM M. STILLMAN.

Wife Prostrated by the Sad and Sudden Fatality—Dead Man a Prominent Worker in Temperance Circles.

Lemuel Coles, aged about fifty years, a resident at 427 West Front street, met a sudden death yesterday afternoon while engaged at his trade, that of painting, at the home of William M. Stillman, on West Seventh street. He was employed by Woolston & Buckle, and had been working on the house for several days. He had just finished his lunch about 1 o'clock, when he ascended a ladder to resume his work. He reached a point about twenty feet distant from the ground. Suddenly he became dizzy, an old complaint, and before he could catch hold of the ladder to save himself, he fell the entire distance to the ground. In the descent he turned two somersaults and struck on his head. He never uttered a word or a groan and died soon afterward at Muhlenberg Hospital without regaining consciousness.

It is believed that he had an inward hemorrhage. His injuries consisted of a fractured breast bone and the fracture of several ribs.

George Ulmer, also employed on the house as a painter, was near Mr. Coles at the time of the accident but was unable to prevent it. He telephoned at once for the ambulance. In the meantime Mr. Coles' wife was notified and she reached the hospital soon after her husband. She was prostrated with grief. The body was taken in charge by A. M. Runyon & Son, and later was removed to the house on West Front street.

Mr. Coles was born at Pleasant Run, about three miles from Whitehouse. He came to Plainfield in 1885 and worked for Peter V. Weaver and David Weaver, who were at that time engaged in the painting business. In 1886 he moved here with his family. He worked for Weaver Brothers until 1890, when the firm dissolved. After that he engaged with Woolston & Buckle and had worked for them ever since. He was a good workman. Mr. Coles was a member of the First M. E. church and the Reform Club. He was an ardent temperance worker and assisted in the W. C. T. U. work by attending regularly its meetings. Mr. Coles leaves a wife, who is a cousin of P. V. and David Weaver, and a daughter, Mrs. Wm. Cadmus, of Brooklyn.

Funeral services will be held from the late home tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, and on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the M. E. church at Whitehouse. Interment will be at the latter place.

WILL CONTEST.

Point of Law Made That Compels an Adjournment of the Case Until November 24.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Oct. 23—The hearing on the question of admitting to probate the will of Margaret Emily McLaughlin, of North Plainfield, took place before Judge Schenck yesterday. Cortlandt Parker and E. S. Lewis appeared for the legatees and W. K. McClure for the caveator, W. F. S. McLaughlin.

Counselor McClure claimed that the caveator had transferred to the maker of the will certain property under an agreement that when the testator died she was to will all her property to the caveator. A will was made to this effect, but subsequently another will was made leaving the property to her nephews and nieces.

Cortlandt Parker contended that this would not prevent the will from being admitted to probate; that the remedy of the caveator was in the Court of Chancery.

Counselor McClure asked that he be given time to look up this point, and the case was adjourned until November 24.

Sentence Was Suspended.

A man giving the name of Robert A. Kelley, was arraigned before City Judge Runyon this morning on the charge of being drunk and disorderly. SOME JERSEY POLITICS.

NOTES CONCERNING BOTH PARTIES GATHERED FROM ALL POINTS

Plans for Bryan's Jersey Trip—J. E. Martine to be With Party—Big Parade in Jersey City

That the Democratic leaders of Elizabeth intend to provide Col Bryan with a big crowd on Thursday, when he speaks in that city, is evidenced in the announcement by the Central railroad that special excursion fares will prevail that that day between Somerville and other intermediate points with Elizabeth. The fare from Plainfield to Elizabeth and return, good for any train on that day, will be thirty-five cents, only five cents more than the trolley fare.

At the meeting of the North Plainfield Democratic Club last night the following delegates were elected to the State convention of Democratic Clubs in Trenton on Thursday: S. S. Sweckhamer, J. H. VanWinkle, jr., George W. Bird, Walter C. Linbarger and J. P. D. Kirch.

Robert Davis has summoned representatives of all the Democratic clubs in Hudson county to meet tonight in the Robert Davis Association's clubhouse to arrange for a parade of all the Democratic clubs in Hudson county on the night of Wednesday, October 31st. There are about forty Democratic clubs in Hudson county, and they intend to make a demonstration two days after the Republican parade in that city.

State Senator Johnson Cornish will have charge of the Bryan trip through New Jersey. Senator Cornish and the members of the State Committee will go to the Hotel Lafayette, Philadelphia, tomorrow evening, remain there over night and meet Mr. Bryan the following morning in Philadelphia on the arrival there from Delaware. It is probable that Mr Bryan will speak in Philadelphia Thursday morning before he crosses the Delaware River in company with the New Jersey State Committee. It is probable that Chairman William B. Gourley, Secretary William Devereux, ex-Senator William J. Keys, James J. Lanning and Howard Carrow will go with Senator Cornish to Philadelphia tomorrow night. James E. Martine will also be one of the party.

The Democrats of Scotch Plains will raise a banner tomorrow night in that place. Afterwards there will be a mass meeting to be addressed by Thomas W. S. Scanlon, of New York.

NEW TROLLEY CARS.

Modern Trolley Stock to Run on Line Between Plainfield and Elizabeth.

The four new cars, which the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company introduced on its line Sunday morning are a great improvement over the small ones which they have been running between Elizabeth and Plainfield.

The new cars are very commodious. The will comfortably seat 40 persons. At the middle of the car is a partition which separates the seats reserved for smoking from the rest of the car.

There are six more of these cars at the Plank road car house in Newark being equipped, and by Friday it is belived that all of the twelve cars which have been ordered will be in service.

They are fitted with the Westinghouse electric brake and all of the electrical equipment is of the latest and most approved pattern. The cars were built at Wilmington, Del., where the electric apparatus was put in by the Westinghouse Electric Company. The indicators and other equipment were in at Newark.

In one trip between Elizabeth and Plainfield Sunday a new car carried over 200 passengers. This is the highest number ever carried on this line in a single trip.

This line is the only one in this section using such long cars. The electric brake is also a new feature in street railroading in New Jersey.

Tripped Over a Rope.

Four young ladies, living in the centre of the city were badly hurt Sunday night by tripping over a rope which had been tied across the sidewalk on West Front street below Giraud avenue. The spot is a very dark one and the young ladies were walking with linked arms. All four were thrown and one was so badly injured that on arriving home, the services of a doctor was necessary. The matter has been reported to the police and it promises to go hard with the guilty parties if detected.

—Mizpah Lodge, U. O. of I. O. L., met last evening and received one new application for membership. After the meeting a social time was enjoyed by all.

AN ELECTION ESTIMATE.

REPUBLICANS FIGURE HOW THEY WILL CARRY THE STATE.

Estimated Pluralities by Counties, as Drawn from Opinions of Leaders.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, October 23—Republican leaders of New Jersey estimate that McKinley and Roosevelt will carry the State by 30,000 plurality. According to their canvass fifty per cent. of the Gold Democrats will vote for the Republican ticket. The revised figures of the vote, based on registrations, show that the Democrats will only carry four counties in the State, the three in the Fourth Congressional District and Hudson county. There is some doubt about Sussex county, and for the present it is included in the Democratic column. The estimates based on the figures of the county chairmen and the county representatives in the Republican State committee are as follows:

THE ESTIMATED PLURALITIES.

	1896. Pluralities. R.	1896. Pluralities. D.	1900. Estimated. R.	1900. Estimated. D.

These figures give McKinley a plurality of more than 33,000.

Democratic leaders are alive to the deseperate condition of affairs and are preparing to make a final heroic effort to stave off inevitable defeat. Upward of 100 meetings will be held throughout the State during the coming week to keep alive the enthusiasm they hope Bryan's tour will arouse.

Too Much Politics.

Owing to the primaries being held in the city, not enough members of the Board of Trade appeared to constitute a quorum last evening and no meeting was held. Those who did show up discussed several matters informally in which politics predominated.

PLAINFIELD BRIDE FOR SOUTHERN HOME

Miss Eda Beekman, of This City, Wedded to Lafayette A. Bowers, of Lynchburg, Va.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

RECEPTION AT HOME OF BRIDE'S FATHER ON EIGHTH STREET.

Pretty Church Wedding Held at 5 o'Clock—Floral Decorations Were of Green and White—Couple Left Last Night for the South.

Miss Eda Beekman, only daughter of John V. Beekman, of West Eighth street, was wedded to Lafayette A. Bowers, of Lynchburg, Va., at the Congregational church yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, in the presence of a throng of relatives and friends. The affair was a very pretty one and was followed by a reception to the relatives and intimate friends at the home of the bride's father. Then the couple departed for their home in the south.

Exactly at the appointed hour, the bridal party left the entrance hall and and entered the sanctuary to the familiar strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, played by Mrs. B. T. Barnes, organist of the church. Two of the ushers, Theodore T. Staates, of Washington, N. J., and Charles Burdette Morse, of this city, led the procession down the left aisle. They were followed by little Miss Ruth J. Bowers, of Baltimore, a niece of the groom, as flower-girl. She wore a gown of white accordian-pleated liberty silk trimmed with lace, and carried a white basket filled with white rose petals. Then came the maid of honor, Miss Minnie Genevieve Morse, of this city. Her gown was of white silk lansdown cloth, entrain, trimmed with white satin. Her bouquet was of bride roses.

Last came the bride, escorted by her father. She was gowned in white satin, entrain, trimmed with embroidered silk mousselin and pearl passementerie. Her bouquet was of bride roses. She wore at her throat a diamond crescent, the gift of the groom.

At the same time, another procession went down the right aisle, headed by the other two ushers, William Smith and William H. McKinney, both of Washington, N. J. They were followed by the two clergymen, Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church which the bride has attended, and Rev. E. B. England, of the First Presbyterian church of Washington, N. J., the former home of the groom. The groom and his best man, Stephen W. Blackwell, of Trenton, completed that party.

The two processions met at the front of the church and spread out in a semi-circle about a white altar rail. On the platform and pulpit, palms were banked with pyramidal effect, with cosmos and white carnations interwoven. The Episcopal service, with the ring, was followed, Rev. Mr. Goodrich officiating, assisted by Rev. Mr. England.

During the service, the organ was played softly and then the Mendelssohn wedding march marked the departure of the bridal party, the newly wedded couple leading and the flower-girl in advance scattering the white rose petals in their path.

Following the ceremony at the church a reception was held at the house for the relatives, out-of-town guests and a few of the intimate friends from this city. There were seventy present. The house was decorated in green and white, southern smylax and cosmos being used in profusion. Under an arch of green and white, with a backing of palms, the bridal party received the guests. The wedding supper was served.

There was something new to mark the departure of the couple. They hurried through a lane of guests shortly after eight o'clock and, instead of the customary rice, they were showered with many colored confetti. They took the train for New York and left today for their southern home, stopping at Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and Old Point Comfort on the way.

A magnificent display of presents was shown in an upper room. Among them were checks for substantial amounts from the fathers of bride and groom. The officers of the Lidgerwood Manufacturing Company, of which Mr. Beekman is general manager, sent a handsome chest of silverware. There were many other gifts of beauty and value.

A gold horseshoe scarfpin, set with pearls, was the gift of the groom to

GOVERNING MANILA.

Report of General Otis Shows Improved Conditions.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—In the report of Major General Otis as governor general of the Philippines, the proofs of a portion of which have been received at the war department, the following concerning the government of the city of Manila is made public:

"The money expended to police and improve the city of Manila, to make the necessary repairs on roads and bridges, to place government buildings which were dilapidated in a proper state of preservation, to stamp out the infectious diseases of smallpox and bubonic plague, to maintain a large native police battalion numbering 250 men, together with the money required to defray the ordinary incidental expenses, has been greater by about one-half than the city's collected receipts. What those receipts should have been if the supply has been taken from the insular fund, as the expenditures were considered to be imperative. The population of Manila is much congested. The work of the provost marshal general has been incessant and has required for its execution administrative ability of a high order and in many respects very delicate manipulation.

"The floating population is large and difficult to keep in check. The liquor traffic always has been extensive, especially in the matter of intoxicating native drinks. This traffic has been the subject of concern and mature deliberation. In reducing the number of licenses which Spain granted freely the natives complained grievously that they were deprived of the privileges which Spain bestowed. Notwithstanding these complaints they were greatly diminished, but could not be entirely withheld, nor could the traffic be destroyed by any means within our power. Experience led to the belief that it could be controlled through careful manipulation under a stringent license law."

An order issued by the provost marshal of Manila is also given, showing the restrictions that have been placed upon the saloons and giving the license fees which are charged. Following this order, the report continues:

"The restraining influences have resulted in placing the liquor traffic under the control of the police and their officers and have been attended by the reforms anticipated and promised. I doubt if there is anywhere a more quiet and orderly city than Manila has been for the past year, and this notwithstanding its great mass of floating population of divers nationalities and the dense ignorance of a portion of its inhabitants, or a city in which proper punishment for crime is more swift or sure. The records of the courts, both civil and military, are cited in proof of his statement, and the native applications for redress for supposed wrongs or injuries suffered show that the native population has confidence in the justness of our government."

ROOSEVELT IN NEW YORK.

First Day of Governor's Flying Trip Ends In Kingston.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Governor Roosevelt finished the first day of his flying campaign through the state in this city last night after traveling 89 miles and making eight speeches, the longest being at Newburg and here. At the former place, the home of the Republican candidate for governor, he talked to a vast assemblage, having to speak in two places.

In a sense the campaign took on the form of English political meetings, spectators interrupting the speaker with questions, in every instance eliciting a reply. At West Nyack a man close to the car cried and reiterated, "Hurrah for Bryan!" And Mr. Roosevelt, tiring of it, replied, "Why don't you hurrah for Altgeld and Aguinaldo?" The cheering ceased. Another called, "What about the ice trust?" And he answered: "This election will be decided by the patriots and men of sense in the country, who outnumber the junket shouters of your type. The ice trust will be attended to in a proper legal way."

A man in the crowd at Newburg said in a low tone of voice, "Why did you call Democrats cowards and dishonest?" Roosevelt heard him and flung back quickly this characteristic reply: "It's a lie! I never said such a thing!"

Those Danish Islands Again.

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—Reliable advices from Copenhagen assert that the sale of the Danish Antilles to the United States will soon be effected. Next Thursday the Danish minister to the United States, Dr. Constantine Brun, will start for Washington, after completing his home conge, bearing the formal terms of sale. A bill authorizing the alienation at the price fixed by the present cabinet, $7,000,000, will reach the riksdag in a few weeks.

To Remove the Maine.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—General Leonard Wood, governor general of Cuba, recommends that steps be taken to remove the wreck of the battleship Maine from Havana harbor, as it occupies a great deal of space which could be utilized to advantage. He said he thought the wreck would have to be taken up piecemeal instead of being raised as a whole.

MITCHELL HOPEFUL.

Strike Will End When Operators All Agree.

SEVERAL COMPANIES HOLD OFF.

President of Miners' Union Thinks Powder Question Can Be Settled When Advance Is Pledged by All Companies.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 23.—President Mitchell in an interview last night practically admitted that the anthracite coal miners' strike would end as soon as all the operators posted a notice guaranteeing the payment of a 10 per cent advance in wages until April 1. President Mitchell said:

"The prospect of an early settlement of the coal strike is becoming brighter, some of the operators who have not yet posted notices signifying their willingness to fall in line either with the Reading company or with the proposition made by the Lehigh Valley company in the Hazleton region. If all of them notify their employees by posting notices or otherwise that an actual advance of 10 per cent will be paid each mine employee and guarantee its continuance until April 1, together with the abolition of the sliding scale, I believe that the terms would be accepted by the mine workers. The reduction in powder from $2.75 to $1.50 has confused the miners, but some of the operators have so fully explained how contract miners could receive the full advance of 10 per cent as well as all other employees that I believe this obstacle can be overcome."

Although, as President Mitchell says, the outlook for an early settlement of the strike is bright, it is difficult to make a prediction as to when the end will come. Some of the coal companies are showing a disposition not to issue a second notice guaranteeing the payment of the 10 per cent increase in wages until April. Among these are the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western and the Delaware and Hudson, the officials of which companies are reported to have declined to issue a supplemental notice. The labor leaders, however, hope that the companies will in some way make known that they will guarantee the payment of the advance until April 1.

President Mitchell appeared quite cheerful when he made the announcement as above, and his manner indicated that the time is near at hand when all the anthracite miners now on strike shall return to the mines.

The men were moving through an alder swamp after moose, when Hubert, who was walking behind Hilliker, caught his rifle in a bush. The hammer was pulled back and snapped, exploding the cartridge.
